Inauguration

by Mary Wilton and Carol Leish

Dr. Anthony H. Evans was officially welcomed as the second president of our college in a very impressive inauguration ceremony last Tuesday, May 17.

The inauguration began with a procession led by 50 honor students. They were followed by dozens of distinguished guests from various campuses, all wearing their dignified robes and school colors.

The Wind Ensemble, directed by Keating Johnson played "Proud Heritage" by William Latham during the processional. Ralph H. Petrucci opened the ceremony.

After the opening, Rabbi Hillel Cohn gave the Invocation. He said that understanding and discernment are important in establishing an institution of learning.

Chancellor Reynolds from the California State University hosted the colorful affair and introduced the speakers. Representatives from the Board of Trustees, the Faculty, the Staff, the Associated Students, and the Alumni all brought greetings from their respective groups. The central theme seemed to be "Let's build upon the excellent foundation that our departing president, Dr. Pfau, has so graciously established."

The major speaker of the afternoon was Michigan's Supreme Court Justice James H. Brickley. He is a close friend and colleague of our new president. His speech centered on "A New Challenge for Education." He began by declaring, "the beauty of this paradise" (Cal State) and how we're so lucky to be a part of this fairly new campus. He said "in order to perform, indeed, survive, you must be surrounded with good people."

Then, he took the audience back in time to the 1950's, where higher education showed "unprecedented growth and confidence." Government aid was started to encourage more student enrollment and college presidents spoke with authority. He proceeded to the 60's when the "explosion of growth and enrollment" continued at record levels. The 1970's brought student revolts and lower standards of education. Political issues were allowed to cloud educational goals, and the momentum of higher education was seriously damaged. Justice Brickley called this decade "the age of confusion." The lowering of admission standards and the expansion of curriculum combined to seriously erode the quality of higher education.

He stated that the 1980's have so far seen public spending cutbacks and lower enrollment, but Brickley feels that the new leaders like Dr. Evans, "people are ready for college, if we're ready to give it to them." Now is a great opportunity for the educators and the educated.

Dr. Evans responded to everyone's welcome with a shy smile and great emotion as the college's Presidential Medallion was placed around his neck. He began his speech by quietly thanking everyone who helped him achieve his goals, from his wife to his supervisors. He consistently referred to Sir Walter Scott's "Lady of the Lake" and firmly stated that he "accepts the challenge to lead us into the new, emerging issues of the 80's."

The program concluded with warm and enthusiastic applause from the near-capacity crowd. The inauguration was truly an impressive affair that was followed by a spectacular reception in the commons.

Dr. Moorfield Presents a Lecture-Recital

The role of the pipe organ in the Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque world differed considerably from what it is today, according to Dr. Arthur A. Moorfield, professor of music at CSCSB. Dr. Moorfield will present a lecture-recital illustrating the historical function of the pipe organ at 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 25 in the Recital Hall.

He will play an instrument built on the principles of the 16th and 17th centuries, the 11-rank (11 sets of pipes) Schlicker Classic Voiced Mechanical Action Pipe Organ. The Cal State Chamber Singers will join him in presenting organ masses by Schlicker. The L.A. Times is the second largest marketing research staff with over 40 employees in five divisions. The five divisions are Consumer Survey Research, Special Projects, Economic and Statistical Research, Advertising and Sales Presentations, and Graphic Arts. The goal of the research department is to provide the utmost in quality and accuracy in the data they research.

The trip was very successful. You talk about getting your foot in the door, the entire Market Association nearly left employed by the Times. When you get out there in the cold, cruel world and find out how hard it is just to get an employer to say “take a hike” you’ll come running to the market association because this association has clout and enough of it to give you your chance at getting into one of the major corporations. Nearly one person can do fifty or a hundred times better. Be smart and sell yourself the easy way. Join the Marketing Association and be a part of the force that can get you where you want to be.

Amphitryon 38

Jean Giraudoux’s delightful comedy about the foibles of the Roman gods, “Amphitryon 38,” will open Thursday, May 26 in the Theatre at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Performances are scheduled at 8:15 p.m., Thursday through Sunday, May 26-28, and Tuesday through Saturday, May 24-June 4.

When Giraudoux completed the play in 1929, he chose a title to indicate the historical popularity of the myth of Jupiter’s attempts to seduce Alkmene, a mortal woman who prefers to stay faithful to her husband, Amphitryon.

The first version in play form was by Roman playwright Plautus in about 200 B.C. Giraudoux’s play, which subsequent research revealed is actually the 39th rendition, was translated into English by S.N. Behrman and debuted in New York with Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontaine in the leading roles.

More than his predecessors, Giraudoux focuses on the strength of the quick-witted Alkmene. Nancy Johnson of Calimesa, Nancy Johnson of Calimesa, and Dan Bryan of the Cal State production, will direct the Cal State production. Bill Grieve will direct the Cal State production. Randi Charnes, New York will have the role of Mercury. Directed by Dr. Ronald E. Barnes, professor and chair of the Theatre Arts Department, the cast also includes John Korolukis, Gary Duncan, Ken ROBERSON and Timothy Reilly of San Bernardino; Jodi L. Julian, Fontana; Sybil Anne Matsumura, Highland, and Tammy Monahan, San Luis Obispo.

Admission is $4.25 general, $3 students and senior citizens. Tickets may be obtained by calling the Theatre Arts Department, 887-7452.
