In 1993 the emphasis is on prevention and new health surveys conducted on the campus of San Bernardino Valley College, through coverage by the Black Voice News, TV programs "ERBONY ISSUES," and on KVRR radio FM. Malcolm X's Final Speeches Published

February 1965

THE FINAL SPEECHES

During these weeks Malcolm knew he was a "lauded man." Several attempts on his life had already been organized, including the blowing of his horn a week before his death. "My death has been ordered," he explained. "The conspiracy is to get me killed because they know that I believe the only thing necessary to solve the problem of black people in this country is unity." As the scope and nature of the attacks became clearer, Malcolm increasingly pointed a finger at police and government influence. Much of the material in "February 1965: The Final Speeches" by Malcolm X is available for $17.95 at bookstores, or can be ordered directly from Pathfinder, 410 West Street, New York, NY 10014. If ordering by mail, please add $3.00 to cover postage and handling.

National Week Of Prayers Calls On Black Men

By REV. J. JACKSON AND REV. F. ALEXANDER

F or 400 years African-American men have suffered under the burden of slavery, racism and oppression at the hands of white Americans. Since the Emancipation Proclamation, the oppression has been psychological, social, economic and spiritual in nature. African Americans have attempted to overcome the oppression.

During this week, a new form of oppression is being felt. The past few weeks have been characterized by a new form of alienation between African American men and their communities.

For many African Americans, the coming of the new year has meant the beginning of a new era in their lives. The hope and promise of a better future have been replaced by a feeling of despair and hopelessness.

The week of prayers is an opportunity for African American men to come together to pray for each other and their families. It is an opportunity to seek guidance and strength from God in a time of need.

The week of prayers is an opportunity for African American men to renew their commitment to the African American community. It is an opportunity to reaffirm their belief in the principles of justice, equality and freedom.

During this week of prayers, African American men are encouraged to come together to pray for each other and for their families. It is an opportunity to seek guidance and strength from God in a time of need.

The week of prayers is an opportunity for African American men to renew their commitment to the African American community. It is an opportunity to reaffirm their belief in the principles of justice, equality and freedom.

What can we do?

A study of oppression is in progress. The week of prayers will bring about a new form of oppression. It is our responsibility to seek God's guidance and direction in order to overcome this new form of oppression.

Because there is a new form of oppression, God's consciousness will increase. There will be more new families and there will be a new divorce. Therefore, black men will be more responsible. The new generation will be more opinionated and will be more independent.

If a new generation is to be formed, we must also be independent. We must be independent in thought, action and speech. We must be independent in thought, action and speech.

Foundation Honors Citizens

Lois Carson was given the Humanitarian of the Year, and Cheryl Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Cain, Mother Irene Gibbs and Dukes, Dukes and Associates were presented with Black Rose Awards in commemoration of their outstanding contributions to the community by the San Bernardino Black Culture Foundation earlier this fall. A special award was the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity for community service.

The keynote speaker was Pastor Chuck Singleton of Loveland Church. Singleton chose to honor the recipients with the massage of Remain. The story goes in 21 Samuel 23, that Beniah slew a lion in a snowy pit. Singleton said the recipients do this very often, on a daily basis. “Think about how difficult the task,” he said. “They slew a lion, in a pit and on a snowy day. They face adversity all the time but they don’t let it stop them.”

Singleton said the recipients are worthy of the support and the award from the Black Culture Foundation.

Lois Carson, has served as Executive Director of the Riverside County Department of Community Action since 1980 where she has been instrumental in developing community-based organizations to empower the poor. In her professional work, she established a loan program with a local bank for the working poor and three programs of community-supported child care. She has also been active in several other worthy causes.

Cheryl Brown, was cited because of her long term commitment to the community. She is the Co-Publisher of Black Voice News, Vice President of C & H Public Relations, owns Brown Publishing. She is the host of the Winner’s Circle, a television show on KCSB, local access. Brown has additionally accomplished many other things.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Cain, have been stalwarts of the Black Culture Foundation, Mrs. Cain has been involved with the queen pageant and both have been active with the parade for many years. They are the owners of Cain Construction and have built millions of dollars of moderate-income housing.

Mrs. Gibbs affectionately called Mother Gibbs. She truly does what the Lord asked of his people, to feed the hungry, clothe the poor, visit the sick and buried her son. Mother Gibbs fed the hungry for years.

Dukes, Dukes and Associates were awarded as the Community of the Year. John Dukes, president, has been a national developer in the San Bernardino area for many years. His concern has always been for a quality housing mix that will enhance neighborhoods.

The Alpha Phi Alpha was awarded for their involvement in the community, a speech and essay presentation, scholarships for youth, and a project that teaches the hearts of the males in their Black Male program. Event chairs Jeff Hill and Jim King (due to illness was unable to attend) were pleased with the event.

The sponsors were: General Telephone, San Bernardino County Sheriff’s Dept., Southern California Edison and Southern California Gas Company.

Christmas Spirit Brought Out Best In Mo Valley

Together We Can

The Press-Enterprise Boys' basketball team must have wondered if the Christmas Spirit brought out the best in all of them.

The Corona High (Hoopsters) of Moreno Valley. The children, who were from infant to up to 13 years of age were very polite. They sang and helped out the gifts. Members of the association, Mr. Rames and Linda did an outstanding job.

This program has completed its 7th year. It began when members of the Moreno Valley Black Civic Association set up its 7th year. It began when members of the Moreno Valley Black Civic Association set up its program at the Moreno Valley Black Civic Association. It was a major step toward Peace On Earth.

Fathers, Mothers, Teachers, all adults, why not pattern your social programs so that your child, student or friend will grow to realize their full potential as humans who can develop a better world. When we work together to bring out the best, effective, loving parts of a person, we can be sure that our children and their children's children will have a better world to live in. We can make it better, let's try. Together, we can.

Together We Can: Moreno Valley Guidance School District (MVUSD) is filing a lawsuit against the State of California along with 126 other school systems, Merry Christmas. We are requesting that other citizens of Moreno Valley remind our State Legislature that there is not an equitable distribution of education dollars. Children have the right to equal support in their public school system, regardless of race, creed or color. This is a very important lawsuit as we remind our children and their children that we love them, care for them, will train them.

The holiday season is here and the Christmas excitement is still lingering in the air. Many of you readers are still cleaning up after all of the Christmas wrapping paper that was torn from the gift boxes as The Omega Force will travel the streets of Pasadena to perform our annual Drum and Bugle Corps New Year's Eve Extravaganza.

The rehearsals for the youth members of the Drum and Bugle Corps throughout California and throughout the United States. The Corps is looking for boys/girls between the ages of 12-16 who are interested in being a member of a growing organization. There are 20 positions available for those interested in Dancing, Marching, or Twirling Flags for the Omega Force Corps. This is a great opportunity for parents to get their son/daughter into something that is positive and an alternative to gangs/drugs.

The rehearsals for the youth are on Saturday's from 12:00 noon to 4:00 p.m. in the City of Rancho Cucamonga. Deadline for membership is January 16, 1993.

The pageantry combines the physical conditioning through marching bands and drill teams glide through the streets of Pasadena, creating a musical sound that is positive and an alternative to gangs/drugs. Many youth look forward to participating in the Drum and Bugle Corps. Christmas time is here once again. Diamonds and ribbons are the order of the day as gifts are exchanged for loved ones. Rio Hondo is receiving many gifts in the form of praise, recognition and support as it introduces its latest production, Our Little Girl.

A light display is in Kamilie Phillips’s living room. She and her boyfriend, Clifton, are standing on her balcony, admiring the decorated lights that add a little bit of magic to their home. Kamilie’s face lights up as she talks about the excitement of being the center of attention.

She is dressed in her best attire, ready to celebrate the beginning of the holiday season with her friends and family.

Kamilie, a talented actress, has been preparing for this moment for weeks. She is excited to bring her character to life and share it with the audience.

The play, titled "Growing Up," is atouching story about a young girl who is trying to navigate the challenges of growing up. It is a snapshot of her life, from her early years to the present day.

Kamilie’s performance is remarkable and she captivates the audience with her portrayal of the young girl. Her ability to connect with the audience is what makes this play so powerful.

Although the play is about a young girl, it speaks to everyone who has ever struggled with the challenges of growing up. It is a story of resilience, determination, and the power of love.

The audience is left with a sense of hope and inspiration, knowing that no matter what challenges we may face, we can always find a way to overcome them.

In the end, Kamilie’s performance is not only a testament to her talent, but also a reminder of the strength and resilience that lies within us all.

The play ends with the audience standing up and clapping, acknowledging the talent and hard work of Kamilie and the entire cast.

Kamilie’s performance is a shining example of the power of theatre and the impact it can have on our lives. It is a reminder to never give up and always believe in ourselves.

End of performance.

Chevron Corporation today announced a gift of $1.3 million to a pioneer job training organization, Opportunities Industrialization Centers of America, Inc. (OICA), for the purchase of a new training facility in southwest Los Angeles.

The gift, a leader in the training and placement of disadvantaged persons in meaningful jobs, will make the facility available to its newly formed Los Angeles affiliate, LA-OIC, to operate a training program for local residents.

At a ceremony today, Ken Derr, Chevron chairman, and the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan, OICA founder and chairman, presented RLA (Rebuild L.A.) with a symbolic key to the facility to the Rev. Leon Ralph, LA-OIC chairman and Bishop of the Interdenominational Church of God.

They were joined by Los Angeles Deputy Mayor Linda Grigio and Peter V. Ueberroth, co-chair, RLA (Rebuild L.A.). Ueberroth praised Chevron's contribution, calling it a "major commitment to jobs for inner city residents." An unusual aspect of the OIC approach is its emphasis on employed personnel for successful, employed participants. The LA-OIC will use the facility to house training in culinary arts, medical assistants, and other sales positions in the perimeter industrial area's science.

The organization works with local corporate "partners" to provide training opportunities in high quality facilities. With 70 affiliates in 38 states and 700 graduates each year, OICA is about to expand to 60 graduates next year in entry-level positions with LA-area service stations. He noted that combined commitments from other corporate partners in the LA-OIC program could provide in excess of 300 jobs for 1993 graduates.

"Chevron is not content with simply presenting a large one-time gift," commented Derr. "We are convinced that a successful effort to help people help people help themselves," said Sullivan. "We are grateful to Chevron Corporation for their generous assistance in making this facility possible so that OIC can expand its services to the needy residents of South Central Los Angeles.

Deputy Mayor Griego commended Chevron and Rev. Sullivan for the partnership forged between the two organizations. "What Los Angeles needs more than ever now is this kind of involvement from private business, working with agencies who understand the community and can direct resources to have greater impact in such critical areas as employment."

"Chevron has made a huge investment in future jobs for inner city residents with its major commitment to help establish an OIC job training facility in the Los Angeles area," said Ueberroth. "RLA is pleased to be a partner with Chevron in this effort. We urge more corporations to step forward - as partners with Chevron - to help insure the success of this important project. RLA will use its resources to encourage and promote the expansion of this community based job training center."

To be operated and managed by the Board and staff of LA-OIC, the facility at 11100 Western Avenue, is slated to open its doors in March.
