"THE LADY'S NOT FOR BURNING," HOT ROMANTIC COMEDY

A cast of eleven is in rehearsal for the Winter Quarter production, "The Lady's Not for Burning."

Director Amanda Rudisill calls the play a romantic comedy, full of witchcraft and love. Others term it a poetic comedy. The 1949 Christopher Fry play, an outstanding success at its London premiere, tells of an adventurer who tries to find meaning in life and ends laughing at the whole mortal dilemma and has the audience laughing, too.

Paul DeMeo plays the soldier-of-fortune and Syndi Prater his love interest. A second set of lovers is enacted by Bill Osgood and Keri Grunest. Yet another would-be romance is sought by a dirty-young-man who believes that dirty-young-men need love, too, portrayed by Jeff Hubbard.

The CSCSB production sets the action in an indeterminate era, generally described as "archaic medieval," which lends itself to beautiful velvet and satin robes and flowing gowns.

Other Players of the Pear Garden in the cast are Morris Ridgeway, Corrine Sota, Keith O'Camb, Danny Bilson, Kurt Nelson and Dan Eggleston. Stage Manager is Laurel Harvey, assisted by Lucy Chaille.

Production dates are billed for February 24-26; March 1-5.

The colloquium, sponsored by the Department of Psychology, is open to all, free of charge.

FACULTY WIVES REPORT
ON RESULTS OF DRIVE
FOR SCHOLARSHIP FUND

As a result of the holiday campaign on campus last month and an unprecedented response by the College, the Faculty Wives Scholarship Fund has increased by $614.

The organization will continue its award of a $250 annual scholarship to an upper division continuing student and hopes to increase the amount of scholarships as the fund increases from further drives and projects.

KERALA, INDIA, CULTURAL EXHIBIT NOW IN LIBRARY

A first-rate collection assembled first-hand by Sarojam Mankau, Assoc. Prof. of Biology, illustrates the unique culture of the people of the tropical state of Kerala in India. Dr. Mankau, born and raised in Kerala until she came to the U.S. to begin her post-graduate study, describes the lush tropical land she emigrated from as densely covered with coconut palms, pineapple, mangos, bananas and cashews, forests of teak, bamboo, and rosewood as well as people and elephants. Most of the fibres and woods were used in making the items currently on display on the first floor of the Library through February 7.

The collection includes household items - many brass water holders, lamps, noodle presses, ceremonial urns, candle holders - and other typical utensils such as a rice flour steamer, a 100-year-old rice measure and numerous other objects, all brought from Kerala by Dr. Mankau.

Hand-loomed saris, colorful purses fashioned from banana and palm fibres, delicate silver earrings, necklaces, anklets and wrist and upper arm and silver waist ornaments form a valuable part of the collection.

Artifacts include a carving of Lord Ganesha, replicas of graceful racing boats in bone and ivory, ivory chess set, teak clothes rack, all in the tradition of the Kerala Household which has a culture very different from the rest of India.

LET'S-RUN-THAT-BY-
AGAIN-DEPARTMENT Paydays in 1977 - The paydays listed in last week's Bulletin inadvertently listed two pay period dates instead of the actual payday. April's payday is April 29 instead of April 30 and December's payday is December 30 instead of December 31.
