JARVIS II OPPOSITION VOTED BY CSUC TRUSTEES

The CSUC Board of Trustees has voted opposition to the Jarvis II initiative and has vowed "to mount an educational program" to inform the public of its implications.

The following is a general background evaluation of the initiative proposition:

Basic Provisions - Jarvis II, on the June, 1980 ballot, calls for:

1. Income taxes shall not exceed 50% of those rates in effect for the 1978 taxable year.
2. Indexing tax brackets to keep up with inflation to be put into the State Constitution.
3. Repealing the business inventory tax.

Background - The passage of Jarvis II would put the above provisions in the State Constitution. Legislation enacted in 1979 has already totally repealed the business inventory tax and fully indexed the income tax for a two-year period. The passage of Jarvis II would make this statutory law into constitutional law. Statutory law can be changed by the Legislature and constitutional law can be changed by a 2/3 vote of the registered voters.

Fiscal Impact - According to William Hamm, Legislative Analyst, passage of Jarvis II would result in a $4.9 billion revenue loss in fiscal year 1980-81 and $4.4 billion in 1981-82. Because the State Constitution requires that the State operate within a balanced budget, immediate cuts in spending will have to be made. The reserve in the general fund (surplus) will be nearly gone by the end of fiscal year 1980-81 as a result of the bail-out following Jarvis I.

According to Senator Alan Rodda, ". . . approximately four fifths of the State

$170,500 BID RECEIVED FOR CHILD CARE CENTER

K. L. Neff Construction Co. of Ontario is the apparent successful bidder on the College's Child Care Center Building.

At a bid opening held March 4 in San Bernardino County offices, four bids were received: K. L. Neff Construction Co., $170,500; Howard Edmiston, $185,600; Eason Construction Co., $185,995 and Hubbs Equipment Co., $227,225.

Vice President J. K. Thomas states that he is well pleased with the newest group of bids which were called for after the lowest bid in the original January opening came in $43,933 over available funds. Following that, both the City and County of San Bernardino, which are jointly funding the project, increased their contributions to bring the amount to $190,000. Additionally, the architect revised the plans to reduce the cost of construction.

Although the Neff bid is well within the allocation, other expenditures, such as architect and inspection fees, must be paid from the funds.

JARVIS II

Budget is State money which is spent at the local governmental level to support such programs as education, health and welfare services, and property tax relief." Because many programs funded in the State Budget are mandated by State law or the Constitution, it is very likely that the burden of the cuts will fall on education. The next heaviest hit is likely to be health and welfare expenditures.

Legislative, judicial and executive expenditures account for less than 2% of the budget. If all State employees whose services were financed from the general fund were fired, and the universities, state colleges, prisons, mental hospitals, etc., were closed, the savings would not be sufficient to offset the revenue loss from the passage of Jarvis II. Obviously all of these things can not be done.
That is why large cuts can be expected in educational institutions.

16 TALKS PRESENTED
BY CSCSB SPEAKERS
FOR FONTANA PROGRAM

This week the Speakers Bureau set a new record for number of College speakers appearing on one program. Last Wednesday, 16 speeches were delivered by CSCSB faculty and administrators at the Fontana Unified Schools' Inservice Day. Fourteen gave talks, two of them made two, to teachers and staff of the Fontana Unified School District of all grade levels.

CSCSB speakers who participated in the day-long program were Francesca Bero, Jim Charkins, Charles Christie, G. Keith Dolan, Carol Goss, Dianne Irwin, Frederick Keene, Lorelee MacPike, Ward M. McAfee, Renate Nummela, Michael Rose, Alexander Sokoloff, Charleen Swanson, and Robert West. Drs. Dolan and West made two separate presentations.

The Fontana talks beat last year's record when six speakers presented a full day's program at Chino High School in January, 1979. In addition to the 16 Fontana talks, five others were given this month to different organizations, and 20 more are booked through March, with requests coming in daily.
