FIELD DAYS

FOREIGN LANGUAGE Over 350 junior and senior high school students from San Bernardino and Riverside counties will sing, perform in skits and puppet shows in a foreign tongue and present displays, food and dances with a foreign flavor, as they participate in the College's annual Foreign Language Field Day on campus Wednesday, May 12.

Songs will be sung in Italian, German, French and Spanish. An original film production by students from Palm Springs High School, "Jason and the Golden Fleece," with dialog in Latin and Spanish, will be shown. The CSCSB Foreign Language Department, sponsors of the event, will show foreign films continuously from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The visitors will bring food for tasting representative of various countries and display coin collections from abroad. A style show of native dress from Mexico, Japan, Colombia; skits in German, French and Spanish; and puppet shows in Spanish and French will be performed.

Certificates of merit will be presented to all students who have achieved outstanding success in a foreign language.

"LIFE IN 2000" EXPLORED "The Quality of Life in the Year 2,000" will be projected by high school visitors as they probe the future, using the fields of anthropology, economics, political science, sociology, psychology and history and a little help from the computer.

The College's first Social Sciences Field Day will be held Tuesday, May 11. In preparation, participants have been briefed by material from the departments, and will be given additional information through lectures here on campus, with each department giving their view on the theme. Then the students will participate in debates. One subject might be: "Should developed countries provide the underdeveloped countries with food?" Population growth rate, food per capita and other information will be fed to the computer for analysis and interpretation.

Each student will attend three different presentations and will participate in debates. A banquet is scheduled for the evening, after which awards will be presented.

A Ten-Tennial Minute - Ten years ago... On May 4, 1966, the College was formally dedicated and President Pfau formally inaugurated. In a ceremony located between the SS Building (then the Library) steps and the south side of the AD Building, students, faculty, staff and guests watched while Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke presided, introducing speakers which included Richard Bennecke, then president of the ASB, speaking for the 293 students, and Robert Roberts, representing the 25 faculty. Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson represented the...

State of California. The featured speaker was President Alan Simpson of Vassar. The audience basked in 80° weather, as the platform party, under a colorful canopy, performed the ceremony which formally launched the College. The March AF Band played music for the processional and recessional. That's the way it was ten years ago.
