MV Business Leaders Visit The Gas Company To Learn About Energy Efficiency

As a business owner, I welcome this opportunity to discuss how businesses can save money and increase their bottom line. We have seen that businesses can reduce costs by implementing energy-efficient practices.

Business leaders from across the valley recently traveled to Downey to learn about energy conservation from experts at Southern California Gas Company. The Gas Company's goal is to educate and encourage businesses to take advantage of energy-saving programs.

"Businesses have to work every day to save money and energy costs," said Mark Gilsenan, Director of the Gas Company's decision analysis program. "By learning about energy conservation, businesses can save money from reduced energy costs."

"As a business owner, I welcome this opportunity to discuss how businesses can save money and increase their bottom line. We have seen that businesses can reduce costs by implementing energy-efficient practices."

In his statement to investigators, Elinoff said that he shot Brown after Brown had stood up and lunged at him with Elinoff's gun in his hand. Only seven years ago, because of overzealousness, or something else he was told to do, Elinoff claimed, the ex-Black Chamber of Commerce President of Valley. "If the Gas Company's offering will make millions to help businesses save energy, I think we have an opportunity to speak to us on growing the business."

"This is a good move and very beneficial to the city of Los Angeles and our community. The Gas Company's support is crucial to the success of our energy conservation efforts."

Community leaders and immigration advocates opened the meeting with the Community Police Review Committee of May 30 to present the board's statement that a Riverside Police Department officer acted outside the rule of law when he shot and killed a black man. If anything, the board added, the statement is correct.

"It was foolish and stupid to injure or destroy a dumber and less strong person, and we've got to get and keep up with the new energy costs the gas company's offering will make millions to help businesses save energy, I think we have an opportunity to speak to us on growing the business."

Ah Sahib Makes Good Music

My nephew Floyd Brown used to play the accordion, and all his cousins would laugh, because an accordion is a musical instrument that expresses the very essence of the word "lame." They would try to make me laugh by playing it. Its history dates back to ancient Egypt and Greece. It makes a sound going both ways between something hard and something soft, so the more it moves the more it stays the same if you put your eyes on it. Now you might ask me if the most white-collar jobs have to do with a meeting I was asked to attend at the Woodrow Wilson School on the "Green Valley Empire," vision to develop environmentally oriented businesses and communities.

But I was electrodes in every city, and the Inland Empire's business and government leaders have been working together to make the Inland Empire "Green" for our people.

Mike Ajomine, Woodie Rucker Hughes, Ola Faye Stephens, Clarence and his name is Ali Sahabi and he is making good music.

New Look Sparks hang with the West’s Best

By Gary Montgomery

The 2007 Los Angeles Sparks basketball team made its California debut in Sacramento on Saturday night. For the first time in 11 years the Sparks start the season without the great Lisa Leslie on the roster. Needless to say the 17,317 rabid Monarch fans in the sold-out Arco Arena didn’t miss Leslie and were not very sympathetic to say the least. LA quickly fell behind 22-18 at the first quarter amidst and recurring chorus of “beat LA.”

Propelled by Sidney Spencer and Marta Fernandez coming off the bench, the Sparks rallied back to open up an 11 point lead at one point and led by a score of 46-35 at half time. The scariest moment of the game came in the first half when the Monarchs DeMya Walker got tangled up with Taj McWilliam-Franklin on a breakaway and strained her right knee. Walker lay motionless for several minutes on the court while being attended by the medical staff. Walker had to be removed on a stretcher. She later returned from the locker room on crutches and wearing an inflatable splint. She will undergo a magnetic resonance imaging exam later in the week.

Coach Michael Cooper, returning for his second tour of duty as the Sparks head coach was unusually demonstrative, burning time-outs one after the other as the Sparks offense stalled time after time. Cooper coached the Sparks to two WNBA championships in 2001 and 2002 before leaving midway through the 2004 season to join the NBA’s Denver Nuggets. The two teams developed somewhat of a rivalry at the time meeting at the Western confere ence finals twice with the Sparks eliminating the Monarch both times. Since Cooper’s departure the two teams’ fortunes have reversed with the Monarchs winning the WNBA title in 2005 and play each other a lot and the games always mean something,” said versed guard Mwadi Mabika.

The game started to slip away in the third quarter with the Monarchs outscoring LA 27-17 to erase the half time deficit. With 5:01 remaining in the game DeWanna Bonner made her way back to the bench in a blatant round of applause. That seemed to be just what the Monarchs needed to finish off the pesky Sparks team.

LA kept it close to the end sparked by the efforts of Rookie forward Sidney Spencer who scored 22-points of the bench. With the Sparks trailing by 1 point and 36.4 seconds left in the game what appeared to be a shot clock violation on the Monarchs that would have given the ball to the Sparks turned into a time keeping error and eventually a Sparks foul. The final shot Yolanda Griffith to the five three for two shots putting the game out of reach at 88-85. Mwadi Mabika had 16 points, Chamique Holdsclaw had 16 points and Marta Fernandez had 15-points off the bench. “We just have to keep working hard and we’ll be right there,” said injured point guard Tameka Johnson.

The Sparks (2-2) will open their home schedule on Friday night June 8th against the Minnesota Lynx and Simone Augustus at the Staples Center.

U.S. Attorney General Alberto Gonzales announces new resources to fight illegal crime in San Bernardino.

By stepping the evidence of guns and drugs, ATF and our local partners here have been able to put significant teeth into illegal weapons. Gonzales added.

A crackdown on guns and gun violence in Los Angeles is one reason you saw San Bernardino be a destination point for fleeing gangs and drugs for illegal gun dealers.

No additional funds are expected to be forthcoming to the contraband to bolster that local law enforcement efforts.

ATF special agent Susan Rachid said: “This deployment means the birth of the local effort, but it doesn’t drive criminals into surrounding communities.

Our goal is to solve violent crime where it happens rather than just move it somewhere else.”

Boy Scouts to Bestow Highest Honor on Coil

The Boy Scouts of America recently honored a lifetime Riverside resident and a volunteer board member of the Boy Scouts of America’s California Inland Empire Council. Henry Coil, 74, recently received a Legacy Award in Atlanta. He is one of four recipients of the first-time award and the only person west of the Mississippi among the four.

"The Boy Scouts of America Legacy Award honors those that have made lifetime contributions.

Coil, a long-time business man whose most recent title is past president of Tilden Coil Constructors, said that he appreciated the recognition – but was very surprised about it.

"I’ve been involved in Scouting all my life – it’s a great program," Coil said Wednesday. "I got a lot out of it as a boy. I know how much it will mean to boys in years to come who take advantage of the program."

Coil is already recognized as a substantial donor of the California Inland Empire Council. His company specializes in school construction and is responsible for building more than 30 cam-

SCE Proposes Nation’s First Full-Scale Assessment of Advanced Coal Technologies

A FREE SERVICE

Edward International, (STX-EUS), Southern California Edison (SCE), today requested state regulators to conduct the nation’s first feasibility assessment of combining several advanced “clean” coal technologies on a full commercial scale, in an effort to advance emerging approaches to generation expansion.

Edward International SCE Proposes
Combining for the First Time

- A new approach to coal power generation, using domestic coal, the nation’s most secure, readily available, domestic fuel source
- Combining for the First Time Elements SCE Proposes (CHPG), are being considered or tested in clean coal projects elsewhere. The SCE plan would be the first assessment of a full-scale, 600-MW facility using all of them. It is an effort to advance the technology of low-emission power generation using coal, the nation’s most secure, readily available, domestic fuel source.

"Edison believes that California and the nation are to significantly reduce greenhouse emissions and other pollutants while increasing power supply using domestic fuels, compared to onshore wind power," said Edison International Chairman John Bryson.

"For a century, our company has supported the same excellence of real estate expertise, but no longer in an onshore wind power form," said Bryson.

SCE is seeking authorization to commit $52 million of revenue over a two-year period to an advanced coal power generation study. If approved, this would represent less than a quarter of one percent of current customer revenues.

"This proposal is part of a larger strategy we advocate for reducing U.S. greenhouse gas emissions - increased purchases of renewable energy, increased support for energy efficiency, switching to cleaner transportation fuels, and investment in emerging clean generation technologies," said Bryson.

How the CHPG Process Would Work

1. Coal and water enter a “gasifier” where the coal is converted to gas fuels.
2. The gaseous overhead additional provoking to remove sulfur, mercury, and carbon dioxide resulting in very low-emissions hydrogen fuel.

Conversation with Ed Blakely

He is an international disaster specialist and easily considered one of the foremost figures in urban, regional, and neighborhood planning. The new Executive Director of the New Orleans Restoration Project, Dr. Edward Blakely is scheduled to appear on KVCR-TV on Friday, June 15th at 7:30 PM. "A Conversation With..." will feature the prominent urban planner and host, Lillian Vásquez as she talks with Dr. Blakely about growing up in the Inland Empire, and his plans to rebuild New Orleans over the next few years.

"Here, Lillian Vásquez of "A Conversation With..." interviews Dr. Blakely's aims to improve New Orleans by building smarter and not make the mistake of simply building over the faults that made Hurricane Katrina one of the most devastating natural disasters our country has ever experienced. When it comes to his job, Dr. Blakely offers a drive to produce original ideas and go above and beyond what is expected of him. His role in the recovery efforts has been very well received, and many New Orleans residents hope that their homes will be less susceptible to another major natural disaster. He was born and raised in the Inland Empire and is just one of the prominent members of society that are coming out of our community. Blakely was born in Colton, and educated in the San Bernardino. Dr. Blakely went on to accomplish great things in the world of urban planning. He attended UC Riverside where he played quarterback for the university's football team. Dr. Blakely holds several degrees including a doctorate from UCLA in Education and Management, and two master's degrees from UC Berkeley in Latin American History and, Pasadena Nazarene College in Organization Management. He has since served on the board of directors of the American Planning Association, the Nature Conservancy, SL Corporation and Environmental Science Associates. He was also appointed by President Clinton to the Presidio Trust in 1998-2000 and was directly involved in the recovery efforts for the San Francisco, Los Angeles earthquakes and the attacks on September 11th. KVCR is proud to illuminate this native Californian's accomplishments.

Parker Attends King Memorial

Dr. Rose Parker-Glenring attended the memorial services for Yolanda Denise King, the eldest daughter of Martin Luther King Jr. at Faithful Central in Inglewood. Parker shared a special moment with Martin Ill, Bernice and Dexter King. Years ago, Martin L. King III supposed Parker in her plight to get the electronic monitors taken off her leg and her arm once she was released from prison. Parker and King held several press conferences and were known as the "King and Parker Team" for Justice and Non-Violence.
