February 2nd 2001

CSUSB

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.lib.csusb.edu/coyote-chronicle

Recommended Citation
https://scholarworks.lib.csusb.edu/coyote-chronicle/501

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Archives – California State University San Bernardino at CSUSB ScholarWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Coyote Chronicle by an authorized administrator of CSUSB ScholarWorks. For more information, please contact scholarworks@csusb.edu.
The Evolution of Coyote Radio

By Tia Hem and Richelle Ruta
Staff Writers

Coyote Radio has finally evolved into an Internet Station. Now, people all over the world can tune in and hear the eclectic shows that Heather Hundley, assistant professor of Communications, her student staff and DJ's have setup. Five years ago, the Communication Department discussed getting the school's radio station on the Internet, but nothing seemed to happen until Hundley joined the Communication Department in fall of 1999. Last quarter, Hundley and other individuals involved in the building of Coyote Radio web site, were able to make the non-existing station into an organized real Internet radio station. Hundley has even tried her best to apply for a Federal Communications Commission license, but did not quite succeed. "We can't get a license, but at least we got the whole world," said Hundley. "And having the web site couldn't have been possible without Steve Burdick. He is a computer support consultant at Academic Computing and Media who received the help of his fellow workers."

Steve Hayes, station manager, said "a year ago, we had nothing to work with; there was no organization, but look at us now; we have new equipment and we've expanded the class. We've created management and promotional positions and we're trying to cater to the needs of the communication students. Most importantly, Coyote Radio can now be heard on the Internet, which was started up by webmaster Jennifer Thierry."

Douglas Scarborough, one of the DJ's who took the Radio practicum last quarter, enjoyed the fact that he was heard around the world. "An extraordinary rush of power runs from my finger tips all the way to my feet knowing that people in Madagascar can tune in and listen to the Aussie Bastard Show," said Scarborough.

---

By Ken Swisher and Ayreen Calimquim
Special to the Chronicle

The search is on for a student trustee to serve on the California State University Board of Trustees. Interested CSU students must submit applications by Thursday, March 15, to serve the two-year term that starts on July 1, 2001.

Open to students from all CSU 23 campuses, applicants must have junior-level status by July 1, 2001, and must be a CSU student throughout the full two years of service that ends in June 2003. Application materials are available by contacting the Associated Students office on each campus, or by calling (562) 951-4025.

The California State Student Association (CSSA), a student advocacy group, is conducting the statewide search for student trustees and will submit a list of qualified applicants to Governor Gray Davis, who will then appoint the student trustee.

"Student trustees are in the unique position of being the only student voice to serve on the Board of Trustees," said Shaun Lumachi, chair of the CSSA Board of Directors. "The student trustees represent more than 370,000 students and play an impor-
University Takes Electrical Power Interruption in Stride

By George Galeener
Staff Writer

Just in case some had forgotten about the statewide power crunch, Cal State students and staff received an unexpected reminder about this last Friday, January 26, at 10:30 a.m. Campus facilities personnel received their all-to-familiar signal from Southern California Edison to interrupt power for the twelfth time in January. Earlier that morning, ironically, the Department of General Services had sent word that no interruptions would occur that day, but facilities received the signal some ten minutes later, according to Cal State's Tony Simpson, Director of Facilities Services. But apart from office staffers putting on a coat occasionally at their desks or getting a lukewarm soda from the vending machine, most students and staff are taking the power interruptions in good spirits.

Nearly everyone has been recently bombarded with media coverage of California's power crisis and the threat of rolling blackouts in the southland, but how has it affected campus life at Cal State? Further, what's the story behind campus generators?

The most noticeable effect has been cold room temperatures, related Adam Romero of the university's Public Affairs Office. The office staff simply dons coats or sweaters during the periods where heating is cycled to 15-minute intervals. Everybody understands the circumstances, added Romero. Betty Bartlett, Merchandise Buyer at the bookstore, also cited chilly room temperatures as the pervasive complaint. For third-year Theatre Arts major Nancy Reyes, however, studying in the Student Union is hampered by dropping temperature that is just paranoia. The transition to generator power isn't entirely seamless, according to Simpson from facilities. There's a slight, monitory interruption of current when the changeover occurs. The students and staff are reportedly taking the power interruptions in stride, "I've been impressed with people's attitudes," said Simpson. He added that everybody is aware of the condition of California's power shortage, and positive attitudes have prevailed so far.

Although generators only appeared on campus in January, most would be surprised to learn that Cal State has actually held a power interruption agreement with Edison since 1996. But the increase in interrupt notices, heightened by dwindling power reserves, caused the need for generators to sus-tain reasonable power during what has become an excessive number of interrupt episodes. Under the Interruptible Service Rate Agreement with Edison, Cal State is to reduce power consumption levels to 1124 kilowatts within 30 minutes of receiving a signal by the Independent System Operator (ISO). The signal is also launched to participating Edison customers elsewhere when power reserves plummet. Some area businesses and school districts participate in the same plan.

For the university, failure to drop to the agreed 1124 kilowatt level results in a steep penalty rate some 100 times the normal rate, according to David DeMauro, Cal State's vice-president of Administration and Finance. DeMauro explained that the university only received two interrupt signals from 1996 to 1999. That figure climbed to an alarming 14 episodes in December of 2000.

Coming on the heels of a string of State budget cuts in the earlier 90's, Cal State's prudent decision to join the Edison plan in 1996 saved a whopping $250,000 yearly. It

Bush Signs Measure Giving Federal Capitol To Religion Based Organizations

Earlier this week, George W. Bush signed into effect a measure that opened up federal capital to faith based organizations. The measure caused alarm to democrats on Capitol Hill who saw the bill as a violation of the "separation of Church and State" clause. The Clause, which was devised to keep Religious and Imperial factions forever separate, has allowed the U.S.A. to avoid the conflict of politics and power that the funds would go towards projects other than the social service specifically granted. One argument against the measure comes from civil rights leaders, who urge close observation on the progress of the measure. Substantial claims were made on the issue of discrimination. The federal government has no jurisdiction inside the organization, policy, or rules of the church; meaning that none of the civil right and nondiscriminatory laws and policies can be enforced in the faith based social services. Some believe that this could open the door to racial and or economic prejudice in the hiring of employees and treatment of patients. The measure, however, can also be credited to the passage of non-criminal Drug laws in California this past election. Non Violent drug offenders are now sentenced to treatment programs instead of hard time. The measure helps alleviate the shortage in adequate programs by opening up proven, qualified and successful faith based
Democratic State Convention In Anaheim

By John J. Eddy
News Editor

Anaheim California will be home to the 2001 California Democratic Party State Convention. The convention is scheduled March 30–April 1 and will be at the Anaheim Convention Center across the street from Disneyland.

The Democratic Convention will be Headquarters for platform adopting, and candidate nominating. Elections this year will decide both representatives, and state senators for each district in California.

When asked if the park was expecting the delegates to visit, Disneyland responded that they were expecting some of the delegates families, but none of the delegates themselves during Convention hours.

Proposed Tax Cut?

By John J. Eddy
News Editor

Bush, in response to campaign promises, has been pushing congress to initiate a nation wide flat tax cut. Bush’s administration wants to add some relief to the small economic paranoia, which has slowed down the economy since Bush took office.

Bush’s plan is for a ten year tax reduction plan which will give back nearly 1.6 billion dollars of the surplus left over from the Clinton Administration. Bush assures that there is enough surplus money to cut taxes and pay down the national debt, as has been the trend of the past eight years.

The Congressional Budget Office analyzed statistics and predicted a 3.12 trillion-dollar profit over that ten-year tax reduction period. If the numbers add up, the U.S. economy should be on its way back up to new highs by the end of the year.
Picture Perfect Students

By Desiree Hunter
Staff Writer

Cal State students Rie Kurino and Sachiko Sugimoto would much rather be behind a camera than in front of one. They showed that passion for photography with a mini-photo exhibit in front of the Student Union on Friday.

Kurino & Sugimoto are both foreign exchange students from Hiroshima, Japan. They displayed 19 pictures, most of which had been taken since coming to the United States in late September.

“It’s just a hobby,” said Kurino. “We do this just for fun.” Though the Cal State sophomores are majoring in English, both find photography to be interesting. There were 19 photos combined done in both black and white and in a variety of sizes, all mounted on colorful poster-board. Some had been enlarged to about ‘11’x’17’.

“It is expensive,” said Sugimoto, who spent about $90. “But we love taking pictures.” Kurino spent around $75 to develop the 10 photos she was showing.

Apparently other students at Cal State liked looking at their work, stopping by the display despite rainy weather. Kurino and Sugimoto asked them to comment and write their email addresses in a notebook on the table. By the end of the day, they had 35 signatures and email addresses.

“We are very happy,” Sugimoto said. “The people say our pictures are beautiful and interesting.”

Though the two are saddened by their impending departure from Cal State on February 23, the pictures will help lessen the feeling, said Kurino. “When I look at my pictures, I will be happy for the memories.”

The Student Union is also available for other students to host similar displays; contact the main desk for more information, (909) 880-5940.

Latino Workshop

By Lareve Miranda
Staff Writer

Aspiring journalists will get the chance to meet professional reporters, photographers, editors and broadcasters during the 11th annual Inland Empire California Chicano News Media Association’s Journalism Opportunities Workshop on Feb. 17. The workshop will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Riverside Community College campus.

It will be open to all high school and college students of all ethnic backgrounds in the Inland Empire, who want to learn more about careers in journalism.

Mark Acosta, president of the organization’s Inland Empire chapter and the workshop’s coordinator, said that the workshop’s goal is to encourage students to come out and give journalism a try. “We want to get students interested in journalism and to let them know that there are a lot of rewards in this career,” he said.

Some of the professionals on hand will include newspaper reporters and editors, a disc jockey from 99.1 FM, a magazine publisher and television broadcasters. The workshop is divided into two categories: a writing session and a photography sequence.

Students who participate in the writing sessions will listen to career panels and get the opportunity to witness a mock press conference.

After the mock conference, they will write an article on the event and entries will be judged. Students who sign up for the photography portion of the workshop, will learn about photojournalism and will get an opportunity to participate in a photo shoot. The photos will also be judged.

Winners for the best articles and photos, will receive prizes. In the past, winners have had the opportunity to be published in either The Sun or Press-Enterprise newspapers.

Desiree Hunter, who attended the workshop in 1999 and won first place in the writing session, said her experience was very rewarding. “The speakers were very informative and the workshop answered a lot of the questions and doubts I had regarding the industry,” she said.

Hunter, a junior at Cal State San Bernardino who is majoring in Communication, said that the workshop was a great chance to meet professional journalists and to make contacts for the future. “Everyone was really accessible and friendly. It was great to learn first hand what a career in journalism is all about. I think it’s a great opportunity for anyone with even a remote interest in writing,” she said.

Reservations are necessary to attend the workshop. Applications must be received or postmarked by Feb. 9. The organization can only accept the first 260 applicants for the writing sequence and the first 40 applicants for the photography session.

The workshop is free and continental breakfast and lunch is provided. For more information or to receive an application, contact Mark Acosta at (909) 737-1366 or 288-3933.

C A L B A P T I S T ’ S
GRADUATE PROGRAMS

When you work full time, evenings and weekends are valuable. That’s why I decided to pursue a graduate degree at California Baptist University. I appreciate Cal Baptist’s strong programs, with dedicated faculty and a wide range of evening and weekend courses. And I truly enjoy my Cal Baptist classes, so much, in fact, that they are rapidly becoming the best part of my week.

My time matters. So does my future.

That’s why I chose Cal Baptist.

DEGREES MAJORS
MA BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
Management
MIS
MA COUSSELING PSYCHOLOGY
Emphasis: MFT
MA EDUCATION EMPHASIS:
CLAS Ed. Leadership Ed. Technology English Ed. Reading Special Ed. Sport Leadership Teaching

EDUCATIONAL MULTIPLE SUBJECT
SINGLE SUBJECT SPECIAL ED.
ADMIN SERVICES

CALIFORNIA BAPTIST UNIVERSITY
8432 Magnolia Avenue
Riverside, California 92504

Graduate and
Credenial Programs
1-877-228-8877

Sachiko Sugimoto (left) and Rie Kurino (right) show their favorite pictures during a mini-photo exhibit.

Credit:
Multple Subject
Single Subject
Special Ed.
Admin Services
XFL ATTITUDE

By John J. Eddy

News Editor

With the hyped up commercialized "Sabulous Bowls" out of the way, true hardcore football fans can now look towards Vince McMahon and NBC to break the primadonna role that overpriced talent plays in the NFL. The XFL kicks off its inaugural season Saturday night, February 3, promising to revolutionize the way the game is both played and televised. The hard-nosed football, with no protection in the pocket. The XFL kicks off its inaugural season Saturday night, February 3, promising to revolutionize the way the game is both played and televised. The hard-nosed football, with no protection in the pocket.

The XFL kicks off its inaugural season Saturday night, February 3, promising to revolutionize the way the game is both played and televised. The hard-nosed football, with no protection in the pocket.

Promising to revolutionize the way the game is both played and televised.

Building Bridges for Business Success 2001

A conference for Women Saturday, March 3

7 am to 4 pm

Cal State San Bernardino Commons Ballroom

For information call Robbie Motter

(909) 679-8048

Keynote Speaker

Conchita Fábolo

President of National Association for Female Executives (NAFE)

It’s My Perspective—by George!

The GRAYING of DIVERSITY:

Face of Student Population is Likely to Have a Few Wrinkles

By George Galeener

Staff Writer

When I first started my college experience in 1981, I sheepishly entered the classroom to find that I was not only older than the instructor, but that the majority of students were older than me. I vividly remember thinking how quickly I was going to age. Twenty years later, I’m still a student in the ivy-bordered halls of higher education, but something has changed. I’m surrounded by a growing number of students who can also remember when I vividly can, the tragic day that President Kennedy was shot. As the years have progressed, I feel less self-conscious about my age. The number of mid-career adults appearing in classroom has increased. This type of non-traditional student is called a re-entry student.

Thinking of skipping? You’re not alone; only 60 of Flores’ clients do—but only a handful of those elude his realm completely. A rein that under California law requires him to find you within 180 days or pay the entire bond to the court. A bond: that once forfeited, will find him securing your collateral property. Flores and his father, Manuel, have tracked down clients even into the dusty streets of Mexico. One unrecorded bail bond that could have been a problem for students is not listed in that.

Before planning a prank that may find you in the slammer, think bail. A minimum bond these days runs $15,000. At 10% a head, that’s a minimum of $1,500. No matter how you look at it, that’s one hefty cover charge.

Wanted: Talented Writers to Write Features or Feature Related Stories.

Contact Monica @ (909) 889-5299 or e-mail mcscheron@csusb.edu

It’s My Perspective—by George!

The GRAYING of DIVERSITY:

Face of Student Population is Likely to Have a Few Wrinkles

By George Galeener

Staff Writer

When I first started my college experience in 1981, I sheepishly entered the classroom to find that I was not only older than the instructor, but that the majority of students were older than me. I vividly remember thinking how quickly I was going to age. Twenty years later, I’m still a student in the ivy-bordered halls of higher education, but something has changed. I’m surrounded by a growing number of students who can also remember when I vividly can, the tragic day that President Kennedy was shot. As the years have progressed, I feel less self-conscious about my age. The number of mid-career adults appearing in classroom has increased. This type of non-traditional student is called a re-entry student.

Ask the typical re-entry student (if typical can be defined) about the reasons for entering college at an older age, and you’ll get a broad range of answers. They are as diverse as their varying ages and experiences. If asked about their hopes after finishing at Cal State, the answers will be somewhat similar to those of younger students, but you might be surprised to hear about second or third professional transitions. Their reasons for change may vary and their hopes are real, but the re-entry student continues to be a growing phenomenon across the nation’s campuses. Cal State is no different.

In the weeks ahead, I’ll take a closer look at the typical re-entry student, the elusive definition of re-entry, the different roads leading to Cal State, the reasons and goals of many, and a few student profiles. Until then, don’t let your “57 Chevy sit in the rain; that’s real chrome in the bumpers.”

Wanted: Talented Writers to Write Features or Feature Related Stories.

Contact Monica @ (909) 889-5299 or e-mail mcscheron@csusb.edu

Building Bridges for Business Success 2001

A conference for Women Saturday, March 3

7 am to 4 pm

Cal State San Bernardino Commons Ballroom

For information call Robbie Motter

(909) 679-8048

Keynote Speaker

Conchita Fábolo

President of National Association for Female Executives (NAFE)

For a registration form go to www.greenline.org or call Robbie Motter

1-888-244-4420

(909) 679-8048

By Christy Selter

Staff Writer

Twenty-two points, plus triple-word-score, plus fifty points for using all my letters. Game’s over. I’m outta here.

Imagine your cute frat prank wasn’t as cute as you first thought? Now you find yourself and your fellow pranksters gaazing at streetlights from the back of a patrol car.

You, my friend, have just entered the bail bond brokers’ world. Once those cell doors clank shut, you might want to call Robert Flores, from Flores Bail Bonds—one of the oldest bail bond companies in San Bernardino and Riverside counties. If Flores determines you’d make a good client, and you’re not likely to bail on bail, he’ll bail you out. But nothing, my friend, is free, and neither is bail.

Flores will likely ask you to pay 10% of your bail, and post collateral for the remaining 90% in the unlikely event you skip. By Christy Selter

Staff Writer

Thinking of skipping? You’re not alone; only 60 of Flores’ clients do—but only a handful of those elude his realm completely. A rein that under California law requires him to find you within 180 days or pay the entire bond to the court. A bond: that once forfeited, will find him securing your collateral property. Flores and his father, Manuel, have tracked down clients even into the dusty streets of Mexico. One unrecorded bail bond that could have been a problem for students is not listed in that.

Before planning a prank that may find you in the slammer, think bail. A minimum bond these days runs $15,000. At 10% a head, that’s a minimum of $1,500. No matter how you look at it, that’s one hefty cover charge.

Wanted: Talented Writers to Write Features or Feature Related Stories.

Contact Monica @ (909) 889-5299 or e-mail mcscheron@csusb.edu

Building Bridges for Business Success 2001

A conference for Women Saturday, March 3

7 am to 4 pm

Cal State San Bernardino Commons Ballroom

For information call Robbie Motter

1-888-244-4420

(909) 679-8048

Keynote speaker

Conchita Fábolo

President of National Association for Female Executives (NAFE)

For a registration form go to www.greenline.org or call Robbie Motter

1-888-244-4420

(909) 679-8048

By Christy Selter

Staff Writer

Twenty-two points, plus triple-word-score, plus fifty points for using all my letters. Game’s over. I’m outta here.

Imagine your cute frat prank wasn’t as cute as you first thought? Now you find yourself and your fellow pranksters gaazing at streetlights from the back of a patrol car.

You, my friend, have just entered the bail bond brokers’ world. Once those cell doors clank shut, you might want to call Robert Flores, from Flores Bail Bonds—one of the oldest bail bond companies in San Bernardino and Riverside counties. If Flores determines you’d make a good client, and you’re not likely to bail on bail, he’ll bail you out. But nothing, my friend, is free, and neither is bail.

Flores will likely ask you to pay 10% of your bail, and post collateral for the remaining 90% in the unlikely event you skip. By Christy Selter

Staff Writer

Thinking of skipping? You’re not alone; only 60 of Flores’ clients do—but only a handful of those elude his realm completely. A rein that under California law requires him to find you within 180 days or pay the entire bond to the court. A bond: that once forfeited, will find him securing your collateral property. Flores and his father, Manuel, have tracked down clients even into the dusty streets of Mexico. One unrecorded bail bond that could have been a problem for students is not listed in that.

Before planning a prank that may find you in the slammer, think bail. A minimum bond these days runs $15,000. At 10% a head, that’s a minimum of $1,500. No matter how you look at it, that’s one hefty cover charge.

Wanted: Talented Writers to Write Features or Feature Related Stories.

Contact Monica @ (909) 889-5299 or e-mail mcscheron@csusb.edu
Lights, Camera, Action

Annual Student Academy Awards Competition is open to Cal State San Bernardino students

By Heather Bishop
Chronicle Staff

Who would like to win an Academy Award? Although this question may seem absurd, the Academy of Motion Picture and Sciences (the people who vote on Oscars) are inviting college students across the country to do just that.

This year marks the 28th Annual Student Academy Awards competition, a competition where college students, like you, submit original films in hopes of winning money and an impressive Student Oscar. Outside the competition, winners may end up with agents, connections and for the luckless in love, a casting coach.

The competition is divided into three regions nation-wide, each film will compete regionally. All regional winners will compete in nationals held in Beverly Hills, California. Films can be entered into one of four categories; alternative, animation, documentary, or narrative. First prize in each category is $5,000. This year marks the first time that entries will only be accepted on VHS video tape (regional winners will then have to provide a 16mm or larger format).

Past winners include Spike Lee, Trey Parker and Oscar winner John Lasseter.

An Application form is available online at the Academy’s website, or by mail request (include a stamped self addressed business sized envelope) at: Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences 8949 Wilshire Boulevard Beverly Hills, CA 90211 Entries are due by April 2, 2001 before 5p.m. Put away those pencils and books and get out your scripts and cameras.

World of Reggae Exhibit is at the Queen Mary

By Shawn Cobb
Chronicle Staff

To thousands of fans, Bob Marley is not just a musician from the past he is a legend. Throughout the month of February there are various festivities designed to pay tribute to Marley in recognition of his birthday.

Global Treasures is paying tribute with The World of Reggae featuring Bob Marley housed in the English Village at the Queen Mary in Long Beach. It will last throughout the summer ending on Sept. 30.

The pieces displayed in the exhibit have been selected from the collection of reggae guru Roger Steffens. The pieces cover a span of forty years of Rastafarian culture beginning with the arrival of Ska in the early 1960s. Eras of Rock Steady, Reggae, Dub, DJ (rap), Lovers Rock, Two tone, Ska Revival, Dub Poetry, Dancehall and Raggamuffin are also included in the exhibit.

The World of Reggae featuring Bob Marley is a marvelous exhibition of the intense life and rich culture that Bob Marley contributed to the world of music and the expression of social injustice through rhythms. The exhibit is open daily from 10a.m. until 6p.m., and admission is $10 per person, all ages. Hours may be extended if the crowds demand.

Global Treasures is the exhibition Management Company. The Pasadena based Curatorial Assistance designed and created the exhibits layout. One area of the display showcases nearly 1,000 individually mounted album covers and several 7-inch vinyl singles signed by the respective artists. Musical spotlights illuminate the major performers. Visitors have the option of viewing two dozen areas displaying hundreds of posters, original photographs, fliers, t-shirts, post cards, magazines, books, banners, bumper stickers, buttons, and tons of reggae memorabilia from some of its most prominent figures.

The introductory portion of the exhibit shows a film illustrating the mini-history of the different styles of Reggae music. There is also a screening on the life story of Bob Marley, whose Exodus album recently won Time magazines "Best Album of the Twentieth Century" and received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. Portrayals of prominent musicians such as The World of Reggae featuring Bob Marley help preserve the various cultures and expressions of worldwide artistic performance.
Eve 6 to play Gotham

By Matt Schoenmann
A&E Editor

Alternative band Eve 6 along with VAST will be playing San Bernardino’s Club Gotham on Feb. 17. Both of these bands are touring in support of their recent studio releases. Gotham is one of the smaller venues that the bands will be performing at. This stop on the tour is squeezed between dates at the San Diego Epicenter and the Fillmore in San Francisco.

Eve 6 is made up of Max Collins on bass and vocals, Jon Siebels on drums and vocals and Tony Fagenson on guitar and vocals. Their hook filled, catchy, three cord songs have become a perfect fit for alternative radio stations. Their rise to fame began rapidly after their RCA Records self titled debut album, produced hits like “Inside Out,” which was subsequently played to death on the radio.

Vast may be a better contender for longevity in the music business. Fronted by singer-guitar player Jon Crosby, Vast is touring in support of their sophomore effort “Music for People.” Growing up as a child in Humboldt County, Crosby had little to do but turn to music. After moving south to San Francisco he joined a Guitar workshop and as a result of giving a demo tape to a record company executive, Crosby was profiled in Guitar Player magazine at the age of 16.

Now at 23 Crosby’s songwriting has become more introspective. His large variety of influences, such as the Talking Heads, Bob Dylan and the Sex Pistols, has produced an array of sounds.

For alternative music fans Gotham would be the place to be on Feb. 17. Gotham is located on 295 E. Caroline in San Bernardino.

Great banking sounds better with a Sony gift.

This ad w ill get you a Free Sony Music Gift Certificate* good for a Sony music CD or video when you sign up for these convenient Wells Fargo bank ing services.

The Student Package
• Student Checking
• Free Visa Card
• ATM & Check Card
• Free Direct Deposit Access and much more.

Wells Fargo
The Next Stage

296 W. Highland Ave.
San Bernardino, CA
92405

©2001 Wells Fargo Bank. All Rights Reserved.
Superbowl Continued from page 11—

swarm of stretching spandex on his heels. This must have been a strategic move because if I was being chased by a colossal spandex crew, especially one as pudgy as these guys, I’d run the other way too. The spandex swarm toppled the guy holding the ball until it was one big bunch of lycra-turf. Then they got up and did it all again.

Before the first quarter ended, I was so thoroughly confused I left Michael to his pigskin, spandex, and fashion unconscious players. Since each quarter is only 15 minutes long, I figured he’d emerge from his cave dwelling within 45 minutes or so. This was my final lesson in Super Bowl football and time keeping.

It seems nothing is as I “would imagine” it on a football field – not even time. It was 3 hours before Michael emerged from his Super Bowl induced trance.

From there, we watched a renegade bunch of “survivors” get on each other’s nerves. Survivor, I understood. XXX Super Bowl, I’m afraid I never will, maybe next year.

Radio Continued from page 1—

“Show,” said Scarborough. “At first, I felt stupid talking to myself, but once I was being heard on the Internet, it turned out to be a great experience.”

“There are many things going on with Coyote Radio,” said Hayes. “We have all types of music genres. We even have new artists and bands that no one has

Trustee Continued from page 1—

The two student trustees serve overlapping two year terms. The first year trustee serves as a non voting trustee, while the second year trustee has voting privileges. In the second year, the non voting student trustee replaces the voting trustee, and a new non voting trustee is appointed.

Neel Murarka from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo is currently serving as the non voting student trustee until the end of his term in June. Daniel Cartwright from CSU Stanislaus is currently serving as the non voting trustee, and will begin his one year term as a voting student trustee in July.

The student trustees attend bi-monthly meetings of the Board of Trustees interim subcommittee meetings, and monthly CSSA board meetings. The trustees set policies that guide the CSU system and campuses.

The CSU is the largest four year university in the country. It includes 23 campuses throughout the state, enrolls nearly 370,000 students, employs more than 40,000 faculty and staff, and has approximately 2,000,000 alumni. For more information visit www.calstate.edu.

We offer all the services you need in the real world:

Birth Control
Family Planning
Teen Clinics
Education
Emergency Contraception
Male Services
STD Testing
Abortion Services
Low Cost & Confidential
For the clinic nearest you: 1-800-230-PLAN

Planned Parenthood
Orange and San Bernardino Counties
www.plannedparenthoodOSBC.org

Need to sell something?
Want to buy?
Come check out our classifieds.
To inquire about our rates call: 880-5185

Would you like to get involved with your campus?
Write for the chronicle.
Call: 880-5289
Juniors

 ✓ Are you interested in public policy?
 ✓ Planning to go to graduate school?
 ✓ Committed to underserved communities?

THE GOLDMAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY

AT UC BERKELEY

Invites you to apply to the

UC Public Policy and International Affairs (UCPPIA)

2001 Summer Institute

July 17 - August 4, 2001

This rigorous and highly-selective seven-week program offers coursework designed to improve skills vital to success at top-level graduate programs. Eligible students must have at least junior standing, with a minimum of one full semester or two quarters remaining before graduation. Participants receive a $1000 stipend, room and board, books, and travel expenses, plus $5000 in fellowship aid for participating graduate schools.

http://gppb.berkeley.edu/

E-mail: ucppia-berkeley@socrates.berkeley.edu

Correction: The 2001 Summer Institute is scheduled for June 17 - August 4, 2001

CLASSIFIEDS

SUMMER OF YOUR LIFE-- Camp Wayne, NE PA. Counselor Specialists for all Land/Water Sports.

Tennis; Golf; Outdoor Adventure- Climbing/Ropes, Camping, Mt Biking; Sailing/Waterskiing; Roller Hockey; Rocketry, A & C, Drama, Radio, Video;

RN. Camps Interviews TUES., APR 3. Call 1-888-549-2963; www.campwayne.com; email: info@campwayne.com.

Earn $$$ promoting artists like Nine Inch Nails, Foo Fighters, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Eminem, & The Crystal Method. No experience necessary. Visit www.noizepollution.com for info and then call Mindy @ 800-996-1816.

Spring Break

Best deals to Cancun, Cabo, and Rosarito Beach.

Call 1-888-295-5669.

www.mexicospringbreak.com
This Week In Coyote Athletics

Lance Cook
Sports Editor

Women's Basketball

The Coyotes (11-6 overall, 6-6 in the CCAA) host San Francisco State (5-12, 1-11) on Friday night and then face Sonoma State (11-7, 7-5) on Saturday night in Coussoulis Arena. Both games start at 5:45 p.m. The Coyotes beat both teams in the first round of CCAA action earlier this season.

Golf

Coach Greg Price's team played in the Point Loma Nazarene Tournament on Feb. 5 at East Lake Country Club in the San Diego area in its first 2001 outing. The team will be facing some of the best golf teams Southern California has to offer, Division 1 schools like San Diego State but they feel good about their abilities.

Women's Tennis

Coach Tom Starzky's team plays its first dual match of the season on Friday at Biola University. The coach Greg Price's team plays in the Point Loma Nazarene Tournament on Feb. 5 at East Lake Country Club in the San Diego area in its first 2001 outing. The team will be facing some of the best golf teams Southern California has to offer, Division 1 schools like San Diego State but they feel good about their abilities.

Easy Ways to get A's

The Seminar to REDUCE your Study Time & INCREASE your G.P.A.

THE SEMINAR

The Easy Ways to get A's method is a unique, personal, whole person study method which virtually eliminates the drudgery and boredom of traditional study methods. You will select from a toolbox of techniques, a shopping list of personalized techniques to learn more quickly and efficiently. You will adapt tools to suit your personality, body clock, likes and dislikes to maximize your intellectual ability.

Over 7,000 students have adopted this program and achieved significant improvement in their grade point averages while spending much less active study time than ever before.

PRESENTATION

The seminar will consist of a three hour workshop and lecture during which you will be taught new, candid, and revealing insights into how to improve your grades.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Learn why you forget and how not to forget.
- Learn the secrets of moving grades from C's to A's with no increase or less active study time.
- Self-Analysis techniques.
- Personal Conditioning
- Setting up courses, professors, and competing with other students.
- Scheduling time.
- Easy Ways to Get A's routines:
  - Secrets of reading, note taking, and remembering.
  - Dynamic use of all senses.
  - Examination success strategies.
  - Writing skills and test techniques.
- Study Dynamics® success manual.
- GUARANTEE

Study Dynamics warrants that a student will achieve a significant improvement in academic grade point average. Full warranty details will be provided at the seminar.

PRESENTERS

Dr. Thomas C. Rohrer  Dr. Ian Dinmore
BSBA, MBA, Ph.D., CWA, CFM  BA, MA, PH.D.

A SEMINAR SERIES PRESENTED BY THE STUDY DYNAMICS® INSTITUTE

If you enjoy sports and want to write about them, contact Lance at the Chronicle office at 880-5289.
I admit it, I know nothing about football or the, what’s it called, Super Bowl. But this year, I was determined to learn. When I announced my intention to my husband, Michael, he made no attempt to hide his harrowing groan. During our eight years of marriage, I’d tried this before, never successfully. This year, I assured him it would be different.

I knew football was difficult and the Super Bowl, extreme. After all, there were three X’s and a V before it this year. I’m pretty sure the X’s indicate the degree of difficulty, at least that’s what I assume each time I drive past an adult bookstore in downtown San Bernardino. With that many X’s, I’m sure you’d have to be a MENSA member to understand the subject matter. This Super Bowl, I guessed would be just as tough to understand.

Determined to understand the intricacies of the game, I asked Michael how many strikes and spares he thought each team would make during the bowl. Glaring at me, I knew he would be no help in my attempts at Super Bowl edification. I was on my own.

The players for each team were announced. I didn’t think they looked ready for bowling, but I was trying to be open minded about the whole thing. I wonder however, if they bothered to look in the mirror before they left home. If I could offer only one tip to these super bowlers, it would be: "Spandex, boys, should be reserved for Richard Simons or the well-toned." But, no one asked my opinion. Still, I wondered who they thought they were fooling with the "falsities" under their shirts. Isn’t that a high-school girl’s shenanigan?

After the players, they introduced the referees. If the players didn’t take the time to look in the mirror, the refs made it painfully obvious they couldn’t be bothered. For their sake, I only hope Blackwell didn’t watch the Super Bowl - I’m sure he’d have something to say about the mixing of vertical and horizontal stripes. And then there’s the 80’s retro casual white britches. I knew I was in for a long game.

Soon, a coin was tossed. The game began. I expected to see pins and a gutter on either side of the field. Instead it was a lawn with a species of grass unlike any I’d ever seen. It was green (OK, I’ve seen green), blue and white - all manicured to perfection. And at the two opposite ends were huge metal posts.

The players gathered at the center of the field with an awkward shaped oval ball. I wasn’t sure how they’d manage much foot action with this thing they called a pig skin. This was getting very confusing - it didn’t much look like pigskin.

Before I knew it, they threw the ball. A player caught it and ran while trying desperately to dodge a

---

Super Bowl
Continue on page 8

---

we throw all kinds of [obstacles] at you.tuition isn't one of them.

Sure, we'll have you climbing walls. But if you qualify for a 2- or 3-year scholarship, tuition's one obstacle you won't have to worry about. Talk to an Army ROTC rep. And get a leg up on your future.

ARMY ROTC
Unlike any other college course you can take.

Scholarship Opportunities Available! Call: (909) 621-8102

---

Jersey's Pizza
TUESDAY & THURSDAY
IS
CSUSB DISCOUNT NIGHTS

50% OFF
Any Pizza

When you present your CSUSB I.D. Card
After 6:00 p.m. • Dine in only

Limit one Pizza per I.D. • Specialty Pizzas Excluded
Coyotes Top Broncos
CSUSB Defeats Pomona for Second Time in a Week

Lance Cook
Sports Editor

On Saturday night, January 27th, the Cal State San Bernardino Men's basketball team was able to defeat the Broncos of Cal Poly Pomona for the second time in just 72 hours, this time winning by a 12 point margin, 68-56. Whatever Head Coach Larry Reynolds said to the team at half-time seemed to work because the Coyotes outscored the Broncos by 14 in the second half en route to the victory. The Coyotes got a huge lift in the game by back up center Brady Bennett who came off the bench and scored 27 points, along with eight rebounds and three assists to lead the team to victory. Chris Mattice also had a big night for the Coyotes scoring 17 points on 4 of 9 shooting from behind the arc. With the win, the Coyotes improved their overall record to 15-1, and 5th in the NCAA/NABC Division II standings poll which came out on Monday. The Coyotes still sit in first place in the CCAA division, with a two game cushion over second place Cal State Bakersfield.

This weekend, the Coyotes will welcome San Francisco State (3-14, 1-11) to Coussoulis Arena on Friday night and Sonoma State (9-8, 6-6) on Saturday Night. Two teams that the Coyotes beat earlier in the season.

Baseball Team Opens Season With Win

Lance Cook
Sports Editor

The Cal State San Bernardino Men's baseball team used a big effort from their pitching staff and timely hitting by freshman catcher Brian Schweiger to open their 2001 season with a 9-1 victory over California Baptist College of Riverside at Fiscalini Field. Rerude was the starting pitcher for the Coyotes and went five strong innings allowing just three hits and the lone unearned run which was set up by his own error on a pickoff attempt at first base.

In the first inning, the Coyotes left the bases loaded unable to put points on the scoreboard. Able to bounce back however, the Coyotes exploded for four runs in the third inning off Lancers starter Tony Orozco.

After Brandon Thomas singled and stole second, Matt Swayden sent him home with another single. Matt Rohr singled to right, sending Swayden to third. Schweiger followed with a sacrifice fly to to score Swayden. After Rohr stole second, Keith Haughn tripled off the wall in right to bring in Rohr. Chris McAllen made it 4-1 with a single to drive in Haughn.

The Coyotes were able to put the game out of reach in the sixth when Schweiger, who fanned for the final out in the first, came through with a two-out double with the bases loaded to extend the lead to 8-1.

The Coyotes tacked on their ninth run in the seventh on a single by Thomas and a double by Rabusin.

"Our pitching was pretty good today," said Coach Don Parrell. "Hitting wise it was pretty good but we left to many men on base. We’re not going to get those kind of situations often so we have to take advantage of them."

The Coyotes go on the road for their next game, facing Azusa Pacific at 3 p.m. Wednesday before returning to Fiscalini for non-conference games against U.C Davis on Feb. 2 and Mesa State of Colorado on Feb. 3.