Inauguration

by Mary Wilton and Carol Leish

Dr. Anthony H. Evans was officially welcomed as the second president of our college in a very impressive inauguration ceremony last Tuesday, May 17.

The inauguration began with a processional lead by 50 honor students. They were followed by dozens of distinguished guests from various campuses, all wearing their dignified robes and school colors.

The Wind Ensemble, directed by Keating Johnson played "Proud Heritage" by William Latham during the processional. Ralph H. Petrucci opened the ceremony.

After the opening, Rabbi Hillel Cohn gave the Invocation. He said that understanding and discernment are important in establishing an institution of learning.

Chancellor Reynolds from the California State University hosted the colorful affair and introduced the speakers. Representatives from the Board of Trustees, the Faculty, the Staff, the Associated Students, and the Alumni all brought greetings from their respective groups. The central theme seemed to be "Let's build upon the excellent foundation that our departing president, Dr. Pfau, has so graciously established."

The major speaker of the afternoon was Michigan's Supreme Court Justice James H. Brickley. He is a close friend and colleague of our new President. His speech centered on "A New Challenge for Education." He began by exclaiming the "beauty of this paradise" (Cal State) and how we're so lucky to be a part of this fairly new campus. He said "in order to perform, indeed, survive, you must be surrounded with good people." Then, he took the audience back in time to the 1950's, where higher education showed "unprecedented growth and confidence." Government aid was started to encourage more student enrollment and college presidents spoke with authority. He proceeded to the 60's when the "explosion of growth and enrollment" continued at record levels. The 1970's brought student revolts and lower standards of education. Political issues were allowed to cloud educational goals, and the momentum of higher education was seriously damaged.

Justice Brickley called this decade "the age of confusion." The lowering of admission standards and the expansion of curricula combined to seriously erode the quality of higher education.

He stated that the 1980's have so far seen public spending cutbacks and lower enrollment, but Brickley feels that the new leaders like Dr. Evans, "people are ready for college, if we're ready to give it to them." Now is a great opportunity for the educators and the educated.

Dr. Evans responded to everyone's warm and enthusiastic applause by thanking everyone who helped him attain his goals, from his wife to his supervisors. He consistently referred to Sir Walter Scott's "Lady of the Lake" - "the will to do, the soul to dare," and talked about future potential for our growing college. He firmly stated that he "accepts the challenge to lead us into the new, emerging issues of the 80's."

The program concluded with warm and enthusiastic applause from the near-capacity crowd. The inauguration was truly an impressive affair that was followed by a spectacular reception in the commons.

Dr. Moorfield Presents a Lecture-Recital

The role of the pipe organ in the Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque world differed considerably from what it shows to church today, according to Dr. Arthur A. Moorfield, professor of music at CSUSB.

Dr. Moorfield will present a lecture-recital illustrating the historical function of the pipe organ at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, May 25 in the college Recital Hall.

He will play an instrument built on the principles of the 16th and 17th centuries, the 11-rank (11 sets of pipes) Schlicker Classic Voiced Mechanical Action Pipe Organ. The Cal State Chamber Singers will join him in presenting organ masses by Cavarozzi, Frescobaldi and J.S. Bach.

Dr. Moorfield holds a Ph.D. in musicology from the University of California, Los Angeles. He has done extensive research on the liturgical music of the 16th century, and has published a number of books and articles on this subject.

He is the editor of the complete editions of the works of two first-generation Lutheran composers, Johannes Galliculus and Wolfgang Fux. He is a member of the National Endowment of the Humanities, Dr. Moorfield has traveled extensively in Eastern European countries, where he has performed numerous compositions of previously unknown sources of liturgical music.

The 1986-89 academic year, Dr. Moorfield was head of the Music Department of the American Community School in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Before coming to Cal State in 1973, Dr. Moorfield taught at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, California Lutheran College and the University of California, Riverside. He was a clarinetist and arranger in the United States Military Academy Band at West Point from 1951 to 1956.

Admission to the program, which is part of the Music at Cal State series, is $3.50 general and $1.75 students. Tickets will be available at the door.

Amphitryon 38

Performances are scheduled at 8:15 p.m., Thursday through Sunday, May 26-29, and Tuesday through Saturday, May 24-June 4.

When Giraudoux completed the play in 1929, he chose a title to indicate the historical popularity of the character Jupiter, a mortal woman who prefers to stay faithful to her husband, Amphitryon.

The first version in play form was by Roman playwright Platus in about 200 B.C. Giraudoux's play, which subsequent research revealed is actually the 39th rendition, was translated into English by S.N. Behrman and debuted in New York with Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontaine in the leading roles.

More than his predecessors, Giraudoux focuses on the strength of the quick-witted Alkmena. Nancy Johnson of Calimesa will play this role in the Cal State production. Bill Greetley of Grand Terrace will play Jupiter, and Randy Charnin of New York will have the role of Mercury.

Directed by Dr. Ronald E. Barnes, professor and chair of the Theatre Arts Department, the cast also includes John Koroulias, Mark Duncan, Gary Roberson and Timothy Reilly of San Bernardino; Jodi L. Julian, Fontana; Sybille Anne Matzat and Mary Manthis, Highland; and Tammy Monohan, San Luis Obispo.

Admission is $4.25 general, $2 students and senior citizens. Tickets may be obtained by calling the Theatre Arts Department, 887-7452.

Workshop Company

The newly formed Workshop Company under the director of Dr. Amanda Sue Studfisil, Department of Theatre Arts, has begun presenting workshop sessions and demonstrations in the preparation and performance of Readers Theatre scripts developed from children's literature. These workshops are designed for in-classroom use and are adapted to fit the needs of teachers, K-12. These techniques should be useful for anyone directing performance-oriented activities, such as might be used by recreation leaders, camp or church youth directors, librarians, etc.

The charter members of this Company are: Julie Agnew, Philip Buford, William Greetley, Kerry Huppenetz, Jodi Julian, Tim Reilly. The Company is in its performance/workshop on Monday, May 2, at the International Reading Association's Twenty-eighth Annual Convention, held at the Anaheim Hilton. Additional workshop dates are scheduled for this quarter.

The Company is working with a variety of groups, including the San Bernardino County Library, the CSUSB Department of Nursing's Senior Citizens program, and teachers in various area elementary schools.

Persons interested in booking Readers Theatre workshops should contact the Theatre Arts Department, 887-7452, for more information on this program.

Marking Association Stikes Again, Again

by Brad Uhl

The Marketing Association went on another great knowledge educating field trip last Friday. They were invited to the L.A. Times to meet with the head chancos of the marketing research department. Here is a little of what they had to say:

"The L.A. Times is a subsidiary of the Times Mirror Corporation which is involved in a lot of vertical integration acquisitions including the ownership of humor and paper mills. The L.A. Times is the second largest publisher in the world. Their market involves 9.6 million people. The Times has the largest marketing research staff with over 40 employees in five divisions. The five divisions are Consumer Survey Research, Special Projects, Economic and Statistical Research, Advertising and Sale Presentations, and Graphic Arts.

The goal of the research department is to provide the utmost in quality and accuracy in the data they research.

The trip was very successful. You talk about getting your foot in the door, the entire Market Association nearly left employed by the Times. When you get out there in the cold, cruel world and find out how hard it is just to get an employer to say: "Take a hike," you'll come running to the Market Association because this association has clout and enough of it to give you your chance at getting into one of the major corporations.

One person can do fifty or a hundred times better. Be smart and sell yourself the easy way. Join the Marketing Association and be a part of the force that can get you where you want to be.

Environ. Act. Council to Show Forbidden Canadian Film

by Bernard Zadeh

The Environmental Action Council wants you to see the film Acid Rain: Requiem or Recovery on Wednesday, June 1 at 12 noon in the SUMP. There is no charge. The film is one of three films produced by the National Film Board of Canada which were recently declared "foreign political propaganda" by the U.S. Justice Department. The other two films were Acid from the North, another film about acid rain, and If You Love This Planet, a film about nuclear arms.

The propaganda label legally requires film distributors to report the names of organizations which rent the films to the Justice Dept., the names of patrons who borrow the films.

The American Civil Liberties Union and the Attorney General of the State of New York have filed a lawsuit in the Environmental Defense Fund, The Environmental Task Force, the State of New York, and the New York Library Association could be penalized under a New York privacy law if they comply in disclosing to the Justice Dept., the names of patrons who borrow the films.
