Upcoming ASI Elections

Extra! Extra! Read all about it ASI elections are underway and students can pick up packets toda.
Packets are available starting Monday, Feb. 28 in the ASI office.
The packets are due back in the ASI office no later than 5 p.m. on Wednesday, March 23.
There will be two mandatory candidate meetings in April and then campaigning starts on April 17.
Voting begins Wednesday,
April 27 and runs through Thursday, April 28.
Elephant results will be announced on Friday of that week.
CSIUS students have the option of working a polling station, if they do not want to run for ASI.
Students working at polling stations will earn extra money.
Those CSIUS students looking for a challenge can run for an office, get financial assistance through a monthly stipend and reap the benefits of gaining great experience.

ASI Elections Chair Steve
Shelburne said, "Being apart of ASI is a lot of work, but the benefits outweigh it. I feel like I am part of making the University a better place and it is a great way to prepare for life outside of college,"

"The students need to be renested that they can continue to have access to a quality education
at a reasonable price.
They need to know that ASI can help them in their future endeavors.

The ASI elections were flagged by
the administration,
but the candidates worked hard to evolve the ASI into a better organization.

Cyclists’ Hit the Road

Cyclists, for the most part, enjoy the freedom and tranquility that the open road offers. A bicycle ride can be a relaxing way to spend an afternoon, or it can be a competitive event, depending on the rider’s preferences. Some cyclists enjoy the challenge of climbing steep hills, while others prefer the smooth roads and the sense of accomplishment that comes with completing a long-distance ride.

Friendship Betrayed

Sarah Satter
Great Neck, L.I., N.Y.

We live in a time when we are no longer surrounded by childhood friends, the kind who are always there for us at important times in our lives. Friends make up the fabric of our childhood memories, the ones we carry with us throughout our lives. To have a friend who is there through the good times and bad, who knows us better than anyone else, is a blessing.

But sometimes, even the closest friendship can be betrayed. This happened to me recently when I was asked to be a bridesmaid in my best friend's wedding.

I had known my friend since we were in elementary school. We grew up together, went to the same high school, and went to college together. We were inseparable. We shared everything, from our dreams to our secrets.

When my friend asked me to be a bridesmaid, I was thrilled. It was such an honor to be asked. But as the wedding day approached, I began to feel a nagging sense of unease. I couldn't put my finger on it, but something was not right.

On the day of the wedding, I arrived early to help with the final preparations. As I was getting ready, I noticed my friend acting strange. She was nervous and anxious, and kept looking over her shoulder as if she was afraid of being caught.

I tried to brush it off, but as the ceremony began, I couldn't help but notice the looks of disappointment on the faces of my friend's other bridesmaids. It was clear that something was going on, but I didn't know what.

After the ceremony, I confronted my friend about it. I asked her what was going on, but she just kept避ing the question.

I was frustrated and angry. How could she do this to me? We had been friends for so long, and now she was betraying me.

I decided to talk to her alone. We sat down and I confronted her with my suspicions. She finally broke down and told me that she was in love with one of the other bridesmaids.

I was shocked. I didn't know what to say. I felt like my world had just fallen apart.

I told her that I couldn't go on with the wedding. I couldn't be part of something that hurt me so deeply.

I ended up leaving the wedding early, and I haven't spoken to my friend since.

This experience has taught me a valuable lesson. It's important to be aware of what's going on in our relationships, and to speak up when something feels off. It's hard to do, but it's necessary.

I hope that my friend and I can come to terms with this, and that we can still be friends.

Noah Kooiman Officially Named Head Coach of Men's & Women's Soccer

Thanks to the Chronicle

Coyote Soccer will get to keep the coach who has been with the program for the last four years.

Kooiman, who took the interim tag off his position last year, has led the Coyotes to a 13-6-1 record this season, and has guided the team to a 2-1 record in conference play. He has also led the team to a 4-3 record in non-conference play.

Kooiman, who was named interim coach last year, has been with the program for the last four years. He has led the team to a 46-16-1 record during his tenure.

Kooiman replaces former head coach Mike Poch, who left the program after the 2004 season. Poch was named interim coach last year, and has led the team to a 2-1 record in conference play.
