Memorial Fund Established

A memorial fund has been established to accept contributions for the education of the children and heirs of Dr. Alfred S. Egge. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Egge, or the Al Egge Memorial Fund. Donations should be made payable to the President's Office, AD 100.

Dr. Egge's Memory Lives On

My first contact with Dr. Egge was as his student. He was instructing Endocrinology and Animal Physiology. I never knew anyone who loved the subject more than he did. Dr. Egge was an excellent teacher and a trusting friend. My hidden potential and he激发了我对学习的热情。

As we are all well aware, the upcoming November ballot will be the single most important event for the people of California in the 1980's.
We are faced with decisions ranging in scope from Congressional re-districting to recycling, from control and increased regulation of what some people hold as one of the most treasured rights guaranteed under the Constitution of the United States, as opposed to the protection of the lives and property of the people. I would prefer not to exercise that right. Finally, to confront the single most important event for the people of the world, nuclear proliferation or annihilation.
Being a people of vastly different cultures and ideals, we continually find ourselves at crossroads. In order that we, as a people, can continue to derive revenues by the various opinions and needs are felt and known throughout the state, we must have a Governor who understands and recognizes the communities and people of California as individuals as well as a whole. We require a governor with the experience and foresight which can bring together the various opinions of the people of this state and mold them into a productive and viable plan, but always keeping in mind the people of California.
I believe Tom Bradley to be the only gubernatorial candidate who can best achieve all that I have stated, and therefore I ask you for your support of Tom Bradley.

Yes on Props. 11 & 13

by Bernard Zaleha

On the November 2 ballot will be two propositions which, if passed, will improve the quality of life in California. Proposition 11 would require a returnable deposit on all beer and soft drink containers. This concept is already in use in many states. Michigan, Iowa, Maine, Connecticut and Vermont. It has recently been enacted in New York, Delaware and Massachusetts. The states which have returnable laws have experienced an 85% or greater redemption in the first few years. The typical refund is a few cents per container. This means that the states could save millions of dollars in the recycling of bottles and cans. It will also create a market for re-useable glass bottles and aluminum cans.

Proposition 13 will improve the quality of life in California by improving the environment. Fifty to 90% of this water can be saved through conservation, depending on the type of agriculture. Agribusiness, however, prefers to apply political pressure for development of expensive water projects at public expense rather than conserving the water they have by improving water conservation. The same powerful corporations which tried unsuccessfully to have the peripheral canal built at the expense of the California taxpayer are trying to defeat Proposition 13. They wish to continue wasting public water and continue business as usual. Proposition 13 sets up a much needed framework to provide for our future water needs while safeguarding the quality of our environment.

The Environmental Action Council here at CSCSB urges you not to be swayed by the distortions of the opponents of Props. 11 & 13. Vote yes on propositions 11 & 13.

An Interview with Congressman Brown

The following interview with Congressman George E. Brown, Jr. who represents the 36th Congressional District, was conducted by Bernard Zaleha, A.S. Borad member, PTA, the League of Women Voters, California PTA, the League of Women Voters, The Sierra Club, the Audubon Society, the Southwestern States Council of Retail Clerks and over 300 other organizations.

Proposition 13 would make the California's water resources be used more efficiently and wisely and would provide the economic incentives for currently available water conservation techniques to be implemented. Eighty-five percent of California's developed water resources are used in agriculture. Fifty to 90% of this water could be saved through conservation, depending on the type of agriculture. Agribusiness, however, prefers to apply political pressure for development of expensive water projects at public expense rather than conserving the water they have by improving water conservation. The same powerful corporations which tried unsuccessfully to have the peripheral canal built at the expense of the California taxpayer are trying to defeat Proposition 13. They wish to continue wasting public water and continue business as usual. Proposition 13 sets up a much needed framework to provide for our future water needs while safeguarding the quality of our environment.

The Environmental Action Council here at CSCSB urges you not to be swayed by the distortions of the opponents of Props. 11 & 13. Vote yes on propositions 11 & 13.

Schoen: How do you view the administration's claim that unemployment historically are the last to come down at the end of a recession, and that if we continue to increase economic policies, we will soon see a drop in unemployment?

Brown: The President is doing everything he can to reduce the political spectre of the present economic situation. And, he may be having some success. It depends on how gullible the American people are. I would be very skeptical of a Democratic president who would try to do everything for a given program or a given thought. I would say, if it were not for the consumer skills of the consumers in communicating a fiction to the American people, I would not worry about it too much. I would not think it would have much of an impact. But, he is effectively skilled, and he requires an assumption for it.

Schoen: In the last 2 years, we have witnessed a slashing in aid to college students. Do you foresee a continuation of this trend?

Brown: There's no question but that under President Reagan's budget there will be continued efforts to slash support for college students. That will be fought by the Congress and depending on the base of the November elections, we will be fighting for the battle. I think he is having an impact and I regret it very much.

Schoen: The administration's stated reason for reducing domestic programs, including aid to education, is that our national resources must be directed to the military in order to catch up with the Russians. Are the Russians really ahead of us militarily, or are we now at a parity of strength from which we can see an armistice?

Brown: Well, you are obviously aware that this is a subject of great controversy. The President feels quite strongly that the Russians have been engaged over the last ten years in availing efforts to see us and that they have succeeded. I absolutely disagree with him. All of the responsible policymakers in the military field that I have talked to agree that the President's posture is one of the rough strategic equivalence. That is, that there are some areas in which the Russians have a superiority, there are others in which we have a superiority.

Zaleha: Do you feel that a freeze will be a definite first step toward arms reduction, and do you support Proposition 12?

Brown: I do support Proposition 12, and I think a freeze is an appropriate first action to take. But you know, I have come to the conclusion that almost any good faith effort aimed at turning around the arms race will be justifiable action. We have a very long way to go, and a first step, taken in good faith, will be accepted as being taken in good faith, is going to be vitally important milestone.

Pomp and Circumstance

by Philip Buford

John Colby, Dean of Fibber U., stood in front of the school's library watching as workmen remove his son's maserati from the front wall. It was a miracle that Jeff, his son, had escaped unharmed. John went to his office where Jeff and his wife, Julia, waited. John loved Jeff and tried to be patient but this was the limit. He told Jeff that he was cutting off his sizable weekly allowance until he could show some improvement in his behavior. Jeff decided to tow the line—for now.

Anne's first day at The Fibber Weekly was totally eventless. Nick introduced her to Biff Lang, the papers editor, then sent her for coffee, when she returned, he had her sharpen 12 pencils and make a few photo copies. It was frustrating but Anne was not about to give in.

Meanwhile, with both of her roommates gone for the day, Millissa invited Matt over for an afternoon tete-a-tete. Matt and Millissa were truly in love. Nothing seemed to matter except the love they shared. Matt took Millissa's hand and softly asked her to marry him. Before Millissa could answer there was a knock at the door. Millissa answered it and was shocked to find her father, Baxter Moore, standing before her. Baxter, a staunchy, white-haired man was apalled when he realized his daughter was entertaining a man in her room.

Back at The Fibber Weekly, Anne made a rather curious discovery. While looking for an eraser in Biff Lang's desk drawer, she found a half eaten whale blubber sandwich. Anne asked Biff about it and he quickly told her it was part of a new diet he was on.

Biff however, was covering up a secret. Late that night he went to a meeting under the bleachers on the football field. It was a meeting of the E.S.S. (the Eskimo Supre­macy Society) Biff's real name was Nanuk Talk and was the leader of E.S.S. They wanted to purify Fibber University, and to start they planned on blowing up the library.

To be continued next week...

Witchcraft

Professor Robert Blackey will be in Shandin's kitchen Wed. Oct. 27 at 8:30 to deliver an educational presentation on witchcraft, its history and practices. All Village residents are invited to attend.

Ambush to Rock

On Thurs., November 4th, the popular rock band Ambush is scheduled to play in the SUMP from 9-1 p.m. The event will be hosted by Tokay house and sponsored by Serrano Village. The charge will be $1 for all students. Serrano Village is encouraged to come and enjoy the music.

Village People to Hollywood

On Thursday, October 14, 40 residents trekked into Hollywood wearing tights and body suits. The purpose: to appear on The Richard Simmons Show.

The event was planned by Debbie Weissel, R.A. of Waterman, and Susan Flores, an Arrowhead resident Joe Long, CSCSB's Intramural Director, donated an Intramural t-shirt to present to Mr. Simmons. The evening was charged with energy. Actor-singer Frankie Avalon and Actress Denise Pence (who plays Katie Parker on the popular daytime soap The Guiding Light) were the guest stars.

The two shows taped will be aired on Nov. 16th and 23rd at 3:00 p.m. Residents are hoping to video tape the shows for future viewing.

Chamber Music Tonight

Nine student music ensembles at Cal State, San Bernardino will be on stage during the annual Prism Concert at 8:15 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 24, at the college.

The stage in the Recital Hall will resemble a prism, with lights illuminating each group individually during its performance, then fading to quickly spotlight the next ensemble.

A spectrum of music is planned, ranging from the Jazz Ensemble’s production to 16th century chamber music sung by the Chamber Singers. The Chamber Players will present Brandenburg Concerto, No. 4 by J.S. Bach; the Concert Choir will sing “And the Glory of the Lord” from Handel’s “Messiah”; and the Wind Ensemble will perform “Incantation and Dance” by John Barnes Chance.

Other groups on stage will be a saxophone quartet, two brass quintets and a woodwind quintet.

Dr. Loren Filbeck, professor of music and chair of department, will direct the Chamber Singers and Concert Choir; Dr. Richard Saylor, professor of music, the Chamber Players; Keating Johnson, assistant professor of music, the chamber ensembles and Wind Ensemble; and Roger E. Rickson, instructor of music at Cal State and Riverside City College, the Jazz Ensemble.

Admission to the concert is $3 general, $1.50 students, payable at the door.

Musical Offering

Musical Offering, a chamber ensemble specializing in baroque and classical masterpieces, will perform Wednesday, Oct. 27, at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Part of the Music at Cal State series, the ensemble will begin its concert at 8:15 p.m. in the Recital Hall.

Soprano Maurita Thornburgh will join the ensemble of five arias by Bach and six songs by Henry Purcell.

Musical Offering, named after one of Bach’s final compositions, includes Kathleen Lenski, violin; Allan Vogel, oboe; Frederick Seykora, cello; Owen Burdick, harpsichord; and Kenneth Munday, bassoon.

The musicians are artists-in-residence at the California Institute of the Arts. They have toured as soloists in recital and with orchestras nationwide. Vogel and Munday are principal musicians with the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra.

Tickets are $5 general, $2.50 students, and will be available at the door. Information on season tickets can be obtained by calling the Music Department, 887-7454.

Halloween

by Jeff Ritchell

The sun sinks oh so quickly,
On this night come once a year,
When evil stalks on every street,
And security turns to fear.

Darkness is the essence,
As they came both large and small,
To claim their sweetened payments,
From mortals one and all.

A girl is sitting alone this night,
In a house of isolation,
Feeling safe with doors latched tight,
Free from his sole visitation.

The wind stands still for a moment,
The moon is shadowed and low,
The beast comes upon her in quick descent,
Wielding his fearful blow.

Murder fills the house,
As another victim falls prey,
To the spirits already aroused,
On a crimson October day.

Life will be here at daybreak,
As Halloween ends with the light,
They leave behind in these gruesome works,
The toll of Halloween night.
NSF Fellowships

The National Research Council will again advise the National Science Foundation on the selection of candidates for the Foundation's program of Minority Graduate Fellowships. Panels of eminent scientists and engineers appointed by the National Research Council will evaluate qualifications of applicants. Final selection of Fellows will be made by the Foundation, with awards to be announced in March 1983.

The NSF Minority Graduate Fellowship Program is open only to persons who are citizens or nationals of the United States at the time of application, and who are members of an ethnic minority group underrepresented in the advanced levels of the Nation's science talent pool--American Indian, Native Alaskan (Eskimo or Aleut), Black, Mexican American/Chicano, Puerto Rican, or Native Pacific Islander (Polynesian or Micronesian).

Eligibility is limited to those individuals who, at the time of application, have not completed more than 20 semester hours/30 quarter hours, or equivalent, of study in any of the science and engineering fields listed below following completion of their first baccalaureate degree in science or engineering. Subject to the availability of funds, new fellowships awarded in the Spring of 1983 will be for periods of three years, the second and third years contingent on certification to the Foundation by the fellowship institution of the student's satisfactory progress toward an advanced degree in science or engineering.

These fellowships will be awarded for study or work leading to master's or doctoral degrees in the mathematical, physical, biological, engineering, and social sciences, and in the history and philosophy of science. Awards will not be made in clinical law, education, or business fields, in history or social work, for work leading to medical, dental, or public health degrees, or for study in joint science-professional degree programs. Applicants will be judged on the basis of ability. The annual stipend for Minority Graduate Fellows will be $6,900 for a twelve-month tenure with no dependency allowances.

Applicants will be required to take the Graduate Record Examinations designed to test aptitude and scientific achievement. The examinations, administered by the Educational Testing Service, will be given on December 11, 1982 at designated centers throughout the United States and in certain foreign countries.

The deadline date for the submission of applications for NSF Minority Graduate Fellowships is November 24, 1982. Further information and application materials may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20418.

Law Conference

The 13th Annual Pacific Pre-Law Conference is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 10, 1982, in the James E. West Center at UCLA. Representatives from over 50 law schools throughout the country will speak with and provide information to all who have an interest in pursuing a law career. Information will be available about admission procedures, requirements, and the various programs offered by each school. This program is open to all students from any Southern California college or university. Admission is free.

This event is being sponsored by the UCLA Placement and Career Planning Center and the UCLA Alumni Association.

Escape to See Tapings

Registration for the Escape program trip to see a taping session for television shows "Have Me a Break" and "One Day at a Time" is being taken at the Student Union desk through Nov. 18. The free event will be Friday, Nov. 19, in Burbank.

Family Performance

The Firebird Theatre Co., an acting group from Los Angeles, will present "The Fisherman and His Wife" by the Grimm Brothers at 7:15 p.m., Friday, Oct. 29, in the Recital Hall. For the first event in the Family Performance Series, the company will enact the well-known tale in a style based on the Japanese Kabuki Theatre, using masks and make-up.

Participation on the part of the audience is an important feature in the series, which includes eight programs especially for children. During the Firebird program, children will be invited to join in warm-up exercises with the actors, act, and piece together a new ending. Tickets will be available at the door at $1 for children age 12 and under, $2 for adults. Season tickets can be obtained by calling the Service to Students with Disabilities Office, Ext. 7662. They are $35 for a family of up to five members. JoAnn Hartog is coordinating the series.

Instead of hibernating in front of the T.V. this winter and emerging in the Spring overweight and flabby--Stay Fit! Be Active! Join us for a six-session course on developing a personalized exercise program you can live with.

Location: Cal State San Bernardino, Library, 5th Floor Conference Room
