CBC-Sponsors 24th Annual Legislative Conference

Congressman Brown Secures Military Defense program that gives comes military aircraft to local aircraft to law enforcement agencies to be light house to four and domestic police initiatives.

The 24th Annual Legislative Conference marks the third consecutive year in which the Washington Convention Center has been selected as the site for the conference. Over 30,000 people participated in last year's event.

Today Congressman George Brown (D-San Bernadino) announced that the San Bernadino Sheriff’s Department will receive a T-39 Savannah aircraft from the Navy to boost its efforts to counter drug wars on drugs. The aircraft will be used by the Sheriff’s Department to intercept air- borne drug smugglers and quickly transport narcotics officers to where they are most needed.

The transfer of the aircraft to the San Bernadino County Sheriff’s Department is possible through a Department of Defense program that gives excess military aircraft to local law enforcement agencies to be used in the fight against drug traffickers. The T-39 Savannah is a single-engine aircraft that can fly at 400-500

Brown is the Chair of the House Committee on Science, Space, and Technology, and is a member of the Advisory Board which oversees the Office of Technology Assessment.
Dear Editor:

For several years, the Congress has been considering legislation that would protect status of the Mojave National Park in California's fragile desert. The Mojave is to the desert what the Everglades are to Florida and the Appalachian Mountains are to the Appalachians. All are natural Americans that Congress should protect for posterity.

Sadly, for its selfish interest in ensuring trophy hunting opportunities in the desert, the National Rifle Association (NRA) has mounted a campaign of lies and misinformation that have resulted in an attempt by Congressmen Alfred McCandless and Ken Calvert joined a bill -- approximately $500,000 a year billed to the taxpayers -- for the federal government to manage a preserve than a national park.

The Mojave is great, Congressmen McCandless and Calvert voted to deny the federal government the power to manage the Mojave.

A partnership for Empowerment

BY MARIAN WRIGHT

Marian Wright Edelman, president of the Children's Defense Fund, has spent much of her career working to improve the lives of America's children.

As a graduate student in the late 1960s, she observed firsthand the effects of poverty and inequality on children in Mississippi. Her experiences led her to found the Children's Defense Fund in 1971, which works to ensure that all children have a fair chance to succeed in school and life.

EDWARDS, Ala. (AP) — The White House defended the new health care bill approved by Congress, saying that people will not be hurt by it. The administration's message was reinforced by President Barack Obama'ss trip to Alabama on Wednesday.

SAVING YOUR OWN LIFE

BY DR. CHARLES PAULKNER

P

 practically every person

item that we have can be reduced or even eliminated with a few relatively simple steps. We have the capability of controlling our own lives, yet we allow other people or things to control

us.

Well, stop being scared! Take back the power to save your life. Here's how:

1) Stop being scared to take a step. Get with it. Introducse yourself to one new person, one new place, one new idea. Ask for a raise. Set up that job interview. Get some exercise.

Stop eating fast and sweets. Get your college degree or GED. Whatever it is that you want, go after it now- not next week, not next year- now.

2) Give it another try. And another. And another. Don't stop trying. If you introduce yourself to one new person and another eventually one will enthusiastically become your friend. Whatever you do, don't give up until you get what you want.

3) Do you have the right to know,

do you have the right to act on that knowledge. Think only about your neighbors want to fight the

Black neighborhood. Our waste dump in our mostly

Black neighborhood. Our minds . Think only about your mind. Think only about your good. Stop saying, "I can't do it." The truth is that you can get about it. Toss it out of your mind. Don't blame yourself if you don't get it. That one receptive person will emerge to take over. If you think that what you are working to do will hurt the feelings of the other person, don't do it. Be sensitive. Wouldn't you want the other person to treat you the same way?

4) Stop putting yourself into competition with everyone else.

Stop feeling bad if someone does something that you cannot do. Most of all, stop criticizing yourself simply because someone does something better than you. You are able to do many things far better than other people.

5) Don't get angry so easily. Be patient with the faults of other people. Treat them the way that you would like to be treated.

6) Do it now! Put this cultural change today. Be at this very moment. Don't wait. Start.

7) Do you have the right to know,

do you have the right to act on that

knowledge. Think only about your

neighbors want to fight the

Dumping Grounds

DEAR DR. LEVISTEr:

There are plans to build a toxic waste dump in our mostly Black neighborhood. Our neighbors want to fight the plan. Do we have the right to know why our neighborhood was chosen?

DEAR WORRIED: Not only do you have the right to know, you have the right to ask for that knowledge. Your concern is timely and should prompt the report sponsored by The National Center for Policy Alternatives, the NAACP and the United Church of Christ Commission for Human Justice. The report released this week again raises concerns that minorities are exposed to an unfair share of industrial pollution.

Minority residents in communities with commercial heritage have seen rates rise from 25% of the general population in 1980 to 31% in 1990 according to the study. This is the first update of the landmark 1987

study that day. Basic waste sites disproportionately located in minority and other poor areas.

The report's co-author,

the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is under intense scrutiny. It is expected to release it within days.

The study's findings were described as a "signal of how serious the situation is" by the NAACP. The report details the high rate of toxic waste sites in the area.

But non-minority groups have been ignored, or have created, better opportunities to move away. The report cites data on the shift and new facilities as

Nordstrom Spends Millions With Minority and Women-Owned Firms

"Nordstrom's enthusiasm in developing partnerships of trust and understanding with minority and women-owned businesses will add to the success of their minority vendor program," said Dudley. "The program expands the economic development opportunities will increase in the communities where Nordstrom does business."

"We are very pleased with the success of this program," said Charles Dudley, vice president of Human Resources. "By expanding opportunities to communicate our needs to minority and women-owned vendors through trade fairs, direct advertising, and trade shows, we are committed to developing a stronger relationship with the National Minority Supplier Development Council and its local affiliates, to help minority and women-owned suppliers grow.

"At Nordstrom, we believe in supporting our minority and women-owned business partners and are committed to continuing our support. We believe it is important to build strong partnerships with minority and women-owned businesses to ensure their success and growth."

AT&T Proposes Pan-African Fiber-Optic Network

AT&T today proposed a concept for an information network that would ring Africa, connecting African nations with each other and the rest of the world via undersea fiber-optic cables.

"The concept is based on a regional approach that would link African nations to each other to provide the continent-wide telecommunications infrastructure needed to attract investment by multinational corporations," Carter said.

He said AT&T is well-suited to support such a network because of its experience in managing large-scale telecommunications projects.

"We are committed to working with African nations to develop a network that will support economic growth and development," Carter said.

CRMCF Sponsors Golf Tournament For September

The Corona Regional Medical Foundation is sponsoring its 1994 Golf Tournament on September 27th at the Green River Country Club in Corona, California.

Sponsored by CBH, Inc. and Nordstrom's, through the Glendale store about two years ago," said Morales. "That original contact has developed into a significant business relationship and we've worked on several projects. We really respect the way Nordstrom does business."

"Working with Nordstrom has been very rewarding," said Robert E. Bard of The Bard Company, a marketing, public relations and advertising consulting firm in Santa Clarita, CA. "Nordstrom's enthusiasm in developing partnerships of trust and understanding with minority and women-owned businesses will add to the success of their minority vendor program.""The program expands the economic development opportunities will increase in the communities where Nordstrom does business."

"We'll continue to find new ways to reach potential vendors," said Dudley. "And as the program expands, the economic development opportunities will increase in the communities where Nordstrom does business."

Dudley also serves as a board member for the National Minority Supplier Development Council and as a member of the Executive Corporate Advisory Board for the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce.

Nordstrom is one of the nation's leading fashion specialty retailers with 77 stores in 14 states.

Coca-Cola Honors Scholar Athlete of the Year

Distributor McChutcheon (center) a senior electrical engineering major, and starting football lineman at Tuskegee University proudly displays the plaque naming him the "Coca-Cola Scholar Athlete of the Year." Presenting the award are right Ron Coleman, Media Relations manager, The Coca-Cola Company, and Brett Moore, Publisher, Sports View Magazine.

McChutcheon earned the coveted award by scoring a 3.7 grade point average and for consistent outstanding accomplishments in both academic and athletic competition.

McChutcheon was chosen for the award out of 23 members of the Coca-Cola All Academic Team which is comprised of football players from historically Black Colleges and Universities who have achieved a 3.0 and above grade point average. This marks the second consecutive year that McChutcheon, a native of Hollywood, Florida has made the "Coca-Cola All Academic Team." "The Coca-Cola All Academic Team" and "Scholar Athlete of the Year" will be featured in Sports View Magazine's '94 Black College Football Preview.

Miriam Makeba

Known to millions throughout the world as the "Mama Africa," Miriam Makeba's legendary diva Miriam Makeba brings the full weight of her experience to bear on "Sing Me a Song" (DRG Records #52224, c/d/c), her first album entirely montaged in South Africa. The 10 songs were exiled from her homeland 30 years ago. Over the years Makeba's voice has developed passionately on record and in the interview. She works her lines fully matured in affecting sincerity and authority. The only female African artist to crack the American Top 40 (with her smash hit "Pata Pata"), Miriam Makeba has distilled her extensive artistic experience into "Sing Me a Song." UNESCO honored her extraordinary music and messages of hope and love by presenting her the "Grand Prix du Concours International de la Musique" in September of 1993. Recognizing Makeba's lifelong contributions toward peace, this marks the first time this prestigious award was ever awarded to a singer, to a woman, to a non-classical performer.

"Sing Me a Song" comes as Miriam Makeba's prizc of musical sophistication, and下载 she's deep unclad eminence of and versatility with many varied musical styles. It features Ray Phiri (who wrote and co-wrote several of the songs) on guitar, the singing and composing talents of her son Mathlouthi, the well seasoned regular band. Great production and crack musicianship grant "Sing Me a Song," especially on the short instrumental interludes which provide a flowing continuity within the work. Song in English, French, Xhosa, Zulu and Malawian (or Mandinka), highlights of "Sing Me a Song" include the title track, a positive message of hope, the ragga-singed "Known Unseen Hero" with the 62 year-old's grandson as lead vocalist, and the Black urban contemporary "Serenade Me" (written by her daughter, her only child). Miriam easily navigates her way through the lifting Caribbean, steel drum affirmed "Nalabari" sounding very true at home with her sinuous vocal line. She offers a tip of the hat to the big band sound in "Choo Choo Train/Shakua," and glides through several emotional balladings including Per Dant's "Prendre Enfant par le Main." Miriam Makeba's African and South African musical heritage rings throughout "Sing Me a Song," as she remains a leading spirit of African unity.

Pictorial Look
At High School Football

RIVERSIDE - The upcoming football season has a hard act to follow. Last season -1993 - saw a wonderful crop of student athletes claw their way to football glory and in the process used the game as a vehicle to further their educational aims, as well.

Local high school teams from Rancho to Moreno Valley, with San Bernardino and Riverside in between, are enduring "hell week" and are gearing up for the upcoming season that all hope will end as Norco’s and Eisenhower’s seasons did - as California Interscholastic Federation (CIF) Champions.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN: (Kneeling) Chris Lee #65 now at Fresno State and Ricky Austin #76 at Washington State, Marlon Farlow #34 at Arizona State, Glenn Thompkins #12 at UCLA and Art Lloyd #45 at Nevada Reno. The Fab Five, plus Julius McChristian at San Diego State and Demond Birks at Northern Arizona, were the linchpins that carried Ike to the CIF Division I football championship at Anaheim Stadium. The Eagles will have to regroup and hang on to challenge Fontana this year. Photo By Gary Montgomery-BVN

FOUR HORSEMEN: (L to R) Darrell Franklin a senior, Bryan Howard a senior and State 100-meter champ, Ryan Roques a senior and State champ, Marcelle Williams at Idaho State. Moreno Valley Canyon Springs were the tough by Longest and advanced to the State CIF Division II Title game, before getting clogged down by a rain soaked field in the loss to Irvine. With all but Williams returning, the Cougars will go into the season as the favorite to two-peat. Photo By Gary Montgomery-BVN

STATE RUSHING LEADER: Moreno Valley, Valley View’s Rammond Lee, plus twin brother Jamal, are headed for Temple. Lee led the state in rushing, gaining an eye opening 2,549 yards. Photo by Sam James-BVN

RTC Expands Opportunities For Purchase Of Thrifts By Minorities

The RTC has announced new programs to attract minority bidders and encourage more minority participation in the purchase of thrifts. The programs include extending the list of potential bidders, increasing minority outreach efforts, and offering additional resources to minority participants.

The RTC's expansion of opportunities for minority bidders follows the recent announcement of a joint venture between the RTC and the UC Regents to expand minority participation in the purchase of thrifts. The joint venture, which is expected to increase minority participation by 50%, is part of the RTC's ongoing efforts to ensure that minority bidders have equal access to opportunities for the purchase of thrifts.

The new programs announced by the RTC include:

- Extending the list of potential bidders: The RTC has extended the list of potential bidders to include a broader range of minority groups.

- Increasing minority outreach efforts: The RTC is increasing its efforts to reach out to minority groups and provide them with the information and resources they need to participate in the purchase of thrifts.

- Offering additional resources: The RTC is offering additional resources to minority participants, such as training programs and technical assistance.

The RTC's expansion of opportunities for minority bidders is part of its ongoing efforts to ensure that minority bidders have equal access to opportunities for the purchase of thrifts. The RTC is committed to ensuring that all bidders, regardless of their background, have the opportunity to participate in the purchase of thrifts.

The RTC's expansion of opportunities for minority bidders follows the recent announcement of a joint venture between the RTC and the UC Regents to expand minority participation in the purchase of thrifts. The joint venture, which is expected to increase minority participation by 50%, is part of the RTC's ongoing efforts to ensure that minority bidders have equal access to opportunities for the purchase of thrifts.

The new programs announced by the RTC include:

- Extending the list of potential bidders: The RTC has extended the list of potential bidders to include a broader range of minority groups.

- Increasing minority outreach efforts: The RTC is increasing its efforts to reach out to minority groups and provide them with the information and resources they need to participate in the purchase of thrifts.

- Offering additional resources: The RTC is offering additional resources to minority participants, such as training programs and technical assistance.

The RTC's expansion of opportunities for minority bidders is part of its ongoing efforts to ensure that minority bidders have equal access to opportunities for the purchase of thrifts. The RTC is committed to ensuring that all bidders, regardless of their background, have the opportunity to participate in the purchase of thrifts.
