Many modern humans are vertically aligned on the subject of sex. On occasions, a great variety of opportunity to perform comedy comes to church, when the minister tells the minds of most church audiences of the same sex that they are moving out of the scene, that there is an amazing thing that can be done by that group of people, and that the group is a very important one to a group of people. The group is a very important one to a group of people.

The Community asked and we lis­ tended, Young Black Scholars on an educationally active of the 100 Black Men of Los Angeles is now serving the Inland Empire. High school stu­dents, 9-12 grade, now have local access to Southern California's pre­ center college preparatory program. The first meeting of the Inland Empire Young Black Scholars Resource Network will take place at CSU San Bernardino on Wednesday, June 30th from 12-2 p.m. During this meet­ing, Administration will be open to tudents and scholars who are interested in finding out more about the program. The meeting will be held in the Foundation Board Room, located in the Foundation Building, Rm. 101. Since parking is an issue, we are requesting a list of names to arrange parking and pick-up. This meeting will serve as an over­view for the IEYS program, the Kick-Off event and an opportun­ity to visit any questions or concerns.

Here are five of the most common cases of male infertility and how they can be treated. Lack of hor­mones: Hormones are essential to the produc­tion and maintenance of sperm. Low levels can compromise fertility. A simple blood test can detect a deficiency, and infertil­ities can be corrected through hormone supplements. Overheated testicles: Inhaled heat to cause testicles to overheat, decreasing sperm count. Overheating may also reduce levels of testosterone, vital to a man's sex drive. This can be corrected by wearing a cooled or a simple one-piece underwear that does not obstruct the testicular veins. Medications: Some prescription medications that reduce levels of testosterone drugs that block high blood pressure can prevent the egg and sperm from adhering to each other. Your physi­cian may be able to prescribe an alternative drug. Immune deficien­cy: Males may develop antibodies that weaken his sperm, impairing its ability to penetrate an egg. This problem can be treated with antibiotics. Males who have undergone a vasectomy: Reversing the procedure often corrects the underlying problem. Smoking that may exist.

Males who have undergone a vasectomy at the Office of Administration will be accepting applica­tions from all qualified students for the 2009-2010 academic year during the Kick-Off event at Park Avenue Baptist Church, in Riverside on August 14th from 12-2 p.m. The Kick-Off event is free and will include a workshop with UC, CSU and private colleges. If you are enrolling in 5-12 grade, possess a GPA of 3.0 or above and would like to pre­pare college admissions and suc­cess, then we invite you to join IBS applications will be available during the Kick-Off event.

Anthony's Academy, where both Richardson children are enrolled, reflected on his goodness. "Naz reflects the love and goodness of his family. Nazareth Sr. was an ordinary person who touched so many," Black Hawk's coach Mark Harris commented that there was no one Nazareth didn't touch. "He gives you something without knowing he is giving it. You had to speak to him even if he didn't want to.

In his eulogy, Pastor Raymond Turner eulogized the family. Preaching on transformation, he told the congregants that where you go when you die is determined by what you do while you are here. Death, he said, is the limousine that brings us back to God.

Nazareth Richardson was born May 26, 1968 to Jo Ann Richardson and Ernest Curtis in Newark, New Jersey. He grew-up in Decatur, Georgia and graduated from Northside High School in Atlanta, Georgia. After high school he joined the Army and worked in military law enforcement. His travels brought him to California in 1988. After an honorable discharge he met and married Veronica Mitchell. To this union two children were born, Naz Jr. and Michela.

He made countless friends throughout his short life. All who knew him loved him, whether they met him at one of the many events he worked or on the basketball court where he spent so much of his time. He learns to revere his passing.

Veronica, Naz Jr. and Michelle, all of San Bernardino, his parents John Richardson of Stone Mountain, Georgia and Ernest Curtis of Atlanta, Georgia; his grandmother Macy Nell Curtis of Georgia; his close friend Angel Deans; and a large host of other relatives and friends who will miss him dearly.

The team is still planning to play in the AAU tournament in Memphis in honor of their coach. More information on how you can help the team can be obtained on their website: www.highlandhawks.com.

Pauline Brown-Hinds of The Black Voice News, consulted with him on his fundraising plans before the accident. "Nazareth was so proud of his team," Ms. Brown fondly reflects, "he instilled a lot in them as well, including the importance of studying diligently, being respectful, and working hard.

"Nazareth was in my office a few days before the accident with one of the Hawks' players. They were on their way to practice and needed to drop-off a team photo for the newspaper. He was extremely excited when I said we'd put the photo on the front page," Dr. Brown-Hinds lamented, "I can't believe we're publishing a story about his death now!"

A friend of 15 years, Dr. Brown-Hinds further recalls, "He was always so caring. If you needed anything, he'd be there to help. And humble. The last thing we said to each other was joking about his photo. I wanted to include it in the article on his team and he reminded me that the kids need to remain the focus."

His devotion to the team and his children was undeniable. Ms. Brown explained, "Nazareth gave more than just money and time to the team, he gave them a part of himself."

And it is that legacy that was celebrated at his homegoing service Monday, June 21, at Temple Missionary Baptist Church in San Bernardino. Hundreds came to pay their respects and celebrate his life. Sister Christine, a teacher at St. Missionary Baptist Church in San Bernardino, said, "We love Nazareth, he was a dear friend of the family."

One of the biggest complaints of people who've jumped on the low-carb bandwagon is that they miss good-tasting food. They've had to eliminate many of their favorite treats in the interest of keeping their waistline trim. Anything containing refined sugar and starch is off limits. So no more cookies, cakes, bagels, bread, jam or mashed potatoes. "A lot of people get frustrated pretty early on, but low-carb dieters don't have to sacrifice taste. There are natural alternatives to refined sugar available," says Jim May, founder of Wisdom Natural Brands. He points out that low-carb dieters who practice the art of substitution can still enjoy their favorite treats. "Why use refined sugar when there are alternatives that are both sweeter and better for you," says May. His company manufactures Sweet & Slender, a natural sweetener made from a blend of fructose and extract from Luo Han Guo, a fruit native to China that has been used for centuries for its sweetness and medicinal properties. It is similar in flavor and texture to sugar, and because it keeps its sweetness at extreme temperatures (unlike many artificial sweeteners) it is perfect for use in cooking and baking. "An added benefit is that Sweet & Slender provides natural sweetness without the bitter aftertaste and potential long-term health hazards from artificial sweeteners," says May. Sweet & Slender is eight to ten times sweeter than refined sugar yet is a zero calorie per serving sweetener. It also has a low glycemic index, which means it breaks down slowly in the system, a quality not only beneficial for dieters, but people with diabetes as well. Here's a recipe for a tasty treat dieters and people with diabetes can enjoy: * Yummy Coleslaw 1/2 head small cabbage: (Optional additions to salad: 1 1/2 teaspoons each snipped fresh garden herbs like lemon thyme, parsley, chives, 1/8 teaspoon dried dill weed, 3 ounces cooked salad shrimp.) Dressing: 1/2 cup blender or commercially prepared mayonnaise, 1/4 cup almond milk or cream, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 packets Sweet & Slender, 1/8 teaspoon celery seed, 1/4 teaspoon celery seed, 1/2 teaspoon seasoning salt, 1/8 teaspoon lemon pepper. Directions: In food processor with slicing blade, or by hand, shred cabbage. Place in large bowl, adding any of the optional ingredients. Set aside. In a separate container, combine all ingredients for dressing. Add half of the dressing to the salad fixings; stir well. Serves 6, with enough dressing leftover for one more salad. More excess dressing in a covered container in the refrigerator up to two weeks. Carb count: Approximately 22.8 carbs total. Fiber, 9.6 ECC, 13.2. Put serving 3.8. Fiber, 1.6. ECC, 2.2. This recipe is excerpted from Low Carb Cooking at Sharron's Place: Sugar Free Recipes Featuring SteviaPlus by Sharron Long. Sweet & Slender can also be used in place of sugar to sweeten summer fruits and drinks, like tea. You can find Sweet & Slender at most health food and specialty stores. Eyes & Ears of Moreno Valley

Look around, you revel the earth's beauty and let yourself be renewed by the wonder of it all. You must taste from life's simplest joys for they bestow pleasures to the heart.

Hello Moreno Valley.

Please let me apologize for I am belated in my articles by one week. I will do my best not to let it happen anymore. As I write this article, this brought me joy to interview this young lady by the name of Brittany Baylis. Brittany is a 16-year-old that lives here in the city of Moreno Valley. She was born in Riverside, Ca.

Her early education was in Christian schools. What was nice about this young lady that she is an humble about being in the "WHOS WHO" for the second time in education. Not only has she been named in the Who's Who but recently, Brittany was honored to be asked to attend the 2004 Presidential Classroom Program. Moreno Valley we must applaud her for her achievements. This honor came as a result of her outstanding academic record and leadership skills displayed at her school. Brittany's grade point average is 4.25. This year she will be able to examine Washington, D.C. and learn how government works.

She will have a 7-day stay in which she will meet with members of congress, presidential appointees, senior military officers, top business executives and journalists. She will also visit the White House (by special invitation) . She says that this program will help her to decide for senior military officers, top business congress, presidential appointees, leaders and journalists. She will also meet with members of Congress in Washington D.C.
