COLLEGE RECEIVES $235,479 HUMANITIES GRANT TO IMPROVE STUDENTS' WRITING SKILLS

Cal State, San Bernardino has received a $235,479 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to improve students' writing skills.

The four-year program will train the entire faculty of the College to reinforce student writing skills in all classes. Through a summer seminar and a January retreat, one fourth of the tenure-track faculty will become involved in the program each year.

Certain faculty who have volunteered because of their interest also will be trained through intensive summer workshops, to design and teach courses in writing and to serve as resources in their particular disciplines. Selected community college instructors will be involved in the on-campus seminars also.

Another component of the program is the development of a video-tape module for the College's Learning Center, to increase the skills of its staff in working individually with students. The writing reinforcement program, which has the endorsement of the faculty, is grounded in the conviction that all faculty, not just those in the English Department, have responsibility to foster and reinforce student writing skills.

Co-directors of the project will be Catherine Gannon (Academic Planning) and Helene Koon (English). Eugene Garver (Philosophy) also was involved in writing the proposal.

Funding begins in August. The first year's activities include a four-day seminar, September 5-8, for 44 faculty, one leader and guest speakers; development of a film-tape module to train Learning Center student tutors; and a January retreat for the summer trainees. Participants in the September seminar will receive a $200 stipend.

The program will be continually evaluated through such means as the College-

COMMENCEMENT NEARS FOR GRADS AND FACULTY

Nearly 500 bachelor and 130 master candidates have filed their intention to graduate at the end of the Spring Quarter. This makes a possible total of around 780 bachelor and 215 master graduates eligible to participate in the Commencement ceremony.

The College's Twelfth Annual Commencement is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., Saturday, June 17, on the South Gymnasium Lawn.

Note to Faculty - Orders for cap and gown rental should be placed by faculty immediately to guarantee delivery in time for the June 17 commencement. Jim Arabatzis, Bookstore Manager, states that last year some late orders missed shipment on airline flights. Because of the special

FILBECK AND STRONG IN FACULTY MUSIC RECITAL Three separate works providing a range of musical variety will be performed by two members of the CSCSB faculty in a recital Sunday evening, May 21.

Loren Filbeck, Assoc. Prof., Music, baritone and Timothy Strong, Lecturer in Music, pianist, are the featured performers in the program, to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall.

Dr. Filbeck will sing Gustav Mahler's "Kindertotenlieder," a brooding, beautiful piece. Prof. Strong will play Chopin's "B Minor Sonata," which, written in 1844, is considered one of the composer's greatest works. Poulenc's "Sextet" will also be performed by Strong with five other instrumentalists.

Note to Schools and Departments - The College administration is interested in learning whether any department or school would care to have a table at the Commencement reception set aside for them. This designated table could serve as a special area where faculty, students and their guests could meet following the ceremony.

Eight tables are placed around the Gym. If sufficient interest is exhibited in establishing especially designated tables, graduates could be informed of the fact along with other information on Commencement. Please call Barbara Nolte, 7217, for further information.

FREE PHYSICAL EXAMS OFFERED TO FACULTY, STAFF AND STUDENTS

JARVIS-GANN INITIATIVE SUBJECT OF DEBATE, FORUM

A formal debate on the Jarvis-Gann initiative, perhaps one of the most important propositions to reach the state ballot in years, will be staged on campus Thursday, May 25. In support of the proposition will be Dr. George Gibbs, Professor of Economics and Accountancy at Claremont Men's College, and Dr. J. Cordell Robinson, Associate Professor of History at CSCSB.

The negative will be argued by San Bernardino County Supervisor James L. Mayfield and Jack Ratelle, City Manager of Fontana.

Dr. Carol Goss, Associate Professor of Political Science, will be the moderator. The debate is scheduled for 4 p.m. in LC-500. Open to all.

On Tuesday, May 23, the Congress of Faculty Associations will sponsor a forum on Proposition 13, during which a tape featuring Governor Brown's comments on the initiative will be played.
