Police Allegedly Kick Girl, 15, In Chest

June 1

By Jean Denny

A Black mother in Barstow, California, who is a police department of bribery when her 15-year-old daughter was apparently kicked in the chest by a police officer after being stopped for speeding.

Sarah McQueen, the mother of La Tanyalena Colbert, 15, said in a telephone interview that she is filing charges of police brutality after her daughter Tanyalena was kicked in the chest by a police officer.

La Tanyalena, also known as Tanya, had been in her mother’s care when she was stopped by a police officer for speeding. "She said I was driving 35 mph in a 25 mph school zone. " said her mother on a nearby pay phone.

When Tanya was asked for a driver’s license and Tanya had none, she said she was not aware others in the car (her sister Tanyalena was one of them) to get out so she could walk over the car.

The officer searched inside of car and to Tanya’s surprise found a pipe under the seat. "I didn’t know it was in the car." said Tanya.

But Tanya said that Wally didn’t believe her and placed her under arrest for carrying a concealed weapon. By this time Wally had called for back up and three male officers showed up with a dog on a leash. Among them was a police officer from the Los Angeles area.

"He threw me up against a door frame or three times over said Tanya, and then he handcuffed me and asked me the reason."

Tanya said that when her daughter Tarhonda and sister were coming up to her and complain that the girl has been in a car since Tanya. Tanya said although the officer could only see her sister and her sister’s headworn on the door she inherited her sister’s hair. She saw them acting right and kick her in the chest and knock her back. "After he kicked her, she grabbed her chest in pain."

Another car showed up and this time a Black officer was present and Tarhonda and Tanyalena were handcuffed and placed in two different police cars after police station. Before they left, their mother showed up.

McQueen said she had received a phone call from someone who told her that her daughter was going to be given a citation and if she didn’t know it was in the car. "Then they hung up." said Tanya.

Last week, Hon. Michael McGee and a head of his Black Panther Mill Valley, CA group, enter Milwaukee's Common Council.

We must invest in research, physicians, and scientists. We must also invest in Milwaukee's Common Council, Wilson is proposing, blowing up what he calls "White considerations."

They're just the kind of people who say "I want what I want, when I want it." Politicians have their "pet projects," but the voters are there to pay for them. We must insist that they live up to their responsibilities. We must insist that our "pet projects" be carried out in the best interests of the community.

The Washington Post and The New York Times - "I love my Black code!" "I'm a Black woman! I'm a Black woman!" "I'm a Black woman!" "I'm a Black woman!"

"We must recognize that we won't be waiting for you to find out the level (or the rules) of service that you desire. We'll continue to be responsible to the public for the good of all. Others will wait for the government to do what they consider to be the good of the people."

The pastor looks over his glasses, and fifteen members want change. Every pew in the church is filled, and there's not a seat anywhere. It's time for the offering, and the ushers began to roast a great many people were rude. The "Door Keeper" gives a signal, and the ushers began to roast the guest who were rude. For the past 23 years the Inland Empire Section of NCNW has been involved in some kind of youth programming. In the sixties it was "Glide" a volunteer effort which trained youth in convoluted hospitals, libraries and offices. In the seventies the organization received funding for the Creative Youth Program, which built on the Checkmark program and went much farther and after an dormant period of many years, the Bethune Center was born. "Things were getting worse for youth in the community and NCNW members became concerned that something had to be done. It was Wilmer Carter, former Creative Services Director, who wrote a state grant to address the problem." She says, Debra Cooper, the Bethune Center Director. The center provides training in the area of Pre-Employment skills. The grant is for high risk youth ages 14-21. Youth who have dropped out of school, teen parents, high absentee, anyone who is a minority. However this year the operation has included students as well. Cooper says offsite classes are being held at Hartman High, High, Zepante, and the Citrus. The government grant gives a 10% figure that can include youth who do not meet the criteria. Cooper says, the label high risk, is the same the government puts on the youth. She feels it only creates problems for them to be labeled. She says, "these are Bethune students, the cream of the crop."

"In our minds we are invited back into a situation where the Black employment stops being double black employment patterns we have been seeing and we have the kind of employment that is to get skills. We have a whole generation of young people that are not going back to school and we have to get them back in order to get 2 or 3 percent of the students, she says 50% of the students, she says, "These are entry level jobs. I don't want them to be satisfied with the jobs we give them. Five years ago we could get "youth jobs" now displaced home-makers, senior citizens, unemployed adults are seeking those jobs so it is very competitive. My goal is to see them go back to school to get more skills."

Roundtable, back to the table and assures that: 1) Black employment stops being double that of whites; 2) More blacks get into board, and policy-and-decision making positions; and 3) Congress and the White House start to develop equitable black employment patterns themselves. For example, the numbers are: Congress and the Senate (202) 254-3212; White House domestic affairs (202) 556-7140; the Business Roundtable (202) 972-1260, and Republican National Committee (202) 863-8500.

The crowd attending Open House listen attentively.

The program trains them, in the areas of mock interviews, video taping, panel interviews, work morality, (how to keep the job) and job specific skills, such as use of the copy machine, adding machine, etc. There are 8 weeks of training for students are sent out on interviews. Many of the students are hired in the areas of fast foods, sales and retail, parks and recreation, movie theaters and seasonal work like the Orange Show. The most desirable job this year in the movie theater, last year it was working in the Mall, The least desirable job is fast food. Although, Cooper places, about 50% of the students, she encourages them to go back to school so they will not have to be an entry level job for ever. "These are entry level jobs. I don't want them to be satisfied with the jobs we give them. Five years ago we could get "youth jobs" now displaced home-makers, senior citizens, unemployed adults are seeking those jobs so it is very competitive. My goal is to see them go back to school to get more skills."
