New programs offered

Courses for three new degree programs — in Computer Science, Physical Education and Criminal Justice — will be offered at CSCSB this quarter, pending approval by the Chancellor's Office in Long Beach and the California Postsecondary Education Commission. According to Dr. Ralph Petrucci, dean of Academic Planning, they have received all necessary on-campus approvals.

The new programs have been designed by campus faculty over a period of several months. The programs were developed in response to growing local needs. The college has been increasing its computer facilities, a major step towards developing a B.S. degree in Computer Science, as more and more students look toward careers in computer-related fields. Last summer, the college modernized its facilities and added a $1.2 million computer and a microcomputer laboratory.

The new B.S. degree in Physical Education, which has been on the academic master plan of the school since 1975, is expected to provide needed families with food baskets at Christmas. Auditions for that play will be held Saturday and Sunday, October 23 and 24, from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the playhouse, 536 W. 11th Street.

The majority of cultural classes will take place at that location, unless otherwise indicated.

New classes include oil painting, flower making and guitar. Doll making, ceramics, drawing and painting, holiday crafts and rug hooking and braiding will also be offered. Classes in arts and crafts for children will be offered at Central, Rowe and Villasenor Libraries. A variety of arts and crafts classes will be offered at community centers and playground sites.

General music courses and piano will be taught at various community centers. Guitar will be taught at the Rudy C. Hernandez Center.

In drama, the Central City Playhouse will produce "The Magic Toy Shop" during the Christmas season and proceeds will be used to provide needy families with food baskets at Christmas. Auditions for that play will be held Saturday and Sunday, October 23 and 24, from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the playhouse, 536 W. 11th Street.

In sports, Bicycle Motocross will continue on alternating Saturdays at the Little League Headquarters and a double points race is scheduled for October 23. Gymnastics continue at the Rudy C. Hernandez Center and an organizational meeting for youth flag football will be held at that center on Tuesday, October 5 at 6:30 p.m. Women's winter softball games will be played at Porterfield and Palm Fields Mon., Tuesdays and Wednesdays at 6:15, 7:30 and 8:45 p.m.

Two new classes in AMERICAN (American Sign Language) will be taught at the Center for Individuals with Disabilities on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Two special recreation courses will be offered. One program will include hiking, biking, photography, fishing and community awareness. The other is a Christmas Day Camp, December 20 through 23.

City-wide events include the department’s annual Halloween Haunted House at Perris Hill Bowl, October 27 through 29 and the Christmas Bazaar, Saturday, November 20 at the City Cultural Center.

Other special events: Sadie Hawkins Day at Johnson Hall, Saturday, October 9, Harvest Festival at the Center for Individuals with Disabilities on Saturday, November 6 and a pizza party at the Chuck E. Cheese Pizza Time Theater on Wednesday, November 10, from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Of all sales on that day, 30% will go to Special Olympics.

Most classes and programs will begin the week of October 4 and will run for 10 weeks. For more information or to register, call 885-5416 or one of the centers listed below:

The San Bernardino Park and Recreation Department is offering many new classes for the fall program 1982, as well as repeats of old favorites. Repairs and remodeling have been completed at the City Cultural Center, 536 W. 11th Street, and that center will be open in October. The majority of cultural classes will take place at that location, unless otherwise indicated.

New classes include oil painting, flower making and guitar. Doll making, ceramics, drawing and painting, holiday crafts and rug hooking and braiding will also be offered. Ten students from Cal State, San Bernardino will study abroad this coming year under the California State University international program. The students are: Lisa Christensen and Son Kim Truong of Loma Linda; James Daly of La Verne Valley; Bridgette Dugan of Riverside; Iraisema Guzman of Mecca; Beatriz Montano of Los Angeles; Bernice Morrison of San Bernardino; Susan Paull of Rialto; and Debra Thompson of Douglas, Ariz. Participants in this statewide foreign study program are chosen on the basis of their ability to adapt to a new cultural environment, their home campus recommendations and their academic record. Selection is competitive and final decisions are made by a statewide committee of faculty members.

Miss Christensen, a senior, will attend the University of Copenhagen, Denmark. An economics and administration major, she is interested in a career in international business management or economic forecasting.

Truong will attend the University of Aix, France. A senior majoring in French and minoring in administration, she plans to teach languages at the high school level or work with international trade companies in the U.S.

Daly, a junior, will continue course work in his administration major at Waseda University, Japan. Interested in international marketing, he looks forward to a management job with a major firm.

Miss Dugan, a senior both at Cal State and La Sierra campus of Loma Linda University, will study at the University of Madrid, Spain. She is majoring in Spanish and biology, she plans to become a physician.

Miss Guzman also will attend the University of Madrid. A senior majoring in liberal studies, with a bilingual/cross-cultural emphasis. After graduation, she plans to return to Mecca to teach.

Miss Montano will study at Ibero-American University in Mexico. A junior majoring in administration, her goal is a business management position with an American company engaged in international relations.

Miss Morrison, a senior French major, will attend the University of Aix. She looks forward to a career as a foreign service officer.

Management courses

Time management, successful supervision and a special class for city or county managers in managing government in an era of cutbacks are among the courses for professionals offered this fall through the extension program at Cal State, San Bernardino.

"Time Management for 'People Professionals'" is a two-day workshop for professionals who, because of constant contact with the general public, have special time management problems. This class meets from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 2 and 30, at the Rialto campus. The fee is $48 for one unit of credit approved by the Board of Registered Nurses for relicensure. The registration deadline is Sept. 24.

NOTE: The above is post dated

Dr. Patricia McNaughton, a lecturer and consultant, will cover ways to develop special techniques and strategies for establishing priorities, eliminating time wasters, delegating responsibility, controlling the telephone, managing crises and organizing paperwork.

An intensive one-day workshop titled "Successful Supervision" will meet from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday, Nov. 6, at Cal State. The course carries .8 unit, and the $75 fee includes lunch. Registration deadline is Oct. 29.

Dr. J. Peter Graves, a professor of business administration at Cal State, will discuss ways to increase skills in managing others. He plans to teach leadership styles, new approaches to problem solving and decision making, employee performance appraisal, motivational techniques and effective communication.

"Managing Government in Hard Times," a one-day workshop for city and county managers meeting from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Friday, Oct. 22, at Cal State. The $85 fee, non-credit, includes lunch. Registration should be made by Oct. 5.

The instructor will be Roger Kemp, city manager for Seaside, Calif. Kemp has written more than 50 articles on cutback management, finance and taxation, and public administration. He also has appeared on the NBC Today show discussing how his city successfully maintains public services in the face of state and federal cutbacks.

Registration for these courses is available by calling the Office of Continuing Education at Cal State, 887-7257.

Introduction to computers

A variety of introductory courses in computers for laypersons and professionals are being offered this fall through the extension program at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Office managers, students and individuals who have acquired personal computers are the targets for the courses, which will meet on campus.

First on the schedule is "Computers for High School Students." Designed for junior and senior high school students, the class will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Saturdays, Oct. 22-23. Charles Brinker, a computer consultant, will introduce the student to hardware and software, as well as teaching them how to write programs in the BASIC language. The fee is $75 non-credit.

"Word Processing: Making It Work for You" is a one-day workshop for office managers, business managers and supervisors. Class will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Friday, Oct. 8. Reba Davis, a word processing consultant, will be the instructor. Several vendors will be available to discuss equipment. The $65 fee, non-credit, includes lunch.

An acquainted session titled "Computers for the Layperson" will meet from 1 to 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 23. Herb Nickles, coordinator of instructional computing at Cal State, San Bernardino, will teach this class, which is designed to remove some of the mystery surrounding the do's and don'ts of computers. In addition to explaining the terminology and mechanics of computers, he will cover job opportunities in the field. The fee is $20 non-credit.

Jewish feast days celebrated

carol Leish

The year 5743 began with Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year) on September 17th. The 10 days after Rosh Hashanah and before Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement), involves a serious reflection over the past year. These holidays are referred to as the "High Holy Days" since they are the most important days in the Jewish year. They are more symbolic than even Chanukah and Passover. During these holidays a Jewish person will ask God for forgiveness and start the new year with a "new life" of virtue.

On Yom Kippur, September 26th, it is customary to remember the dead with the Yizkor and Kaddish prayers. The words of the 23rd Psalm are remembered: "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever." Life is also reaffirmed, since living the best life possible is a must. The Shofar (rams horn) is blown on both holidays to remind us that Isaac was not sacrificed to God, but a ram was instead. On Yom Kippur, Jewish people abstain from eating, until refreshed with a humble heart reaffirms the importance of living a solemn life. Hence, God's judgement passes over the Jewish people and forgives all sins in order for an enhanced year of tranquillity and good deeds.

Islamic Club welcome

The Islamic Committee would like to extend its warmest welcome to all students, faculty and staff members of Cal State College.

The main purpose of the committee is to familiarize the community at Cal State with the aspects of Islam, the faith preached by the prophet Mohammad, and hopefully write down the stereotypic ideas made in the past about this ancient way of life.

Please do not hesitate to come and speak to us about what is on your mind. We are happy to give suggestions and new ideas. We hope to make it a pleasant experience for you and well worth your time.

Again, we would like to wish you a happy and prosperous new school year.

For more information call:

“Annie Get Your Gun” Civic Light Opera Auditions Open

Auditions for principal roles and singers for San Bernardino Civic Light Opera’s 36th Anniversary season opening production, “Annie Get Your Gun”, will be held Friday evening, October 1, at 7:00 p.m., at Arrowview Junior High School Cafeteria, Highland Avenue and “G” Street, San Bernardino.

Dance auditions will be held at the same location on Saturday, October 2, and will start promptly at 11:00 a.m. Dancers should have rehearsal clothes for the tryout, which will be conducted by noted Director-Choreographer, Jack Bunch. All dancers for this production must have ballet training.

All roles are open at this time. Those auditioning must have their music with them and be prepared to sing. This includes dancers. The Association’s accompanist will be available.

Those wishing to audition must make an appointment at the Civic Light Opera office located at 2079 North “E” St., San Bernardino by phoning (714) 882-2545 or (714) 825-9452.

Annie Get Your Gun”, Irving Berlin’s most popular musical, will open for a limited run November 20 at the California Theatre of Performing Arts in downtown San Bernardino.

Reading clinic planned

The School of Education will offer a special nine-week clinic designed to help elementary and high school students with reading problems beginning Oct. 2 at Cal State. During the morning session, each participant will receive personalized assistance from a graduate student working toward an M.A. in Education with an option in reading. A $15 enrollment fee will be charged for each student.

For additional information, call Dr. Margaret A. Atwell, School of Education, at 887-7571.

W.S.U.C.L. Rep to Visit

Students can explore the opportunities for the study of law at Western State University College of Law when college representative Mary Ellen Sabol will be on the Cal State San Bernardino Campus Oct. 4, 1982. Ms. Sabol will have information on WSU’s full and part-time law study options, the “whole person” admissions philosophy, prerequisites for admission and the $125,000 "President’s Scholar" award program. She will be located in front of the cafeteria from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

One of the largest law schools in the nation with campuses in San Diego and Fullerton, WSU is accredited by the Committee of Bar Examiners of the State Bar of California and by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

Lady Beware Seminar

The Campus Police is sponsoring a seminar on Oct. 13, called Lady Beware. The program will be presented three times during the day at 10:00 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. It will take place in the Student Union in the SUMP.

The seminar will focus on precautions women should take in the following areas: safety in the home; driving; walking; if attacked what you should do; basic self-defense.

The program is open to the whole campus community, both men and women.

New A.V. hours

Audio-Visual Services will no longer operate its emergency evening services out of the Learning Center. All services will be provided through the Audio-Visual Services Center, P.E. 87. The new hours will be 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday.

For more information, contact the Audio-Visual Services Center at 887-7266.
Motels rock Raincross
by Anthony Manning

Last Friday night, the rock group The Motels lit up the night sky over Riverside with a brilliant performance. Opening with "Mission of Mercy" and closing their third and final encore with "Forever Mine," Martha Davis and friends poured out emotion that filled up Raincross Square.

This was the second time I had the pleasure of being inoculated by The Motels. This past July they gave the same dazzling performance at a nightclub in Roslyn, New York while I was on vacation. The Motels are not a new group, but have only recently climbed the charts with their third album, All Four One. While their previous albums, Careful and The Motels, all had the same depth and intensity as their latest release, All Four One successfully deals with the problems we face in today's world.

For an hour, Martha Davis (vocals, guitar), Brian Glascoc (drums), Michael Goodroe (bass), Marty Jourard (keyboards, sax), and Guy Perry (guitar) kept the predominantly adolescent audience spellbound. Unlike other groups emerging in the rock world, The Motels have a sound all their own. Their uniqueness and sincerity has propelled them to prominence, and hopefully it will keep them there.

Martha Davis is one of the few female vocalists in contemporary music who releases her whole heart and soul into her performance. Friday night, she put out for an hour, and when it was all over, her voice and spirit had enough stamina to go on for another hour.

Opening for The Motels were The Sights, a British rock group. They, too, gave an energetic performance, but their lyrics lacked the dynamic feeling of The Motels. Unfortunately, when one is waiting for The Motels to perform, any group that precedes them is likely to be criticized. It would be like watching a Pop Warner game before the Super Bowl.

If you missed The Motels at Raincross Square last Friday, they will be playing at the new Universal Amphitheater, Universal Studio, on September 29 and 30. I heartily recommend seeing The Motels in concert. They won't disappoint you.

Chamber music recital

An evening of Chamber Music will be presented at 8:15 p.m., Friday Oct. 1, in the Recital Hall. Works by George Telemann, Paul Hindemith and Johannes Brahms will be presented by four artists: Yong Kim, violin; Karlin Eby, flute; Ben Eby, horn; and Aletha Waites, piano. Mrs. Eby and Waites are instructors in the Music Department.

Admission is $1.50 for students, $3.00 for general admission.

Student Union

New CSSA bargainer

Shari Mills of Crestline has been appointed collective bargaining director for the California State Student Association, the statewide representative body for students in the California State University system.

The daughter of Leonard and Marilyn Mills of Crestline, Ms. Mills competed with students across the state for this full-time position at the CSU Chancellor's Office in Long Beach. Selection was made by the Collective Bargaining Committee of the Association.

Under the Higher Education Employer-Employee Relations Act, CSU students may sit in on labor negotiations that affect their education. As collective bargaining director, Miss Mills will be responsible for training student collective bargaining representatives and will act as liaison between the students and the bargaining units and Chancellor's Office.

A senior majoring in Business Administration, Miss Mills has been interim collective bargaining director since July. This past year, she was selected CSU collective bargaining representative to the faculty unit. While on the Cal State, San Bernardino campus, she has been very active in student government activities in student government, having served on the Board of Directors of the Associated Students and the Serrano Village Council, the governing body for student housing.

Miss Mills also has been publicity chair for the Associated Students and special assistant to the A.S. president. She has been a writer for The Pawprint, and in 1980 coordinated a campaign for tuition-free higher education.

Expecting to receive her degree at the conclusion of this fall term, Ms. Mills plans to pursue a Master's in Business Administration with an emphasis in personnel and industrial relations.

Cal State Close Up

The people at Cal State, San Bernardino are the subjects of "Cal State Close-Up," a photo exhibit by Carey Van Loon of Riverside, which will be on display Sept. 14 through Oct. 15 at the California State University headquarters in Long Beach.

"It's a good representation of the school," said Van Loon, who is an audio-visual photographer for the college. "There are real people here, not just buildings, and I wanted to show their characteristics in a natural, casual way.

People have been his focus since beginning in photography in 1975, both in slide programs he has created for various organizations and in his published photo stories. Van Loon has concentrated on developing slide shows these past few years, but he also has produced thought-provoking films.

In 1979, he took first place in the Cal State, Fullerton annual film festival for his 8mm documentary on the relationship between his mother and his father, who is disabled, and second place for his visual interpretation of music titled, "Adam Again." In 1980, his 16mm film, "Slides," based on a song by Richard Harris, took honorable mention in the film festival.

Van Loon received his B.A. in communications from Bola University in 1979. Prior to joining the CSUSB staff last September, he coordinated the media department at Selaco High School, a school in Downey for the deaf and hard of hearing students. He also provided instructional media services for departments in the Los Angeles County School District and taught workshops on slide show production for the Cabrillo Community Education program.

At Cal State, San Bernardino, he provides a variety of photo services for instructional support, public affairs, theatre, and student services.
Professional Food-Service Management, the company in charge of the Commons' menu, will provide food service at the Student Union Snack Bar and Pub this year. They replace A & P Associates.

PFM has always had an opportunity to bid on operating in the Student Union. "We decided to exercise that option this year because conditions were favorable," said Bill Fennell, food service director for PFM at CSUSB.

The growth potential of Cal State, San Bernardino is tremendous. We would like to be part of that growth," he continued. "Also, prior to this year, insurance costs for operating a business such as this with a liquor license were extremely prohibitive.

Ever since the Student Union was designed, it was planned to be themed as an oasis. This idea was incorporated during the remodeling. Approximate cost for the refurbishment was $3,000.

The new look for the Student Union was suggested and outlined by PFM designers Jody Clark and Paul Hennessey. Final approval of the construction was done by a board composed of Kenton Monroe (Dean of Students), Colleen Robinson (Student Union Coordinator), Elise Traynum (A.S. President), Lee Ann Overstreet (A.S. Executive Assistant), and Fennell.

A beautiful painting of cactus is the centerpiece for the Pub. Directly beneath the picture is one of several wooden planters built by Steve Luna, who also fashioned the birdhouses in the Beer Garden.

Collen Robinson, Student Union Coordinator

By far the most challenging modification to the Pub was the removal of the wall which separated the Pub from the Game Room. The new Pub area combines a more relaxed atmosphere with a larger seating capacity. Rug wall hangings were strategically placed to absorb the noise from the video games.

Originally, rattan furniture was to be used in the Pub. However, the cost was too high when considered with the lack of durability of the rattan. Unfinished wooden tables and chairs, resembling telephone cable spools, were utilized instead.

In addition to beer and wine, the new Pub will serve daquiris, pina coladas, and wine cocktails. The bar has been lengthened, the sides paneled with wood, and the counter resurfaced with ceramic tile. A tile mosaic was also made on the wall next to the bar.

Rounding out the additions to the Pub are the installation of ceiling fans, trellises in the windows, and a wooden lattice "roof" over the bar.

In the Snack Bar, perhaps the most noticeable changes are those on the menu. Freshly made Mexican food will be featured, while cold sandwiches and salads can be purchased from a new deli case. Initially, it was thought that a service window could be used for take-out orders. Now one line will be for placing orders and the other for picking them up at the window, expediting service.

Some subtle physical changes have been made in the Snack Bar also. Awnings have been suspended over the kitchen area and rear wall. Plants have been hung from the walls. The vending machines were relocated in the hallway, allowing space for a seating area on the east wall.

Miss Robinson is excited about the changes in the Student Union. "Hopefully this will encourage more students to use it. The Union is the ideal place to spend some time between classes. You can relax, get something to eat, or meet some friends here. There's always something to do."

No one knows better about having something to do than Miss Robinson. She was busy most of the summer supervising the facelift.

Elizabeth Thiessen, associate food service director for PFM, planted a flower bed in the Beer Garden. Jack Tapleshay and Keith Gergen were responsible for painting the interior of the Union and re-staining the redwood exterior. Duke Tremmel, Student Union custodian, did an outstanding job of cleaning the carpets and floors and finishing the new wooden tables and chairs for the Pub.

The next project for PFM will be recarpeting and redecorating the Commons. Overall, the work done at the Student Union over the summer has resulted in a substantial improvement in appearance and atmosphere. When you have a moment, why not stop by the Union to have a look around and a good time?
Orientation set

A new program called American Culture and Language Program is being offered at CSU-SB this Fall. This program is designed for the college, non-English speaking or recent immigrant who seeks an intensive English experience focusing on reading, writing and speaking English and an introduction to American Culture.

On October 4 several foreign-born students in this program will check into the dorms at Serrano Village.

To help us become familiar with the lifestyle and culture of the foreign students, an orientation program has been planned. The program will be Thursday, Sept. 30. Time and place will be announced in additional flyers.

Irene Parks, from Cal State Los Angeles has been invited to give an hour long presentation and question session.

Irene Parks developed the American Culture and Language Program at CSULA and has extensive experience in Orientation and teaching similar students from UCLA.

Please make your best effort to attend this program. The orientation will be most beneficial for those living in Serrano Village.

Student Service Expo

A Student Service Expo will take place Tuesday, Oct. 5 from 11:00 a.m.-1:30 p.m. in the Upper Commons.

The Expo was designed to help new students become more knowledgeable about services which are available to them.

All Student Service Offices are encouraged to participate. Tables will be set up for each office to have displays and/or pamphlets.

The Housing Office Staff and the S.A.S. (Students Assisting Students) group feel this will be an excellent outreach opportunity for the various offices. It will give the students a chance to see what is available to them at CSU-SB, a chance to meet the people who work in the offices and a chance for staff to interact and meet the students.

If your office is interested in participating in the Expo, please contact the Housing Office at 887-7405 and ask for Sherri Deutchman.

Intern program

(Washington, D.C.)--Attention Graduate Students! Now is the time to apply for six-month Graduate Internships in the Nation's Capital. The Washington Center for Learning Alternatives, a national internship organization, has announced an October 22, 1982 application deadline for its February-August, 1983 Graduate Session in Business/Government Relations.

Through this program, masters, doctoral and professional degree candidates are placed in six-month internships, paying $900 per month, in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. In addition to a 40 hour work week, students attend a weekly seminar/speaker series which is augmented by briefings and mid-day meetings with government and corporate officials.

Applicants come predominantly from the fields of Business, Public Administration, Political Science, Law, International Affairs, and Economics. Finalists are matched with corporate offices, government agencies, and special interest groups.

CPR class

The Housing Office is hosting a one-day CPR class sponsored by Crafton Hills College. The class will begin on Saturday, Oct. 9 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. If you are interested in taking the class, contact the Housing Office at 887-7405.

T-Shirt winners
by Mike Smith

Fifteen students started off the new school year by winning Intramural T-shirts during registration. All fifteen were participants in the Intramural Department's Hole-in-One contest held outside the gym.

Five lucky duffers made three straight putts to automatically win their T-shirts. They were Bryan Hendry, Randy McCauley, Joe Peccoralo, Kathleen Werkhoven and Patricia Díaz Polirer.

The other ten winners were drawn out of a hat by Intramural Director Joe Long. Students selected were Jim Carey, Debra De La Torre, Hart Becks, Marty Horton, Douglas Inkster, Ronald Kreske, Matthew Smith, Debbie Polsh, Susan Perri and Jack Tapleshay.

The event was put on by Mr. Long to publicize the Intramural Department's long list of scheduled events for the coming year.

All winners can pick up their T-shirts at P.E. 124, between the hours of ten and eleven. Anyone wishing more information about intramurals should check the bulletin board in the gym or call Joe Long at S87-7564.
