Community Task Force
Forces Change CSUSB With Discrimination
Vernon McClenny, Chair of the California State Commission on Human Rights and Arthur Fletcher, Chair of the nation's Civil Rights Commission, were present at the meeting.

In an effort to combat discrimination on campus, the task force has implemented several changes. These include:

1. Increased enforcement of anti-discrimination policies
2. Expanded counseling services for students
3. Increased diversity training for faculty and staff
4. Creation of a task force to address discrimination issues

The community task force was formed in response to concerns raised by students and faculty about discrimination on campus. The task force will continue to monitor and report on discrimination issues in the future.

The Black Voice News
Dear Dr. LeVister:

My代替yourself overwhelming different types of headaches. Which are listed above. By the time I was a high school graduate, I had experienced nearly all of the headaches that you have mentioned. All through school and by the time I was a high school graduate, I had experienced nearly all of the headaches that you have mentioned.

Vascular headaches are another category in which the blood vessels are involved. They are often severe. Headaches from angina can be caused by changes in certain substances such as nitrates. Vascular headaches occur in cases where there is an increase in the amount of blood produced. When the blood vessels dilate or constrict, tension headaches can occur. Migraines are caused by the dilation of the blood vessels which tend to cause pain in patients with 70% of the women being female. They are more frequent and more severe than typical vascular headaches. This increase in blood vessel constriction may increase the incidence of these headaches and create more frequent headaches in the work and personal life.

Cluster susceptible factors are typically influenced by a variety of factors including physical activity, diet, smoking, and alcohol consumption. These factors are interrelated and can increase the risk of developing headaches.

In summary, exercise has been shown to be effective in reducing the frequency and severity of headaches. By keeping a healthy lifestyle and avoiding factors that trigger headaches, we can reduce the impact of these headaches on our daily lives.

Sincerely,

Dean Crowely
Commissioner of Athletics

Professor: By Hugh R. Price

There’s a huge void in the lives of teen-agers who, tragically, being in high school.

Do you realize that during the 1980’s, government spending on prisons construction soared by 612 percent. Meanwhile, society’s diseased lifestyles are among the most cost-effective ways of controlling crime.

Prevention-oriented youth programs may be among the most cost-effective ways of controlling crime.

Mayor Bob Lauter of Houston sold us on the idea that the opening of park-on-facilities in the evenings, violence, youth crime in inter-city neighborhoods has declined sharply.

Mayor Emanuel Cleaver of Kansas City states that on the nights when midnight basketball games are on, the crime rate plummets.

The Guard is getting some amazing results from this program, which operates in 15 metropolitan areas.

I imagine designing a school for disinterested students which draw heavily on what the military knows about fast-track training, rank and rewards, service and mission, purpose and planning, and stability.

I’m pleased to report that National Urban League is getting with a defense policy think tank, the Center for Strategic and International Studies, to inventory all the tangible and intangible assets of the military that might be helpful in addressing the problems of inner-city youth.

Finally, have you ever noticed that the fact the U.S. military is the world’s largest employer and best organized gang? Imagine how wonderful it would be if we could tap all of that expertise, to organize Community service gangs that give kids a common bond to the lawless and violent gangs that now form them.

Our program, “Right Decisions, Right Now,” teaches kids to say no to cigarettes, and to resist peer influence.

We offer parents, both smokers and non-smokers, brochures which help them talk to their kids about not smoking.

To make it tougher for minors to buy cigarettes, our program “Support The Law. It Works.” provides signs and training videos to retailers.

R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company does not, under any circumstances, want kids to smoke. It’s also the law in the U.S. It’s illegal to sell cigarettes to anyone under the age of 18. That’s why R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company has created a number of programs designed to discourage and reduce underage smoking.

Our “Support The Law. It Works.” program helps retailers make it tougher for kids to buy cigarettes. So far, more than 50,000 retail outlets have received our display materials, training videos or information for their staff. More than 600 law-enforcement agencies have responded. And the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce has incorporated the materials as part of their youth non-smoking initiative.

We know regular compliance checks to ensure retailers are upholding age restrictions work. In fact, a recent study* indicates clearly that enforcement of minimum age restriction laws currently on the books can reduce sales of cigarettes to minors by at least half.

And when it comes to sampling programs, R.J. Reynolds’ policy, like that of all American tobacco manufacturers, prohibits distribution to anyone underage.

Our “Right Decisions, Right Now.” educational program helps teach school children to say no to peer influences that might lead them to smoke. It provides teachers with posters and teaching aids, (none of which identifies R.J. Reynolds), parents with brochures designed to help them discuss smoking issues with their children, and offers Public Service TV messages. More than 10,000 middle and junior high schools are using elements of the program, reaching more than 3.3 million students, and we continue to distribute more.

More effective enforcement of current laws together with continuing education is a proven way to address this issue.

If you haven't seen any of our materials in your schools you may like copies of our posters. You may also be surprised by just how useful our guides on talking to kids about not smoking can be. If you'd like any of these materials, the display aids used in retail outlets, please call 1-800-862-9325 or return this coupon to R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, P.O. Box S, Winston-Salem, NC 27101.

Last Word From Houston and NBA Finals

Houston's Olajuwon and Rockets mate go back-to-back, while Orlando's O'Neal and Magic just have to wait.

By LELAND STEIN III

Houston - BELIEVE IT AGAIN! Houston is undoubtedly the team to beat in the NBA. Led by Hakeem Olajuwon, the Rockets have won the NBA Finals three times in the past four years. They are the defending champions and are looking to bring home the trophy for a fourth consecutive year.

Olajuwon, who was named the NBA Finals Most Valuable Player in 1992 and 1994, is considered one of the greatest centers in NBA history. He is known for his amazing athletic ability, shooting skills, and defensive play.

The Rockets are currently leading the NBA in several categories, including points scored, rebounds, and assists. They are a well-balanced team with players such as Scottie Pippen and Clyde Drexler providing excellent supporting casts.

As the playoffs continue, Houston will face a tough challenge in the form of Orlando Magic. However, Olajuwon and the Rockets are confident in their ability to win another championship.

"We are a confident team," said Olajuwon. "We believe in ourselves and each other. We will continue to work hard and stay focused on our goal of bringing home the championship."

Representatives from GRP's Marketing Division first saw back & Shield while Mr. Bibbs was doing an exhibition in New York last March; and started negotiations to use the image on the spot. This is a historic project, combining the talents of these jazz legends, and will quickly become a collection item; the music is further enhanced by the visual contributions of Mr. Bibbs. On Our Own Star To Headline At Irvine Improv

Ralph Harris is the man of the hour at the ABC-7 TV spoof "On Our Own," which airs on Fridays at 9:30p.m. Ralph portrays "Josh Jericho," the eldest of seven siblings, recently orphaned and faced with the challenge of keeping the rest of the family together by duping social workers, teachers, the telephone repairman, and anyone else who might suspect there isn’t adult supervision. The show features Ralph portraying adult characters, including "Amena II," the kid’s selfish, flamboyant, overprotective Aunt. It takes a team of makeup and wardrobe artists more than five hours to transform Ralph into the recurring character of "Amena II." Ralph has even found a way to keep from shaving for the role! Ralph was "discovered" by members of the ABC Casting and Development Department, when they attended a comedian’s showcase at Hollywood’s famous club, The Laugh Factory.

Disappointment, sadness, pain and loneliness come to all of us. "Why must this terrible experience happen to me?" many ask. "How can a loving God permit this tragedy? Is He Dead?" "Why is He called good, merciful, and long-suffering while everyday men, women and children are crushed by agonies almost beyond endurance?"

Some people may ask these questions—those who hated God, as well as Christians who are bewildered and confused by disappointments. When sorrow comes it is natural for us to question, doubt, and blame and even become bitter and withdrawn. Danisha Crowder, a Fourth grade student at Ramona Elementary School in Moreno Valley, chooses to be successful in spite of adversity in her life. At the age of seven she suffered the loss of her mother, by the hand of her father.

Crowder, with the help and prayers of her grandparents, Billy and Shirley Johnson has been able to rebound from the tragic loss of her mother and once again has her feet on solid ground. She is an excellent student who has consistently been on the Honor Roll for the past 3 years and has received recognition for perfect attendance and her excellent writing skills. Her poetry has been published in the school's newspaper. She was selected with four other students to write short stories for children. When asked, "What are your favorite subjects?" she replied, "All of them."

Danisha accepted the Lord as her personal savior when she went to camp last year with Grace Bible Church. She attends Riverside Faith Temple Church with her grandparents who are her legal guardians since her tragedy. Like her mother, who rode and cared for horses, Danisha loves to ride horses and once enjoyed having her own. She also loves to run and her grandfather is teaching her how to play tennis. Danisha desires to be a Pediatrician when she grows up. Tanisha says, "I like to help people and being a Pediatrician I can help a lot of children."

Danisha is a very loving ten year old who enjoys helping her grandmother around the house and her teacher at school. Her teachers say, "Danisha always looks good, smells good and lights up the classroom."

May God bless you Danisha in all your endeavors. May you continue to be successful throughout your life as you look to the Lord for help and strength.

Our Children are Watching Us Live
When we show them our love, they will be loving.
When we are thankful for life's blessings, they will be thankful.
When we are friendly, they will be friendly.
When we speak words of praise, they will praise others.
When we set an example of honesty, our children will be honest.

When we are patient, they will be patient.
When we face trouble with a brave spirit, they will learn to live bravely.
When we prove our faith by the way we live, they will have faith.
When we teach by our example and start climbing, they will follow.

San Gorgonio High School Adopted

Adoption is the discovery of a new family. For San Gorgonio High School, adoption means support and altruism from local businesses. Recently San Gorgonio High School was adopted by Walt's RV, the San Bernardino County Blood Bank, Hilton Hotel, and Arrowhead Springs Resort.

Walt’s RV decided to adopt San Gorgonio because they have an overload of materials from their business, and they saw a way to help the high school. They said, “We have more materials than we need, so we donated our wood to the woodshop classes.”

The San Bernardino Blood Bank adopted San Gorgonio because they feel a need to have contact with local schools since their goal is to educate the public about donating blood. In addition, they provide career opportunities to high school students who are interested in nursing and other health care services. The Blood Bank can also count on San Gorgonio’s staff members and students to help during blood drives.

The hotel management courses at San Gorgonio have brought graduates much success in the hospitality field. The Hilton Hotel has been instrumental in providing internships and donating equipment to these classes. Students who go through the hotel management course have a 40 percent employment rate when they graduate.

Principal Phil Haley said, “We are happy to be involved with these businesses who are willing to give supplies and work experience to our students.” San Gorgonio High is part of the San Bernardino City Unified School District.
