Threat of Murder of Bradley Stuns Family

Marland Bradley, 16, was found dead Wednesday at his home in the city's north end, and police were searching for four people they say were involved in the murder.

Marland, who lived at 16th Street and E Street, was shot several times, and police said they believe the murder was connected to a gang rivalry.

Police said they had been investigating a series of shootings in the area, and they believe Marland was targeted because he was a member of a gang.

Police said they were working to identify the four people who were with Marland at the time of the shooting.

The shooting occurred at about 1 a.m. Wednesday, and police said they believe the shooter was a male wearing a black shirt and pants.

The shooting took place near a school district office, and police said they were looking for witnesses who might have seen the shooter.

Police said they had not yet determined whether the shooting was gang-related or not.

Marland's family expressed their shock and grief over his death, and they urged the community to come together to support one another in times of tragedy.

"We are heartbroken," said Marland's mother, who declined to give her name. "Our son was a good kid, and he had a bright future ahead of him."

Marland's father, who also declined to give his name, said he was struggling to come to terms with the loss.

"I don't know how to explain this to my family," he said. "My son was my everything."

Marland was a member of the local youth gang, and he had been involved in a number of altercations with other members of the gang.

Police said they were investigating a number of other incidents in the area, and they urged anyone with information to come forward.

"If you have any information about these incidents, please call us," said Lieut. John Thompson, who is leading the investigation. "We need your help to keep our streets safe."
Boardrooms Remain “Overwhelmingly White Male”

By Frank Swoboda

Thirty years after implementation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and 15 years after Title VII guaranteed employment opportunity to all Americans, there are still a shocking number of chief executives in our nation’s corporations are still overwhelmingly a “white male” phenomenon, according to government commission reports.

The Glass Ceiling Commission recently reported that at the time when more than half of the nation’s largest companies are now owned or controlled by women, 95% of the Fortune 1000 industrial and Fortune 500 companies are men and women of 9%.

The 20-member, bipartisan commission was created by Congress, and its report claims that both Civil Rights Act and the laws that keep women and minorities out of the top management ranks of most major US corporations. “It means no one is of an enigmatic denial of social participation because it is not in the population, but a serious economic problem that takes a huge financial toll on American business,” says Robert B. Reich, the commission chairman, in his introduction to the report. “Equity demands that we destroy the glass ceiling. Social business demands it as well...”

According to the report, a survey of the nation’s largest corporations showed that... African-American men with professional degrees earn 21% less than their white counterparts...

“The glass ceiling is a reality in corporate America,” stated Frank Swoboda, who had carried out the report on an additional charge. The organizers had nine days to pay their fees, or else the report would not be published.

DEAR EDITOR:

First, I thank God that you have persevered to magnificently report that L. Freeman, who has been a leader in the Black Voice News. You have used this invaluable and historic instrument to keep citizens of this country informed regarding noteworthy efforts and actions by those citizens, which create a new world of opportunity for you to...”

Swoboda also said that at a time when more than half of the nation’s largest companies are now owned or controlled by women, “a new world” has emerged, with a “glass ceiling” that keeps women and minorities out of the top management ranks of most major US corporations.

This word of appreciation from me to you is long overdue, but I feel that it is necessary to go on, especially during this week of giving and giving... You are more than welcome to... The Black Voice does a job of giving love and support to the community in a very positive manner.”

This is the last issue of the Black Voice News. The newsstand ended our printing run six years ago. It will be a very difficult issue for us to enter... The word of appreciation from me to you is long overdue, but I feel that it is necessary to go on, especially during this week of giving and giving... You are more than welcome to... The Black Voice does a job of giving love and support to the community in a very positive manner.”

The Underground Railroad As an educator I appreciated this as a walk through history that we all need, students and adults alike. “The Black Voice News is a tool of education, it is a tool of entertainment. You are more than welcome to... The Black Voice does a job of giving love and support to the community in a very positive manner.”

Black Cowboys Again, not just youngsters, but everyone in the community needed to know that Black men were some of the toughest and toughest Cowboys, and good at horse riding in the old West.

Finally your latest Highlighting our Men in the Armed Services, who have loved this country and its ideals of freedom and democracy enough to fight and give their lives for it, again, The Black Voice gave us the opportunity, through the lives of these incredible young soldiers, to learn what a community should be about, and that is to lovingly and generously give to each other...”

DEAR EDITOR:

As an educator I look for examples of Life Models for future citizens, our children. Black Voice News is an excellent example of Community Action. You have created an opportunity that gives the community a chance to see what a community should be about, and that is to lovingly and generously give to each other...”

Computing 101: Exploring The Internet.

By Lisa Doggett

Greetings from cyberspace! Getting on-line may seem daunting at first. Many people are frightened by the vastness of the Internet. You may say, "I don't know what it is, where to go or what to do when I get there." I'm here to tell you to relax and jump into that new frontier.

Here are the basics you will need to connect—a telephone, a modem, an imagination, and an online service provider. (America Online, Delphi, CompuServe, Microsoft Network), just to name a few.

I once had a co-worker of mine say he got bored on the Internet. I smiled, thinking to myself that you can never become bored on the Internet. I love spending time on the Internet. I'm not just a weekend surfer, I surf there during the week too. It is a great way to get information, libraries, entertainment, and communication. (America Online, Delphi, CompuServe, Microsoft Network) are just a few of the places you can go to connect to the Internet. I never thought I would use the Internet for any information, but now I do.

Mega Trouble

By Dr. Ernest Levister, M.D.

Vitamin C is a popular nutrient that is taken in some form by almost everyone. It functions as an antioxidant - it neutralizes free radicals that would otherwise damage cells. Vitamin C can act as a pro-oxidant and potentially cause cellular damage. Its role is to neutralize free radicals. People who smoke or who drink coffee also interfere with vitamin C absorption leading to iron absorption leading to iron deficiency anemia. High doses of vitamin C may also interfere with anticoagulant medication, cause kidney stones in some people and results in false negatives in fecal occult blood tests for colon cancer.

Iron. Up to 75 mg of iron is safe for most adults except those with hemochromatosis. Iron toxicity is a concern for these people and for young children. In addition, males in general do not absorb as much iron as women. The ideal is 15 mg for menstruating women and 10 mg for non-menstruating women.

Prenatal Care Is Important For The Future Of Our Community

Every African-American baby is born full of possibilities. He or she could become the President, a scientist who discovers the cure for cancer; or a business leader who creates jobs in the community. Yet every year, African-American babies die at extremely high rates; or are born with problems they will have for the rest of their lives. These children may never have the chance to realize their potential.

If a pregnant woman doesn't get prenatal care, it could mean the difference between life and death for her baby. And those babies whose mothers don't get prenatal care could be born blind, deaf, with respiratory difficulties, or other hearing problems.

So if you know a woman who pregnant, or if you are one yourself, ask her to come tonight. Let her know that smoking, drinking and using drugs can harm her unborn child. Make sure she's getting prenatal care. The State of California can help her with this. Call the Baby Clinics Program in her area. The future of her baby and our community is at stake.

The Road That Led To Somewhere

The Underground Terminus

Dr. Bryan E. Walls in the end of the UGR.

The Museum is in receipt of a letter from the Stout's dated December 19, 1854. It was in response to a letter from Jane telling them she would help anyone fleeing slavery. This is the story of African Canadahas a map to the Walls home. They found their way and brought freedom to the Stout’s.

John and Jane had six children together, Henry, the firstborn of their union married Blacks, one never married, and Daniel Jr. died as an act of mercy. John and Jane traveled to Canada before long. As they had done before, when they were stopped by slave catchers he became her slave who was sent with her to her husband to visit relatives. They feel the world would be a better place if only people showed the love for each other that Jane and John showed. They are God fearing Christians and working hard to preserve the heritage of the family. “This generation, my family is doing what we can. Our uncles, brothers, sisters and others are doing what we can. When we die our children will take it to another level,” said Bryan Walls.

In our particular society, it is the narrowed and narrowing view of life that often wins.

Dr. Wong Ta-Li Alseoldem combines and teaches spiritual, physical and mental awareness.

There is something in everyone of us that waits and listens for the sound of the gong in our ear. It is the only true path you can ever take.

If you cannot hear it, you will all your life go on only in the end of things that somebody else paid.

Branady Finds It Hard Being A Typical Teen

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Pop star Branady would like to be a typical teen-ager, but with a recording career and a new role in a TV series, she finds it a little difficult.

"Socially, it's hard, but I really enjoy what I'm doing," the 16-year-old said. "I still have friends ... real friends ... who have been with me since before anything happened to me."

Branady has found fame quickly. Her debut album, "Branady," has sold more than 3 million copies since its September 1994 release, and her show, "Sitting Up in My Room," is featured in the hit film "Clueless.

And if that wasn't enough, she stars in the sitcom "Moonbeams," which premiers on UPN Jan. 22.

Calvin And Hobbes Signs Off Of Comics Page

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Calvin and Hobbes rode into an unknown future Sunday as they took a final sled ride together.

The creator of the characters, Bill Watterson, decided earlier this year that he would end all of his comic strips.

McCoO's Broadway Debut Is A Dream Come True

Performing at the Carlyle Hotel in New York this summer, Marilyn McCoo sang a string of Broadway songs by saying how wonderful it's been to have had the chance to do just about anything she'd ever dreamed of as a performer, from singing to acting. Yet, she concluded, had she had one dream still unfulfilled — to star in a Broadway show. Until now, the audience that night was one of the properties involved in casting the soon-to-open Broadway revival of Show Boat.

On September 26, 1995, McCoo made her Broadway debut in the legendary musical playing the tragic Julie La Verne who sings Can't Help Saning In the Rain and "I've Never Been Movin'."

"The two most important songs in my career have been about a man named Bill," says McCoo, who sang The Fifth Dimension's Wedding Bell Blues to another Bill, "My Husband, Jack."

"I've laughed and cried over that name." It's not the only coincidence in point to the show. The Saucer, the biggest hit for The Fifth Dimension, is which the band's founding member, evolved from the Broadway musical Hair.

Show Boat, McCoo replaces the departing Loretta McKe, who was with the show for two years (one on Broadway). Show Boat won McCoo three 1995 Tony Awards, including Best Revival of a Musical, and at the Gemini Awards. The theater has repeatedly broken the Broadway box office record for the highest weekly gross in history. The Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein II musical, produced by Garth Drabinsky and directed by Hal Prince, spans four generations in 1930s America and encompasses gospel, opera, blues, rhythm and jazz on its journey on the Cotton Blossom, from Mississippi to Chicago and back again.

Ironically, McCoo had never seen Show Boat on stage until she was flown by the producers and director to Toronto, where the show opened, for an audition. "It was nervous," admits McCoo. "But I was excited too because I was being seen by theatrical impresario Garth Drabinsky and director Hal Prince, who is synonymous with hit Broadway shows."

She was actually signed in October 1994 but didn't know where they planned to use her. "In New York, or a different city. In late August of this year, she was called to New York to begin rehearsals and the next month made her debut on Broadway. "The first show, I just wanted it to be over with. It was scary. Fortunately, I didn't forget any lines or lines and I remembered the lyrics. Thankfully, I walked into a situation where everyone knew what they were doing. Everyone was so wonderful and made it as easy as possible."

Of course, McCoo wasn't a noophie either. For the past 10 years, she's appeared in various musicals. She made her theatrical debut in 1985 in A...My Name Is Alice and has since performed in Anything Goes, Dreamgirls, Man of La Mancha and Into The Woods. From Miami to Los Angeles, from Mississippi to North Carolina, "I had hoped these shows would lead to a Broadway opportunity. Yet, in any case, I felt that if I was serious about my dream then I needed experience. You don't just walk out onto a Broadway stage."

A Man's Gotta Do, What A Man's Gotta Do

What happens when the son of an upstanding Black preacher, gains the daughter of the infamous Italian Mafia patriarch? You won't believe it until you see it for yourself. If Lip Land Productions presents a hilarious cross-cultural play that will tickle the funny of everyone. The name of this brand new play is What A Man's Gotta Do, and it's full of humor, heart, and plenty of hip hop.

This exciting and intriguing musical play is written and produced by San Bernardino's own Dr. Rodney Fearmore, who has brought us You Can't Keep A Woman Down. Some of the talent for this first class production include Wade Ford of Kase Linda, as young boy Peterson and the beautiful and talented model Tracy Moore, a long time San Bernardino resident as Mickey Martinez. The play deals with the problem of an unplanned pregnancy and titles to lend advice to young people who find themselves facing this age old proving problem. Rocky is a nice lad with a promising future in real estate who finds out he and his girlfriend are expecting a baby.

They struggle with the idea of 1) Can't Keep A Woman Down plays the role of Bishop John while the compassionate mediator in this production. (Waiting to Exhale)"

The play kicks off Black History Month 1996 and promises tickets will be sold at the door 2 p.m. and 4th at 3:00 p.m. at the Sturgis Center for the Fine Arts in San Bernardino. Tickets are available at the Performing Information Center (909) 383-2226 or $15 in advance and $18 at the door one hour prior to showtime. Call L R. Land Productions at (909) 341-5740 for more information.
