Quayle Awaards JTPA Recipients

Vice President Dan Quayle visits single mother in Ontario.

Quayle was also visited by a mother in Ontario. In fact, there were no mistakes, only the mention of the fictional television character Murphy Brown. Murphy Quayle met with many single parents in her home state of Indiana. Instead, there was only praise for Ted Kennedy who co-authored the legislation which set up the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). The small exclusive crowd waited patiently for the Vice President of the United States, who was visiting the JTPA classrooms which housed thousands of students.

He commended them for talking to the initiative to benefit single men, themselves, making no derogatory or sexualized at all.

Keith Lee, director of the county JTPA program introduced Quayle and said, "What is the purpose of this event is to provide in-person performances, singers, church members and students of the Inland Empire. Jesse And The Jews

BY JOHN E. JACOB

The lessons of the Los Angeles disorder are disappointing for both the American centrist and the American liberal. But Americans can and must do something about this sad situation. They must take action to build a political system that will not leave anyone behind. And they must do so without being divided by political power and interest. We need a new system that will ensure that all Americans have the opportunity to participate in our democracy.

The voice of Los Angeles is not the voice of the majority. It is the voice of a minority that has been left behind by our economic system. We need a new system that will provide an opportunity for all Americans to participate in our democracy.

Jesse Jackson is an eloquent voice for the American dream. He has a unique potential to make our country a more just and equal society. His message is clear: We need a new system that will provide an opportunity for all Americans to participate in our democracy.

The Economic Opportunity Mortgage

Today buying a home may seem like more and more of an impossibility. But that's not the way it ought to be. Jesse Jackson is introducing the Economic Opportunity Mortgage. A realistic and affordable way for you to make your dream come true. The EOM features a 30-year fixed rate loan with an interest rate as low as 5% or less. And a flat fee of just $99 for closing costs on your purchase. In fact, $99 covers all the closing costs usually paid for by the borrower - including appraisal, title, escrow and recording charges. There are no income limitations, but the property must be located within a census tract. We think it's the opportunity of a lifetime. Assuming of course that you can meet the minimum requirements for things like your employment history, credit and down payment. For more details on the Economic Opportunity Mortgage, contact the professionals at the Union Bank lending office near you. Coors Makes Donation To Literacy Volunteers Of America

In keeping with its goal to reach 100,000 adults with literacy services by 1995 Coors Brewing Company recently made a $5,000 contribution to the Literacy Volunteers of America (LVA-CA) program as part of its "Literacy, Pass It On" campaign. The corporate contribution will support literacy services offered by a wide variety of literacy programs and other organizations throughout California, including tutoring, program management, technical assistance, reading tutoring and other services. Volunteers, supported by professional staff, serve as tutors, mentors, recruiters, secretaries, administrators, planners and communicators.

"Literacy Volunteers of America provides an excellent opportunity to reach grassroots organizations who are actively involved in meeting the bottom line - helping people achieve personal goals through the power of words. Coors community relations field manager.

In 1980, Coors launched a five-year, $40 million program committed to reaching 500,000 adults with literacy services within one of the most comprehensive, long-term community service programs of any American corporation addressing the national illiteracy problem. In addition to forming partnerships with national literacy organizations, Coors funds and provides a full-time full-time volunteer to increase awareness and recruit volunteers and non-readers, and generate funds for literacy at local levels.

"Something good get out and we started getting calls from consumers on coloring globally," O'Brien said. "We saw that the need is there." The crayons are important for developing minority children's self-esteem, said Cheryl Owen of the Multicultural Training and Research Institute, a joint venture between the city mental health department and Temple University.

"These crayons are an extremely important and powerful symbol," Owen said. "Children need to feel like they're an accepted part of society." O'Brien said the new line will also help children see that social terms, such as "black" and "white," are not accurate.

He said during testing of the crayons in a North Philadelphia day care center, a 5-year-old black child noted that his skin tone did not match the black crayon, but the sepia crayon.

"This is no longer a black and white issue," he said. "Kids are being made aware that other colors exist. You're taking two very basic things - a child and a crayon - and hopefully everyone else will fall into place."
Ashley Named Spokesperson For Skin Care Product

A national spokesperson has been named to communicate a new breakthrough discovery in the skin care industry. It is possible to lighten black skin—especially dark spots and dyschromias—by the use of the new non-hydroquinone day cream to supplement or replace hydroquinone formulas. Debra Ashley, a professional model, media personality and personal appearance consultant, has been named by Reviva Labs, 705 Hopkins Street, Suite 201, 80833, 1-800-257-7774, to help market through health food stores and beauty salons nationally its new Botanical Skin Lightener for Day. Ashley, a former track and field athlete from the Houston, Texas area, is also a member of the Brentwood Baptist Church there. Recently married to the acting director of the Philadelphia Office of the United Negro College Fund, she now makes her home in Philadelphia.

President and CEO Debra Ashley, a college-educated individual, active in many cultural, social and business segments, makes an excellent spokesperson for the sensitive, Stephen Sonnenfeld, president and CEO, Reviva Labs, Inc., plans on having her present at trade shows and other special events to demonstrate and also explain the advantages and benefits of Reviva's Skin Lightener Program," she added.

Debra Ashley, "Our non-hydroquinone day cream is probably the first cream available due to its suitability to use during the day to make the skin look lighter, cleaner and more efficient. One of the nation's foremost skin care experts, Kathryn Leverette, of The Solutions Center, Oakland, CA, cautions, "Always use a sunblock—even on the most sensitive skin. The Sun's rays destroy the non-hydroquinone skin lighter." She found the first clinical trial conducted to the improvement of ethnic skin. Among her clients are very sensitive to hydroquinone," she said. The agreement is part of a strategy to expand the awareness of diversity issues beyond American skin care specialists. Small businesses that employ disproportionately 58 percent of women in the nation are considered small. The SBA and Department of Labor will establish a network linking the two agencies in order to heighten awareness of glass ceiling issues and to promote titled and promote model approaches to breaking the glass ceiling. Light Peel, a superb papaya-based and a large 8-oz. body lotion formula for more economical use of the corporate culture.

Backwater's Restaurant/ Night Club

To make it more exciting on Monday, September 14, they will introduce a new menu. Something like the famous Austin's Backporch located in the Marina area of Los Angeles. Owner Mike Sims, is a former professional football player, for the Cleveland Browns. His life has taken many turns where each one better than the last and each experience has made him a major player. With a background in computer sales, he was hired by the Tandy Corporation to turn around some dead areas which were not performing well. He became a banker, working on major deals involving Fortune 500 companies. He then wanted to have another challenge and by accident he became a builder. He was dissatisfied with the contractor. He decided to build his dream house. He hired him and took over the job himself. Not too long after he became a contractor he built the first million dollar home in Upland.

Sims got into the restaurant business with no experience. His son Track had done some night club promotions and wanted to get into the night club business. Sims looked at the facility and said it was a perfect restaurant and nightclub.

They hired Art Bean, a veteran restaurant with 17 years experience with the Club & Clearwater, operation, owner of El Catio Gardens and Lord Charlie's, now Charlie's Club, "I was interested because of the opportunity for multi unit management," said Bean to the Backwater Voice interview. This is the flagship in what will become a chain. "We have changed the menu to the kind of cooking I use to do," he said. "It will be good old fashioned southern cooking with a not so spicy atmosphere." The change of menu opening night will be Monday, September 14.

The night club is operated from the restaurant and financing,

THRIFTY AND YOU... BRINGING IT HOME.
NO MORE 714. WE'RE CHANGING TO 909

Starting next month, Pacific Bell will send customers letters, bill messages and brochures to remind them that California's 13th area code goes into service November 14.

The new 909 area code will serve western and central Riverside and San Bernardino counties and eastern Los Angeles County.

Area code 714 will continue to be used in Orange County, a small portion of southwestern San Bernardino County and part of La Mirada in Los Angeles County.

The new 909 area code is needed to accommodate population growth and the increasing use of cellular telephones, pagers, computer modems, facsimile machines and automated teller machines (ATMs).

Voting Pamphlets Are Being Prepared

Riverside County voter information pamphlets for the November 3, 1992 Consolidated General Election enter final printing stages on or about September 15, 1992. In addition to the General Election and State Measures to appear in the various versions of the pamphlet, a number of other elections have been consolidated including municipal, special and School Districts and local measures.

The Registrar of Voters office is located at 1260 Palmyrita Avenue, Riverside. Our telephone number is (714)275-8700 or 1-800-773-VOTE.

International Baccalaureate Diplomats Signify Hard Work And Sacrifice

Eleven students from Cajon High received full International Baccalaureate diplomas at the San Bernardino City Unified Board of Education meeting held recently. In order to attain this diplomas, the students not only maintained excellent grades in a rigorous academic program but also took leadership roles in state and national and completed at least 100 hours of community service.

The students are: Brady Kimberly; Jared Nappagary; Erin Kin; Michael Letter; Patricia Lenz; Kathleen Mary McEl; Duong (Tiny) Pham; Wjal Pajom; Micael Reiter; Victoria Romero and Kiki Zannopulos.

Cajon is authorized by the International Baccalaureate office in Geneva, Switzerland, to prepare students for this diploma, which was developed in 1967 for international schools, the excellence of which has been validated by the ministers of education in more than 50 countries.

Artistic Students Invited To Paint The Fair As They See It

New to the 1992 fair is a panel art contest, where students are asked to "paint the fair" on a 4' x 8' board to be displayed during the October 9-18 fair. The City of Riverside not only experienced the potential for upheaval, but also the coming sighoner of the community to address the underlying causes of the riot.

A group of community leaders requested that the Mayor appoint a Mayor's Task Force to study the concerns in our at-risk communities. The Mayor responded by establishing an expanded task force which initially focused on youth and has included a broad cross-section of community leaders representing the business, civic, educational, and governmental sectors. The results of their efforts are contained in the attached report.

Listed below are the major recommendations involved issues that have been previously identified by the Human Relations Commission, several recommendations require further action and/or consideration by the City Council.

In addition to the recommendations in the report with no further action by the City Council.

RECOMMENDATION

That the City Council: 1. Authorize the establishment of a Youth Employment Task Force to develop and implement a plan for Youth Employment.

1. Authorize the task force to submit an application to the Riverside Youth Service Commission to prepare students for this diploma.

Riverside Arts

t announced its Summer Arts Workshops Closely Temporally

The Department of the Riverside Arts Foundation (RAF) will not open September 1st as originally planned due to the recent difficulties of fundraising for non-profits in both the public and private sector. Mary Lee Peters, RAF Executive Director says "We have reluctantly made this decision in view of the fact that we received no funds from the county in the last two years and anticipate a sharp cut in state funding this year. We are viewing this as a temporary measure and will continue to seek funding in the desert area to support this program.

The loss of the desert office is a real setback to efforts to build a valley-wide constituency and support for the arts in the desert," said Assistant Director Terri Johnson, former Chair of the Arts Coalition and RAF.

Vice President Quayle presented each of the 16 graduates their diplomas. He also presented each graduate with a copy of "Heck Are You?: When I went ten across the front of it, I had my T-shirt on that has written into it for along time. Be sure to take good care and take care of yourself."

I look at the stars at night and see the sun during the day, and see God's perfect work. I say to myself, if one wants to make this or her world better, one must do something each day that will make another person's life better. As we attempt to succeed with the new theory of Positive, Progressive, productivity, you notice more happy people who are respectful and polite to each other because this is what they will teach their little ones at home. We will not be worried about the color of another person's skin. Together we can.

Carl Flamer of the school where I met with the principal, Mr. Gantt, said, "This is recognized as one of the top elementary schools in the nation. It is my understanding that Mrs. Bush visits this school when she is in Charlotte. I left him and members of his staff copies of 'The Black Voice,' we look forward to doing unto others as we would have them do unto us, and we will appreciate the good life and the great things God promised us, as we leave the Park Avenue project to build a Second Baptist Church Christian Center.

Second Baptist Church has now completed the 102nd Anniversary. We thank God for bringing us our "Dream Major" for as many years as we take to hear the meaning of our 102nd Church Anniversary theme.
