April 15th 2002

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.lib.csusb.edu/coyote-chronicle

Recommended Citation
https://scholarworks.lib.csusb.edu/coyote-chronicle/537
Construction nearly completed

By Cynthia Heaton
Staff Writer

The most visually arresting construction on campus—the Social and Behavioral Sciences building, the Student Housing/Phase II and the new west-campus parking lot—will be finished this summer, but what most people don't realize is that a new telecommunication infrastructure project that is upgrading the critical components of the system on campus is also underway and slated for completion in January of 2003.

The Social and Behavioral Sciences building located at the west end of the campus includes faculty offices, an increase in lecture facilities and additional teaching laboratories.

Also included in this project is an expansion of parking. According to Hamid Azhand, Associate Director of Capital Planning, Design, and Construction, this new parking should help to alleviate some of the congestion on the east side of the campus.

The Student Housing/Phase II project, expected to be ready for residents by September adds an additional 316 beds in 88 units bringing the total number of students living on campus to 974. Students living in the new housing should register their interest in moving to the new units by September 1.

Anyone interested in moving to the new student apartments can request space in the new facilities.

"The Student Housing/Phase II project, expected to be ready for residents by September adds an additional 316 beds..." - PeopleSoft

A couple of additional projects being wrapped up are the construction of the windscreens for the north-facing entrances at University Hall, Jack Brown Hall and the Visual Arts Center which will allow these entrances to remain operational even on days with strong wind conditions and a project to update the building signage on campus.

Still on the drawing boards and moving through the planning and funding processes are the new College of Education project, the annex to the Natural Sciences building and additions to the Student Union Building and a Phase-two expansion of the Palm Desert campus which are all part of a CSUSB master plan that predicts a future enrollment of 25,000 full-time students.

By Karla Buchanan
Opinion & Editorial Editor

Once again the Cal State San Bernardino Model United Nations (MUN) team proved that they were among the best and brightest at this year's conference in New York City. Being awarded the coveted Outstanding Delegation Award for the seventh year. The honor is awarded to only 7 teams out of the 2600 who participate.

"That moment made all of the hours of research, the sleepless nights, and the apprehension worthwhile," said MUN team member Christina Elwell. The competition draws universities and colleges from across the nation to role-play the real United Nations and their issues. Each university is given a specific country to represent, CSUSB represented India, and they then must argue the countries positions on various topics and sit on the same committees as them.

The delegates compete and present their ideas in the real United Nations or in the cafeteria. The feeling is particularly present when sitting inside the General Assembly of the United Nations or in the café where they eat. Maybe it is because we study the UN and have a personal appreciation for it, but I don't think anybody could sit in front of the podium where so many of history's leaders spoke and not feel a feeling of awe," said Russell A. Bigelman, a first time delegate who enthusiastically proclaimed he would participate again.

The team was in New York City for 5 days, and not only had the..."-MUN Continued on page 13

By Rody Rodriguez
Staff Writer

PeopleSoft—the software that has been implemented to manage the computer systems at all 23 CSU campuses including CSUSB—has come under fire this week.

The Joint Legislative Audit Committee (JLAC) decided to investigate the expenditure of an estimated $400 million in the last seven years by the California State University on its management computer system called PeopleSoft and its administration by the CSU entity Common Management System (CMS).

State Senator Richard Alarcon and State Assemblymen Manny Diaz requested an audit of the Common Management System on the recommendation of the California Faculty Association (CFA). They noted a letter to JLAC that the CMS project has been controversial from the start.

"We are concerned because the dollars used to fund CMS come from the same base CSU budget that funds instruction," said CFA President Susan Meisenhelder.

"The portion of the CSU budget spent on instruction has already fallen below 50 percent which is unacceptable for a teaching university. Now, with the state..."-People continued on page 13

Model United Nations conquers as India...
The Buzz

Changes to GRE and MCAT testing formats

If you or anyone you know is planning on taking the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or the Medical College Admission Exam (MCAT), you should know that both testing formats will be undergoing some changes in the not too distant future. Knowing more about the proposed changes can help you decide whether or not to schedule a test date prior to these changes taking place.

The most significant changes will occur in the GRE. The Analytical section of the GRE which, currently consists of 35 multiple choice questions, will be replaced by the Analytical Writing Measure, which is comprised of two essay questions. Revisions to the Analytical Writing Measure will include changes in both the number and types of questions in some of the individual sections and a change in the order in which test sections appear. Changes for the GRE will take effect October 1, 2002 and changes for the MCAT will be effective April 2003.

According to Albert Chen, Executive Director of Graduate Programs at Kaplan Test Prep, the new changes on the GRE are meant to provide a more individualized assessment of the test taker's analytical skills. The change on the MCAT of reordering the different sections should help test takers settle their nerves a bit before dealing with the analytical and reasoning sections of the exam.

While some students might find the new changes and corresponding changes to the test unnerveing, especially those who have not written an essay in awhile, this heads up about the upcoming changes gives test takers a chance to assess their strengths in choosing the appropriate time to take the exam.

--Cynthia Heaton

Criminal Justice EXPO

Criminal Justice organizations from every aspect of law came to Cal State San Bernardino to entice and inform student about their agency. Agencies represented varied from law enforcement to local probation, including the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI), Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA), San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, San Jose Police Department, and Riverside County Probation.

The event, the Criminal Justice Career Expo, was held last Thursday in the Events Center and was organized by the Criminal Justice Society, a newly created club on campus.

--Karla Buchanan

ASI board evaluates their benefits

By Lily Chou
and David Chadwick

Learning that ASI Associated Students, Incorporated executive staff members have their own personal offices, one might ask: "students with their own offices on campus?" YES! CSUSB, ASI officers do indeed have their own offices in the Student Union (and very nice ones too) but they have them for good reason. The ASI staff works hard to plan student activities and events that are both interesting and informative.

With ASI members working hard for students' extra-curricular enjoyment as well as their budget and fund many programs that happen, and help find funds for student organizations, another question and one rarely asked—might be: "do these members of the executive ASI staff get paid for diligently working for the student body?"

When the four members of the ASI executive staff: Luis Portillo, President, Sara Tabbas, Executive Vice-President; Juan Luna, Vice President of University Affairs and last but not least Ezekiel Bonillas, Vice President of Finance, took time out to talk about the benefits and disadvantages to being elected to the ASI Board, (listen up, those of you who are thinking of running for ASI in the future), they agreed that the benefits of most interest to future nominees were monthly stipends of $600 and waivers of base $475 tuitions. Nonetheless, three of the officers did not learn of their ASI financial benefits and other advantages they were elected, so they were not their motive for running. All four officers agreed they had found that these stipends were well deserved, because becoming an executive ASI staff member takes up a large chunk of time. Staff members also enjoy the option of parking in the faculty and staff lots, chances to meet fellow students as well as school administrators who might otherwise never encounter, and, as stated, having their own personal offices. Juan Carlos Luna, Vice-President of University Affairs, mentioned a few other "perks" to being an executive staff member: having one's own phone extension on campus, personalized business cards, and getting to know administrators who can be of help later on with job referrals and references.

President Luis Portillo added that because executive staff members get their base tuitions of $475 paid, they only have to pay $200 each quarter. He also says that his highly interactive job has given him much experience in learning to deal with people. He also likes mastering the art of presenting proposals to groups, as well as learning how to prioritize more efficiently. Loving to deal with people is an important part of the job, says Ezekiel Bonillas, Vice-President of Finance. This added experience has also been of huge benefit to Bonillas in his major, which is business administration. Bonillas also says that just having ones' name out on campus and the community is a benefit in itself. The female in this year's fabulous four is Sara Tabbas, Executive Vice-President, basically runs the everyday operations, says of her projects and position that "you can't get out of it what you put into it." Most rewarding for her is seeing her work put into action, she says. So is working as a team with her fellow executive members.

Each executive officer added that the few disadvantages to their jobs were how much time their workloads consumed, and the heaviness of their job responsibilities.

Luna, while very positive about being an active member in ASI, also regretted spending less time spent with his friends.

Tabbas noted other advantages: the red tape, how slowly things take to happen, and the stress and frustration of setbacks. "Ibabs' main complaint was that people watch her move because she is in a high position. She also said she feels as though she is often questioned.

Overall, each member stated that the experience of being in ASI is much more good than bad, and that making differences in campus life, as well as in their own lives, is a very rewarding experience.

Career Center Offers:

Spring on-campus interviews

The career development center has made arrangements for employers in business, industry, and government to conduct professional interviews during the spring quarter. Interviews begin on April 24, 2002 and run through June 10, 2002. To be eligible to participate in the programs, you must be a senior (graduating no later than June 2002) graduate student or alumnus. To participate, please visit the center's web site at http://career.csusb.edu and click on "interviewtrak." Once there, please follow the instructions to register. "Interviewtrak" allows candidates to sign-up online for all interviews. Please contact the Career Development Center at 909 880 5250 for additional information relating to this program. A listing of participating employers follows.

The Coyote Byte

When CSUSB opened its first Application fee was $5 as opposed to todays price of $55

For more information and facts like these check out the Pfau Library

Baskin Robbins

Students, Faculty, Togo's Great Sandwiches

10% discount off your purchase at either Togo's or Baskin Robbins with valid CSUSB student or faculty ID. Must present ID at the time of order. Not valid with any other discount, coupon or promotion.

Togo's/Baskin Robbins

4755 North University Parkway

San Bernardino, CA 92407

909-473-7494

Next to McDonald's
By Audrey Barrows, Staff Writer

Books get more expensive every quarter it seems, and we wanted to know where the best place to buy the least expensive books would be. We choose three different locations to save this purpose. The campus Coyote Bookstore, the Used Book Exchange (UBE) and an online bookstore know where the best place to buy courses with price findings.

April 15, 2002

BOOKSTORE FRENZY

By Rachel Gilbert, Special to the Chronicle

According to our findings, the UBE books were less expensive, if you could find the book you were looking for. Freshman Angie Rendon tried to buy her books at the UBE, but could not find one out of three textbooks. So she wound up back at the Coyote Bookstore. Nina Allison, a student in the Criminalist program, said that she obviously

How do you spell ‘success’?

By Rachel Gilbert, Special to the Chronicle

On April 17, 2002 from 3-5pm at Events Center C, the CSUSB Career Development Center will spell success, “F-I-F-I&S-fIS”, as they co-sponsor a special fashion show opening by Harris Gottschalks. In addition, attendees of the event will be presented. Male and female CSUSB students and staff have volunteered to model the clothing donated by Harris Gottschalks Department Store. The Coyote Bookstore also has

Coming soon:

By Sueze Medina, The Scene Editor

Just when you thought you had enough of politics and voting, student elections are around the corner. With only a couple of spaces open, Associated Students, Incorporated has set some guidelines and rules for all who are running. This is to ensure the highest quality candidate for a position that governs Cal States Student Body.

For running, one must first pick up an elections packet at the ASI office, which lays out the rules and guidelines for candidacy for the 2002-03 school year.

On the front page is a memorandum to ASI candidates from ASI president Luis Portillo. The letter congratulates the student for showing an interest in running and introduces the candidates that the rest of the packet will include. Also on this memorandum are two important dates, which are April 12 at 5 p.m., which is the application due date, and April 17-18, the two-day mandatory candidates workshop. Failure to meet these two bold print deadlines, results in not being placed on the ballot and being forced to run as a write-in candidate.

Sunday April 28th is also in bold because that is the day that candidates may start campaigning. Starting before noon of the April 28 will be considered a violation in the Cinize Statement of Intent that must be filled out by the petitioning

How a graduate degree costs too much?

Here's a great investment tip: Cal Baptist.

A graduate degree is supposed to pay dividends for a lifetime — but not all graduate degrees are created equal. At Cal Baptist, you can count on personalized attention from talented faculty, widely recognized graduate programs and ethical funds that distinguish you from the crowd. So don't think of your Cal Baptist graduate degree as money out of pocket. It's more like money in the bank.
I would improve on the way the traffic flows into campus when getting here in the morning, it would be easier if there were other ways of getting onto campus. It takes about fifteen minutes to get from the Ralph's shopping center onto campus. I take an alternate route through Little Mountain and get on campus in about five minutes.

Name: Zack West
Major: Environmental Science
Year: Senior

"I think that there should be a larger variety of food choices on campus. The school seems to growing everyday but yet the coyote cafe is small and hard to get in and out of with only two lines to serve you. It would be nice if there were a larger space that also made it fast and convenient to get something to eat with out having to leave the campus."

Name: Marie Gomez
Major: Criminal Justice
Year: Senior

"I think that more than one career expeditions should be held throughout the year. It gives the student a better understanding of what they need to do to in order to get a job after they graduate. I think that all major should have their own career expo. I just came from a Criminal Justice expo and received very helpful information regarding question that I had about my future plan within my major."

Name: Paris Lewis
Major: Chemistry
Year: Freshman

"It would like for there to more athletic programs such as football. My roommate and myself wanted to play football, although I also think that Title 9 doesn't make sense. Damn those women. I play football, although I also think that all major should have their own career expo. I just came from a Criminal Justice expo and received very helpful information regarding questions that I had about my future plan within my major."

Name: Juandertta Hearn
Major: Sociology
Year: Senior

"I think that there should be a larger variety of food choices on campus. The school seems to growing everyday but yet the coyote cafe is small and hard to get in and out of with only two lines to serve you. It would be nice if there were a larger space that also made it fast and convenient to get something to eat with out having to leave the campus."

By Susie Medina,
The Scene Editor

Her nickname is Madame Chaos. What else would we call someone with a lifestyle that runs like Angela Asbell's- an English Honor student with a 3.9 GPA. Asbell can be recognized for one of the many things she does on campus: tutoring at the Writing Center and in class. If you visited the Writing Center at all, you might have had her as a tutor or noticed her helping another student.

Or perhaps you've seen her assisting English professors. Or maybe you've heard her reading poetry outside of the Women's Resource Center. Whatever the case, if you've been involved with the English Department, it would be most difficult to remain oblivious of her work here.

Aside from the work Asbell does on campus, she also writes poetry. She works at it and improves it, and in her free time- she writes more poetry. As an English student she hopes to one day become a writer and have her work published. As of now she has self-published some of her poetry in books and distributes them to bookstores and other poet friends.

"I only try to sell my stuff to bookstores when I really need the money, usually I just give it to them though," says the starving artist. Most people don't write a book in their whole lifetime, and Asbell hasn't even graduated yet. Her name is being mentioned amongst the literary community. A local literary magazine called Digress is one that Asbell has also been contributing her time to. The magazine is ran by former Cal State student and close friend of Asbell Annie Knight. The magazine reviews books, music, movies and poems. There are articles as well as works from those who write short stories or poetry. Angela Asbell writes articles and poetry for the magazine frequently.

Asbell has been writing poetry since she was about 8 years old. Poetry back then consisted of rhyming and rhythm but has changed since she got older. "I wasn't comfortable with my poetry until about my second year of college, when something changed. I had always applied what I knew and learned about writing and incorporated it into my work but something happened and it was different that made me actually like my writing."

Whatever the change was not only satisfied Asbell herself but the audience she reads to on a regular basis. Local coffee shops and Cal State are where she has performed her open-mike poetry. Prevalemt themes are women issues, love complications and of course Madam Chaos. Asbell will be graduating this June and will be attending graduate school here at Cal State. She wants to become a professional writer and teacher.

The only problem lying up ahead will be what her students call her- Madame Asbell or Madame Chaos.
CASINO NIGHT WINS BIG

By Bethany Anderson, Assistant Multi-Cultural Editor

This past Tuesday night, the Serrano Village Association (SVA) held Casino Night in the Student Union Event Center. With over one hundred students in attendance, the first event was a success and allowed students the chance to let loose and have fun on campus.

Students who attended the event received one hundred dollars of play money in exchange for gambling chips to play games such as Blackjack, Roulette, Craps, and Movie Tickets for the winners. Grand prizes for the event were $250 towards more winners, until the $250, then the leftover funds go to the Cal State campus.

Well, I had finally done it. I graduated from college; it's no big deal really, especially when you have an older sister who has already earned her Masters Degree. Yes, it is an accomplishment unto itself and everyone's college experience is different. But I felt obligated to contribute back to college that gave me my Cal State education. Ultimately there is something that universally the same for everyone: post-graduation and the question of, "Now What?"

I decided to write a column to try to make sense of this, with a specific audience in mind. I'm targeting those who are about to graduate or those who have recently completed all their units.

"Man, You're in for some trouble." So to grease the rough and rigid transition from the classroom to the workplace, I hope to shed a little light on the unexpected hurdles that challenge even the most experienced of battle worn college five-year veterans.

College merely scratches the surface of what is really out there. Just wait and see, attending classes, Thai noodles, procrastinating on papers, that guy or girl you're still working up the courage to ask out, dollar drink nights and dating shows on television is a warm bubble for the average college kid. Until the day that the jubilation of commencement and all of your other accomplishments wear off, and you are left scratching your head trying to plan your next step.

I do not mean to sound so fatalistic; there is a brighter side. I plan to address them and other pressing matters unique to the animal that is the college graduate. Because now you have a completely new set of problems to deal with. A roommates, I've got some insights. So, enjoy senioritis and its all of its wonderful side effects and look for the next installment of "Transitions."

TRANSITIONS

Column for the graduating senior

By Jorgie Salazar, Special to the Chronicle

Well, I had finally done it. I graduated from college; it's no big deal really, especially when you have an older sister who has already earned her Masters Degree. Yes, it is an accomplishment unto itself and everyone's college experience is different. But I felt obligated to contribute back to college that gave me my Cal State education. Ultimately there is something that universally the same for everyone: post-graduation and the question of, "Now What?"

I decided to write a column to try to make sense of this, with a specific audience in mind. I'm targeting those who are about to graduate or those who have recently completed all their units.

"Man, You're in for some trouble." So to grease the rough and rigid transition from the classroom to the workplace, I hope to shed a little light on the unexpected hurdles that challenge even the most experienced of battle worn college five-year veterans.

College merely scratches the surface of what is really out there. Just wait and see, attending classes, Thai noodles, procrastinating on papers, that guy or girl you're still working up the courage to ask out, dollar drink nights and dating shows on television is a warm bubble for the average college kid. Until the day that the jubilation of commencement and all of your other accomplishments wear off, and you are left scratching your head trying to plan your next step.

I do not mean to sound so fatalistic; there is a brighter side. I plan to address them and other pressing matters unique to the animal that is the college graduate. Because now you have a completely new set of problems to deal with. A roommates, I've got some insights. So, enjoy senioritis and its all of its wonderful side effects and look for the next installment of "Transitions."

LONG-TERM CAR RENTAL

By Charles B. Serrano

The Serrano Village Association held a Casino Night in the Student Union Event Center Tuesday night. Five hundred guests attended, with proceeds benefiting the SVA Scholarship Fund.

The evening included a variety of activities, such as blackjack, roulette, craps, and racing. Prizes were awarded for the highest winners on the night. The grand prize was a $750 gift certificate from the Coyote Bookstore.

President of University Affairs were selected for President, Executive Vice President, Vice President of Finance, and Vice President of Student Affairs.

Legal

Questions?

1. Consult with a practicing attorney
2. Receive an attorney referral
3. Choose from 10 attorneys
4. Faculty and staff pay minimal fee
5. Located in SU-144A

For more information, call (909) 880-5936 or email us at asilec@csusb.edu
Cultural perspectives: Looking in on America

By Yazmin Alvarez
Staff Writer

Awad Abed Awad proudly represents his cultural background. Born and raised in Michigan, he learned to live the “American” way of life; however, he never let go of his family heritage. Awad is Arab. His family is from the West Bank in Palestine. He is proud. He is thankful to have a part of both cultures.

The Arab culture is strong in its belief of honor and tradition. Awad holds these two characteristics close to his heart and his family heritage. Awad is Arab. The name “Awad” has ancient roots. It is thousands of years old and means “to return.” This name represents his cultural background. By passing on the father’s name, it shows a way of prestige to the family through the means of honor and respect. It is known that the name Awad has been passed on in Awad’s family for about 5 or 6 generations. By passing on the father’s name, it shows a way of prestige to the family through the means of honor and traditions.

Having grown up in the United States, he faced discrimination due to his racial background. Nonetheless, Awad learned to manage the problem. He became familiar with the lifestyle of having both American and Arab culture into his everyday life. Awad is seen by his family and peers as how to be “American” for Arabs. However, Awad feels stuck within the situation.

He cannot seem to find the middle ground within this cultural clash, but he has yet to give up: “I consider myself to be in the best of both worlds,” he states. Awad has lived in California since 1990. He finished his schooling out here and has attained a considerable amount of accomplishments for a 25 year old. He has completed his Bachelors degree in liberal studies and is currently working on his Masters in National Security Intelligence Studies. He has also been a part of two Model United Nation and Model Arab teams. Awad is also fluent in 3 languages, and will be going to Egypt to take an Arabic class to work on his grammar. A professor once told him, “Education is like a mountain, the more you go up, the wider range you see.” Awad has personally proven this to be true.

On campus, Awad is well known and very active. Many come to him for leadership because of what he has accomplished. He seems to be the one to represent both Arab and Muslims here at Cal State. However, he feels as though people assume too much from him. “When you’re labeled like this, people who don’t know you put you on a pedestal. They question your perspective. You have to keep your image and it’s frustrating.” Awad has also found it frustrating in finding a correlation between his two cultures. He struggles because he has seen the world to be biased. But he refuses to be the same way “To me everyone is human, no one is different. Life is more than just being that. It’s not just narrow, I have to keep an open mind.” Awad represents himself as being just that, as open minded as possible. He stated that if he had to show what he represents, he would place himself between an international flag and the globe. Awad would unquestionably fulfill the position of being in-between. He has earned an honorable status of being a member of both the American and Arab culture, while staying devoted to his true roots and values, and keeping a humble mind.

Cal State community making a stand for peace

By Yazmin Alvarez
Staff Writer

Standing for peace. That was what members of the Newman Catholic Ministry practiced on Wednesday afternoon.

This event was provoked by the recent escalating violence and war around the world. I’m here to reflect upon what peace means,” stated Armida Luna, a Cal State Alumni. “Peace must be taken into consideration,” she says.

The event was small but not unheard. There were not a lot of refreshments. There was not any food. They weren’t trying to get any attention. There purpose was to be neutral in the peace. They were not there to represent it, and they made their point. Many students walked by and witnessed the purpose of the event, some even joined in. Azucena Del Llano, Vice President of the organization, attended the event in order to take a more active stand. “All we have here is a banner with words, but the significance makes people look for a moment. That will probably be more than they will ever do during this year. This here is just one way of demonstrating, anyone can do it.”

The stand for peace was an hour-long event. It was organized by Eulogia Petta, Club Director of the Newman Catholic Ministry in order to raise the consciousness of the Cal State community. She sent out a campus e-mail to advise the public of the stand. In the end, those involved were able to raise the awareness of peace.
Cal State sends representatives to New Orleans Conference

By Luis A. Martinez
Special to the Chronicle

On Tuesday April 2nd, 2002 members of the College of Education (COE) attended a launching party for the Journal of Latinos and Education in New Orleans.

There was a mixture of professors and students that attended the 83rd annual meeting of the American Educational Research Association held in New Orleans, Louisiana.

COE members that attended were Enrique Murillo Jr., Susan Flores, Cathie Stevenson, Nena Torres, Jose Salvador Hernandez, Juan M. Gutierrez, Cris Silva, Luis Martinez, and Dean Pat Arlin, whom were all part of a 200,000-plus attendance at the conference.

Professors, graduate students, researchers and dignitaries were also in attendance as was the U.S. Secretary of Education Rod Paige, who attended Susanas Flores' presentation. Flores is a professor at Cal State Fullerton and associate editor of JLE.

The Journal of Latinos and Education intentions are to have a forum for scholars and writers to analyze, critique, discuss and disseminate ideas affecting educational issues.

Editor Enrique Murillo stated, "We found there was a vacuum to be filled. We concluded that many scholars who deal with educational issues affecting Latinos were being published sporadically, appearing singly, apart or in isolated instances in highly specialized journals, or were simply absent."

Wednesday evening, the JLE hosted its national launching party at the Sheraton, which was co-hosted with the Hispanic Research Issues Special Interest Group in which professor Juan M. Gutierrez is the incoming chair.

The reception was well attended with close to 500 in attendance. The launching was a success and everybody was talking about it.

The event was a great experience for students to exchange ideas on a national platform. Representatives from top schools from around the country were in attendance.

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS:

2002/03 CSUSB GOLDEN APPLE AWARD

On behalf of Dr. Susan McDonald, Chair of the Outstanding Professor and Golden Apple Award Selection Committee, we are now calling for nominations of candidates for the 2002/03 Golden Apple Award. Nominations may be made by faculty, students and others.

The selected faculty member will be honored at the Faculty Recognition Luncheon in June 2003 and will be awarded a $2,000 Faculty Professional Development grant for purpose of research and professional activities (eg., travel, equipment, stipend, research, etc.). In addition, the selected Golden Apple Award winner will be honored at the 2002/03 Golden Apple award ceremony sponsored by the Mayor’s Office of the City of San Bernardino.

To nominate a candidate for the 2002/03 Golden Apple Award, please complete the form below and return it to the Office of Academic Affairs (AD 101) by no later than Friday, April 19, 2002.

I wish to nominate the following faculty member of the California State University, San Bernardino faculty for the 2002/03 Golden Apple Award.

Professor

Name of Professor

List Faculty, Student, Administrative

This form may be submitted in a letter to the Office of Academic Affairs (AD 101) by no later than Friday, April 19, 2002.
Esoteric7 and Freakdaddy Rock
downtown Tobacco Lounge

By Sharess C. Clark
A&E Editor

Downtown Riverside, March 27, 9:40 p.m. - decided to check out two local bands Freakdaddy and Esoteric 7 at the Tobacco
Lounge in lovely Downtown
Riverside.

While Freakdaddy set up their gear, there was a DJ spinning with all his might. The crowd including himself seemed to be really into it.
Not only was the DJ keeping things interesting inside, he was also bringing in folks from outside.
After the bands were all set up,
they started to warm up to whatever the DJ was playing, and that was fine with the crowd. There was a short introduction of band members and then the show began.
Freakdaddy opened up strong with “Get Up Stand Up,” and that Esoteric meaning “understood by a chosen few” and 7 meaning that there is 1-2-3-4-5-6-7 of them.
These cats have so much style that I haven’t felt a phrase from the eighties just to do them justice.
They were “All the way live!” They were straight up Hip-Hop/Rock. They are the result of what RUN DMC and Aerosmith did all those years ago.
The two front men had a type of question answer
rhyming style to their songs, and their flow was,
well, fluid (if you will).
The band was consistent with a nice smooth steady groove that was smooth
enough to flow over, yet not so cheesy where I could put on a cell phone.
It was too bad that the bass amp was on crack and decided not to function correctly. The show was cut short a couple of songs, but they will be playing at the Orange Blossom Festival on April 20 (yes that’s 4-20) on the 99.1KGGI stage.
All together this was a really nice show. It was a small place so everyone fit in snugly. The show rocked, the people were cool, and the bands are definitely the base prospects in our elaborate double heavied musical culture in the Inland Empire. Keep it up Boys!

Coysro movie ticket

By Ivan Fernandez and Marcos Landin
staff writers

The “Snootch” grading system:
One star = Snootchie
Two stars = Snootchie
Three stars = Snootchie Bootchoes
Four stars = Snootch to the Motherf@#$in Nooch!

Y Tu Mama Tambien (and Your Momma Too)
Two friends take a road trip with a cousin’s wife in a sexually charged coming of age Story.
Ivan: This is the difference between “American Pie” made in the US, and “Mexican Pie” made in Mexico (we’ll call it, Mexican Pie). “American Pie” meets the level of the mid-puberty 13 year-old, while “Mexican Pie” strives to be something more. "Y Tu Mama Tambien" has the comedy you’d expect to find in “American Pie” and the drama you’d expect to find in

GUESS THE QUOTES!!

"Apparently we’re not getting any e-mails. Let us remind you: it does cost money to send e-mail. So in a desperate attempt for attention, and for your attempt at fifteen minutes of fame, we’ll be posting movie quotes every week. If you would like to show off your movie skills, e-mail us with the answer as so to what movie the quotes are from and you will find yourself in the Advanced. There will be two levels for each quote: Novice and Advanced. You may answer one or both. Last week’s winner was EnTuCama@*.com. Don’t forget your name next time buddy.
Special thanks to all who wrote in.
The answers were “Star Wars: A
New Hope” and “RoboCop.”
Winner of the advanced question will receive a free movie!
The unreleased, hard-to-find, cult-classic “Phasian Fan.” Novice: “All we want is in that room.”
Advanced: “I’ll swallow your soul, I’ll swallow your soul.”

What do you have to say
about the music on campus?
If you have an idea, e-mail us at:
sbchron@csush.edu

Esoteric7 and Freakdaddy Rock downtown Tobacco Lounge

This Week’s Featured Artists

Photos Courtesy of Freakdaddy.com

Live music on campus

GRK Project plays for
and audience outside of the centers. They are one of the many bands that were picked for noon-
time entertainment.

“It’s a good
opportunity for the bands as well as the audience, the campus needs
more noise.”

- Veronica

“If the band played
at a later time in
front of the village
square, I bet a lot more students
would show up at the shows.”

- Seth Alvarado

Being lost and alone can be a very uncomfortable feeling. For Bill who has just transferred from a small town out of state, going to a big school like Cal State San Bernardino can be a little overwhelming.
His first week consisted of moving back and fourth from
department to department,
talking to voice mails, and chasing
down Teachers and administrators
who seem to just disappear.
With all of the hustle and bustle, it is good to see that Bill
can get acquainted with fellow students
while Listening to a live band in the Student Union Courtyard.
For sometime now, the student Union has been providing a
lunchtime live show from 12:00
1:00pm, every two weeks. The bands range between all different types of music.
This spring opening show was
the GRK Project, which entertained their audience with live jazz hits, complete with vocals, keyboards, guitars and drums. “It’s a good opportunity for the bands as well as the audience.” Said Veronica Miranda a 23yr old
English Major from Moreno
Valley she adds; “This campus
needs more noise.”

“Just to hear live music no matter what it is” said Raoul Raya a 23yr old Sociology major from Riverside. So far the band have been a hit students like the variety
of music, which have ranged from Alternativ, Jazz, R&B and
even Political Rock.
Zach Freeman a 22yr old
Geology Major, believes that the only big problem is getting the word out, he said. "There should be more advertisements, I found out about the show because I just started to be eating lunch in the area when they started to play.”

Seth Alvarado a 21 yr old
Computer Science major agrees
he believes that a change in location may attract more of a crowd. He said “If the band played at a later time and in front of the village square I bet that a lot more students would show up to the shows.”

Next show will be
Alternative Band playing at
1:00pm, so weather by word of mouth
or just passing the student Union drop by and support the local band. Who knows you just might meet or learn something new.

What do you have to say
about the music on campus?
If you have an idea, e-mail us at:
sbchron@csush.edu

April 15, 2002

GRK Project plays for
and audience outside of the centers. They are
one of the many
bands that were
picked for noon-
time entertainment.

“It’s a good
opportunity for the bands as well as the
audience, the
campus needs
more noise.”

- Veronica

“If the band played
at a later time in
front of the village
square, I bet a lot
more students
would show up at
the shows.”

- Seth Alvarado

Being lost and alone can be a very uncomfortable feeling. For Bill who has just transferred from
a small town out of state, going
to a big school like Cal State San Bernardino can be a little
overwhelming.
His first week consisted of
moving back and fourth from
department to department,
talking to voice mails, and chasing
down Teachers and administrators
who seem to just disappear.
With all of the hustle and
bustle, it is good to see that Bill
can get acquainted with fellow students
while Listening to a live band in
the Student Union Courtyard.
For sometime now, the student Union has been providing a
lunchtime live show from 12:00
1:00pm, every two weeks. The bands range between all different
types of music.
This spring opening show was
the GRK Project, which entertained their audience with
live jazz hits, complete with
vocals, keyboards, guitars and
drums. “It’s a good opportunity
for the bands as well as the audience.” Said Veronica Miranda a 23yr old
English Major from Moreno
Valley she adds; “This campus
needs more noise.”

“Just to hear live music no matter what it is” said Raoul Raya a 23yr old Sociology major from Riverside. So far the band have been a hit students like the variety
of music, which have ranged from Alternativ, Jazz, R&B and
even Political Rock.
Zach Freeman a 22yr old
Geology Major, believes that the
only big problem is getting the
word out, he said. "There should be more advertisements, I found out about the show because I just started to be eating lunch in the
area when they started to play.”

Seth Alvarado a 21 yr old
Computer Science major agrees
he believes that a change in
location may attract more of a
crowd. He said “If the band played at a later time and in front of the village square I bet that a lot more students would show up
to the shows.”

Next show will be
Alternative Band playing at
1:00pm, so weather by word of mouth
or just passing the student Union drop by and support the
local band. Who knows you just might meet or learn something
new.

What do you have to say
about the music on campus?
If you have an idea, e-mail us at:
sbchron@csush.edu
MUSEUM STUDIES:
for Friends of the Robert V. Fullerton Art Museum and offered at 4pm; followed by a dedication and naming of the "Nancy and George Ellis Gallery". Also, a New York artist, Marilla Palmer, will be presenting her delicate pastel mobiles and other almost ephemeral compositions in the "Nancy and George Ellis Gallery" from April 13-May 26. Information: Phone 909 880-7373 e-mail: artmuseum@csush.edu

CONCERT

Artist

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Concert</th>
<th>Date</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Medeski, Martin and Wood</td>
<td>House of Blues Anaheim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Particle</td>
<td>Knitting Factory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rancid / NOFX</td>
<td>The Grove of Anaheim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big Bad Voodoo Daddy</td>
<td>House of Blues Anaheim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wayne Shorter</td>
<td>Bovard Auditorium</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pancho Sanchez</td>
<td>San Bernardino Valley College</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prince</td>
<td>Kodak Theatre</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robert Cray</td>
<td>Galaxy Theatre</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cracker</td>
<td>House of Blues Anaheim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hank Williams III</td>
<td>Galaxy Theatre</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Les Claypool's Frog Brigade</td>
<td>House of Blues Anaheim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Slayer</td>
<td>The Grove of Anaheim</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alanis Morissette</td>
<td>Universal Amphitheatre</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sevendust</td>
<td>Gotham</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

after this, the corporate ladder will be a piece of cake.

In the course of facing challenges like this, you'll learn how to think on your feet. Stay cool under pressure. Take charge. Think to an Army ROTC rep. You'll find there's nothing like a little climbing to help prepare you for getting to the top.

ARMY ROTC

Unlike any other college course you can take.

APPLY NOW FOR PAID SUMMER LEADERSHIP TRAINING AND ARMY OFFICER OPPORTUNITIES Call 909-621-3182 for info on Fall Tuition Paid Scholarships!
April 15, 2002

Student Union Gorner

JNIVERSIT

VOLL

andwiches for only .99 c&nU, small yougurt $ 1.39

11:30 A.M.-1:30 P.M.

"ASI Board of Directors Meeting"
Sacwid 8' Sub of Equal or Lessor Value Free

Metro City CC Leadership Class

event center C
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

"Understanding & Applying Christian Methods"
Student Union university room
12:05 p.m. - 12:45p.m.

"Understanding & Applying Christian Methods"
Student Union university room
12:05 p.m. - 12:45p.m.

"Understanding & Applying Christian Methods"
Student Union university room
12:05 p.m. - 12:45p.m.

The Nest of the Wise
Noon - 1pm & 7pm

"Interviewing Fashion Shows" event center C
3 p.m. - 5 p.m.

ASI "Movie Night" event centers 6 & C
6 p.m. - 10 p.m.

S.O.U.L. MEETING university room
2 p.m. - 4 p.m.

ASI "Movie Night" event centers 6 & C
6 p.m. - 10 p.m.

Metro City CC Leadership Class

event center C
6:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, April 17th, we will be having "Understanding & Applying Christian Methods" at the Student Union University Room from 12:05 PM to 12:45 PM. This is a unique opportunity for students to gain a deeper understanding of how they can integrate their faith into their daily lives, especially in the context of their academic pursuits. It's open to all students, and everyone is invited to attend. The student union university room is located on the ground floor of the student union building, and refreshments will be provided. We encourage all students to come and participate in this important educational event.
NEW 2002 CHRYSLER PT CRUISERS!
$13,990* Largest Inventory!

Over 100 In Stock Ready For Immediate Delivery

1 at this price.
(VIN 308663)

NEW 2002 JEEP WRANGLER 4X4
$12,990*

RUGGED 4X4

1 at this price.
(VIN 719373)

NEW 2002 CHRYSLER VOYAGER
$13,990*

7 Pass, Auto, Air, AM/FM Cass. & More!

1 at this price.
(VIN 552604)

NEW 2002 CHRYSLER SEBRING LX
$13,990*

Auto, Air, AM/FM Cass. & More!

1 at this price.
(VIN 164722)

NEW 2002 JEEP LIBERTY 4X4
$19,990*

Auto, Air, P/S, Alloys, P/L/W, Loaded!

1 at this price.
(VIN 211172)

7 Year-100,000 Mile Powertrain Protection

FREE! Over $1 MILLION INVENTORY OF GOOD, CLEAN USED VEHICLES!

770 Showcase Dr., San Bernardino 909.889.9911 or 1.888.245.2778

www.shaverautocenter.com
Letter to the editor
Temporary gym a bust for this athlete

Like any other CPU, course you can take. I was extremely unimpressed. Comparing it to the arena's fitness center, which I thoroughly enjoyed using. I don’t think its nearly as good. Yes, the arena’s gym is a much smaller space, but it has much more equipment, and better quality equipment for that matter.

Walking into the new gym last night, I was not greeted with the TV's or a Muzak Music system as promoted. I understand it was temporary, but I'm working a 9 to 5 job, and I don’t want to be looking up at a sign posted on the arena’s basement doors. Belinda Bracken

March 15, 2002

The New York Times last week points out this when he asked, “So what about Israeli reprisals that kill innocent Palestinian civilians?” He continued by pointing out that U.S. officials often focus on individuals and organizations, with the exception of Iraq, when choosing to define who is and is not a ‘terrorist’. Israel is a democracy and under international law and, Palestinian’s do not have a state, so American officials label Palestinians as ‘terrorists’.

“I generally think that labeling is not very effective. I disagree that nations can engage in terrorist like behaviors (including our own actions). Ultimately, people who are supposed to defend themselves against a group of people is often a sign that something is very wrong,” continued Sober. Nyma Stibbe, syndicated columnist and executive director of the Institute for Public Accuracy, wrote in a commentary last October “Every-handed use of the ‘terrorist’ label would ‘cost us dearly’ and affixing it directly on the U.S. government.” If journalists can’t own up to that fact, Solomon asserts, “then perhaps the word should be retired from the media lexicon.” I would agree. Anybody can be a ‘terrorist’. It is when you target civilians and non-combative locations that we assume that you are a ‘terrorist’. However, I would wind up with more than a heated argument for voicing your opinions in our post Sept. 11th political mine field. Take for instance, Bill Maher, host of ABC’s Politically Incorrect, who jumped into a tub of hot water when he said in a discussion with guests about the WTC attacks on Sept. 17, “we have been the cowards lobbing cruise missiles from 2,000 miles away. That’s cowardly. Staying in the airplane when it hits the building, say what you want but that’s not cowardly.” Consequently, Sears and Federbullied advertisers from the show and many ABC affiliates dropped the show altogether.

In article in the Washington Post last week, William Raspberry pointed out Maher’s faux pas on ABC and was even a little skeptical in voicing his own view. He thought Maher’s intention was not to glorify ~Terrorist continued on page 13

Executive Editor
Managing Editor
News Editor
The Scene Editor
Multi-Cultural Editor
Asst. Multi-Cultural Editor
Editor
A & E Editor
Sports Editor
Asst. Sports Editor
Op/Ed Editor
Copy Editor
Design/Layout Editor
Asst. Advertising Manager
Faculty Advisor
Graduate Assistant
Business Manager

John E. Judd
Matthew Schoenmann
Mathew Taylor
Susie Medina
Jake Zylman
Bethany Anderson
Shareena C. Clark
John Halcon
Kerrit Boyd
Karla Buchanan
Open
Matthew Schoenmann
Steve Shelton
Robin Larsen
John Enig

University Hall, UH037
5500 University Parkway
San Bernardino, CA 92407
Fax: 880-7009
E-mail: sbchron@mail.csusb.edu
Check out the Chronicle online: http://chronicle.csusb.edu

Staff Writers: Yazmin Alvarez, Audrey Burrows, Teresita Sosa, Rodige Rodriguez, Melissa Adamson, Beth Bennett, Jon Bohlander, David Chadwick, Lily Choi, Cynthia Heaton, Amanda Hewett, Jason Kauflin, Ann Marie McBride, Jesse Henderson

The Chronicle is published every Friday, for distribution on Monday, during the academic sessions by the Department of Communication Studies, California State University San Bernardino.

The opinions expressed in this Chronicle are those of the student writers and editors, and do not reflect the views of the university, its administration, faculty or any other person or association without express permission.

The appearance of any advertisement in the Chronicle does not constitute an endorsement by the newspaper of the goods and or services advertised. The Chronicle reserves the right to refuse any advertisement it deems inappropriate.
The goals of the audit include the strategic mission, standard practices, the bidding process, utilization of consultants, cost of overruns and whether the CSU's needs are being met by the PeopleSoft contractor.

The audit will most likely begin in next month. The State Auditor has already begun preparing to conduct two audits in May and June. The audit will cost an estimated $185,500 and would require 2,650 man-hours of work. The audit is considered to be medium to large in scope. There has been no opposition to the request.

Laguardia Airport

--- Advertisement ---

Jersey's Pizza

TUESDAY & THURSDAY

Are

CSUSB Discount Nights

50% OFF Any Pizza

Now offering Delivery to CSUSB

After 6:00 p.m. • Dine in only

Now offering Delivery to CSUSB Serrano Village

Limit one Pizza per L.D. • Specialty Pizzas Excluded

--- Advertisement ---

Penske Truck Leasing Company has an immediate opening for energetic individuals who wish to enter the exciting field of truck rental and leasing.

This exciting entry level career opportunity at our Fontana location consists of extensive customer contact, and various other administrative duties. Excellent communications skills and professional appearance required. Prior customer service experience also required. Promotional opportunities available after graduation!

We offer a competitive salary and benefits that include medical, dental, company paid retirement, profit sharing, & 401K. For immediate consideration, please FAX or email your resume, or apply in person at:

Penske Truck Leasing
14229 Serrano Ave.
Fontana, CA 92337

Jeff.Hunt@penske.com

--- Advertisement ---

Rentals

JLAC will be directing the State Auditor to examine CMS. The goals of the audit include the strategic mission, standard practices, the bidding process, utilization of consultants, cost of overruns and whether the CSU's needs are being met by the PeopleSoft contractor.

The audit will most likely begin in next month. The State Auditor has already begun preparing to conduct two audits in May and June. The audit will cost an estimated $185,500 and would require 2,650 man-hours of work. The audit is considered to be medium to large in scope. There has been no opposition to the request.

Laguardia Airport

--- Advertisement ---

Jersey's Pizza

TUESDAY & THURSDAY

Are

CSUSB Discount Nights

50% OFF Any Pizza

Now offering Delivery to CSUSB

After 6:00 p.m. • Dine in only

Now offering Delivery to CSUSB Serrano Village

Limit one Pizza per L.D. • Specialty Pizzas Excluded

--- Advertisement ---

Penske Truck Leasing Company has an immediate opening for energetic individuals who wish to enter the exciting field of truck rental and leasing.

This exciting entry level career opportunity at our Fontana location consists of extensive customer contact, and various other administrative duties. Excellent communications skills and professional appearance required. Prior customer service experience also required. Promotional opportunities available after graduation!

We offer a competitive salary and benefits that include medical, dental, company paid retirement, profit sharing, & 401K. For immediate consideration, please FAX or email your resume, or apply in person at:

Penske Truck Leasing
14229 Serrano Ave.
Fontana, CA 92337

Jeff.Hunt@penske.com

--- Advertisement ---

Rentals

JLAC will be directing the State Auditor to examine CMS. The goals of the audit include the strategic mission, standard practices, the bidding process, utilization of consultants, cost of overruns and whether the CSU's needs are being met by the PeopleSoft contractor.

The audit will most likely begin in next month. The State Auditor has already begun preparing to conduct two audits in May and June. The audit will cost an estimated $185,500 and would require 2,650 man-hours of work. The audit is considered to be medium to large in scope. There has been no opposition to the request.
Players look to bring closure to season at CCAA

By John D. Halcon
Sports Editor

The women's tennis team has reached its final destination.

Seven players began the season on the team, and seven still remain.

Those seven players are the foundation that brought a smile to head coach Thomas Starzyk face.

"I'm very pleased with this team," said Starzyk who went 3-11 last season. "I really believe we've rounded the corners, which is very positive for me and the entire program."

However, there's still one task remaining to be completed - the California Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament which is to be held from Thursday, April 18 till April 21.

The CCAA tournament will be the final match of the year for the Coyotes, who didn't qualify for the 2001-02 tennis season.

The women's tennis team has reached its final destination. The last time the Coyotes reached its final destination.

The CCAA tournament will be the final match of the year for the Coyotes, who didn't qualify for the 2001-02 tennis season.

However, there's still one task remaining to be completed - the California Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament which is to be held from Thursday, April 18 till April 21.

By Andre' Mckinney
Special to the Cal St. B."n

The department of Recreational Sports is looking to a new direction to pull in more participants for their activities.

In the fall of 2005, the Recreational Department will open their long awaited sports facility complex to students, faculty and alumni.

Coordinator Rick Craig, and assistant coordinator Raul Hernandez believe this step will help Cal State San Bernardino in the process of becoming one of the major schools in the CSU system.

Intermural sports was the key focus in the past, but now the main focus of the department is the new facility.

The two-floor facility will contain a weight room that is about three times the size of the current building, and another indoor basketball gym that has rounded corners so it can be also used for indoor hockey, indoor volleyball, and tennis.

On the second floor there will be an aerobics room and an indoor running track.

The two-floor facility will contain a weight room that is about three times the size of the current building, and another indoor basketball gym that has rounded corners so it can be also used for indoor hockey, indoor volleyball, and tennis.

On the second floor there will be an aerobics room and an indoor running track.

It will be located next to the Coussoulis Arena.

How did this come about you ask?

Last year students voted to pass a proposal to begin construction on the facility at an estimated cost of about $14 extra per student each quarter.

Students that attend Cal State San Bernardino know, but will have graduated by 2005 will get to use the new facilities for two consecutive quarters for every quarter they attend school until the new complex is built.

For example, if I graduate in the spring of 2003 then I will be able to use the new complex free of charge for eight consecutive quarters after its opening in 2005.

Current students and future students aren't the only benefiting from the new complex.

For a membership fee offered on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis alumni and faculty will be given the opportunity to use the facility.

The benefits of having a new facility are that it will create more interest for incoming freshmen, and give the students more to do because the new operation hours will be from 6 a.m. to 12 p.m.

It will eliminate a waiting list to use the facilities and more programs can be offered since "the students" will operate it.

In combination with the new apartments that are being built in Serrano Village, Cal State San Bernardino are bound to take the pseudonym "commuter school" out of the collective consciousness of the campus.

Calling it "the jewel of Rec. Sports," Craig believes that Cal State will have an ideal setting for this new complex.

Even though it will push intramural sports to the rear, in the long run they, too, will benefit from the new facility.

Sparking more interest from students, and especially from women, which according to Hernandez comprise 65 percent of the campus population. (Still only 10 percent of female participate in intramural sports.)

Who would have thought that something like a new facility could be so important to the welfare of the students, or that a little department like Rec. Sports could have such a profound affect on the campus structure.

Special Update:

By Andre' Mckinney
Special to the College Reporter

The department of Recreational Sports is looking to a new direction to pull in more participants for their activities.

In the fall of 2005, the Recreational Department will open their long awaited sports facility complex to students, faculty and alumni.

Coordinator Rick Craig, and assistant coordinator Raul Hernandez believe this step will help Cal State San Bernardino in the process of becoming one of the major schools in the CSU system.

Intermural sports was the key focus in the past, but now the main focus of the department is the new facility.

The two-floor facility will contain a weight room that is about three times the size of the current building, and another indoor basketball gym that has rounded corners so it can be also used for indoor hockey, indoor volleyball, and tennis.

On the second floor there will be an aerobics room and an indoor running track.

The two-floor facility will contain a weight room that is about three times the size of the current building, and another indoor basketball gym that has rounded corners so it can be also used for indoor hockey, indoor volleyball, and tennis.

On the second floor there will be an aerobics room and an indoor running track.

It will be located next to the Coussoulis Arena.

How did this come about you ask?

Last year students voted to pass a proposal to begin construction on the facility at an estimated cost of about $14 extra per student each quarter.

Students that attend Cal State San Bernardino know, but will have graduated by 2005 will get to use the new facilities for two consecutive quarters for every quarter they attend school until the new complex is built.

For example, if I graduate in the spring of 2003 then I will be able to use the new complex free of charge for eight consecutive quarters after its opening in 2005.

Current students and future students aren't the only benefiting from the new complex.

For a membership fee offered on a monthly, quarterly or annual basis alumni and faculty will be given the opportunity to use the facility.

The benefits of having a new facility are that it will create more interest for incoming freshmen, and give the students more to do because the new operation hours will be from 6 a.m. to 12 p.m.

It will eliminate a waiting list to use the facilities and more programs can be offered since "the students" will operate it.

In combination with the new apartments that are being built in Serrano Village, Cal State San Bernardino are bound to take the pseudonym "commuter school" out of the collective consciousness of the campus.

Calling it "the jewel of Rec. Sports," Craig believes that Cal State will have an ideal setting for this new complex.

Even though it will push intramural sports to the rear, in the long run they, too, will benefit from the new facility.

Sparking more interest from students, and especially from women, which according to Hernandez comprise 65 percent of the campus population. (Still only 10 percent of female participate in intramural sports.)

Who would have thought that something like a new facility could be so important to the welfare of the students, or that a little department like Rec. Sports could have such a profound affect on the campus structure.

Special Update: Recreational sport optimistic about future of facility.
A pair of aces — Senior Harry Gounds (left) talks with freshman Brandon Abben (right) during a golf tournament.

FOLLOW THE BALL — Frank Firman (front) watches a putt as J.R. Reyes looks on. The Coyotes will be preparing for the California Collegiate Association Tournament come April 22-23 with expectations of progressing to the Regional tournament.

Stiff competition sparks men's golf squad
J.R. Reyes and crew hungry for a berth in Regional Tournament in Arizona

By John D. Halcon
Sports Editor

During an interview with Rodolfo "J.R." Reyes about the condition of his Cal State San Bernardino golf posse, Reyes could not help but remain silent to one question.

"Everyone is not too far from each other," said Reyes, who is from San Diego. "I mean if you look at Lonnie [Charleson], David [Backus] and Frank [Firman], we're all about hitting the same stroke.

Actually, Reyes is three tenths of a stroke better than Charleson, a returning senior who averaged 78 last year, and Reyes is also five tenths better from Firman and Backus, who both are shooting an early 76.7 stroke per round.

Still it's the team chemistry and unity that seems to ignite Reyes when talking about his team's strengths.

"I think we're a better team than a year ago, even though this is my first year with the team," said Reyes. "We have a good chance of making Regionals, which would be great considering the team didn't qualify last year."

According to the Golf Coaches Association of America (GCAA) poll released on April 4, four of the top twenty five teams in Division II hail from California. Leading the way for California is No.2 Cal State Bakersfield who sits behind Florida Southern. Then No.4 U.C. Davis, No.7 Cal State Stanislaus and No.22 Chico State follow as the only area colleges to crack national spotlight.

Not too far behind the list are the Coyotes, who are approximately in the top 40 teams of D-II nation.

It's an impressive and notable statistic—one which Reyes and the rest of his crew could probably improve on in the final stretch of the season.

"We need to improve on our fundamentals," added Reyes. "It's like we start out real good, but we just can't find a way to finish. In a way, we're not a second half team, but that's definitely something we can improve on."

Coach ejected early; Yotes lose in extra frames

Fumes erupt in battle of CCAA foes

By Kermit R. Boyd
Assistant Sports Editor

Cal State San Bernardino baseball head coach Don Parnell was tossed out of Friday night's nail biter against CCAA rival Sonoma State University.

CSUSB put up a fight with their coach who was sent to the locker room early and Sonoma State mustered a spook of momentum in the top of the 10th inning to leave Arrowhead Credit Union Park with a victory.

Home plate umpire David Diaz ejected Coach Parnell in the top of third inning when he disputed a call that Cossacks' center fielder Kean Davis claimed to be hit by a pitch.

Diaz said no, but Sonoma State Coach John Goelz came out to argue the call, and Diaz then had a conference with field umpire Rick DeVall who said Davis was hit. From there, Parnell went to confer with both umpires and was then tossed out of the game.

This left two Cossacks on base with no one out and Sonoma State went on to score three times off Coyotes ace Tony Evans in the third inning.

Cossacks' Gid Barry doubled. 'Yotes Evans hit and walked a batter, then threw a wild pitch. Also, a fielded choice and sacrifice fly by the Jacks fashioned the three runs scored in the third.

The 'Yotes rallied back in the forth on Mark Ayala Jr.'s monster blast to center field off Jacks starter Ian Keene. CSUSB clawed even in the fourth on two walks and an RBI single by Rene Leon, sending home, Keith Haughn. In the same sequence, Matt Swaydan scored on a wild throw to first base by Cossacks third baseman Brandon Burgess.

CSUSB left the sixth inning with a 4-3 advantage on Ayala's double off reliever Bo Jackson to bring home Brian Schweiger, who started the sixth with a single. However, Sonoma State was able to force the game in the ninth inning and take the game to extra innings.

Freshman Darren Sack, the Jacks fourth reliever of the game, gave up two Coyotes' singles in the bottom of the tenth but fanned two batters; and made senior Adam Rabosan hit into a fielder's choice.

Cossacks' Tom Everside singled home Darrel Jacks with two out in the top of the 10th inning to give the Jacks a 5-4 win over the 'Yotes.

Hector Torres (2-3) received the loss in relief of Coyotes' starting ace Tony Evans. Evans entered the game with an ERA of 1.45 and threw nine innings, allowed four runs on five hits and struck out seven while walking four.

Cossacks' Sack was tallied with the win and improved to 3-1 on the season; however the Coyotes were still able to outhit the Cossacks 10-7 in the loss.

Saturday was a different story, the Coyotes came out in front of 105 fans, and in 90 degree weather to sweep Sonoma State, 7-1 and 8-2.

Kermit R. Boyd/Chronicle

Photo by Robert Whitehead

COME ON, BLUE — Cal State San Bernardino head coach Don Parnell argues with the home plate umpire during the Coyotes' 5-4 loss on Friday, April 12 at Arrowhead Credit Union Park. Parnell was ejected early in the contest as Sonoma pulled out an overtime victory.
Coach Jeff Oliver willing to accept challenge

By Tiffany S. Rolland
Sports Writer

Cal State San Bernardino men's basketball has made some changes.

Jeff Oliver is now the new head coach of the standing 28-2 NCAA Division II West Regional No. 1 team.

When asked if he would be making any changes to the way the game has been played, Oliver said, "If it's not broke, don't fix it." Oliver is not planning on making any changes to the way the game was played under preceding head coach Larry Reynolds, who departed for D-1 Long Beach State.

It was time for Coach Reynolds to step out and time for Coach Oliver to step up.

With feelings of mixed emotions he is excited, anxious, and at the same time nervous to have the opportunity to foresee such a great team.

Oliver is ready to bounce into what his new position requires of him.

"I was ready for it," said Oliver. "I was anxious to continue the process. There are a handful of prospective new players that we have been looking at throughout the year.

He is already talking about recruiting new players due to nine of his seniors graduating this year.

Reynolds tactics and style of coaching in collaboration with Coach Oliver's knowledge and skill of the game will once again bring in a great record season for the men's basketball team. The leagues ultimate goal is to once again reserve their seat in the Western Regional playoffs.

Making his final year count

By John D. Halcon
Sports Editor

It may have taken three years for the entire Division II baseball nation to notice him, but Cal State San Bernardino's Tony Evans Jr. is a pitcher to be reckoned amongst the best.

A hard-throwing righty with a five-tool 90-95 mph fastball, Evans has become what most professional scouts admire.

"I was offered a contract to play in Italy," said Evans referring to the future of his baseball career.

"But I'm really into making a career out of baseball and playing here [United States]."

The 6-foot-3 pitching guru sits at 92 mph, has earned runs of the 16 total runs that has crossed the plate while he is on the mound.

Quite more impressive is the senior's ability to keep opponents' bats silent.

Quicker than most his ability to lead a pitching staff that saw the losses of Brett Rudrude (9-4) and All-CCAA Joel Rhor (3-5, 4.07 ERA) and Tawd Frensley (3-3, 3.88).

Last year Evans was mostly reserved to the No. 3 starter, and concluded his junior year with 27 strikeouts and 18 walks in 38 innings of work.

He has already doubled his strikeouts and innings pitched, yet the right-hander still manages to keep his hitters off-balance by allowing a 1.87 batting average against his opponents.

The main thing about playing baseball is realizing that you only have fun just in case my career happens to end."

"But I take baseball seriously," he said. "I want to make sure that I have fun just in case my career happens to end."

Evans complements a starting rotation that includes juniors Matt Rhor (3-5, 4.07 ERA) and Tawd Frensley (3-3, 3.88).

CCAA Honor Player

By CSUSB Wire Report
Senior third baseman Melissa Clemann was named the California Collegiate Athletic Association softball "player of the week" for her performance in Cal State San Bernardino's run to the "Bronze Division" title at the Cal State, Stanislaus Tournament of Champions.

Clemann batted .421 (8 for 19) with a double, two triples, an RBI and three sacrifices. She also scored three runs as the Coyotes went 5-2 in the tournament to win its division.

In the field, Clemann handled 35 chances at the hot corner, committing only one error with 27 assists and eight putouts. In the semifinals win over Central Washington, she was 3-for-3 with an RBI.

For the season, she is batting .348 in 48 games with nine doubles, five home runs and 18 RBI. She leads the team in assists with 144.

Clemann is a member of the first team All-CCAA softball squad.

The Coyotes, who scored runs in the first contest after Jamie Harkins and Melissa Clemann (2-for-3 with a double) both carried big bats for the Coyotes, who scored runs in the second and third innings for the victory.

Softball splits contest

By CSUSB Sports Staff
Cal State San Bernardino lost the opening round 1-0, but defeated host Cal State Stanislaus in the nightcap 2-1 on Friday, April 12.

Mikki Goldwater collected her 10th victory of the season after tossing a complete game in the second match of the doubleheader.

The Coyotes improved to 14-8 in conference play and boosted its overall record to 21-21-2 overall.

Tracie Schioppi (2-for-3) and Melissa Clemann (2-for-2) with a double both carried big bats for the Coyotes, who scored runs in the second and third innings for the victory.

The split allowed the Coyotes to hold its battle for second place in the CCAA conference while UC Davis leads the standings.

The Coyotes three-game winning streak in the first contest after Jamie Harkins fired a five-hit shutout.

The victory for Harkins (5-7 overall) came against sophomore ace Dawn Onishi (11-7).

Onishi also pitched a stellar game after giving up the deciding run in the first inning of the contest to Maile Laban's RBI single.

Clemann concluded another great day at the plate going 3-for-3 with a double to lead the Coyotes, who managed only six hits off Harkins.

The split allowed the Coyotes to hold its battle for second place in the CCAA conference while UC Davis leads the standings.