New County Supervisory Districts Take Effect

Beginning the first of this month, the way Riverside residents go to the polls is going to be dramatically different. Supervisory Districts has changed. By law, districts are re-drawn once each decade to reflect population changes throughout the decade and U.S. Census.

The plan, approved by County Supervisors on September 17, was developed by a committee of citizens selected to make the adjustments necessary to create districts for future population growth. While each of the five Supervisors should represent approximately 20 percent of the County's residents, growth in the Central valleys from 1980 and 1990 saw the first and second districts grow much more than 20 percent of the County's Centro and the Board of Supervisors appoints the County's 12 members to the five supervisory districts.

The new districts described below are organic to other areas in the following areas and communities:

District 1 (represented by Supervisor Kay Ceniceros) now includes the Ladera and Addison areas and the portion of south of Altendahl Blvd, within the City of Riverside, a portion of the city of Moreno Valley, the eastern portion of the City of Rancho Cucamonga, Matthews area, a portion of the city of Rancho Cucamonga, and Woodside, the communities of Wildomar and Santa Rosa Rancho. Supervisor Abraham's Riverside office is located on the 141st floor of the County Administrative Center, 4080 Lemon Street, Riverside. The telephone office is (714) 997-3199. The Riverside office is located on the 141st floor of the County Administrative Center, 4080 Lemon Street, Riverside. The telephone office is (714) 997-3199.

District 2 (represented by Supervisor Kenneth Moore) also includes: the portion of Moreno Valley and Perris, the City of Lake Elsinore, parts of the City of Eastvale, portions of the City of Moreno Valley not encompassed by the First and Second Districts. Supervisor Moore's Riverside office is located on the 141st floor of the County Administrative Center, 4080 Lemon Street, Riverside. The telephone office is (714) 725-1050.

District 3 (represented by Supervisor Norval Youngstrom) includes: the portion of San Bernardino, Victorville, and Palmdale. The telephone office is located on the 141st floor of the County Administrative Center, 4080 Lemon Street, Riverside. The telephone office is (714) 725-1040.

The New Republicans: "The 35 - 65 Solution"

by Tony Brown

Last week, I outlined an agenda for the New Republicans and called upon the Republican Party to adopt it and discard the so-called "Southern strategy." I also called for support for major economic policies from the public. I have not sought nor have I received any funds or been asked by any official of the Republican Party on this under­taking and there is no affiliation between The New Republicans and the Republican Party. I pers­onally paid for the expenses for my trip to Washington, D.C. and the Republican National Convention. Unfortunately, too much advice from any official of the Republican Party to its essential political Catch 22 for the Black community. We can score this by doing what we did between 1936 and 1946. During that period, both parties fell all over each other pasting bills that benefitted Blacks because — and this is the point — Blacks strategically used their voting power.

A good example: Blacks should split their votes — 35% voting for the Republican and 65% for the Democrat — the partisan competition of both parties for the Black vote would break the logjam now blocking Black economic and social advancement.

I call the agenda The New Republicans and ask that any American who believes in me and all that I am doing to remain with the Republican Party from within.

As of November 25th, those who want more information on the agenda of The New Republicans, a copy of my 12- point agenda or in volunteer can call 1-900-9504555. The cost of the call is $1.19 for the first minute and 99 cents for each additional minute.

And if the agenda of The New Republicans is adopted, it will redefine the Republican Party so that David Duke will not be able to hide under a Republican banner and claim the party's historic and legitimate concerns about illegal immigration and welfare state policies.

African American Men and Recovery

By Amdred Smith

Recovery begins with an individual commitment to do whatever is necessary in order to maintain a clean and sober lifestyle. When a person takes that first step towards recovery, there is an intrinsic agreement that the old way of thinking is no longer acceptable.

Negative beliefs and values have in the past been a barrier for the newly recovering person to begin to feel that they are organizing control of their life. Becoming active in a positive support system, such as a 12 step program, a secular organization, or finding a counselor, can help the addict or alcoholic attain the goal of maintaining recovery, when confronted with situations of adversity or emotional disorder.

Recovering active in a positive support system means more than just not drinking or using drugs and going to meetings. it also means coming to terms with old behavior, changing values and learning healthy ways to respond to verbal and emotionally abusive situations. These are important elements which can diminish negative thinking as well as other barriers to recovery.

For African American men, the barriers to recovery are more complex. Issues such as the refusal by political and social institutions historically to recognize the accomplishments made by African American men, racial insensitivity from others in recovery, institutional racism and an unwillingness by society to become involved in the African American recovery movement, are examples of barriers that confronted African Americans in the past.

Traditionally African societies have acknowledged many of the accomplishments of African American men. Historically the accomplishments were not organized or documented in any type of expense.

Cultural values and beliefs dictate the form which the treatment plan can and should be. It is very important for the treatment team to be able to differentiate between issues such as cultural values and beliefs as opposed to the goal of the treatment facility. If the treatment team is not raised to counsel special populations, in this case African American men, then the goals of the treatment plan cannot be met.

The value of special population counseling as an essential part of the basic support system has become an important function of the treatment of chemical dependency and alcoholism for African Americans.

When treatment plans are considered, the question of how long the use of alcohol and other drugs have been used, or the level of tolerance is a critical factor.

When treatment plans are considered, the question of how long the use of alcohol and other drugs have been used, or the level of tolerance is a critical factor.

The treatment plan is the blue print for the individual's recovery. The treatment plan will be developed as the needs of the individual and the goal for recovery is determined.

Our Community Home Buyers Program can open doors for you.

At Cal Fed, we think that owning a home is not a privilege. It's your right. And because we're making it easier to qualify, you could move into your new home years sooner than you ever dreamed possible.

So the next time you talk with a Cal Fed Community Loan Officer at your area office, why not simply bring a home purchase application.

With your application, you'll be in the Community Home Buyers Program at Cal Fed. When we screen your loan, we'll review not only your income but also your credit history to make it easier to get you into your dream home.

The Community Home Buyers Program is based on your ability to pay their fees, rather than on their interest in helping you. Unfortunately, in some situations, people feel that other agencies or attorneys aren't interested in their own check-books than they are in helping you.

New Senior Vice President Named To Anheuser-Busch

ST. LOUIS, February 1, 1991

Entry H. Brown, vice president of Marketing Development and Affairs for Anheuser-Busch, Inc., has been named senior vice president for that department, it was announced today by Patrick T. Stokes, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

In his new role, Mr. Brown will serve as Executive Director of the Home Again Redlands Project, a multi-agency effort dedicated to helping homeless families reestablish their lives.

According to Hammond, "Homelessness is a multi-faceted problem, requiring multi-faced solutions. We've got to join together and get creative if we really want to see an end to this problem. The only solutions are the ones we acknowledge."

Hammond is the author of several popular books on consumer credit including, "Credit Secrets: How to Erase Bad Credit" (Paladin Press, 1989) and "How to Beat the Credit Bureaus: How to Build a Credit Consumer Credit" (Paladin Press, 1990). He is a staff writer for several television and radio programs called "Taking Care of Business" and also writes a monthly column for Main Performance Magazine.

A long-time advocate for low-income and homeless people, Hammond formerly served as Community Liaison Representative for the Riverside County Department of Community Action and as Housing Legal Advocate for Inland Counties Legal Services in San Bernardino. He has also worked as a substance abuse counselor and director of a men's halfway house.

After completing his studies in Psychology at Regents College, Hammond took a course in screenwriting at the Hollywood School of Screenwriting. He has most recently completed his second feature length screenplay, a romantic-comedy titled "OUT OF NOWHERE," and is currently working on an autobiographical document on the life of his homeless father, The Home Again Project is located at 612 Lawson Avenue in Redlands, California. It is the result of concerted efforts by such groups as Family Service Association of Redlands, Redlands Neighborhood Service, United Way of Redlands Homeless Task Force, City of Redlands, and County of San Bernardino Community Services Department. As a non-profit organization, the Project relies heavily on volunteers and private contributions. For further information, write: Home Again Project, PO. Glad to be of service.
No question about it.

We'd like our customers to know what's happening at the Gas Company right now. And what our plans are for the future. We welcome your questions. Because the most important person we answer to is you.

Q. What services does the Gas Company offer at no charge?
A. Just about all of them are provided at no charge: safety checks of appliances, balancing your payments, low-income assistance, and so many more. The one routine service charge is a $5 charge for turn-on service. That's it. And please remember, we will never charge for service involving safety.

If you come to light my pilot, will I be charged for a service call?

A. No. If you can't light it, we'll be happy to do it for you. We urge you to call in advance of the cold-weather season, though, and beat the rush.

Do you still make house calls?

A. We sure do. And, thanks to our hard-working employees, we're making them more convenient than ever. If you give us advance notice, we can provide a four-hour time frame, so you don't have to wait all day: 8 to 12 in the morning or 1 to 5 in the afternoon. What's more, starting December 1, we plan to make house calls from 5 to 8 in the evening. All this added convenience will be on the house. At the same time, we'll also add personalized appointment service. For a $25 charge, we can set a specific time between 7:30 am and 7 pm.

Is there a way I can keep my gas bill down?

A. Yes. Natural gas is a great value made even better when it's used efficiently. So we encourage our customers to take advantage of the many programs we offer that keep your bills as low as possible. These include energy audits, rebates for weatherizing your home and installing high-efficiency furnaces, plus the special incentives we have in place for our commercial/industrial customers. All of us want to conserve energy. We're here to help.

Can I pay my gas bill in person?

A. Absolutely. We have 184 payment locations where you can conveniently pay your bill, including 36 branch offices, 5 drop boxes and 143 authorized payment agencies, such as supermarkets, drug stores, dry cleaners. And starting in December, we're adding 20 more locations. You'll find a complete listing in the paper on Thursday, October 17.

We'd like to answer any other questions you may have. Please write Virginia Allen, Consumer Affairs Manager, The Gas Company, P.O. Box 3249, Los Angeles 90051-1249.

Glad to be of service.

Philip Morris Doesn't Want Kids To Smoke
One of the most trying aspects of being a parent is encouraging your child to make the right choices — not just to follow along. In today's complex society, growing up involves more pressures and choices than ever before. Studies show that young people do things because their friends do. Smoking is one of those things.

We don't want children and teenagers to smoke.

That's why the tobacco industry is offering a booklet aimed at helping parents meet the challenge of providing their children with the tools to resist peer influence. The booklet is called "Helping Youth Say No," is designed to keep parents and children communicating about important issues like smoking.

To continue its longstanding commitment that smoking is not for young people, the tobacco industry also has strengthened its marketing code and is supporting state legislation to make it tougher for young people to buy cigarettes. We are also working with retailers for strict compliance with state laws prohibiting sales of cigarettes to minors.

PHILIP MORRIS
U.S.A.
21st ANNUAL CONFERENCE: Vision and Agenda for African-American Children. The conference was held in the Clanton Hotel which is located across the street from the St. Louis Cardinals play, baseball and many civic activities are conducted in the facility.

My first reaction to this conference was how wonderful to have such large number of black women and men assembled at one place with one goal in mind, that is to listen and share ideas. Seeking method that can be utilized to have making of our Black community become active in making positive changes in America. We were also concerned about the problems of Black children face at home, in our schools, on the streets in our communities and when they seek jobs in our industries. The challenges outlined for our youth are as great as we are today.

This past week I was with those who want America to be as free as any other democratic country and we are striving to do our part and more so that all will have a better world to live in. They realize that we all must work together as a team for the betterment of all mankind, if we are to go on a free society, by working to guarantee that Black, White, Red, Yellow and Brown people I've seen or associated with in St. Louis were very friendly and I enjoyed being recognized as Rev. Ledbetter, of course, told me who l

Ledbetter, of course / I told them who l

The Conference was to bring together and share ideas. Seeking methods to do our part and more so that we all will have a better world to live in. It is difficult for some members of our society to understand why it has to struggle to do the first and what the entire society is selling to do.

The challenges outlined for our youth are as great as we are today. Simply pull the Tolkin' Turtle strip through the Needle Badge. Yell! Yell! Yell!

New County Districts Take Effect

Beginning the first of this month, the way Riverside County is organized into Supervisorial Districts has changed. By law, districts must be re-drawn once each decade to reflect population changes reported in the decennial U.S. Census.

The plan, approved by County Supervisors on September 17, was developed by a committee of citizens appointed to make boundary adjustments necessitated by a decade of rapid population growth. While each of the five Supervisors should represent approximately 20 percent of the County's residents, growth in the western County between 1980 and 1990 saw the first and fifth districts each comprising more than 20 percent of the County population. The remap apportions the County's 1.2 million residents more evenly over the five supervisorial districts.

The new districts described below will take effect, comprising the following areas and communities:

District 1
(represented by Supervisor Walt P. Abraham) now includes: the LaSierra and Arlington areas and the portion south of Alessandro Blvd. within the City of Riverside, the cities of Murrieta and Temecula, a major portion of the city of Lake Elsinore, the Lake Mathews area, a portion of the communities of Gavielen Hills and Woodcrest, the communities of Wildomar and Santa Rosa Rancho.

Supervisor Abraham's Riverside office is located on the 14th floor of the County Administrative Center, 4080 Lemon Street, Riverside, CA 92501. The Riverside office telephone is (714) 275-1010.

Community Resources In Spotlight

Information about fire and crime prevention, counseling services, health care and low cost training at San Bernardino Valley College will be in the spotlight November 13 during a "Community Services Fair" sponsored by the college's Adult Re-Entry Center.

"This is an opportunity to meet and learn more about the people who are in the community working for you," according to Kathy Flynn, re-entry coordinator and counselor.

The college's technical training, services for seniors, child care and career information are among the resources to be represented.

The fair will be between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., Wednesday, November 13, on the college Quad. Valley College is at 701 South Mt. Vernon Ave. Call Flynn at (714) 888-6511 ext. 1181 for details.

Cal Poly Pomona Presents Hay Fever

The Cal Poly Pomona Department of Theatre and Dance will present the Noel Coward comedy, Hay Fever, in the Cal Poly University Theatre on November 8 through November 17, 1991. Audiences can enjoy the wit and panache of one of England's foremost comedy writers, as they spend the weekend at the country home of the eccentric Bliss family. Here novelists, actresses, flappers and guest have a supremely sublime time organizing assorted romances. Charming, acerbic and sophisticated, Hay Fever is a classic farce, bubbling with the youth and irreverence of the 1920's. Hay Fever is directed by Leslie Rivers, Cal Poly professor of drama who recently directed the University Theatre production of YOU Can't Take It With You. The Bliss' country house is designed in art nouveau style by Cal Poly faculty member W.H. Morse II; lighting is designed by faculty member, Kathleen Waln; and the smashing 1920's costumes by senior student Ulises Alcala.

Hay Fever opens in the Cal Poly University Theatre on November 8 at 8 p.m. Curtain time for November 13-16 is also 8 p.m. The two scheduled matinees will be on Tuesday, November 12 and Wednesday, November 13 at 10:00 a.m. November 9, the College of Arts sponsors the quarterly Theatre Dinner Party. The evening begins with a 6 p.m. reception, 7 p.m. dinner and 8:30 p.m. curtain time. For more information call (714) 869-3944.

The Cal Poly University Theatre is equipped with an amplification system for the hearing-impaired, The Cal Poly campus is located at the intersection of the 10, 210 and 57 freeways.

Workshop On Employment Tips

Innovative job search techniques and tips for advancing with your present employer will highlight a free "Networking for Success" workshop presented by the Career Development Center at California State University, San Bernardino, on Wednesday, Nov. 6, from 6-7:30 p.m. in Room 155A of the Student Services Building. The public is invited to attend.

"This workshop will provide participants with some very creative job search methods," says Patricia Rodgers-Gordon, a Cal State educational counselor who is coordinating the event. "We will concentrate on several non-traditional means of obtaining employment and will teach participants to take a pro-active approach to their job search," she notes.

Networking sources, etiquette and pitfalls will dominate the workshop's theme since, according to Rodgers-Gordon, "About 80 percent of all jobs are filled through personal contacts."

Other topics will include researching a company or organization, using the telephone effectively, exploring the hidden job market and articulating your skills to potential employers.

Cal State's "Networking for Success" workshop also will provide participants the chance to practice employment search strategies through hands-on exercises.

Registration for the workshop is not required. Additional information is available from Cal State's Career Development Center at (714) 880-5250.

Life-Span Program At CSUSB

The renovation of the life-span development concentration at California State University, San Bernardino is giving students pursuing a master's degree in psychology the opportunity to take electives in disciplines other than in their major, says Dr. Kelly Morton, coordinator of the program. "We are recreating from what has gone before," says Morton, who is working with a core of several Cal State faculty. The group is reviewing 120 life-span programs around the country and will develop the university's program from what it learns. Internships also are being added, and eventually, tracks in the areas of child development and gerontology, which will help make students more employable.

The changes in the life-span program also will make it easier for students to complete their Ph.D. work at Claremont Graduate School. The university now is working to develop a closer relationship with Claremont. One Cal State student began attending there this fall.

Currently, the life-span track prepares students for careers in several areas: developmental psychology, child, youth and family service programs; psychological services to senior citizens; and parent education.

"With the life-span program, you can have knowledge of the theoretical in applied issues from conception to death," Morton says. Students will complete a thesis with the assistance of the Cal State psychology faculty, who has been ranked 13th nationally in research productivity by the publication "Professional Psychology." For additional information on the program, contact Morton at (714) 880-5597.
Los Angeles County received a new area code on November 2, 1991. The new code -- 310 -- will include the western, coastal, southern and eastern portions of the county, including Los Angeles International Airport. Parts of four Orange Angeles International Habra, Seal Beach, Los Angeles and some surrounding communities will retain 213. The general boundaries for the new 213 area code are La Cienega Boulevard to the west, El Segundo Boulevard to the south, the Montebello city line to the east, and the 818 county, including Los Angeles International Airport. Parts of four Orange County communities: La Habra, Seal Beach, Los Alamitos and Brea, currently served by the 213 area code will also be assigned area code 310. Downtown Los Angeles and some surrounding communities will retain 213. The general boundaries for the new 213 area code are La Cienega Boulevard to the west, El Segundo Boulevard to the south, the Montebello city line to the east, and the 818 with 2.6 million assigned numbers within 213. Because cities grow and change constantly, area code boundaries are determined by telephone exchanges, not political or municipal boundaries. "In planning the new area code, many options were considered," said Johnston. "Our goal is to accommodate the need for new telephone numbers, while keeping together major communities of interest, during the permissive period. Customers unable to get through to area code 310 during the permissive period who are using a business telephone may want to check with their local communications manager as well as Pacific Bell.

213 area code. Projections indicate that supply would have been used up by mid-1992. For GTE California, all of its 1.1 million assigned telephone numbers now within 213 will be in the new 310 area code in 1992. Pacific Bell will have 1.3 million assigned numbers in 310, with 2.6 million assigned numbers within 213. "Today, it's very common for one person to have several phone numbers," said Chuck Johnston, Pacific Bell vice president. "Add up multiple home lines, pagers, cellular phones, work numbers, fax machines and computers with modems, and you have a rapidly exhausting supply of available prefixes. Simply put, we are running out of telephone numbers," Johnston added. There are 773 available prefixes (the first three digits of a seven-digit phone number) in the within or across new well as Pacific Bell. In 1984, Los Angeles received its first new area code in 27 years when 818 was introduced. The current plan is expected to delay another area code introduction for at least 12 years. The phone companies disclosed plans for the new area code almost two years before the split to give communities, schools, hospitals, as well as residential and business customers time to plan for the change. Pacific Bell is a subsidiary of Pacific Telesis Group.

Treats, Sweets: The Candy Suite Delivers

by Stacey Gallard, correspondent

A candy store can bring back childhood memories of being able to enter a place where rows and rows of delicacies such as chocolates and hard candies were available for purchase and enjoyment.

Such an experience is the basis of The Candy Suite, a new business that has opened in downtown Covina.

Inside the narrow but orderly shop, a brightly printed sign instructs customers to use any of the available scoops or tongs and fill a plastic bag with any of the 150 varieties of candy which are stored in containers along the wall. According to Vachik Galustian, owner of The Candy Suite, the idea for opening store, came from his 17-year-old grandson Alvin Galustian.

Galustian said that Alvin would complain that every time he wanted to buy a certain type of candy, he would have to either make various trips to one store or have to go to different shops to buy what he wanted.

His grandson's experience and the idea of The Candy Suite are included in the bright pink booklets placed by the cash register.

Although based in the Glendale and Arcadia areas, Galustian and his wife, Gohar decided to open a store in Covina because of the constant foot traffic which the city has.

As mentioned earlier, the store offers a large range of chocolates, jelly beans, sweet and sour hard candies, and a sugar-free section of hard and soft treats. Decorative tins and containers are also available for gift ideas.

The Candy Suite is located at 132 N. Citrus Avenue, Covina. The Store is open daily 10:00 am to 8:00 pm. For more information call (818) 332-9785.

Catherine the Great features nearly 300 priceless historical treasures acquired by Russia’s late-18th-century empress Catherine the Great and marks the first time that this collection has been shown outside of the USSR. Selected from the Soviet Union’s renowned State Hermitage Museum, the exhibition will highlight exceptional works including paintings, sculpture, porcelain, tapestries, furniture, jewelry and costumes. The centerpiece of the exhibition is the magnificent coronation carriage used to carry Catherine to her coronation at the Kremlin in Moscow in 1762. The exhibition has been organized by The State Hermitage Museum, St. Petersburg, USSR, and The Hermitage Foundation, Inc. in association with WONDERS: The Memphis Internat onal Cultural Series.

AVID Founder Awarded $50,000 By Dana Foundation

Mary Catherine Swanson, founder of San Diego’s highly-regarded AVID Program, will be honored with a $50,000 Dana Foundation Award for “Pioneering Achievements in Education” at a ceremony to be held at the Plaza Hotel in New York City on Tuesday, November 12. Swanson is one of three educators in the nation receiving the award.

“Education doesn’t have a Nobel Prize, but this award is the next best thing,” said Harry C. Weinberg, San Diego County superintendent of schools.

Swanson, 47, founded AVID in 1980 to increase the number of minority and low-income students who complete a college prep curriculum in high school and go on to enroll in a college or university. Since its inception, AVID has achieved a remarkable 98 percent college-going rate.

Swanson will be the first K-12 educator to receive the prestigious Charles A. Dana Award, the purpose of which is to recognize creative ideas of proven value that warrant wider acceptance and replication.

“This award is a profound honor,” said Swanson. “It is a bold statement about the importance of innovations that come from classroom teachers. I’m pleased that the Dana Foundation sees the potential of AVID to substantially increase college-going rates throughout the country. This award will give AVID a national audience. That’s both exciting and overwhelming.”

Swanson was nominated for the award by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Bill Honig, who thinks every California high school should have a program like AVID.

“AVID succeeds for several different reasons,” Honig noted. “First, AVID makes it clear to students that college is a realistic goal. Second, students are required to enroll in a college prep curriculum. In California, we have found that many students say they plan to go to college but are not taking the courses required for college admittance. AVID makes sure that there is a match between a student’s college expectations and course of study. Finally, AVID provides the tutoring, peer support, and study skills that enable students to succeed in this challenging environment.”

Swanson was praised by the Dana Foundation “for heedng the teacher’s calling at the highest level of professional dedication in development of the AVID program: an imaginative restructuring effort that is giving thousands of students the skills, support and guidance they need to fulfill their potential.”

“AVID is an outstanding model of the school restructuring process, because it is teacher-created and teacher-driven,” said Weinberg.

Swanson started the AVID program at San Diego’s Clairemont High School in 1980 to meet the needs of a large influx of Latino and African-American students. AVID targeted 30 ninth-grade minority students, then expanded to include all underrepresented in postsecondary education. Virtually all the students came from low-income families, were not taking a college prep curriculum, and had grade point averages between 1.5 and 2.5.

Swanson made a deal with the first AVID class. The students were told they would only meet the most rigorous classes at Clairemont High—gifted cluster classes designed for students with IQ’s of 140 and above—and do homework outside the county. In return, AVID would provide an elective class period where students would participate in study groups and receive tutoring and motivational support.

“Some people thought I was crazy,” Swanson said. “They said I was setting these kids up for failure. They said most of the students wouldn’t try, and those that tried wouldn’t succeed. It was a big risk, because I knew the program wouldn’t get a second chance if these students failed.”

On the first day of class, AVID students were given binders with notetaking paper and record-keeping forms. The students were asked to take notes in all their classes. These notes then became the focus of the tutoring and study group sessions.

“The notetaking helped break down some of the barriers,” Swanson said. “Subtle perceptual changes occurred when teachers saw that AVID students were seriously attempting to learn. The honor students began to accept AVID students as fellow learners and question them about their effectiveness of notetaking.”

Students used the AVID class as their home base. “I heard first-hand about child abuse, gang activity, and drug abuse; topics that surfaced once we learned to trust each other,” Swanson said. “We had a setting where students could sort through their problems.”

The 30 students enrolled in the first AVID class graduated from high school with a cumulative grade point average of 3.2 in honors classes. All entered college, 28 in four-year colleges and two in community colleges. As a group, they received more than $50,000 in scholarships.

Since 1986, Swanson—now a district supervisor of the San Diego County Office of Education—has supervised AVID’s expansion to 103 schools in San Diego County and 84 schools outside the county. Superlative results have continued.

Since AVID has been in operation countywide, 816 students have graduated from high schools with AVID programs. Of these students, 115 enrolled in the University of California system, 137 enrolled in out-of-state four-year colleges, 299 enrolled in the California State University system, 248 enrolled in community colleges, and only 17 did not enroll in college. AVID’s 98 percent college-going rate is significantly higher than San Diego County’s 56.4 percent rate and the state’s 55.7 percent rate.

AVID has also substantially increased the percentage of students completing the A-F course sequence required for University of California admission. Between 1986 and 1990, the percentage of students completing the A-F sequence in schools with AVID programs increased by 95 percent. Before AVID, the percentage of students completing the A-F course sequence in California increased by a still-respectable 13 percent.

In addition, the dropout rate has fallen 37 percent in schools with AVID programs compared to a 14 percent drop statewide.

AVID emphasizes a “writing-based learning strategy, collaborative learning, the inquiry method, and students taking responsibility for their own learning. It’s hard to isolate one factor as the most important,” Swanson said. “We know that these strategies are synergistic. When they are all present—AVID works extremely well.”

Swanson is excited about AVID expansion. “We’ve proved that AVID can be successfully transplanted, and at a fairly low cost,” she said.

“However, I think we need to expand at a slow, steady pace in order to maintain program quality.”

County Board of Education President Jack Port said that AVID has solid support from local school officials. “We’ve seen AVID accomplish miracles in San Diego County. We shouldn’t overlook the fact that AVID’s accomplishments are a real credit to local districts,” he said. “They made the decision that this program would help their students and they moved aggressively to make it work.”

Cost per AVID class is approximately $3,000, which funds salaries for local college students serving as tutors. Typically, one or two periods of elective classes (usually non-college prep) are dropped by the school so that AVID may be offered. Some faculty release time is required for staff development activities. Many districts use state and federal compensatory education funds to pay for AVID programs.

Mary Catherine Swanson grew up near Fresno, California. She received her B.A. in English and Journalism from the University of California in 1966 and her M.A. in education from the University of Redlands in 1977. She began her teaching career in 1966 at Woodland High School in Northern California and chaired the English department at Clairemont High School, San Diego, from 1978 to 1986. Since 1986, Swanson has worked at the San Diego County Office of Education, where she directs local and statewide AVID staff development and implementation.

AVID programs are in operation in the following San Diego County school districts: Bonsall, Carlsbad, Chula Vista, Escondido Union, Escondido High, Fallbrook High, Grossmont, Julian High, Lakeside, La Mesa/Spring Valley, Lemon Grove, Mountain Empire, Oceanside, Penmar San Diego County Office, San Diego Unified, San Dieguito, San Marcos, Santee, San Ysidro, Sweetwater, Valley Center, and Vista.

Care Package From Home

Send Students Tasty Mocha Mix and Fruit ‘n Crackers

By News USA

(NU) - For many, “back to school” means saying good-bye to a college-bound son or daughter and an increased monthly phone bill. Frequent messages from home are important. However, little can top the excitement created by the arrival of a care package containing a favorite message, a T-shirt, toiletries or snack foods.

Mocha Mix and Fruit ‘n Crackers Snack Mix, both easy to prepare and mail, are ideal for scholars needing a tasty and energizing study break treat. The instant hot beverage mix is nice to have on hand, especially when there is access to a microwave oven to heat water by the mugful. Compact countertop microwave ovens, such as those available from Whirlpool Corporation, are just the right size for dorm or apartment use. The crunchy snack mix combines mini crackers, dried fruit and peanuts with a sprinkling of cinnamon and brown sugar. Whirlpool Corporation home economists devised the microwave directions for this mailable snack to keep the home preparation time short. When packing these items, use plenty of shredded paper or other mailing materials to assure their arrival in good condition.

STUDY BREAK MOCHA MIX

Makes 2 1/2 cups, 13 servings

1 cup instant hot cocoa mix powder, regular or sugar-free
1 1/2 cups instant nonfat dry milk powder
1/2 cup instant coffee granules, regular or decaffeinated
1/4 cup sifted confectioners sugar
3 tablespoons nondairy creamer powder
Dash salt

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Store in airtight container. Pour over 3 tablespoons mix in mug. Stir.

FRUIT ‘N CRACKERS SNACK MIX

Makes 6 cups

1 tablespoon margarine
5 cups low salt small snack crackers
1/2 cup finely cut mixed dried fruit or raisins
1 cup unsalted peanuts
2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Measure margarine into large glass bowl. Microcook at HIGH (100 percent) until melted. Add crackers, fruit and peanuts, stirring evenly until mixed. Stir together sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over cracker mixture. Stir until combined.

Microcook at MEDIUM-LOW (30 percent) for 12 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool completely. Store in airtight plastic bags.

Tomato, Caper And Basil Pizza
(Makes one 9-inch pizza)

1 pizza crust (recipe follows)
Cornmeal for dusting the pizza
2 tablespoons virgin olive oil
1/4 cup grated fontina cheese
1/4 cup grated mozzarella cheese
1/4 cup nonpareil capers, drained
1/4 cup diced tomatoes (peeled, seeded and drained)
1/4 cup grated aged asiago cheese
2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil

Place a pizza stone in the lower third of the oven and preheat to 550 degrees. Dust the bottom of the crust with cornmeal. Spread the olive oil across the dough, then cover with the fontinella and mozzarella cheeses. Distribute the capers and tomatoes over the cheeses. Top with asiago. Place the pizza on the stone. Bake 8 to 12 minutes, until the crust is golden. Remove from the oven and sprinkle with the basil.

Pizza Dough
(Makes five 9-inch pizzas)

1 package yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup lukewarm water (about 110 degrees)
4 cups all-purpose flour
Pinch of salt
2 large eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons virgin olive oil

In a small bowl, combine the yeast, sugar and warm water. Let set until it foams. In a food processor with plastic dough blade or regular blade, combine the flour and salt. Mix in the eggs, then the yeast, until a ball forms. Work just until the dough pulls away from the side of the bowl, then add the olive oil. Remove the dough immediately to an oiled bowl, cover with a clean cloth and allow to rise to double in a warm, dry place, about 45 minutes. Punch down, then allow to double again, about 20 minutes. Form into five balls. Lightly flour the dough and counter. Roll into very thin 9-inch circles. Proceed with toppings and bake or grill according to individual recipes or hold between wax paper in the refrigerator until needed, up to three days.

COOKING NOTES: The pizza dough is quite fluffy when baked the same day. The following day, the dough produces a flatter, more cracker-like crust. Variation: Black olive dough can be made by adding one cup pitted olives to the flour and salt. Puree olives until finely chopped, then proceed with the dough as directed. Dough can be frozen in rolled-out form, between parchment, wrapped in plastic wrap. Thaw in refrigerator overnight.

Olives: The Low Cal Snack That Satisfies

(NU) - California ripe olives are not high in calories — especially when compared with snack foods such as peanuts and potato chips. The approximate calorie count for one ripe black olive varies with the size: small, medium and large black olives have 4 to 5 calories each; extra large and jumbo colossal, 6-9 calories each; and super colossal, 12 calories each.

California black olives are a fruit so they contain no cholesterol. The oil of the olive is one of man’s oldest available food products and is present in easily digested forms.

Once opened, store unused California ripe olives in their original brine in the open can and cover with plastic wrap. If the original brine has been discarded, replace with a solution of one pint water and one teaspoon salt in order to keep the olives wet and free from external odors. Partially used cans of California ripe olives may be held in the refrigerator for up to ten days.
One-Pot Meals To Make You Smile

Whether you do the cooking or the clean-up, these tasty, one-pot meals are sure to make you smile. Like their long-simmering cousins—the stews—these dishes have plenty of rich, hearty flavor and one-pot convenience.

"For many busy people there's hardly enough time to eat meals, let alone prepare and clean-up after them," says Donna Higgins, director of Del Monte Kitchens. "That's what makes one-pot meals and convenient products, like pre-seasoned stewed tomatoes and cut-up or boned chicken so appealing."

Canned black beans and spicy Cajun style stewed tomatoes make this recipe for Caribbean Chicken And Rice delicious and easy. "Mexicali Chicken Soup is surprisingly simple, too. It's a hearty, homemade soup that's ready in about 25 minutes."

Del Monte Foods is the leading marketer and producer of canned fruits and vegetables. During 1991, the company is celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Del Monte brand.

CARIBBEAN CHICKEN AND RICE

1 can (14-1/2 oz.) DEL MONTE® Cajun or Original Style Stewed Tomatoes*
2-3/4 lb. chicken pieces
1/4 lb. hot Italian sausage links, sliced
3/4 cup uncooked rice

1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 tsp. ground allspice or cinnamon
1 can (15 oz.) black or pinto beans, drained and rinsed
1/2 green pepper, chopped

Drain tomatoes reserving liquid. Add water to measure 1-3/4 cups. Salt and pepper chicken, if desired. In large skillet, brown sausage. Set aside. Add chicken and brown; drain. Add sausage, rice, garlic, allspice and reserved liquid. Bring to boil; cover. Cook over low heat 20 minutes or until chicken is done. Stir in remaining ingredients; cook 5 minutes. Serve with lime wedges, if desired. 4 to 6 servings.

HELPFUL HINT: If using Original Style, add a pinch of each of cinnamon, ground cloves and cayenne.

MEXICALI CHICKEN SOUP

1/2 onion, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/2 tsp. ground cumin
2 tsp. oil
1/2 lb. uncooked boneless chicken, cubed
1 can (15 oz.) pinto beans, undrained
1 can (14-1/2 oz.) DEL MONTE® Original Style Stewed Tomatoes, undrained
1 can (14 oz.) low-salt chicken broth
1 (8-3/4 oz.) DEL MONTE Whole Kernel Golden Sweet Corn, undrained
1/3 cup chopped cilantro (optional)

In 4-qt. pot, cook onion and cumin in oil. Pepper to taste. Stir in remaining ingredients; cook 5 minutes. Serve with lime wedges, if desired. 4 to 6 servings.

HELPFUL HINT: Soup can be made ahead. Freezes well.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL ALMOND COOKIES

1-1/2 cups blanched, slivered almonds
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1-1/4 cups sugar
1 egg, separated
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt

Spread almonds in single layer on baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F, 9-11 minutes, stirring occasionally, until golden brown. Cool. Cream butter and 1 cup of the sugar. Add egg yolk. Sift together dry ingredients; stir into creamed mixture with 1 cup of the almonds. Press into 15-1/2 X 10-1/2-inch buttered jelly roll pan. Lightly beat egg white; brush over all, then sprinkle with remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Top with remaining almonds; press into dough. Bake in a 275 degree F oven, about 30 minutes, until golden. Cool; cut into bars.

Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

(NU) - A sweet treat tucked into bag lunches turns an ordinary lunch into something special. A bar cookie packs and travels well, and is often just the right touch.

Back-To-School Almond Cookies are easy-to-make and delicious! But, don't save the versatile almond only for desserts. Their great taste makes them the perfect nut for soups, salads, and main dishes. And there's no better snack than a handful of whole natural almonds and raisins.

depend on almonds for flavor, nutrition, and quality.

MAKE FALL HOME REPAIRS EASIER

With the pinch of the recession that most of us are feeling, more homeowners are doing their own home repairs, renovations and creative projects to get their homes ready for the cold winter that is fast approaching. This is especially true these days because of the high price of hiring contractors and because of the satisfaction we get from doing the job ourselves. WELDBOND® Universal Adhesive is an extremely versatile adhesive that many do-it-yourselfers rely on. It is really many products in one. It is a glue, sealer, hardener, weather-proofer and a bonding agent. And it is economical. According to the manufacturer, it is safe for the environment—non-toxic, non-flammable. Dries clear and flexible and is water cleanup. WELDBOND® is a universal bonding adhesive for porous and non-porous materials. Bonds wood, glass, tile, concrete, brick, plaster, metal, marble, asbestos, indoor and outdoor carpeting, ceramics, foam plastics, plastic laminates. This adhesive is also excellent for furring or strapping concrete walls and bonding rigid insulation. Use it to mend fabrics, leather, furniture, glass, and almost anything. For the holidays you can make the season more meaningful by creating handmade gifts and holiday ornaments for family and friends. Many hobbyists report it's the best product on the market. WELDBOND® is concentrated and can be thinned with water. It does not require heating or mixing, and can be applied easily with a brush, roller, sponge, spray gun, or your fingers. You will be amazed what WELDBOND® can do to spruce up your home for the holidays.

New Michael Jackson Video To Air On Fox

Michael Jackson has entered into a long-term agreement with Fox Broadcasting giving the Fox Network the broadcast rights for each short film released from Mr. Jackson’s new album, Dangerous.

The first debut will be the music-film "Black or White," making its exclusive network premiere on Fox, Thursday, November 14, following an original episode of "The Simpsons." MTV and BET will broadcast the short film on cable television at the same time.

On the 11-minute film, Michael Jackson enlisted the assistance of director John Landis who had previously performed the directing duties on his award-winning "Thriller" music video.

Joining Mr. Jackson as supporting actors in "Black or White" are Bart Simpson, "Home Alone's" Macaulay Culkin, "Cheer's" George Wendt and two members of Motown's recording group "Another Bad Creation," Mark Pugh and Lil ' Dave Shelton.

In addition to its premiere on November 14, "Black or White" will be repeated as part of a half-hour special on Sunday, November 17 in a key prime-time slot on the Fox Network that will profile Mr. Jackson's phenomenal career. The program will also include concert footage and music video clips.

In order to accommodate the 11-minute "Black or White," each program in the Thursday prime-time lineup is being delivered to Fox a couple of minutes short of its running time. Time will also be taken from the on-air promo schedule and by extending the Fox prime-time a few minutes past 10:00 p.m. (EST/PST), an arrangement being supported by Fox's affiliates.

Noted Artists Join UCI Fine Arts Faculty

Three artists whose works have captured stage and gallery audiences across the country have joined the UCI School of Fine Arts this year.

They are Bernard Johnson, assistant professor of dance, and Constance Samaras and Pat Ward Williams, both assistant professors of studio art.

Johnson is a costume designer whose credits include the movie "New Jack City," the Broadway production and national tour of "Eubie," designs for the Joffrey Ballet, Aretha Franklin and Diana Ross tours, and many other film, stage and television productions. He studied ballet, modern, jazz and tap dance and taught jazz dance at the Alvin Alley school in New York. He will teach costume design and dance and design costumes for faculty and student performances.

Samaras has exhibited and published widely on feminism, sexuality and cultural politics. Known for her use of photography, video and text, Samaras' recent photo-text series, "Paranoid Delusions," has been shown in one-person exhibitions at the Wooster College Museum in Ohio, the Detroit Institute for Art and the Los Angeles Center for Photographic Studies. A former UCLA faculty member, she will teach photography and a graduate seminar on mass media in art.

Williams is known for her use of photographic images—many taken from magazines or scrapbooks—to produce social and political commentaries about African-American experiences. The subjects of her three-dimensional works have ranged from the reconstruction of her own African-American family experience to a critique of the MOVE organization bombing in Philadelphia. She comes to UCI from the California Institute of the Arts and will teach art and photographic installation.

Buckle Up for Love!
$11 Million In Grants To Be Available For Department Of Health Services

State Health Director Molly Joel Coye, M.D., MPH, announced that the California Department of Health Services Tobacco Control Section (DHS) is set to release two Requests for Proposals (RFP) allowing California public or private nonprofit organizations to conduct tobacco control programs. The monies, which will total almost $11 million in the first year, are from the recent refunding of the Tobacco Education Campaign (TEC). The campaign has been continued thanks to the passage and signing of Assembly Bill 99 (AB 99), which authorizes the extension of TEC programs funded by tobacco tax revenues. All revenues are a portion of the increased cigarette tax revenues resulting from the passage of Proposition 99 in 1988.

"Now is the time for the African-American community organizations to develop programs that protect our youth from tobacco-related disease and help our adults give up the deadly practice of smoking," said Phil Palmer, director, California African American Tobacco Education Network. "Our community should not assume that these funds will be around forever."

The RFPs are different in nature and scope - the first asks for proposals that will result in rigorously evaluated "model" programs for specific populations, with a heavy emphasis on reaching ethnic groups. They include: African-American, Latino, Asian, Native American, youth, out-of-school youth, pregnant women, women with children under the age of six, and current smokers.

The second RFP asks bidders to create smoking prevention and control services in their local community and/or service area. Proposals can address issues such as smokeless tobacco, the tobacco policies at worksites and other settings, or be more broad-ranged in scope.

"We are trying to plant the seeds of real community action," said State Health Director Coye. "And in so doing, we eliminate the weed of death that the tobacco industry has unashamedly been using to seduce California's youth and its ethnic minorities."

Awards are not expected to exceed $600,000 for proposals for the first RFP described, and $400,000 for the latter. Contracts are expected to last from May 1992 until December 1994, following the authorization of additional monies for the second two years.

"We have already funded over 200 very critical and deserving programs throughout California," added State Health Director Coye. "We want to see these additional monies help bring the message of the Tobacco Education Campaign to all residents."

Anybody interested in receiving a copy of either RFP should contact the Tobacco Control Section of the California Department of Health Services by writing to P.O. Box 942732, Sacramento, CA 94234; or 601 N. 7th Street, Sacramento, CA 95814. For more information about the RFPs call Carol Motylewski at (916) 327-5429.

California's Tobacco Education Campaign is administered by the California Department of Health Services and the California Department of Education and funded entirely by a portion of the increase in cigarette tax revenues resulting from the passage of Proposition 99.

The campaign appropriation includes funds for increased tobacco education in schools, local health departments and community groups, as well as targeted marketing programs.

Health Hints

The American Cancer Society and other health organizations agree: Eating plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables can help protect you from many diseases, perhaps even cancer.

Some people believe the best way to get the most nutrients out of fresh fruits and vegetables is to make juices out of them - by processing them whole, skin, peel, pits and all! They also believe certain juices can be good for common ailments. Some of the ideas that have achieved popularity: Grape-apple-lemon juice (peel and all) tastes fantastic and gives you energy. Cucumber juice, made with the skin on, can help your body cool itself.

Has Cigarette Bashing Gone Too Far?

It seems lately, city after city across America is passing ordinances to segregate smokers from non-smokers. Many cities have banned smokers from public places altogether. Private businesses are being forced to create costly designated areas for smokers and non-smokers. Do you agree with all of this? It's time for the majority to speak up! Small Business Owners Protest Rate Hike

SACRAMENTO -- A proposed 11.9 percent rate hike being reviewed this week by the Workers' Compensation Insurance Rating Bureau drew stiff criticism from the state's largest small-business organization.

"California already has one of the highest workers' compensation insurance rates in the country," said Martyn Hopper, state director of the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB)/California. "This increase would be more than double the rate of inflation and there is no good reason for it."

The Workers' Compensation Insurance Rating Bureau is hearing testimony this week in San Francisco and is expected to issue a decision within the next few weeks, Hopper said. He added, however, that the insurance industry holds 8 of the 12 seats on the bureau and dominates its rate decisions.

"The insurance companies are almost as bad as the forensic doctors and attorneys when it comes to taking advantage of the workers' compensation system," Hopper said. "We hope that the State Insurance Commissioner takes a fresh look at this problem and a close look at the bureau's accounting methods."

NFIB, with 560,000 members and offices in all 50 states, is the largest small-business advocacy organization in the country.
