Distinguished Lecturer Series

"ETHICS AND SIN IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA," TOPIC OF NOTED COLUMNIST-LECTURER SEIDENBAUM

A noted California-watcher, author and city-life interpreter will present his views on "Ethics and Sin in Southern California," at a lecture to be presented on campus Tuesday, January 30.

Art Seidenbaum, Los Angeles Times book editor and former columnist, has been invited by the Distinguished Lecturer and Artist Committee and the CSCSB English Department. The lecture, free of charge and open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Creative Arts Building. (Note: The location is changed from that listed in the Winter Quarter Events Calendar.)

Drawing from his 17 years as a columnist interpreting the Los Angeles scene for the Times, he is expected to present an objective evaluation of Los Angeles, from architectural and cultural perspectives, according to Raymond Prier, CSCSB English faculty member who is instrumental in arranging the lecture.

In addition to his career as a columnist, for 10 years Mr. Seidenbaum served as moderator for programs on KCET, community television from Los Angeles. He received an Emmy Award in 1972 for "Citywatchers," a program co-hosted with Charles Champlin, Times entertainment editor.

The latest of Seidenbaum's two books is "This is California -- Please Keep Out," published in 1975. His earlier book, "Confrontation on Campus," is a collection of Times articles on California colleges.

In addition to the public lecture, Seidenbaum will meet with Dr. Prier's Humanities Class, "Moral and Ethical Values of Los Angeles," in a special afternoon session.

VOLUNTEERS WHO SPEAK DIALECTS
AND FOREIGN TONGUES SOUGHT

A Language Sample Tape Library which, when developed, could have a bank of recorded samples of foreign languages and dialects, as well as English dialects, is in the process of being developed by Ralph Carlson, Lect., English. The project is being funded by a minigrant awarded by the CSCSB Minigrant on Improvement of and Innovations in Education Committee.

Also planned are instructional tapes to assist in learning basic concepts of phonology, especially contrastive study of the sound systems of different languages or dialects. Students could drill themselves on phonetic alphabets or practice pronunciation of the several languages taught at the College.

Dr. Carlson is in need of volunteers who could give a couple of hours of their time to assist in scripting and recording a representative sample of their first language or home dialect. Those interested are asked to contact Dr. Carlson, CA-184, 10:15-11:15 MWTh, Ext. 7473. Also, faculty who are interested in using the material are asked to make known their interests and needs so that the material can be designed for maximum usefulness.
