The union representing faculty members at California State University, Fresno, and 22 other CSU campuses has taken initial steps toward calling for a strike-authorization vote. In a letter to its members, the California Faculty Association’s board said it plans to schedule meetings on each campus soon after the spring term begins this month. At the same time, the union and CSU administrators are preparing for the last part of a bargaining process for a contract to replace one that expired June 30.

In that phase, required by state law, a fact-finding panel will examine the issues, take testimony and evidence, and issue recommendations for a settlement.

The panel is to consist of one representative from each side, plus a chairperson appointed by the state Public Employment Relations Board.

Neither side is suggesting that a strike is inevitable, but the union’s letter indicates that its leaders are considering a strike-authorization vote in the spring.

As for the two sides, they are also at odds over additional stipends for department chairpersons, said Warren Kessler, philosophy professor and immediate past president of the union’s Fresno State chapter.

"There are all sorts of things that could be done short of a strike," Kessler said. "We could stop participating in certain administrative committees. There are things that you can do that hurt the administration without hurting the students."

Among the issues dividing the administration and faculty are the details of a proposed 2% salary increase. The administration proposes a simple 2% across-the-board raise; the union wants experience-based step raises, increased stipends for department chairpersons and other increases as well.

The two sides appear to differ in their estimates of how much the additional increases would cost the system.

"Salary remains an issue," CSU spokeswoman Colleen Bentley-Adler said. "They’ve asked for additional money that comes to $13 million above the 2% we have from the current state budget."

The fact-finding process is expected to take at least a month, Bentley-Adler said. But neither side is required by law to accept the panel’s recommendations.

The Fresno Bee
Chairman, Dr. Alan Smith
Department is only one of ten university science programs this Foundation grant of $600,000 to be awarded a National Science local minority students. CSUSB'S Geological Sciences Chairman, Dr. Alan Smith spearheaded the grant with the aim of tackling the growing national dilemma of low to non-existent minority enrollment and interest in the geological sciences. Dr. Smith states that minority students account, for only 2.3% of the nations student enrollment in the Geological Sciences and at CSUSB the figure is even lower. Therefore, CSUSB'S Geological Science Department will utilize the grant funds to develop geological programs at all levels of learning. First, they will encourage undeclared CSUSB freshmen and sophomore students to become geological science majors. Second, Cajon High School and Pacific High School in San Bernardino are already the First of area high schools in Southern California to be educated by this grant, about the many wonders and exciting career possibilities in the geological field. Third, the National Science Foundation award money will be used to educate elementary and high school students to realize that geology is a fun and exciting science. Geology is the study of the Earth and developments that affect it like earthquakes, volcanoes, and weather erosion. Yet, Chairman Smith states that the main reason "Cal State is not getting students in Geology is that students simply don’t know anything about it."

However, he is confident that students will enjoy Geology if they actually go into the field and experience it for themselves. So, beginning in June the Geological Science Department is planning to take students out on exhilarating field trips to such historic places as the San Andreas Fault and Big Bear. In addition, Dr. Smith is very optimistic that CSUSB'S efforts to increase minority enrollment in geological science will be successful. He reasons that students will be shown, "they can take something that’s interesting and at the end of their 4 years with only a bachelor’s degree - can actually go out and get a job immediately in what they’ve been trained." Furthermore, Geology can be applied to most any field of work in such professional careers as civil engineering, water management, and environmental safety.

Food Services Causes Financial Aid Frenzy

By Omar Zubair and Nicholas Macias-Williams

Is it scandal or simply a miscommunication? Why are students signing promissory notes instead of using their Coyote One cards when paying for meals at the Commons?

Prior to the 2001-2002 academic year, in-coming dorm residents were to contact Foundation Food Service in order to establish an already paid meal plan for the year. In the past, this was part of the package offered to residents by housing. The problem is that the students who rely on Financial Aid to front bill became tangled up in a mess of a miscommunication between FFS and FA.

An example of what one student is going through as a result of this "miscommunication" plays out like this: Jane Anonymous was informed by FFS that she has to pay a due of $579.00 in order for her to establish a meal plan. However, FA was to have already allotted $386.00 for her to use for her meal plan for the quarter. FFS claims to have never received this money, yet somehow her Coyote One card showed that she had a balance of $538.00. Despite the evidence presented, FFS is summoning Jane to pay her $779.00 when her Financial Aid comes in. She, along with others put in her position, would like to know why. Both the Food Services Office and the Commons have come under heavy fire from students who are confused and frustrated with the operation of the "bewildering system."

Hector Tito Calderon, associate director of University Food Services and Commons claims that the problem is actually quite a simple one. He explains that in the past the money from Housing to Food Services has taken months to get passed out, so the new system is just more direct – students to Food Services, instead of Housing to Food Services. The students are now getting the money directly through financial aid, and they must go to Food Services and attain a meal plan themselves. Some students are not aware that the increase in money from financial aid is for the meal plan, so they are spending money that is meant for a meal plan. Perhaps a solution would be to set up a group meeting with all dorm residents to inform them on how the system works.

Politics: At a Glance

By Karen Sogard

Students at CSUSB are busy getting set in their minds what the demands of this quarter will take in terms of time and money. The wider world of citizenship will just have to wait. But no, it won't. State budget allocations are being negotiated right now with major monetary implications for every student. Governor Davis is trying to make like a magician and poof the shortfall into oblivion. It's not going to happen...Politics is mostly about deciding money: what program gets it, and how much. But the reason to care it because of the good or harm resulting from our elected official's decisions, not only to students at CSUSB, but our statewide and national communities. The Chronicle will examine current issues and try to show how they affect students and their families. Our stance will be neutral as far as party go, but we will try to have a definite viewpoint on issues and what the candidates propose. Feel free to tell us what you think is important. Become an active participant.

The Chronicle encourages students to take an active part in the voting process. Although Conventional wisdom accords students of apathy when it comes to voting in national or statewide elections. This broad-brush treatment does not give the whole picture when it comes to students at CSUSB. Participation seemed to be a recurring value in an informal poll of students on campus. When two young men said they were registered to vote. Ed Mendoza was motivated to register to vote when his dad became a United States citizen, and added, "I like to be fully informed." Jeff Abramowitz majoring in Public Administration noted, "If I don't vote, I can't complain."

Oxy Contin: A New Addiction

By Jesse Henderson
Staff Writer

OxyContin, marketed by Purdue Pharma L.P., is the name brand of a time released form of the drug oxycodeone; an opium derivative. It is powerful painkiller and has been referred to as "Hillbilly Heroin" now, seems as though it is moving into more urban areas after reports of overdoses in Florida, Boston, and Philadelphia. DEA Administrator Asa Hutchinson testified before the congressional committee stating, "I don't believe we've reached the peak of this problem yet. We are still on the incline." Hutchinson said new information from medical examiners across the country has linked the drug to almost 300 overdose deaths in 31 states. Officials are also looking into about 500 deaths that could be related. OxyContin sales were over $1 billion dollars in the year 2000, making it the best selling drug of its kind.

Cal State San Bernardino is creating a new program to bring the Inland Empire a new television station.

CSUSB has been putting together a new television network that will bring news, educational programming, and entertainment to the San Bernardino area as well as some parts of Riverside County. President Albert Karnig has been leading the way on this new endeavor. "This really is a valued service to the community," said President Karnig. "There are no news programs that focus on the San Bernardino area. It's good for the community to understand the issues affecting the Inland Empire." President Karnig also hopes that this network will help the community learn more about what goes on at CSUSB. "This channel will give us a venue to display what goes on here and around CSUSB. It will help people become more familiar with Cal State San Bernardino. It will let them know about the university."

The network—which has been dubbed the Inland Cable Television Network—would bring the area news, sporting events such as CSUSB volleyball and basketball playoffs, concerts, guest lecturers, environmental and other community issues. The network is also helping to provide coverage of elections for San Bernardino County.

San Bernardino area's television station—KCBS TV 3—will act as a home for the network until CSUSB builds the all new digital facilities that will eventually carry the station. For now, the station will provide one third of the personnel as well as training for new employees.

Cindi Pringle, director of the schools Public Affairs, is hoping to use the network as an opportunity to help give experience for students hoping to get into the field of broadcast news. "We are hoping students will receive internships through the network," Pringle said.

President Karnig believes that this network will help CSUSB become a partner in the community. "This will be an opportunity to add all kinds of dynamisms for the school. We hope to bring town hall meetings to the town. Through this, we hope Cal State San Bernardino can become more of a household name." CSUSB is hoping to have the station up and running by the fall of 2002.

UPDATE: Channel in Campus' Future

By Shane Vanderlin
Copy Editor

In order for our University to thrive and for all students to not only achieve their educational goals, but to take the knowledge and experience gained and use it to better the area in which they live, there needs to be a group to facilitate the association between school and community. The Community University Partnerships fills that void and is located here on campus to provide mutually beneficial links between Cal State San Bernardino and the local communities from which we all come.

Established on-campus in the spring of 1999, their goals are designed to ensure that the area's workforce is well educated, to transform our local economy in order to increase living standards for everyone, making available more cultural, intellectual, and recreational opportunities for all to enjoy, improving the public health, and through these efforts, enhancing the overall quality of life in our region.

The CUP sponsors partnerships between individuals, informal groups and formal entities from the community and pairs them with appropriate campus resources. By joining together these partners with mutual interests, the CUP hopes to produce valuable change and improvement for all concerned, through a shared purpose and a desire to enhance the outlook for our local as well as the reputation of our school. These partnerships will also serve to

Faculty Spotlight

Dianna Pelletier

By Susan Modina
Scene Editor

Dianna Pelletier has been at Cal State since 1969, when she enrolled as an undergraduate. She graduated with two B.A.'s, one Master's and later acquired two credentials. Dianna worked here on campus while she was an undergraduate student and continues to do so. Pelletier has been the Director of the Writing Center, Instructor in French, Instructor in English, and, most currently and popularly, an Academic Advisor in EH-380. With many students concerned about grades, academic probation and class schedules, the Office of Academic Services is packed every day for hours. It is full of students who want to speak to a counselor who can direct them the right way to their academic success. Pelletier always has a line of students waiting for her. Even though the other counselors have their share of students, she is the one who has the most referrals and the most students who personally know her. This is because of her reputation for following students by pushing them and keeping in contact with them.

I think you have to let people know you believe in them so they can believe in themselves, and ultimately achieve their goals," says Pelletier, who suffered from illness when she was young, including severe asthma, which makes her compassionate towards students who may have personal problems that interfere with their academic success.

"Life happens and having had health problems in school, I know what it's like to need someone to give you a break," Pelletier also runs a program called TAP, which was designed for students who had academic trouble in high school or community college and now want to attend Cal State. Students who are rejected from the school but still wish to attend are directed to Pelletier for possible consideration into TAP. The program consists of showing up for weekly appointments to report to her on their academic progress. She does this in an effort to break students of their bad study habits. By pushing them and encouraging them at their meetings with her, she really motivates them.

She makes it clear that she thinks all students deserve a second chance, but don't by any means mistake her for being easy to cross. "If somebody tries to pull a funny one behind my back, it always comes back to me," she says. Pelletier is stern, straightforward and honest. She admits that she has a many a time used all of her power to do what she can for students; but, she says, "if you don't meet me halfway, I won't go chasing you."

What serves as an inspiration for Pelletier's diligence and wholesomeness? She tells of her parents who were poor and uneducated but who knew the importance of learning and stressed it with her. "My aunts and uncles used to whisper that we kids would never amount to much. I wanted to prove them wrong by going all the way, and I showed them," Pelletier, too, believes in the importance of education and that's why she does what she does. "You have to take college seriously. If you're here, you have to know that this isn't a game anymore, that your future depends on it."

Like it or not, readers, that's her message to you. That statement has changed the lives of many people. She says sometimes she's too honest with people, and they don't take her advice and then they fail; but many times do they listen to her and they succeed. "If you're honest with people they'll listen and respect you." I think the word for you, Diana Pelletier, is admiration.

much more busy lives and don't hang out at all. Sophomore Jenny Kelly says, "Since I commute I really do not know the area. I prefer to stay in the Pub; it gives me time to get something to eat, watch TV, and study between classes." With the number of places there are to hang out, you would think there would be a high rate of competition between them. But in reality it all depends on what students have a taste for; each location has its own unique way of sparking the student's interest. TOGO's/Baskin Robbins offers a variety of candies, cookies along with 31 flavors of ice cream. The most popular items on the menu are the Turkey and Avocado Sandwich and Cookies and Cream ice cream. You receive a ten percent discount when you show a valid CSUSB I.D. Just next door is Starbucks, which has quickly grown to be one of the most popular hangouts since its opening in late September. Although Starbucks does not offer any student discounts, it does offer a wide selection of hot and cold coffee beverages, an outdoor lounge area and an outdoor patio. On the south side of the 215 is Zendejas Mexican Bar and Grill, which is generally a guy's hangout. Zendejas offers Mexican cuisine and a fully stocked bar. Happy hour is from 3 to 7 p.m. with a free buffet Monday through Friday. They offer a 25% discount to all CSUSB students with I.D. Within the next month they plan to develop a second floor, which will become the new bar area.

On the corner of University and Kendall, Pacos Tacos is a family owned business with over 35 years of tradition. Bernardino has two locations: one on Kendall and the other on Highland. Pacos Tacos also serves Mexican food, but unlike Zendejas it is a dine-in or take-out type of restaurant with a more affordable price range.

Next door to Pacos is Fanatics Sports Bar, another place for guys to hang out. You can enjoy weekly drink and appetizer specials while playing pool, darts or watching the game on one of the four TVs. Fanatics invites CSUSB organizations to have meetings and gatherings at their location. The next time you and your friends are thinking of somewhere to kick it, consider visiting one of these local hangout spots.

Greek Rush Rules
By John Eddy, Executive Editor

To those uninformed of the intricacies of Greek rules and regulations, the picture on this page might cause alarm and beg the question: are ASI members abusing their positions and cozy offices to promote their own fraternal organizations? The answer simply is NO.

According to Ezekiel Bonillas, ASI Vice President of Finance and President of the Lambda Theta Phi fraternity, he was surprised and shocked when he entered his office the morning of Jan. 18 to find his six-foot letter in his office. Apparently a janitor had moved the letters into his office from the original storage place underneath the stair leading to the boardroom of the Student Union. Yet, despite the fact Bonillas and his brothers were blameless, he and his organization are immune from Inter-Fraternity-Council rush rules and regulations. These rules stipulate detailed directions for the overnight storage of letters during campus activities but, because his Greek organization is neither recognized nor sanctioned by the Council, they are free from its limitations.

The same cannot be said of the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity who allegedly violated rush rules during the first week of classes by staying up all night on the grass by their letters on the lawn in front of the library. No one could have missed the fact Bonillas and his brothers were g

"Cover Your Eyes- Jump Out of a Plane-There is no Pilot"- Laurie Anderson

Hey kids! This is a new section dedicated to love, life, expression, and the human struggle. It is dedicated to the great ones who have spent their entire lives trying to put life into a tangible form for us to relate to. This is to Jonathan Larson, The Beatles, The Police, Janis Joplin, Pablo Neuruda, Alex Haley, Maya Angelou, Jim Morrison, Jirai James, Stevie Wonder, Spike Lee, Etta James, Erinn, Mendy, Jimmy Page, Quentin Tarantino, Billie Holiday, Martin Luther King Jr., Elvis, John Lennon, Jimi Hendrix, Pete Fairchild, Dave Matthews, Alice Walker, BB King, Robert Plant, Robert Ashman, Alaska, Erinn, Mendy, Jimmy Page, Quentin Tarantino, Bita James, Stevie Wonder, Spike Lee, Langston Hughes, and all that I have missed.

It is the product of all of those sleepless nights we have had, lying on our backs pondering our purpose on earth and the meaning of our existence. It is dedicated to all the times you thought to yourself "What the hell am I going to do with my life?"

It is dedicated to the everyday hassles. Getting up before you actually want to, or not sleeping as well. It is for not wanting to go to school and was one of the first in­terests to the pattern of WAKE UP- GO TO SCHOOL- GO TO WORK, going to do for money. Being a creative writing, or music major and someone asking you what you are going to do for money.

To registering for classes late because you can’t pay for your tuition until the 15th. Not to just being a nine digit number, and a set of fingerprints, but to being a person. A person having a passion. To playing your guitar or writing your poetry on your lunch break. To turning your parents’ guest house into a studio, and jamming with that blues band at that coffee shop downtown. To eating, sleeping, drinking, breathing, loving, and living. To being someone who matters to someone else. To US!

Do you go out today, go to your various places of business, not as a drone, but as a person. Contrary to popular belief, you are in control of your opinions, moods, and your life. Do you get so caught up in what you have to do today and everyday after, that you do not notice your life passing by? STOP! Take the good advice of Phish, “Have a cup of coffee and catch your breath”. Go out and get a bumper sticker that says, “I break the law”. Breathe, live, laugh, love, and lift. By Pleasence Brown

Jaeen Honn-Alex, Ms. Honn-Alex is the new coordinator of the Women’s Resource Center and the Adult Re-entry Center here at California State University, San Bernardino.

She replaces Karen Patton, who was the coordinator for the past three years. Ms. Honn-Alex has been given the opportunity and the inevitable task of making the centers a more inviting place to visit. She is quite eager and ready to move full steam ahead.

Ms. Honn-Alex has been married for seventeen years, with no children but has one dog. She was born and raised in San Francisco, still visiting there often. She has been living in the Inland Empire area for twenty years. Her hobbies include traveling, and cooking.

In the early 80’s, she became the director of Horizon House a shelter for battered women. At the age of 30, she decided to go back to school and was one of the first in the Riverside area for twenty years. Her hobbies include traveling, and cooking.

Graduating in 1994, she received a BA degree in Sociology with a minor in Women’s Studies. She graduated in 1994. After finishing her studies she went to work to the Planned Parenthood organization. Ms. Honn-Alex said, "She was very fortunate to match jobs with her passions of fighting and advocating for women’s rights."

The question was asked what prompted you to take this job? She responded by saying that it was a great “opportunity to utilize my skills.”

With this opportunity she hopes to enhance team building, managing, and creating partnerships with other groups that are on the campus. She believes that the university is a vital part of the community. "When you work here you’re a part of something big. Creating centers that are inviting to all means that you will reach a number of students, with a wide range of interests."

I asked Ms. Honn-Alex what she hopes to accomplish for the quarter. She wants to learn the ins and outs of the campus. She believes that partnerships can lead to something special. She wants to build the centers up and create campus awareness as to the services they provide. She truly believes that this will happen but states that this “will be a process that won’t happen over night.” She knows this job will be tough but she is ready for the challenge as the new coordinator and hopes this will be a long lasting relationship with CSUSB.
KEEPING THE DREAM ALIVE

Sharena C. Clark

Staff Writer

"Keep the dream alive," said Reverend Dennis Brown, and many more before him. That phrase seemed to be the central theme at the Brown's presentation on January 17, in event center C. The event was organized by the Cross Cultural Center in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

Reverend Brown, a native of Los Angeles, CA, and a temporary resident of Texas, developed a passion for giving the speeches of Dr. King while still a young man. "When I was a boy, I heard my dad talking about Martin Luther King Jr. When I was fifteen I was in a theatre arts class, and we were asked to recite a poem or give a speech by a black person. I read Dr. King's speech and my voice changed. I acknowledged my calling into the ministry, and have been doing it ever since..." explained Reverend Brown.

The program opened with Reverend Brown singing a soulful rendition of 'America the Beautiful' and a warm greeting. He began with, "I sat before the television set... strong, robust, and I cried..." Reverend Brown was referring to when he left his football tryouts to hear the live broadcast of Dr. King's 'I Have A Dream' speech. He then segued into the first speech Dr. King gave after Rosa Parks was arrested. Following the first speech he told a story about when he lived in Texas with his grandfather and they went out to get hamburgers. "My grandfather owned his land, and knew the restaurant owner by name, yet we still had to go through the back door... with all the prestige and money my granddad had, we still had to go through the back door!"

Reverend Brown then went on to tell the crowd some important facts about Dr. King. "He [Dr. King] could have lived in the comforts of luxury for his entire life, but he chose to live on the other side of the tracks. He had three job offers, one-a professor at a college in the north, two-an administrator at another college in the north, and three-a pastorate in the south. He accepted the pastorate." Then he recited a speech Dr. King made when he was twenty-six years old. He explained to the crowd that Dr. King was never afraid of anyone. "He faced police dogs with two inch fangs, and high powered water hoses, but he never ran!" said the reverend.

As an introduction to Dr. King's third speech, Reverend Brown explained where he was when he found out Dr. King was shot. "I'd just got back from Vietnam, I got off the bus and two men were discussing how awful the assassination of Dr. King was. I had four days off, so I watched the funeral on TV." He concluded by saying that Dr. King was not afraid of his death, and he just wanted to be remembered as a man for justice and peace. "Because of Dr. King, people said 'we shall overcome' when the Berlin wall came down, and when there was finally democracy in communist China — quoted Reverend Brown. During the program there was a 'We Shall overcome' sing-along, and the reverend ended the presentation with 'Let it Be'.

"We are fortunate to have him, he was here last year, and he will be here next year. Next year it WILL be bigger, I'd like to have choirs, speakers, the president of the campus, and city officials. It (MLK day) is a big thing, and you know it's a big thing because CSUS's get a full day off. We must remember that Dr. King stood for justice!" said John Futch, the Cross-Cultural Center coordinator. It takes a certain kind of person to get a holiday named after them so on your day off from school, take a little time to acknowledge the accomplishments and the immortal spirit of Dr. King. It is very possible that no other single man has done so much to change the American way of life to the advantage of all.

Melting Pot, Salad Bowl, or Neither?
Looking at Cal State Diversity

By Bethany Anderson
Assistant Multi-Cultural Editor

Do all Cal State students have an Equal Opportunity to a Higher Education? What policies or procedures are utilized in determining who attends our University? Or is it important to see a diverse population among the students of our campus, which would further the concept of Cal State being a Melting Pot?

I decided to start where all prospective college students do, at our Office of Admissions and Student Recruitment. The office's Interim Associate Director Cynthia Oliver was kind enough to grant her opinion regarding the evolution in Student Ethnicity and its role in whether we are a diversified campus.

When Associate Director Oliver was asked if there was a criterion or guidelines to what all potential Cal Students are subjected to, she responded, "The CSU system by nature is the top 33% of high school graduating seniors. We are here to act as a feeder school for the Community colleges."

There are also special programs to make sure that there is equal representation for various ethnic groups in the CSU admission process. Oliver added that Cal State is a Hispanic Surveying Institution (HIS) which was a title given to us by the federal government. The title grants Cal State funding for outreach programs that serve our local communities. These programs are designed to reach out to middle and high school students who are high-risk, and need mentorship in order to aid them in achieving their academic goals. Oliver suggests that Cal State's mentor programs "...inspire the students to work harder to attempt and succeed in college preparatory courses in their middle and high schools. This will encourage our youth to want to not just attend Cal State but aspire to attend college, period." Associate Director Oliver disagrees with the assumption that we are a Melting Pot here at Cal State, and insists that our limited resources make it difficult to serve each represented background. Although she did admit that, "I think considering what resources we do have, we are doing a really great job. We here at Cal State are at a pivotal time where we are 15,000 students strong. As we grow, we will receive the funding we need to institute the greatly needed programs."

Personally, Director Oliver would like to see the highly debated Chicano Studies program instituted here at Cal State. She fervently feels that there is nothing wrong with focusing on one culture in order to celebrate the richness and uniqueness of it.

Dr. Martin Luther King’s Legacy

Bethany Anderson
Assistant Multi-Cultural Editor

When Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was born on January 15, 1929, our nation and then the world would be forever irrevocably changed. This year Dr. King would have been seventy-three years old. Unfortunately, for all mankind he was assassinated on April 4, 1968 in Memphis, Tennessee.

In 1963, he led a massive March on Washington, in which he delivered his famous “I Have a Dream” address. In 1964, the civil rights movement achieved two successes: the ratification of the 24th Amendment, which abolished the poll tax, and the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibited racial discrimination in employment and education and outlawed racial segregation in public facilities. Later that year, King was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. In the late 1960s, King turned his efforts to winning economic rights for poor Americans.

However his legacy of nonviolence, the civil Rights Movement of the 1950-1960’s, and his eternal mission of children’s regardless of their backgrounds simply be able to play in the same schoolyards.

My ancestors were slaves. I never take for granted the gift our creator (regardless of your spirituality) gave to us when Martin Luther King Jr. dared to challenge a system that did not recognize all beings as created equal.

We are now as a nation on the dawn of a new age. An age where hate and jealousy has attempted to take the freedoms we as Americans took for granted until September 11th. Dr. King’s legacy granted not just African-Americans civil rights, but all Americans who come to our great nation with dreams of their own.

Don’t wait till January 21st to celebrate the life of a legend. Keep Dr. King’s dream alive by celebrating the power of one man’s dream everyday by keeping an open mind to all.

Stop monkeying around! Driving from one store to the next is a drag. Smart students know where they can get it all together. If you’re looking for computer stuff, textbooks, school-logo apparel, snacks, supplies, magazines and more – insist on ultra-convenient, one-stop, on-campus shopping!

MORMONS DEAL WITH PERCEPTION BEFORE OLYMPICS

By Audrey Burrows
Staff Writer

The Church of Latter-day Saints has endured an extra amount of publicity lately, due to the fact that the 2002 Olympics are being held in Salt Lake City, Utah. For those who do not know, Utah was pioneered by Mormons led by a prophet named Joseph Smith. Since then, Utah's Mormon population has grown to comprise 60% of the state's inhabitants. One might question how this faith grew so enormously.

In the history of any religion, monetary donations help expand its houses of worship. According to a very recent online question-and-answer session, Gordon B. Hinckley, the President of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Mormons are very monetarily generous. "Our major source of revenue is the ancient law of the tithe. Our people are expected to pay 10 percent of their income to move forward the work of the Church. The remarkable and wonderful thing is that they do it."

So, with the help of the congregation, the church has been able to grow in size, but how have Mormons grown to such large numbers? Once again Gordon B. Hinckley explains: "We are putting strong emphasis on the family. It is appealing to people. They like it, they welcome it, they need help and we offer that help. Furthermore, it gives purpose to life... We answer the old question of where did I come from? Why am I here? Where am I going? People find comfort, peace and strength in that. And in the organization they find sociability and friends. We are a friendly Church. We are a very happy Church... and others like it."

So, through the church's tithes and friendship, Mormonism has grown to be Utah's dominant faith.

One might wonder why the Mormon faith would be under scrutiny just because the Olympics are being held in the state that is predominantly Mormon. Utah resident Melanie Bennett, a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, explains that a main worry for outsiders is that people who do not know much about the church or the Mormons themselves, have stereotyped them. She says they're wrongheadedly trying to make the Olympic Games the Mormon Games. The church is trying to avoid these demeaning accusations by opening their doors to anyone who would like any information on the Church and their involvement with the Olympics. The Church released press kits a few months back to help the press and other spectators of the Games see how and where the Church is involved with the games.

Bennett said that the church has nothing to hide and that Mormon spokespeople are putting out this information about it out to the public, so that anyone can see that the church is not trying to dominate the Olympic Games. Without doubt, the world will be more familiar the Mormon faith by the conclusions of the Olympics.

Glass Shatters in Pomona

By: Krista Morris
Staff Writer

Last Saturday at the Glasshouse in Pomona, may have had one of the greater line-ups of punk that this area has seen in a long time. Those who are interested in energetic, eccentric music were first to run in your face punk that this area has started with a melodic combination of Backside's influenced hardcore/punk sound with VooDoo's unique aggressive ska tone.

Headliner Guttermouth satisfied the night with new school punk, conglomerated with refreshing satiric lyrics. The two-night sold out stop in the Inland Empire would prove to be an interesting night for all walks of life wearing Misfit t-shirts in the area.

The first band on ticket, Backside, had a good set playing songs from their Ten Million Strong and Growing Mismatched. Clever Kids Never Forgive LP. The Riverside based band belted out a aggressive set of hardcore music that let the crowd know what they would be in store for the evening.

The VooDoo Glow Skulls ignited the evening playing songs from their most recently released album Symbolic as well as playing oldie but goodie songs like Insolurbination. Another Riverside based band, which has been around forever, impresses me every time I see them having incredibly tight sets. Between having the singer, Frank VooDoo, waving a flaming skull around and crowd surfers everywhere, it's not easy keeping horns, guitar, basses, drums, and vocals all together during a fast paced set. Having bi-lingual lyrics also add a challenge, yet charisma to their sound.

Although, these elements are what sets VooDoo apart from your typical "No-Doubt" (note: which isn't ska) ska band. Let the band geek mafia live forever!

When VGS left the stage, fans were ready for the high energy, fast paced set. Having bi-lingual lyrics also add a challenge, yet charisma to their sound.

The Lord of the Rings is Lord of the Box Office

By Shane Venerfin
Copy Editor

The last four weekends, the movie "The Lord of the Rings" has held the top spot in gross earnings. The film was released on December 19, 2001 and had already grossed over $164m by the end of the year. Now it is up to over $250m and counting, well on its way to becoming one of the highest grossing movies of all time.

The film is based on the first book in J.R.R. Tolkien's literary masterpiece, "The Lord of the Rings". It tells the tale of Frodo Baggins (Elijah Wood), a peaceful hobbit who inherits a ring from his Uncle Bilbo. He turns out to be the long-lost Ring of Power, forged long ago by the evil Lord Sauron, who now needs the ring to complete his conquest of MiddleEarth. Frodo is advised by Gandalf (Ian McKellen), a benevolent and powerful wizard who opposes Sauron, to take the ring to the Council of the High Elf Eldron to its fate may be determined. Frodo is accompanied on his journey by his loyal hobbit friends Sam, Merry and Pippin, as they are relentlessly chased by the Ringwraiths, the nine vile black servants of Sauron. Their fellowship grows as they are joined by Gandalf and Aragorn, a Ranger who is also the long-lost heir to the throne of Gondor, Legolas the elf, Gimli the dwarf, and Boromir, a warrior from besieged Gondor. The Council decides that the ring must be destroyed because of its inherent evil, which can only be done by casting the ring into the fires of Mt. Doom in the heart of Mordor, the blasted dead land of Sauron and his armies of Orcs. The film details its company's quest as they try to accomplish their task, ending as the book does with the breaking of their fellowship. Due out next Christmas, the second part of the trilogy is called "The Two Towers", and will continue the heroic saga of Frodo and his companions.

Directed by Peter Jackson, who shot all three parts of the trilogy simultaneously, the movie is a close adaptation of the original story. But to Tolkien purists, there are a few instances of poetic license that occur, changes and omissions that detract from the film, but these are unfortunately somewhat necessary to condense the novel into a three hour movie.

Filled with dramatic vistas and excellent cinematography, awesome special effects and Oscar-caliber acting, nerve-wracking suspense and sheer terror, brutal battle and heroic bravery, "Tlor" should garner several Academy Awards, including Best Film. If you see the movie, read the book too, and vice versa. Many consider the "The Lord of the Rings" to be the best book of all time, and when the film trilogy is complete ("The Fellowship of the Ring", Christmas 2003), perhaps the greatest movie ever, also.

Movies reviewed will be reviewed on a four-star system ranging from one (terrible) to four (incredible).

However, instead of stars, we will use "Snootchies" like the ones used by Jay & Silent Bob. They go as follows:

One star = Snootch
Two stars = Snootchie
Three stars = Snootchie Bootchie
Four stars = Snootch to the Mother@$ in Noocho!

BLACK HAWK DOWN

A war movie based on the true events at Mogadishu, Somalia on October 1993.

IVAN: Not since Saving Private Ryan has a film actually put you in the battlefield. There's a reason why the rating says "intense realistic graphic war violence.

MARCOS: I totally agree. This movie is, by far, the best movie I've seen this year. Not only because it was the first movie I saw this year, but it will be the best movie I'll see this year. After directing Hannibal, Ridley Scott has redeemed himself with Black Hawk Down.

IVAN: Once the first Black Hawk helicopter goes down, you're plunged into the Somali heart of darkness were boys become men and the true heroes stand out.

IVAN & MARCOS VOTE: Snootch to the Mother@$ in Noocho!

If you missed it in theaters

MEMENTO

Mystery that keeps you're guessing until the end. Memento reinvents film noir for the 21st century.

IVAN: If there were ever a reason to drive all the way out to Hollywood to watch an independent film, look no further than Memento, now available in video stores everywhere.

MARCOS: From the first shot in the film, you are left breathless. It wasn't Pulp Fiction storytelling which is one of the most famous films. On the other hand, it's great on its own and driving all the way to Hollywood was damn worth it.

IVAN: As Teddy (Joe Pantoliano) says in the beginning of the film, "You don't have a clue" as to what's going on and just when you think you do, the film slaps you with the truth. Only until the closing moments of the film do you really find out what's going on.

MARCOS: With this flick, you're definitely do want to go "tinkle" because you will miss everything.

IVAN & MARCOS: We both agree, if you haven't seen this one, you need to! Run to your local video store and rent it-

Pick: Yamashita Japanese Grill

Located: Hospitality Lane, San Bernardino

 Portions: Average

Price: Good

Service: Excellent

Taste: Excellent

The meals and environment are similar to Bennihana. Quick witted chefs crack jokes while preparing your meal. The steak is excellent, the seafood is well flavored, and the sushi is great. This is a definite date place.

Pick: Pat & Oscars

Located: 4th street and Milliken, Ontario Mills

Taste: Average-

Fresh made Italian food, in a fast food environment. The salads are good, but the chicken and ribs are overdone. The custom pizza and gourmet pizzas are decent, as are the sandwiches. The best thing on the menu are the bread sticks—they are incredible. A word to the wise, stay away from the BBQ sauce!

Pick: Market Bistro

This seafood grill and market was a disappointment. The food was over boiled and over cooked. The shark was chewy, the crab was rubbery and the chicken was dry. The shrimp was decent, but over priced. Combine the long wait, the poor service and bad food—this place should be avoided.

I've spoken of the shining city all my pa thetcal life - in my mind it was a tall proud city built on rocks strength than oceans, windswept, Godblessed and teeming with people of all kinds living in harmony and peace. The ty with free ports that harnessed with commerce and creativity. And if there had to be city walls, the walls had doors and the doors were open to anyone with the will and the heart to get here.

- President Ronald Reagan's Farewell Speech 1988

Today's media moguls love numbers, and the viewers seem to agree. They have turned the tragedy, violence and terror present since the 9/11 attacks, into morning and evening news broadcasts with never ending numerical tallies of dead and wounded in the Near East and Afghanistan. Sometimes I close my eyes and believe I am actually listening to Dennis Miller during half time giving statistics on the Rams powerful offense. "That's right Dan-O, 34 completions with 6 miss-fires, if only our Air Force were so accurate."

Then again I may have never lost my childhood naivete, still holding a high regard for innocence, truth and faith. I question why are we so wrapped up in the number of confirmed deaths and casualties, I mean who is really keeping score other than the omnipresent force in the sky. Was I asleep with 6 miss-fires, if only our Air Force were so accurate."

It's a vicious cycle stuck on repeat. Terrorists murder in the name of their prophets and in the names of their brothers who died defending their homeland. We sanction murder in the name of our nation and for our fellow Americans who died a horrible and tragic death at the hands of suicide bombers. Extremist groups in Palestine murder in the name of their beliefs and for their claim to the land taken by Israel after the culmination of WWII. Israel murders in retaliation of the extremist suicide bombers, in the defense of the Holy Land. Does the cycle ever stop? Will the world ever give birth to a nation that promotes peace with their words and follow it with the actions of their hands? I may be the last optimist, but pacifism seemed to be faded out over the glaring disco music of the 1970's. It was in that decade that we lost our innocence, when we uncovered how crooked our own government really was. Back room tactics within the executive and legislative branches of the government were brought forth to the public's attention. It was also the decade that witnessed the drafting of the Freedom of Information Act, which gave the public access to federal files, the cornerstone piece in legislation aimed at protecting the valued and cherished American freedoms.

Today the White House is host to W. Bush who has rallied the nation behind him with tough talk and a hard-line stance against countries that harbor terrorists and have no regard for democratic principles. Yet, our own democratic principles, and blessed freedoms are being sacrificed along side the innocent killed in action. The President's executive power has not been this great since, perhaps Abraham Lincoln declared Martial Law in 1862 and assumed near total control of the nation, suspending habeas corpus and imprisoning writers and protestors who spoke out against the Republican policies of the Civil War.

President Bush's Executive Order on November 1 this past year sealed all presidential records from 1960 on. We no longer have access to sensitive presidential materials during Reagan's Administration that discuss arms deals with nations we are now contemplating war with. Gone are the files pertaining to U.S. military support of the Taliban government in their war with Russia during the period U.S. historians refer to as "the Cold War." This coupled with Ashcroft's memo that was sent to all federal agencies giving the Department of Justice support for denials of all Freedom of Information Act requests. "When you carefully consider FOIA requests and decide to withhold records, in whole or in part, you can be assured that the Department of Justice will defend your decisions."

This strikes a devastating blow to the American public. Perhaps in order to establish the "New World Order" spoken of by George Bush Senior, our government is using the media, supplying them with air strikes and confirmed dead tallies so that behind closed doors they can create the next global united power that will decide the future course of all. While we are left captivated by the explosions on televised front lines a piece of sensitive presidential materials during Reagan's Administration that discuss arms deals with nations we are now contemplating war with. While we are left captivated by the explosions on televised front line coverage, we cut up the numbers they feed us. Let me ask you, is the war on terrorism, which has no foreseeable end, justified with eyes for an eye tactics? Will our individual freedoms remain intact while our federal government grows in size and strength? Only time will tell.

Letter to the Editor:
Students majoring in Philosophy speak out to their Departments Administration

Does the will of the student have any effect on the policies made by certain departments of this school? Apparently not, for although many of our students took part in the show of support for the CSUSB faculty members recently and our support was apparently appreciated, hiring practices within the departments of this school continue to ignore student input and focus on bureaucratic agendas.

I am speaking in reference to the recent refusal to hire a part-time instructor to an open full-time position in the Philosophy Department. This part-time instructor is highly appreciated by the in the department, and many of us owe him a great deal both as a friend and as an instructor. In fact, more than one of the students in the department made it a point to speak with the chair of our department when we heard that this instructor was under consideration. Our express support of this instructor was ignored. It seems that in the politics of hiring truly qualified instructors for this college, the experience and will of the students is extremely undervalued.

Many of the students in this department were significantly motivated to learn, to explore ways to apply our ethic in the community, and to be nicer people because this instructor showed us the time and attention that we needed to flourish in our college careers. We are sorely disappointed in the choices of this department in this matter and as much as we support our full-time faculty and our chair in other aspects of the administration of this department, in this decision - they are wrong.

Sincerely,
Joan Conley

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity INC. Hosts Clothes Drive

The Year 2002 has the potential of being an outstanding growth period for CSUSB. The addition of new apartment-style housing on campus has sent new student enrollment skyrocketing. As a result, student involvement has more than doubled on our campus. New groups are forming and existing organizations are showing a thriving life with all sorts of events. The obvious goal for all of the clubs and organizations on this campus is to continue to increase student involvement.

The brothers of the Sigma Eta Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Incorporated also share in this desire. We as students and as educated college men are striving to organize students on this campus to obtain their highest aspirations. The ultimate goal of our organization is to continue to exist as positive influences on the campus and in the community. The only way that this will be possible is to continue to expand with new and exciting beneficial programs. Currently, we are hosting a clothes drive on campus to help clothe the needy persons in our community. There are receptives bins located in the lobbies of University Hall, Jack Brown Hall, as well as the entrance to the University Bookstore. This charity event is scheduled to run from January 14 through the 29. All contributions will be donated to local churches and shelters. We are requesting that all organizations, faculty members, as well as the general student body do their part to contribute to the uplift of our community and society.

or to the system as a whole? Most importantly, given the fact that the city of San Bernardino has one of the lowest cost of-living rates in the state, why are CSUSB's campus-based fees here so costly (The standard CSU tuition of $1,428 plus $443 comes to $1,887)? At CSUSB the total comes to $1,826, at CSULA $1,782, and CSUSD $1,776. The answers are not easy to come by.

In a recent interview, Dr. Frank Rincon, Vice President of Student Services, explain each of the five campus-based student fees in question: "Health Facilities", "Health Services", "IRA", "Materials, Services, and Facilities", "ASI" (Associated Students, INC.) and "Student Union". However, after a brief comparative analysis of the first service, Vice President Rincon stopped and pulled out a lengthy, complicated document which, he promised, would later "go into these services in more detail." with this reporter. Meanwhile, the report does indeed discuss what students, in theory, are paying for but does not answer the vexing questions related to a why there is this wide variance of costs from campus to campus in the CSU system.

benefit the community at large by allowing students to participate in ways that can meet their service learning needs, and to improve the communities in which they live. By building and advancing these connections between our college and the communities that both support our school's growth and fill our buildings with students, everyone committed and involved should realize benefits through successful interaction. The Community - University Partnerships' priority is to measurably improve the affluence, health, safety, and general well-being of the people in its service area, and to bring new vibrancy, repute and resources both to Cal State San Bernardino and to the communities that should both ultimately benefit from participation in these partnerships. The Director of the CUP is Dr. Richard Eberst, and Administrative Coordinator Juana Love graciously provided the information for this article. Junior transfer lights it up

Junior transfer guard Erica Cronin has basketball-handling skills one can compare to Michael Jackson's dance moves—quick and magical. This "smooth criminal" is the San Bernardino Coyotes leader in steals (24 this season so far) and her "criminal activity" doesn't stop there. Cronin also leads the Coyotes in scoring, averaging 13.1 points per game, and rebounding where she possesses 66 total rebounds.

Cronin is a great ball handler. Here she analyzes the defense and decides to drive the hole.

NFL Hits Playoffs; Fans Hit Couch

Over the Christmas break, the NFL season ended, along with a few coaching careers. The Rams and Steelers roared into the post season, while the Ravens and Bucs crept in backwards. We've had one round of wildcard playoffs since, with the Dolphins once again proving they can't win the big games. In the northeast cold at Pitt, the Bucs beat the Bears at home, and the Jets just couldn't do it twice in a row in Oakland, the Bucs crept in backwards.

Coach Cherniss scouts for future stars

The Lady Coyotes, CCAA League Champions, prepare for next season with daily practices and intense visions of a national championship.

By Kermit Boyd
Sports Writer

Coach Kim Cherniss of the Cal State San Bernardino Women's volleyball team, which finished the season 10th in the NCAA Division II standings, can think her successful, solid and ethical recruiting program for being able to put a superior team together.

The Lady Coyotes had four players selected to the 2001 All-CCAA Women's volleyball first-team, and Amy Pope was voted the 2001 CCAA coach of the year. The Lady Coyotes finished the 2001 season with a final record of 29-3 behind CCAA coach of the year Kim Cherniss.

This raises the question of when and how Coach Kim Cherniss recruits the remarkable and phenomenal talent.

Coach Cherniss says she is fond of players who reside in the Inland Empire because she feels that local recruits will take more pride in representing and defending their University and hometowns. This recruiting strategy evidently proved to pay major dividends in the lady coyotes 2001 season.

Most recruiting by Cherniss for the women's volleyball program are players that send her their profiles and recruiting tapes. This way Coach Cherniss says she can evaluate what types of players will best fulfill her needs on the court. Then she pursues that recruit by proposing an offer good enough for that player.

Coach Cherniss frequently her recruiting is done at club tournaments. Traveling club teams provide recruiting tapes that are good enough to play for. Usually she will watch players who have expressed an interest in her program, as well as recruits she has heard about and already been seen play. If she is satisfied with any of the players, and believes they have a chance to compete in the CCAA, she will contact the players who have expressed an interest in her program.

Usually she does enough research on a recruit to know what kind of training they have had behind Amy Pope as a setter. Then she purses that recruit and when she is satisfied with the recruit, she says she already has a good idea of what needs and pitfalls may lie ahead.

The biggest question that the recruiting process poses this year is who will replace All-American Amy Pope? According to Coach Cherniss, Bethany Fowles who moved last year to California College Athletic Association schools, will invite the recruit to try out and tour the campus.

The most important advantage in the recruiting process that Division II schools have over Division I schools, Cherniss says, is that the Division II schools are allowed to give tryouts to the players they recruit and on campus tours. If Coach Cherniss is interested in a certain recruit, she will offer them an athletic scholarship, partial scholarship, or suggest that they walk-on and red shirt, practice with the team, and see if they can earn a scholarship.

Usually she does enough research on a recruit to know what kind of scholarship or financial assistance that player will need to attend the university. So, after she says yes to a recruit, she says she already has a good idea of what needs and pitfalls may lie ahead.

The future of Bruins basketball seems to depend on whether center Dan Gadzuric can play up to his potential.

The Dodger trade of Gary Sheffield for Brian Jordan brings a much needed positive voice to the club house. Yet people seem to forget that they also got a possible 15 game winner as well.

Finally, will the Coyotes' Men's Basketball team ever lose???

Mens Basketball Ranked #2 in Nation

By Matt Schoenmann
Managing Editor

The Men's Coyote Basketball team kept rolling with its 14th consecutive win to begin the season.

1,149 fans watched Cal State romp to a 67-52 victory over the Sonoma State Cossacks, at Coussoulis Arena Friday night.

Glenn Summerall, a senior forward from Fontana led all scorers with 20 points, after being restricted to the bench for the first 11-plus minutes of the game.

Summerall, the team's second leading scorer, started the Coyotes previous 13 games, and no explanation was given for him coming off the bench so late in the game. It appears to be simply a wise coaching move, due to the fact that Sonoma was leading by two before Summerall led the Coyotes to victory. The move to halt the injection of Summerall into the lineup seemed to throw off Sonoma State.

Bobby Burries and Brady Bennett also came off the bench in this effort, scoring ten points respectively. Because of and injury to Mike Edwards, Burries was forced to handle the ball more than usual. Burries was up to the challenge as he dished out eight assists.

After trailing to start the game, Cal State held a 38-25 lead at the half. They then continued to surge ahead to take a twenty-four point lead.

Cal State remains one of the nation's only unbeaten teams. The only other division II unbeaten teams are Northeastern State of Oklahoma, the top ranked team in the nation, and Salem-Teikyo Institute.

Women Keep Winning

By Matt Schoenmann
Managing Editor

Cal State San Bernardino held off a second half Sonoma State onslaught to win 65-64 Friday night.

Coyote Chelsea Carter capped off a 19 point performance with a last minute tip in basket. Carter helped Cal State gain control by scoring 16 of her 19 points in the first half. Carter seemed to be in shape Friday after an off season knee surgery, blowing away her season average of 4.9 points per game by scoring 19 in just 28 minutes.

The Coyotes seemed to have control of the game when Sonoma State made a comeback to tie the game at 48 points. The Cossacks then took the lead, but Cal State pulled within one with one minute left to make the game 65-64.

The Women Coyotes are sitting at 9-5 overall, 5-4 within their conference. That puts them fifth in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. At production time junior transfer leads the Coyotes with 13.1 points per game and 5.1 Rebounds per game.

The Coyotes started the season strong at five and five, beginning with a 74-58 victory over Hope International. They have faltered slightly in conference play, but should be confident with four starters returning.
