After an 18-month wait, many Cal State employees received a belated Christmas present Wednesday with delivery of checks for the seven percent retroactive pay increase finally resolved in the courts Tuesday.

The pay increase covers the nine-month period from Oct. 1, 1978 to June 30, 1979 and went to employees who were on the payroll between May 31 and June 30, 1979, and who are still on the payroll. Eligible employees who have since left will get their checks later.

The earnings will go on employees' 1980 income tax records. From the checks was deducted 20 percent federal withholding tax and three percent state withholding tax, as well as PERS contributions and OASDI if the employee had not yet earned the maximum covered amount.

What the checks did not include was interest. A bill has, however, been introduced in the Legislature calling for payment to employees of the interest earned on the money while it was held awaiting the outcome of the court fight challenging the constitutionality of the retroactive increase.

The rate of per diem paid state employees when they travel and the amount of money which can be spent from petty cash without a purchase order both went up Jan. 1.

The per diem increased from $46 to $50 with the lodging allowance going from $25 to $29. In addition, the lodging rate for the three most expensive metropolitan areas—Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego—went up $10 from the former $25 to $35. A receipt is required for reimbursement at the higher metropolitan rate. The lodging allowance is part of the $50 daily expense allowance.

No other travel expenses were raised. Breakfast is still $3, lunch $5.50 and dinner $9. Incidentalss remain at $3.50.

The petty cash purchase limit doubled from $25 to $50. The new limit is intended to reflect the increased cost of smaller items usually purchased through petty cash and to reduce the costs associated with preparing and filing purchase orders.

Employees are reminded that petty cash should not be used to purchase any material available through state or campus stores, or which is available through state contract. Restrictions in effect under the former limit on the types of items which can be purchased remain in effect under the new limit.
Children’s Center Opens Doors Jan. 7

The Children’s Center will officially open its doors at the new building on campus Jan. 7. In the meantime, however, child care will be available today and Monday for children of students registering for classes.

The new building has increased the center’s capacity to 65-70 students from the approximately 30 who could be accommodated at the old facility at Kendall School.

The center provides child care and pre-school instruction, primarily for the offspring of Cal State students. In addition to providing more space, the on-campus location will enhance child-parent relationships by enabling students to be with their youngsters between classes.

Most of the students attend the center at no cost since tuition is based on ability to pay. For those who do pay, the cost is about 50 cents per day. Operating expenses are generally covered through the state Office of Child Development, a state nutritional grant and grants from the Associated Students.

Chamber Names Steinman Woman Of The Year

The Women's Division of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce has named Edna Steinman, Cal State's director of public affairs, Woman of the Year. The award was presented last month in recognition of Miss Steinman's contributions to the community and the chamber.

Miss Steinman has served for several years as an officer of numerous community and professional organizations from the YMCA to the Girl Scouts to the American Association of University Women.

She is currently chairman of the ad hoc committee on public relations for the chamber, secretary of the San Bernardino YMCA Metropolitan Board, second vice president of the San Gorgonio Girl Scout Council and a member of the corporate board of the San Bernardino Community Hospital. She also serves on the boards of the Zonta Club, the American Association of University Women, the Inland Empire Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America and the Women's Division of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce, as well as others.

One More Added To Fire Victim List

Another student, Sandra J. Warren, has been added to the list of Cal State faculty, staff and students who lost their homes in the recent fire. The addition of Warren brings to 13 the number of fire victims from the college.
With this Issue, the weekly faculty and staff Bulletin launches a new calendar year and its redesigned masthead. The new heading atop Page 1 was designed by Grace Ferman, art major and student assistant in the Public Affairs Office.
