Mandela Marches To Presidential Beat

Pretoria, South Africa (AP) - Nelson Mandela, 75-year-old president-elect of South Africa’s first Black-majority government, walked down to see the ordinary South Africans who had watched the ceremony from the tavern below. He waved a handkerchief and thanked them for their support.

“It has been good to have things right with God,” he proclaimed. “We have been raise the wounds of the past and it is for you to support us in that task.”

Mandela has vowed to provide housing, jobs, relaxation and health care to the millions of Black women who have experienced underemployment and injustice.

If he keeps up his promises to satisfy Blacks, and if Albert Bekker’s political popularity to assuage Whites, Mandela’s 3-year term will be seen as a great miracle in a continent filled with Black-ruled nations that seem incapable of the effects of colonialism.

Mandela has warned that his government will take time to undo the inequities of a system that deprived the nation’s 30 million Blacks of the right to vote, to own property in most of the country and to travel freely.

“During a ceremony as politically as culturally diverse as the country, Mandela was recognized as the leader, the future seemed bright. Where once only White men in politics, today, many of his ideas have mixed in shrewdly aimed African and black turban votes. A call kept the waiting dignitaries swaying, and a singer from Mandela’s Xhosa tribe worked the crowd.

Mandela’s swearing-in marked something more than an exodus from a century-old parliament. It was the dawn of a new era for South Africa, Mandela vowed.

In his inaugural speech, the 75-year-old president-elect appeared as an ordinary, everyday man without any outward sign of his political might.

“We shall build the society in which all South Africans, both Black and White, will be able to walk tall, without any fear, without hatred, and assured of their inalienable right to human dignity. The rainbow nation stands at the crossroads of its history and of the world,” Mandela vowed.

“Never again! Never again shall it be that this beautiful land will again experience the oppression of one by another and suffer the indignity of being the butt of the jokes of the world,” he said.

The new 400-member multi-racial parliament chose him president, as opposed to, its first session Monday.

Moments before his swearing in, Klerk and ANC (nationalist) chairman Thabo Mbeki took oath of office as Mandela’s deputy president in a government of national unity.

The inauguration finished with a traditional dance, with the walls ringing, and the new national flag blowing in the wind.

The Southern Californian contingent of South Africa were jubilant last week when they heard Nelson Mandela had won the election in South Africa’s first all-race election.

In the United States, Armstrong stopped the music at the celebration to make the following speech: “Mandela has been in our country and our president Nelson Mandela is heading up the government. We did not do this half we are not bluffed Nelson has taught us not to hate; our enemy. He has delivered us.”

Zikalala, who was listening to his daughter’s speech, lived in Soweto, Johannesburg, South Africa. She and others looked to the music and shouted with happiness that this day has finally come and Black South Africans no longer live under apartheid.

The importance of becoming involved in the community was emphasized in Armstrong as a little boy, he said. “My mother and father always taught me that we have to be more than the people next door. We have to be more than the people we know.”

Chamber President Art Pick said there is indeed something special about Armstrong. “When a community’s attitude sways to the positive, Armstrong’s leadership has been felt in many levels in the city — from the City Council to Riverside neighborhoods.”

“The people of the city are feeling a lot of good things,” Pick said. “We are seeing more communication open between the Anglo community, the Black community and the police departments... to make sure that the city was not dividing.

Through the good times and the bad, Armstrong said that Riverside has always stood:

DeVonne W. Armstrong

Together Riverside is just a great place... it’s been good to me.

Armstrong owns three companies in Riverside: De’Vonne Armstrong Real Estate Company, University Mortgage Company and United Brokers Mort.

His memberships include the Riverside Board of Realtors, Riverside Community College Foundation, the Monday Morning Group, the Fee Arbitration Panel of the Riverside County Bar Association and the Rotary Club of Riverside.

His volunteerism has led him to be involved in more than 20 clubs, panels, boards, committees and councils.

DO HAIR DYES CAUSE CANCER?

Our Bodies
Ernest Levister, Jr., M.D.

 accounted for 0.6% of all hair dye users. Black hair dyes also appear to increase their risk for non-Hodgkin's lymphoma and multiple myeloma- relatively rare forms of cancer. If you have used black hair for many years this could mean you've increased your risk, but does not mean that you are likely to get either of these rare cancers.

Non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, hair dye, if it is a cause and effect relationship, is only one of many factors.

The editorial comments accompanying the study indicates the evidence is now so strong that the case against permanent hair dyes, except black ones, can be closed.

The unanswered questions are: What in black dye causes cancer? How much higher is the risk for hair dyes and how can they be protected?

Dr. Levister welcomes readers examining their habits and regrets that he cannot answer individual letters. Your letters will be incorporated into the column as space permits. Your direct question to Dr. Levister in care of Voice News, P.O. Box 1581, Riverside, Calif.

Gwen Moore, Assemblywoman, visits San Bernardino at a fundraiser to help her candida gy given by Frances Grice at the County Fair. She said, "As Secretary of State, I will fight the epidemic of voter apathy that has stricken not just our young people, but many who feel disenfranchised by our political system. We must give the people of California the tools to be more effective in our quest for opportunity, equity, and justice. To achieve these goals, we need a proven problem solver in the Secretary of State's office. I am qualified and I want the job.

I have served in the California Legislature for 15 years, and I have been Chair of the Utilities and Commerce Committee for 10 years and Majority Whip since 1989. During my time in office, I have developed a reputation as a problem solver, evidenced by the large number of bills I've signed into law during that time. Included in my legislation have been many landmark bills that have solved real problems for real people. I have worked to protect the environment, the agricultural community, the workers, and the elderly. I have also fought discrimination by eliminating tax breaks for business associated with discriminatory private clubs. For education, I have helped increase the amount of funding spent on textbooks, and provided an additional breakfast meal and more funding for a lunch program to help hungry children in the classroom.

Workers faced with the dilemma of choosing between their job or the care of their families, no longer have to face that problem since my family leave bill was signed. But, I've also solved simple problems, evidenced by my "potty" bill, which earned me the Golden Shopping Cart Award for mandating that every large supermarket have restrooms for those in need. I hope you will agree that I have been a vision- ary problem-solver in the legislative arena.

I believe that has stricken not just our struggle, I can understand the epidemic of voter apathy and untimely death. Because of my experience as a policy chair of the Telecommunications Committee, I can help make this a reality.

Electronic technology in the election process will encourage and enable our citizens to exercise their most valuable power: the power of their vote. The current trend of fewer people becoming involved in the electoral process has disastrous consequences for the state of California. That trend must change and I know I am the person to make that change. I believe that the young people of this state are important to this state's future. I began my career in politics as a Los Angeles Community College District Trustee, so I value the opinion of young people and I believe I can empower them to become more involved in the electoral process. Throughout my career, I have faced many obstacles, challenges and even death in trying to exercise the right to vote—something Dr. King struggled for until his tragic and untimely death. Because of our struggle, I can understand the problems of all who have been disfranchised, and I would welcome the opportunity to fight the major problems of voter apathy in this State. As I have mentioned, I have numerous ideas on how to reverse the trend of declining participation and create new

The Williams family meet Moore.

More talks with Cliff Harris, candidate for S.B. County Sheriff.

Moore's office regulates all elections in California. I know first-hand that we have an antiquated voting system that deploys none of the new technology that would allow for an electronic ballot. The time has come for the Secretary of State to lead the State of California into the "Information Age"—to take advantage of cutting edge technology and bring it into the electoral process, to make our voter information available and "use friendly," while protecting privacy, and making the administration of state government more efficient. This is the task for Secretary of State, to be the State's information manager in the 21st century. Today's technology would allow voting from any place in the state, and provide safeguards against fraud. My experience as a policy chair of the Telecommunications Committee can help make this a reality.

Dignitaries Come Out For Museum Opening

Amanda Awechu, was the chant at the opening of the exhibit by the same title at the California Afro-American Museum located in Los Angeles, CA.

"The exhibit opened to coincide with the first vote of the Black South Africans, the end of Apartheid and the celebration of the first Black South African to serve as President of the country," said Rick Moss, Museum Director.

Over three hundred people came out for the opening. Many dignitaries and stars were on hand for the celebration including, Councilman, Mark Ridley-Thomas; Councilman Danny Tabor (Inglewood); Maria Gibbs, Zakes Mokae, Richard Brooks, Dudu Mkhize, fine artists, Tina Allen and James Rareaud major exhibit supporters, Dr. Ernest Levister and Rev. Gus Gill.

Ridley-Thomas in the presentation of a proclamation said, the alliance is historic and committed the Black Voice Foundation, Inc. and the CAAM for the foresight and loneliness of the exhibit. It is the only one of its kind in the house.

The LaLa Washington Dancers performed magnificently. Gospel according to Sister, The Randall Family, provided inspirational music and they brought the house down.

Keynote speaker Zack Moke, was introduced by the wife of the Chairman of the California ANC, Thuli Shangase. Moke, said, "An 84-year-old woman came to be after we voted and said 'Now I can die.' Her dream had been fulfilled, her life was complete and now she could live," He spoke of the overwhelming joy he felt to have the right to vote and remember those who had died in the struggle. He said many they would never see this day. Many of the residents of the local South African community were there and he led them in the Nkosi Sikele, (God Bless Africa) the Black National Anthem.

There was a poem written especially for the event by Paye Coleman.

Dr. Ernest Levister spoke of the significance of the exhibit as it relates to Lincoln University, Pennsylvania. South Africans attended the University in numbers from the earliest days, including several founders of the African National Congress.

The program was masterfully put together by Mistress of Ceremonies, across Ursulan Bryan.

The exhibit was the dream of Rev. W.J. Bellamy, Executive Director for the Mandela Exhibit for the Black Voice Foundation, Inc.

Media was handled by Hugh Mitchell Publicity.

Major support was given by Danny Blackwell and the Brotherhood Crusade, the Los Angeles Cultural Affairs Department, and Supervisor Mike Antonovich.

A special proclamation was also given by Speaker of the House, Honorable Willie Brown.

The exhibit will be at the museum until June 30, with the possibility of an extension. The museum is located at 600 State Drive, Exposition Park.

The Josephine Baker Story" which had just returned from shooting a new film on location in Nevada, read inspiring words from Maya Angelou's "My Journey Now." Nance, who had no objection of this group having a party on the base or anywhere else, I object­ed because it was being done the same night as the school sponsored Prom and I have rea­son to believe that there was a conflict of interest. It is no time for night drinking people to attempt to compete with the school district, using the children. I spoke to the principal about a way that we can invite those students that could not afford the cost of the regular prom. He indicated that there is a way of helping those that does not exist.

In the 1940s thru the 60s I did not spend hours matchmaking, being chased and shooting, "We Shall Overcome," so that some person or group can promote segregation in our schools. I did not fly 39 combat missions so some "Never Was" can shout that at me as they create racial prob­lems in my community. I was elected to this school board to bring people together, not drive them apart.

As we serve from day to day, it is our responsibility as School Board members to pro­vide with the learning ability something is wrong we can change it peacefully. "There is never time in the future in which we will work out our salvation. The chal­lenge is in the moment, the time is always now." James Baldwin, "Nobody Knows My Name." 1961.

Face facts, you want to say that I sleep during board meetings that is your problem. It has never been my desire to impress you, I just want to do an honest job with dignity as a school board member.

I respect, I ask for respect. This is the way I func­tion. I am sorry that some people's experiences in life have denied them the opportunity to enjoy this type of peace. "True peace is not merely absence of tension; it is the presence of justice." MLK (Martin Luther King).

I have discovered that there can be a heaven on earth when I adopt a positive attitude toward my fellowman and life in general. Let all of us join together and look for the good that is in man. Perhaps you will all appear to be sleep­ing because you will be as relaxed as I am, with no fear for anyone. Together, we can.

"Men cannot be broken if their sentiments cannot invade and violence their souls. They cannot be broken in the flesh if they are not broken in the spirit." Frederick Douglass, "My Bondage My Freedom.

"Peace is costly, but is worth the expense." Bagdad.

Sleep Has No Master

Mo. Val

by Charles Dodgson

This will afford them the oppor­tunity to receive more from life, and as a result of receiv­ing, give more to humanity. We will not be able to live this philosophy when it is over objective to seek revenge, and show other types of disrespect.

Picture This: If a group of Whites had attempted to promote and sponsor a separate prom on the night of the city's regular high school prom, the noise brought on by promoting this separate prom would be heard clear back to Washington D.C. and I would lead the march.

Learning without wisdom is a load of books on a donkey's back. Let it Be Known: Sleep has no master. (Jamaica) Some people sleep half their lives away.

Sleep when you earn it. (Geoffrey Holder, in "Geoffrey Holder Grabs For The Goon", Class, April 1984). I haven't earned my sleep yet and I don't intend to put on a show. I let other people put on a show. They need to be seen and express themselves. As for me, I listen carefully to what is being said, I note it (write it down). I research it, and I sup­port it if it meets all require­ments of the "Ed. Code." I refuse to put on a show in order to impress because you will be as relaxed as I am, with no fear for anyone. Together, we can.

"Men cannot be broken if their sentiments cannot invade and violence their souls. They cannot be broken in the flesh if they are not broken in the spirit." Frederick Douglass, "My Bondage My Freedom.

Randall Was In It, But(t) Chavez Regains The Title

LELAND STEIN, BN
SPORTS EDITOR

Larry Palombo/Times Mirror

Terry Norris, Jesse Leija and Gerald McClellan all have title belts. Norris enacts boxing 101 lesson on Simon Brown.

LAS VEGAS: "I was in that fight. ... and well on my way to retaining the championship," said former WBC super-lightweight champion, Frankie Randall (49-3-1), in the post fight press conference.

Well, 14,000 fans in the MGM Grand Garden and champ Julio Cesar Chavez, would all agree with Randall when he says: "I feel I was robbed." The surgeon, Randall, did his mother proper, as he took away a point from a fighter when it is ruled unintentional.

This obscure rule cost Randall a point on all the judges at the end of fight night at the Aladdin. Judge Shirley of Las Vegas scored it 76-75 Chavez, but Judge Ray and Meldrick Taylor.

To Chavez's credit, he has been one of the great pound-for-pound fighters in the grand history of pugilism. His phenomenal 90-3-1 record speaks for itself. His legendary status in Mexico and the province he commands in the ring and out are one of a kind. And I sense that even he has grown weary of the way he has won in the ring and the always moving forward style into a focused 12 round dance again." So King will Nelson (37-2-2). This bout was scheduled for Randall (38-3-4), the WBC super-lightweight champion, Gerald McClellan (31-2-2, 28 KOs), who King calls the "pitbull of boxing," crushed Julian Jackson (49-3) in a first-round knockout.

"Whenever 1 bit him," noted McClellan, "I knew he was going to lose."

In the WBC super-lightweight title bout, a changing of the guard was the story, Azumah Nelson, 34, lost to the youngest, stronger, Jesse James Leija (28-0-2). Leija's victory avenged a earlier draw with Nelson (37-2-1). This bout was full of action from start to finish, as Leija won a unanimous decision.

What was billed as the best title boxing show ever put together, four championship fights between opponents that have all fought before, pretty much lived up to its billing, a bout said some questionable scoring by a 'judge put an uneasy cloud over a great night of fistfighting.

ATHLETICS TIED FOR FIRST

The Athletics kicks-off season sharp, by winning six of their first eight games. For the 1994-1995 school year, the Moreno Valley Unified School District announces that families wishing to enroll their students in a school outside their attendance area may do so by completing an application for Intra-District Transfer. Families may only apply to schools that are available at the Facility Location, Enrollment District, or the address listed below. Requests for intra-district transfers to schools within this school district are handled by the District应 the Community Education Center, 25000 Alejandro Boulevard, Moreno Valley by 5:00 p.m., on or before May 20th. All applications received prior to the deadline will be processed and notification will be sent out by June 17th. A separate Intra-district transfer request must be completed for each student in a family who wishes to transfer.

Students currently attending school outside their attendance area based upon an approved intra-district transfer do not have to reapply, if they are planning on staying at that school. Current intra-district transfers may continue until the student completes the sixth grade. If a parent wishes to change the school the student attends, a new application must be completed.

A SPECIAL SALUTE TO THE MEMORY OF DR. ROSEMARY SCHRAER
Women Of Achievement

ESTHER ESTRADA • JUNE FOREMAN • OLA FAYE STEPHENS

Esther Ramos Estrada is a native of San Bernardino, where she graduated from San Bernardino High School before attending San Francisco State University, 1976-1979, and served as a Director, Community Education Activation Program. She is a political activist, community organizer and past member of the City of San Bernardino City Council, representing the First Ward, the Redevelopment Committee, The Norton Closure, Re-use Committee, Mercado El Barrio Food Co-op. She is Executive Director of Casa Ramona, which outreachs to every aspect of the minority community. Through her leadership she built a health center and 44 unit senior citizens' housing complex.

Estrada is an active member of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. She has dedicated her life helping the underprivileged, underserved, and a voice for those with no voice. Although she has no children of her own, she has become a mother to many children and young adults of the community.

We salute Esther Ramos Estrada for her exemplary service as a Woman of Achievement.

JUNE E. FOREMAN

June E. Foreman exemplifies the qualities of a Woman of Achievement. She came to Riverside in 1957 after completing her college education at Fresno State, further completing a M.A. in Counseling and a credential at Loma Linda University and retired as a counselor. She has been a successful wife and mother, married to T.L. Foreman for 45 years and is the mother of two daughters and four grandchildren.

She has volunteered over twenty years of community service to activities that made life better for all in the community. She has worked with the Urban League, both the Inland Empire and the Greater Riverside Affiliates, N.A.A.C.P., Thursday Group, Y.W.C.A., California Council on Mental Health, Riverside County Coalition for Alternatives to Domestic Violence, Fair Housing Council of Riverside County, Secretary of the Riverside Grand Jury, Riverside City Personnel Board, Budget Advisory Commission, United Way, Opportunities Industrialization Center of Riverside and San Bernardino, Sickle Cell Organization, Chair, First Annual California State Conference of Human/Community Relations, and American Association of University Women.

She has already received recognition from the Y.W.C.A., Riverside Chamber of Commerce and Press Enterprise in 1992, the Soroptimist Gold Key for over 20 years and has an honorary life membership with Sickle Cell Foundation.

We salute June E. Foreman for her exemplary service as a Woman of Achievement.
