The attacks on the Princeton campus of on February 4th at Canyon Springs High School in Moreno Valley have been stopped by people, some say, who are throwing rocks and hiding their hands.

"The teachers continue to come up with new ways to use the students," said Jackie Lofton, former PTSF President, who had to move her class to a private space because of the alleged rallied student protest under the principal's administration.

The newspaper, "Common Sense" is filled with articles that attack, Gillum and president Wanda Gillison, who brought up the issue of the students having sex in the bathrooms. An incident that allegedly happen in the school in the past.

The newspaper falls right on the line of a video tape made in the classroom of teacher Don Miller. (Black Voice, October 28, 1993) Miller verified that there were indeed girls having sex when Black Voice called to ask why he allowed the students to make the demurrings.

Bishop Charles E. Blake, Pastor of Life Changing Ministries, Los Angeles and a CDSIC Bishop, was the speaker for the event which kicked off the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday celebrations in the Inland Empire.

Blake said, the holiday gives us a chance to evaluate King's life and begins to heal the wounds between Whites and Blacks in this country. "It gives us a chance to honor the Africans who came on the ships, those who died in the Middle Passage, those who were lynched and killed," he said.

Blake told the story of when he was a five year old child in the store. "I learned at five my Father told me to be quiet," he said. "I learned at five my rights could be snatched away. In honoring King our country began to give back the flags that were snatched," he said. "King would have been concerned and he would have addressed the issue that 80% of drug abusers are White, but 94% of those arrested are Black. King would have addressed the issue of what is happening to the Black family."

The Riverside MLK Monument Visionaries Committee then auctioned off the MLK duplicate street signs. (IEAMMA) celebrated with a walk-a-thon bright and early on Monday morning. The day was kicked off with the unveiling of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Blvd. Following the walk-a-thon was a program featuring Son Rise, a Christian musical group, with Rev. Eldridge Smith.

The Inland Empire African Methodist Episcopal Alliance (IEAMMA) celebrated with a full congregation at St. Paul AME Church. The speaker was Rev. Morris Buchanan, Pastor of Bethel AME, Fontana, keynote speaker and turnout.

DEAR DR. LEVISTER: I have sciatica. What is it? What can I do about it? DEAR HURTING: Sciatica is defined as pain in the spinal canal or other structures along the spinal cord. The sciatic nerve's function can be impaired by tumors, spinal stenosis, herniated disks and other causes. The nerve's function can be affected by fractures of the pelvis or thigh bone, tumors, spinal meningiomas (narrowing of the spinal canal) or infections. Despite the large number of possible causes it is most often brought about by a herniated or "slipped" disk. The nerve root may press on one of the nerve roots. These general filled disks fit between the vertebrae normally cushion that stack of disks called the bony column.

Hammer - "It's All Good"/"Pump & A Bump"/ "Giant Records" - I don't care what nobody says, Hammer is the man when it comes to dance. I don't care if he can rap. I don't care if he thinks he's buff. The only thing I care about is his dance. So, I must admit that I am not disappointed.

Well, that's a half-inch. I am disappointed that instead of coming out with a full, fledged hip hop production, dancing video, Hammer has decided to show his listeners a new, darker hip-hop-never-seen-before side. I showed my eight- and 10-year-old neighbors Hammer's new picture (which shows him looking all hard-core wearing a skully hat and all) and they did not believe it was him. Why has everyone jumped onto the hard-core handshake? "It's All Good" is a favorite of the two singles. It starts that loop that got me hooked on Hi-C's "Please Leave My Curt Alone" in '89, and it's still jammin'. The chorus ("Heeereee, It's All Good... well, the direction is smooth; I just can't understand what he's saying. Hammer should calm down.)

The period of the 1930s and '40s, known as the Harlem Renaissance, encompassed an extraordinary outburst of creativity by African-American visual artists. Racial prejudice and segregation, however, not only kept them out of mainstream museums and galleries where they could show and sell their art, but threatened the very core of their personal artistic expression.

The little-known story of this dashing group of visual artists is told in AGAINST THE ODDS: THE ARTISTS OF THE HARLEM RENAISSANCE, a one-hour documentary produced and directed by Amber Edwards, premiering Wednesday, February 16 at 10 pm. On PBS, LOCAL LISTINGS. Creating a colorful mosaic of art and history, the program combines the amazing, original works of dozens of visual artists of the era; rare archival footage of the artists at home, in their studios, and at exhibitions; first-person accounts of three surviving artists-Louis Mattios Jones, James Wells, and Allan Crick; and interviews with authors Arnold Rampersad and the Life of Langston Hughes; Colored People: The Artistry of Grace; and David Levering Lewis (When Harlem Was in Vogue). EDITORS: Laura Wheeler Watson, Dorothy Porter, and Sang-Hoon Byun. Byun, Watson, and Crick are interviewed here. The documentary is narrated by actor Joe Morton. AGAINST THE ODDS was inspired by an exhibition at The Newark Museum in Newark, New Jersey, that brought together for the first time in over half a century, more than 130 paintings, photographs, and sculptures by African-American artists who worked under the auspices of the Works of William E. Harmon Foundation.

This philanthropy, founded by the inventor of the submarine refrigeration, was not only highly remarkable, but was highly remarkable for Harlem Renaissance artists. Through its series of annual "Exhibitions of Negro Art," the Harmon Foundation provided Black artists with both a showcase and a market place, and soon became the dominant force in African-American art. By the mid-1930s, however, the Harlem Renaissance had run out of steam, and the Harmon Foundation got out of art business, leaving the artists largely forgotten until the recent Newark Museum showing.

From the wildly diverse works that Black artists painted, drew, sculpted, and photographed, to the negative stereotypes that civil rights leaders fought to change with positive propaganda, AGAINST THE ODDS offers a compelling history of African-American images. Among the artists whose works are featured are Elizabeth Proctor, William Henry Johnson, Augusta Savage, Aaron Douglas, Laura Wheeler Waring, Sargent Johnson, Palmer Hayden, Hale Woodrow, Richmond Barto, and Archibald Motley.

Placing these and other artists' works in the context of the complex world that shaped it, AGAINST THE ODDS places faces, images, and ideas that are still hotly debated today in a framework of political, social, and artistic history. "It's a story of civil rights," says one of the artists. "The story is for the Humanities.

Edward's Executive Producer:
Mid Aronov. The program was funded by grants from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and the New Jersey Council for the Humanities.

(tops) Sculptor Augusta Savage (1902-1962) started her own school for aspiring artist in Harlem, but ended her career in neglect and despair. (bottom) Sculptor Sargent Claude Johnson (1897-1957) was widely admired for his dignified portrayal of Black subjects.

This philanthropy, founded by the inventor of the submarine refrigeration, was not only highly remarkable, but was highly remarkable for Harlem Renaissance artists.

Major Talent Headlines Breakout For Spring

BREAKOUT FOR SPRING, The Black College event scheduled for March 30th, is expected to be the largest musical event ever organized for Black College students. Over 10,000 students are expected to converge on Mobile, Alabama to enjoy five days of festivities.

GEORGE CLINTON AND THE P Funk All-Stars are committed to headlining a "Funk Fest" on Saturday, April 2nd. Sponsored by Soul magazine, this concert fulfills the "classic" category on the Breakout menu of musical attractions. George Clinton, a legendary figure in the music industry, created a musical "movement" in the 1970's that is enjoying a resurgence of interest among today's youth. These days, he's best known as "Pimpin' the White House Black" and riding the wave created by his new album, "Hey Man... Smell My Finger."

The second headline concert, "Hip Hop Heaven," is an event in demand among music lovers of all ages that is expected to include A Tribe Called Quest, KRS-ONE, PU-Schneckt, Black Sheep, Guru, Run-DMC, O.G. and the Bulldogs and Diamond and the Psychotic Neurotics. Parental Advisory is slated for showcase performances.

The Greek Welcome Mixer, which opens the event, will incorporate a comedy show featuring the L.A. Pumps, an associated group of comedians who have all been featured at leading comedy clubs and on television shows like "Def Comedy Jam" and "Fusion Live." A major force in the pese is found in the soon to be released "House Party III."

The "Power Party" aboard the USS Alabama battlecruiser will be highlighted by a R&B on Wheels music showcase staged on the new traveling concert vehicle owned by Black Entertainment Television.

World famous New York DJs Clark Kent, will control music mixes throughout the event along with Chicago mix masters, Jemmy London and Andre Washington, "One the Edge" and "Over the Edge" and "Over the Edge" dance parties will challenge youthful energies and endurance by going on until the wee hours of the morning and on after the headline concerts.

The event climaxes on Easter Sunday at a picnic in Bensville Park, where the Breakout audience will be treated to a gospel showcase featuring U-Mynd, a local church youth choir and cameo participation by other headline artists on the Breakout program.

All said, Breakout will offer an awesome assortment of talent from 11 different record labels, including live, Giant, Warner Bros, Sassy, Columbia, EastWest, Elektra, Lake, MCA, Pendulum and Perpetual. Talent selection is based on an eclectic mix of classic, current and cutting edge music artists. The idea is to give students a broad sampling of genres along with a preview of coming trends. Many of the artists will be selected or announced until right before the event in order to capitalize on the hottest acts available.

Event creator, Vincent Morgan, a former Howard University student, explains the thinking behind talent selection: "Breakout intends to establish itself as an event that is totally in sync with the unique and rapidly changing musical preferences of young adults. We're also trying to emphasize the positive by featuring artists who project uplifting and relevant themes, lyrics and performance values."

Until February 15, early reservations are being offered at a discounted rate of $59, which covers admission to the entire package of 27 events and activities on the Breakout itinerary. Students can call 1-800-795-1672 for information updates about the event, including the emerging talent roster. Other interested parties can contact Breakout, Ltd/The Morgan Group at 312/789-5101.

Dear Folks:

Thank you for everything,
but I am going to Chicago and try to start some kind of new life.

You asked me why I did these things. Well, I have so much trouble, and the answer is, you and I
but, I am wondering if you will understand.

Remember when I was about six or seven and I used to want you to just listen to me? I remember all the nice things you gave me for Christmas and my birthday and I was real happy with the things for about a week at the time I got the things, but the rest of the time in the year, I really didn't want parents. I just wanted all the time for you to listen to me.
I was somebody who felt lonely, and I remember even when I was young, I felt things.
But you said you were

Mom, you are a wonderful woman, and you had everything so clean and you were so tidy so much from doing all those filthy things that you hate, but,you know something, Mom?

I pointed fingers, called names and started crying racism.
