The Coyote Chronicle

October 10, 2005

Vol. 39 Issue 1

CSUSB Opens Door to Katrina Victims

Cal State San Bernardino
Tulane University in Louisiana after flooding and devastation of Katrina

Celebrating Our Country's History

Fighting Against Global Warming

Multi-Cultural

CSUSB Native American Day
Page 4

Arts & Entertainment

Alumni Art Show
Page 7

Sports

Fast Start for Cross Country
Page 8

Making a Difference: C.S.A.A. looking for a Student Trustee

Yadira Ortiz Multicultural Editor

Dr. Albert Kamig, Associate Director of Communications for CSU, is accepting applications for admission for the fall quarter from students in the Gulf state areas who were affected by Hurricane Katrina. This includes those students who are lacking eligibility requirements.

"The students are receiving out-of-state-student housing benefits ranging up to $6,750. Those who live on campus are having their housing paid for by the University. The students are recently out-of-state-student housing benefits for up to $6,750. Some of the students 'will be receiving up to $6,750. The University is also waiving non-resident fees for students coming from the affected areas. Fulltime payment plans are being offered to students that require them.

"Particularly," these students who are no longer able to be welcomed into the hurricane-affected areas and would like to continue their education plans with us. One congressman has proposed a plan that could contribute $6.5 billion over a five-year period to various schools in the form of loan forgiveness, one-time only grants.

"We are required to celebrate the Constitution," said Janiskee. "The Constitution is the oldest written constitution in the world, and that is enduring," said Janiskee. "In his speech, Erler explained the importance of the United States Constitution and its principles.

"Erler, a graduate from Claremont Graduate School, is an internationally recognized expert in Constitutionalism and Federalism," according to Janiskee. Erler serves on the California Civil Rights Commission.

"The Constitution website I created is a list of websites that provide educational resources on the U.S. Constitution and Constitution Day.

"Many of the websites link to other resources, as well as provide lesson plans, learning materials, and other ways to help celebrate Constitution Day," said Sorrell.

"Education in the Constitution and the principles of constitutional government is vital even indispensable to intellectual citizenship. Since sovereignty rests in the people and is expressed primarily through elections, intelligent voting is key to maintaining constitutional government," said Erler.

"This website can be helpful to students who would like to learn more about the United States Constitution or are having trouble in their government classroom.

"I have been watching American Government courses at CSUSB for more than thirty years.

"Yes, it is definitely true that students do not have an adequate understanding of the Constitution," said Janiskee.

Many students said that they support Constitutionalism in order to save the Earth.

Aida Carrasco, Communication Studies major, said she believes that "CSUSB Clean Energy Policy is a great thing that helps to continue our school a leader in the fight against pollution, as well as create an opportunity for CSUSB to save money from the energy that we are able to spend on other things, like new programs, expansion of the campus and parking.

"This policy is great for the environment, as well as the future of my own children," said Quinta Duckworth, a senior in Criminal Justice.

Jeff Miller, a former Cal State Northridge student and current resident of Northridge, said he supports the policy because he has been able to see what has happened on the campus.

"Conceived of by the solar panels was not much of an improvement and it created extra parking for students. Many of the local residents who were encouraged by CSUSB and started looking into investing in their own solar panels for the good of the environment as well as their wallets," said Miller. "He hopes the campus will be able to use the money for future expansion and eventually generate enough energy to possibly sell back to electricity companies.

Daniele Miller Chronicle

Energy-saving Solar Panels entirely cover a parking lot at Cal State Northridge.

Daniele Miller Staff Writer

The CSU Board of Trustees approved a new University Clean Energy Policy, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

This will put CSUSB on the forefront of a fight against global warming because the campus will position itself as a leader in energy savings.

"Many of the students on campus are invested in the idea of existing solar panels for the good of the environment as well as their wallets," said Miller. "He hopes the campus will be able to use the money for future expansion and eventually generate enough energy to possibly sell back to electricity companies.

Daniele Miller Chronicle

Side view of solar panels at Cal State Northridge's parking structure.

"Unfortunately, these students have no more ability to be welcomed into the hurricane-affected areas and would like to continue their educational plans with us," said Janiskee. "One congressman even proposed a plan that could contribute $6.5 billion over a five-year period to various schools in the form of loan forgiveness, one-time only grants.

"Particularly, these students who are no longer able to be welcomed into the hurricane-affected areas, those students who are lacking eligibility requirements, are required to celebrate the Constitution," said Janiskee. "The Constitution is the oldest written constitution in the world, and that is enduring," said Janiskee. "In his speech, Erler explained the importance of the United States Constitution and its principles.

"Erler, a graduate from Claremont Graduate School, is an internationally recognized expert in Constitutionalism and Federalism," according to Janiskee. Erler serves on the California Civil Rights Commission.

"The Constitution website I created is a list of websites that provide educational resources on the U.S. Constitution and Constitution Day.

"Many of the websites link to other resources, as well as provide lesson plans, learning materials, and other ways to help celebrate Constitution Day," said Sorrell.

"Education in the Constitution and the principles of constitutional government is vital even indispensable to intellectual citizenship. Since sovereignty rests in the people and is expressed primarily through elections, intelligent voting is key to maintaining constitutional government," said Erler.

"This website can be helpful to students who would like to learn more about the United States Constitution or are having trouble in their government classroom.

"I have been watching American Government courses at CSUSB for more than thirty years.

"Yes, it is definitely true that students do not have an adequate understanding of the Constitution," said Janiskee.

Many students said that they support Constitutionalism in order to save the Earth.

Aida Carrasco, Communication Studies major, said she believes that "CSUSB Clean Energy Policy is a great thing that helps to continue our school a leader in the fight against pollution, as well as create an opportunity for CSUSB to save money from the energy that we are able to spend on other things, like new programs, expansion of the campus and parking.

"This policy is great for the environment, as well as the future of my own children," said Quinta Duckworth, a senior in Criminal Justice.

Jeff Miller, a former Cal State Northridge student and current resident of Northridge, said he supports the policy because he has been able to see what has happened on the campus.

"Conceived of by the solar panels was not much of an improvement and it created extra parking for students. Many of the local residents who were encouraged by CSUSB and started looking into investing in their own solar panels for the good of the environment as well as their wallets," said Miller. "He hopes the campus will be able to use the money for future expansion and eventually generate enough energy to possibly sell back to electricity companies.

Daniele Miller Chronicle

Energy-saving Solar Panels entirely cover a parking lot at Cal State Northridge.

Daniele Miller Staff Writer

The CSU Board of Trustees approved a new University Clean Energy Policy, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

This will put CSUSB on the forefront of a fight against global warming because the campus will position itself as a leader in energy savings.

"Many of the students on campus are invested in the idea of existing solar panels for the good of the environment as well as their wallets," said Miller. "He hopes the campus will be able to use the money for future expansion and eventually generate enough energy to possibly sell back to electricity companies.

Daniele Miller Chronicle

Side view of solar panels at Cal State Northridge's parking structure.
Chronicle Staff

Executive Editor: Bryan Goins
Managing Editor: David Reyes
News Editor: Kristen Kridel
Asst. News Editor: Sara Felsen
Copy Editor: Jennifer Galvan
Arts Editor: Fatima Wong
Multimedia Editor: Yadira Ortiz
Health/Science Editor: Nick Gibson
Op/Ed Editor: Nick Gibson

Staff Writers
Angela Anguila, Aaron Becker, Amy Beckert, Paris Devine, Greg Dupuy, Vahid Ershad, Liz Garcia, Erin Hijjawi, Stephanie Hernandez, Katelyn Mckinley, Danielle Miller, Stephanie Morehead, Sanu Nair, Melissa Tendero, Becky Schib, Kristin Tung, Tanya Tibbs, Susan Urban, Julia Willett, Melissa Young

For the Record

If you feel the Chronicle has made a mistake, please feel free to contact Shayann Goins at 537-5299 or e-mail shcoron@csusb.edu

Yadira Ortiz/Chronicle

The Chronicle reserves the right to all materials submitted to the paper.

Incident Reports

Date: 08-21-05
Incident: Battery, Osasco (on campus)
Description: At approximately 11 a.m., a student named Christy revealed on campus. The female student said she was attacked by a male student and that she was not sure if she was attacked by a male student or herself. She did not want to press charges against either person.
Disposition: Report taken.

Date: 08-23-05
Incident: Voluntary Alcohol Intoxication
Description: At about 1:32 a.m., officers responded to the second floor of the Social & Behavioral Building to investigate a report of several students in a classroom drinking alcohol and being offensive. One student refused to leave the area where she was standing and talked to a law enforcement officer. She was asked to leave and then proceeded to leave the building.
Dispotion: Report taken.

Date: 08-29-05
Incident: Threats
Description: A woman was approached by a man and asked if she wanted to see a movie. When she said no, he made a sexual comment to her and then left the area.
Disposition: Report taken.

Date: 09-13-05
Incident: Warrant Arrest
Description: At 8:15 a.m., a student was arrested for an outstanding warrant. The student was taken to the San Bernardino County Jail. Status: Arrest/Report Pending.

Dr. Erler: sparking the interests of students in their government.

Yadira Ortiz/Chronicle

Wells Fargo alternative loans offer:

- No origination, disbursement, or servicing fees
- Affordable interest rates
- Generous repayment terms

Use Wells Fargo’s interactive Student Loan Selector to find the loan that’s best for you, and apply today!

wellsfargo.com/special

Newspapers and other...
Housing says ‘Welcome Residents’

Tyresha Woolfork
Campus News Editor

After a long, remorseless day of moving, the incoming residents of housing for fall 2005 were greeted with a week full of programs called “Welcome Week.”

“Welcome Week” lasted from Sep. 18-24, with an estimated 20 programs. The programs were designed to inform, build community and help students get involved on campus. Some of the programs included: “Laundry Time,” “Coyote Ugly Dance” and “Power Hour.”

“Laundry Time” taught residents how to do their own laundry. According to Anna Sanchez, an RA for University Village, many of those who attended had little experience in washing their own clothes.

The staff provided demonstrations on how to load and properly sort clothing. Sanchez said that one resident actually participated and brought his dirty clothes. She added: “The programs were on campus: it was a collaborative effort with the Associated Students, Inc. It was a collaborative effort with the Associated Students, Inc.”

The residents were able to “let loose” and shake a “tail-feather,” while being in a safe and secure environment.

It was an effective community building program because the students were able to interact and meet other residents.

The programs were designed to make the students more confident and shake a tail-feather, while being in a safe and secure environment.

There are many perks for residents living on-campus. Besides living only a few steps from class, students are guaranteed to save on gas and receive free internet service and cable TV.

Porkney said: “At the ‘Power House’ program, a collaboration with the Green Campus, a department within the Environmental Health and Safety Department, residents were able to win free electronics and appliances.

Julian Jackson, a resident of Toro Village, said he actually picked up some important information. The Green Campus provided brochures and literature about energy conservation tips.

The Green Campus also plans to hold an event for housing residents that will give the winner a free energy-saving makeover, including a new TV and refrigerator.

The temporary Recreation Center located behind the San Manuel Student Union buildings.

New and Improved Rec Sports on the Way

Amy Bickett
Staff Writer

The CSUSB Department of Recreation offers a plethora of new activities this fall, including the student-directed Outdoors program. This program offers students the opportunity to go fishing, camping, kayaking, rafting, climbing, snowboarding and more.

David Conover, the Outdoors Coordinator, said this program has two great advantages. Being a member of the staff students develop leadership qualities. CSUSB students get to explore the “amazing playground that is right behind their campus.”

The Rec Center website says the mission of the Recreational Sports Department is "to provide a variety of safe and enjoyable programs and facilities to meet the diverse needs of the CSUSB community by creating an active, fun, and safe social environment, enriching the quality of life and enhancing the educational experience."

CSUSB Outdoors wants people to get out and recreate. Conover said: "He added that with the construction of the new Recreation Center to be completed in spring 2006, many new opportunities are coming."

Communications major Edgar Garcia said, “I think that the new Outdoors program will provide many opportunities for students, which is what CSUSB needs. It’s great!”

Some previous participants relished the success of the program. Last year and are excited for this season to begin, “I can’t speak for every student, but dodgeball was wicked-awesome last year!” said Ryan McLaughlin, a senior at CSUSB.

CSUSB Outdoors also plans events and outings for organizations and campus groups.

The organizations can rent equipment, including tents, backpacks, or camp cooking gear, water bottles and snowboards. Conover said his group could customize any trip or outing desired by any school organization.

The Center also offers Intramural sports. Dodgeball, flag football, 3-on-3 basketball and soccer are all available this quarter. Students can sign up at the Center as a team or as a free agent.

Intramural sports allow teams to compete against other teams on campus and get the chance to play against other universities. The leagues include men’s only, women’s only, and open mixed.

The Center is committed to helping students enhance physical fitness, learn new skills, expand their knowledge base and have fun.

For more information, go to the Rec Center or visit their website http://www.pdc.csusb.edu.

Palm Desert Campus Gets $4.5 Million Gift

Courtesy Of
CSUSB Public Affairs

The city of Palm Desert has again stepped up to the plate to support the growing Palm Desert Campus of California State University, San Bernardino. On July 11, the City Council recently unanimously voted to give $4.5 million over three years toward construction of the third and final Phase I building, which will house nursing instruction and allied health sciences programs.

Together with gifts from other local cities, including Rancho Mirage, Indio, La Quinta and Coachella, and the Desert Healthcare District, as well as other gifts from individuals and foundations, the campus has now accumulated nearly $5 million of the $12 million cost of the building, said Fred Jacob, dean of the Palm Desert Campus.

“This is a tremendous vote of confidence on the part of Palm Desert, which has already supported construction of one of our buildings and provided the 200- acre reserve for creation of our campus on Cook Street,” Jacob said.

Cal State San Bernardino President Albert E. Kawar said the vote was a shot in the arm for the construction.

"We're all pleased that local governments are willing to support an investment in the future of our students, and from its initial days of land to its recent $4.5 million gift, the Palm Desert City Council has been a beacon lighting the way for higher education in the Valley," he added.

The health sciences complex will be built immediately to the south of the Indian Wells Center for Educational Excellence, which opened last year. The two buildings complement the Mary Stuart Rogers Gateway Building, the campus’s first structure.

All of the construction is financed through a public-private partnership in which the community — including cities, agencies, foundations and individuals is donating to the nearly $46-million total cost.

For more information on the Cal State San Bernardino Palm Desert Campus, visit its Web site at http://pdc.csusb.edu.

Online Test Preparation

Attention Cal State Students! Are you prepared to take your graduate school admissions exams? The Center for Extended Learning can help with one of our convenient online test preparation courses.

Choose from:
- GRE Preparation
- GMAT Preparation
Registration online at http://cel.csusb.edu or call (909) 537-5981 for a FREE Bulletin of courses.

within reach
The San Bernardino Museum displayed Native American artifacts on Native American Day.

Jude M. Whitton

Chronicle

Hosts Native American Day

CSUSB

Jude M. Whitton

CSUSB Hosts Native American Day

Sayon Urbina

Staff Writer

Hispanics are in the midst of celebration, a tribute to their heritage and their contributions to the U.S.

The celebration began Sept. 15 and continued through Oct. 15. Hispanic Heritage month traces its roots back to President Lyndon B. Johnson who proclaimed a month-long celebration in 1968. It was expanded to one month in 1986.

“Hispanic Heritage is an awareness and appreciation for our origins; it honors our Hispanic culture,” said student Elda Delano Ramirez.

Hispanics come from all over the world, including Mexico, Spain, Central America, South America, and the Caribbean. Sept. 15 is Independence Day for five Latin countries: Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua. For this reason Sept. 15 was chosen as the starting point for the Hispanic Heritage month celebration. In addition, Mexico and Chile celebrate their Independence Days on Sept. 15th and Sept. 18th respectively.

Hispanics are the largest minority group in the United States. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, Hispanics make up 14 percent of the United States population (27 million people) identify themselves as Hispanic or Latino.

This month Hispanics are honored for their hard work and contribution to the nation. Hispanic politicians are also honored for their service and loyalty to our country. Those politicians honored include Senator Jose Canseco, Colorado; Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa, Los Angeles; Senator Mel Martinez, Florida; Governor Bill Richardson, New Mexico.

The celebration also honors the hard work of leaders like Cesar Chavez, a man whom Hispanics look up to and admire.

Coordinating Director: He is the Hispanic version of Martin Luther King, said student Anjali Pabla. “He gave a voice to the migrant workers and fought for fair working conditions.”

Hispanics who work in Hollywood and made it to the big screen include: Selma Hayek, Jennifer Lopez, Andy Garcia, Cameron Diaz, Penelope Cruz and Eva Longoria.

Channel 34 Univision celebrated “El Grito” in honor to Hispanic Heritage month. El Grito celebrates the independence day of various Latin American countries. The event took place in Los Angeles City Hall on Thursday, Sept. 15. Mariana Sepulveda, Jesenia, and Lori Elizadis (the “Entertainment”) wore the traditional attire.

CSUSB has no-eve planned for Hispanic Heritage Month.

Even though they may face prejudice and misunderstanding, Hispanics bring culture to the U.S., and we as a nation need to celebrate them.

“Hispanics are in the midst of celebration, a tribute to their heritage and their contributions to the U.S.”

Jude M. Whitton

Chronicle

October 10, 2005

Multi-Cultural

Elizabethtown

THE BEST PLACE TO FIND YOURSELF.

In Theatres Everywhere October 14

Orlando Bloom

Kirsten Dunst

(CaSN)
Student Health a Priority

Angela Angeli
Staff Writer

Did you know there are people on campus who can help keep your body and mind healthy? The CSUSB Health Center offers basic first aid services, a Counseling Center, exams for sexually transmitted diseases, pregnancy tests, and a pharmacy available for students currently enrolled at CSUSB.

The Counseling Center is available for students who may have concerns about any area of their mental health. Students can talk with Licensed Psychologists, Marriage-Family Therapists and supervised interns. All information is confidential and the first eight sessions are free.

The Health Center also has a pharmacy with a full-time pharmacist, Noel Farley. The pharmacy is open during clinic hours. Students are able to get prescriptions filled at a lower cost than other places.

The Health Center is open to all enrolled students. Health Fee is paid by each student at the time of enrollment which allows them to have access to the Health Center; however, some services are not covered or are not free.

The Health Center is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

---

Whooping Cough Back With A Vengeance

Brody Schulte
Staff Writer

Pertussis, also known as whooping cough, is supposedly on the rise. In 2004, 19,000 cases were reported to the center for Disease Control and Prevention, according to the Exempt website.

The most common signs of whooping cough are coughing, fever, and difficulty breathing. The disease is contagious and usually lasts for weeks.

Although infants and children can be vaccinated, many adults are not. The disease can be lethal to infants and children under the age of one, but it is not usually fatal for people older than one, according to FoxNews.

Hopkins said that he is very concerned about this disease. He said if you are in an accident they will immediately give you a tetanus shot, but it is good to have one as a precautionary method.

The third and final stage you should start to breathe more easily and generally feel better. Although flu-like symptoms start to go away during this stage and can unfortunately last weeks to several months, leaving you tired and easily fatigued. To stop it off, whooping cough lasts roughly 100 days from the onset of the actual cough itself, and most people do not realize they have it until they have already spread the sickness to others. Taking anti-biotics will stop the transmission, but will not shorten the duration of the sickness.

In May 2005 the FDA approved a vaccine called Timbervax. This is a booster shot for 15 to 18-year-olds. Adults are also recommended to get a tetanus booster every ten years according to FoxNews.

---

OMNI SAYS:

Instead of selling you how good Omnirans service is, we’d rather you see for yourself.

It’s also more affordable when you purchase a 28-Day Student Pass. Put us to the test. We’ll pass every one.

1-800-2-OMNIANS
www.omniTRANS.org

---

FREE RIDE COUPON.

Exchange this coupon for one free FREE Day Pass good for a single day of unlimited travel. Must be surrendered to driver at time of use.

To purchase a student pass you must be a high school or college student with proof of valid student ID or eligibility.

---

We’re holding your seat.

Chapman University College’s Inland Empire campuses are now accepting applications for the upcoming term.

Chapman University College, one of California’s most highly respected institutions for adult learners, is also the perfect transfer choice.

New terms start every 10 weeks and our accelerated programs are taught at convenient times by professionally and academically accomplished faculty who are focused on your success.

BACHELOR’S DEGREE PROGRAMS

- Computer Information Systems (BS)
- Criminal Justice (BA)
- Health Services Management (BS)
- Organizational Leadership (BA)
- Psychology (BA)
- Sociology (BA)
- Social Science (BA)

GRADUATE EDUCATION

- Computer Information Systems (MS)
- Criminal Justice (MA)
- Health Services Management (MA)
- Organizational Leadership (MA)
- Psychology (MA)
- Sociology (MA)
- Social Science (MA)
- Sociology (MA)

CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

- Multiple Subject
- Single Subject
- Education Specialist (K-12)
- Preliminary Teaching
- Administrative Services
- JAD Certification

Not all programs available at all locations

---

Call toll-free 866-CHAPMAN

Chapman University is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges. Teacher training and credential programs are approved by the Commission on Teacher Credentialing.
There seems to be an issue regarding textbooks among the students at CSUSB. We are spending upwards of $300 to $400 per quarter on books for classes. While I find this ridiculous like the rest of the population, I understand why they charge us so much.

Textbooks are expensive for a reason. There are a lot of people and places to pay for their production and shipping to the campus. Rent assured, the costs are just as bad at other universities. One of the textbooks that I was required to purchase new for a core course at CSUSB cost me over $70. It was more than $50 used.

At Cal Poly Pomona, the same book costs over $50 used as well. A book required in a similar course at UC Santa Barbara costs almost $90 used. It was nearly $70.

It was nearly $70 cost me over $70. It seems to be an issue your continued care with Human Resources at 415-565-1722. Then launch State Fund, carrier and regain some of your investment in our future.

If you are one of the many students taking a full load of courses, you are likely to spend a lot of money on your required texts. I have spent at least $200 on books every quarter I have attended this school.

And prices have gone up. It is only a small increase in some cases. A couple of dollars isn't much, but it can start to add up when you're buying nine books.

Some books have packets of additional material, such as CD-ROMS or keypads required for class participation. These materials are usually included with the book at no extra cost. These costs might be easier to deal with if students could buy used textbooks. However, it seems that the cost of used books is almost that of new books.

It would be nice to sell textbooks back at the end of the quarter and regain some of your money. The problem is you have to sell them back during finals week, which can be hard to do. Many students need them for their exams, so they have to keep them.

How can they gouge us like this? It turns out that the prices are somewhat justified. The money goes toward the wages of employees of university bookstores as well as upkeep for the store. Production of the books themselves raises the prices. All of the charts and photos that are included to make them more interesting also make them more expensive.

There is a pamphlet available in the Coyote Bookstore entitled, "Why Do My Textbooks Cost So Much?" It has information about where your hundreds of dollars go. It was very helpful to me and aided in understanding why we pay so much.

So if apparent textbook prices are something of a necessary evil for us as students and we might do well to view these costs as something different: an important investment in our future.
Alumni Art Exhibit Showcases 40 Years of Art

Romul Polanski has not been back to the United States since he fled the country in 1974. The American government cannot catch him now, but he can watch his last film, "Oliver Twist," at your local cinema.

It's hard to say whether Polanski is more famous for his accomplishments as a director or for the controversy his very name calls of mind. His first big hit in this country was "Rosemary's Baby," "900," in 1960. This horror film is about a woman who is impregnated by the devil himself, won an Oscar for Best Picture.

The following year, tragedy struck Polanski in his own home. Trivia proved to be more horrifying than fiction when Polanski's wife, actress Sharon Tate, was brutally murdered by the gang led by Charles Manson.

The seventh brokentooth professional success for Polanski with "Chinatown," starring Jack Nicholson and Faye Dunaway. This film also won an Oscar for Best Picture and launched the careers of the two stars.

Another adventure followed triumph in Polanski's life. The same year that "Chinatown" came out in theaters, he was convicted of sexually assaulting a 13-year-old girl. Instead of facing his sentence, Polanski escaped the country and has not returned since.

Despite being banned from American soil has not stopped Polanski from releasing his film "Oliver Twist." "Oliver Twist" is a classic tale about an orphan named Oliver. He is found in a London sewer where he can find love. It appears that the main theme of this film, which is about "Oliver Twist," is social commentary.

One of the more unique aspects of "Oliver Twist" is that the album, which means there was no real creativity there either. The cinematographic elements of this are awesome. The music and cinematography were not bad, but they didn't do what they could have done. Critics say that the screenplay is the closest yet to the original work, which means there was no real creativity there either.

One of the more unique aspects of "Oliver Twist" is that the album, which means there was no real creativity there either. The cinematographic elements of this are awesome. The music and cinematography were not bad, but they didn't do what they could have done. The music for the future is to bring people back to the concert series. This concert is to bring music suitable for all ages.

The hope for the future is to bring people back to the concert series. This concert is to bring music suitable for all ages. This concert is to bring people back to the concert series.

"The lorax" is about a bird figure to the group of nineteen-wise kids. His ability to make a chief and child about enter a sympathetic character is admirable. If you are leading to the theater this weekend, I would highly recommend choosing something besides Polanski's "Oliver Twist." Under any circumstances, of course, you are trying to make up for the deep sleep you lost.

The cast of "Oliver Twist" include members of the group of nineteen-wise kids. His ability to make a chief and child about enter a sympathetic character is admirable. If you are leading to the theater this weekend, I would highly recommend choosing something besides Polanski's "Oliver Twist." Under any circumstances, of course, you are trying to make up for the deep sleep you lost.

The next performance in the series will take place on Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Recital Hall. It starts to end, and leaves listeners with lyrics such as, "the music for the future is to bring people back to the concert series. This concert is to bring music suitable for all ages. This concert is to bring people back to the concert series. This concert is to bring music suitable for all ages. This concert is to bring people back to the concert series.

Thought of as psychedelic rock, this album, which means there was no real creativity there either. The cinematographic elements of this are awesome. The music and cinematography were not bad, but they didn't do what they could have done. Critics say that the screenplay is the closest yet to the original work, which means there was no real creativity there either.

The noma-noma-like song closes as Clarkson played the title role. His irascible and -witted makes it impossible not to empathize with his plight and root for him to overcome. As always, Ben Kingsley pulls off a brilliant performance. The song is to bring music suitable for all ages. This concert is to bring music suitable for all ages.
Volleyball Bounces Back

Cal State San
weren’t going to and as stated on two goals to help ly won in ugly fashion.

Brandenburg, tying the game at 1-1, header, hitting the back of the net on a penalty kick said Cipolla.

Francisco Steele and blasted a shot past the keeper.

Two of the season), to down Poly Pomona

Sophomore forward, “The Coyotes showed a lot in the first half, the first half, one with a chop over sophomore defender, Leslie Rhodes, head from Sonoma’s花瓣 Pavilion.

Coyotes, the defending champions, won the event with 48 points. CSUSB finished the meet with 39 points.

The legs of the CSUSB cross-country team are just getting started, as senior All-American, Tanya Zeferjahn, leads the Coyotes. After a strong showing at the GRRC, Coyote’s have competed in four meets this season and Zeferjahn has placed respectively as mark.

The Coyotes were a four- week cross-country meet at University of California San Diego on Aug. 27, and Zeferjahn finished second. She was clocked at 15:28.5. Sophomore, Holly DiGerolamo tied her and was timed at 15:29.0. Following her, were first-timers Tiffani Beaston, a freshman from Sonoma State, Westworth, freshman Karri Bondell, junior Brook Better and freshman Kristen Torrez.

The next meet took place at UC Riverside, on Oct. 1. Zefurjahn took everyone by sur prise with her new record for the 5,000 meter at 16:31.8. Although all of our CSUSB ladies finished just 36 seconds apart, the only meet, Cal State Fullerton won the title with 96 points.

The CSUSB Coyotes went 1-1 on a recent road trip against SFSU and Sonoma State.

It would be a lot of big, with a field of outstanding runners, and we have a couple of has-beens and never­ been fantasy football is a good thing for the

Although in all of our CSUSB ladies did finish with a fast time, Cal State Fullerton won the title with 96 points.

An ultimate sports fan that never

Fantasy Scores Cash

Justin Bates

Sports Editor

On average, every year late early September, millions of fans try to make fantasy become reality. The ultimate sports fan that never played sports, mixed in with a couple of has-beens and never­ where’s, our ranges in gadgets all across America for one thing.

With the number one pick in the 2005 NFL Fantasy Football Draft, Joe’s Army

Close to eight million people participate at all levels. Some play just for fun, others play for the excitement of being the major play for big bucks.浣熊比赛,

Fantasy Football has Fast become a money making business, and fans are devoted to craving data that provide expert advice in picking which one of 16 players you choose from and join teams. During each week, you pick from a list of choices that you want for the best chance to win, win and work out.

To play football on TV

I truly believe that football is a good thing for the crowd. It encourages people to carry on their team on the field, and the best chance to win, work and work out.

The ultimate arm chair quarterback fans will put in 10 -12 hours of work on the couch to win on Sunday. (Games are played at 1:00 pm), and pick 30 players, some games last three hours. They only resten their for food and food breaks.

And don’t forget the Monday night game. That’s football. Sports fantasy also

Fantasy sports also

Alumni Takes Over Tennis

Heather Lehman, the most successful tennis player in the history of the CSUSB women’s program, has been appointed head coach for the Coyote team for 2005-06.

Lehman, a 2004 graduate of CSUSB, with 30 singles match victories and 25 doubles match victories, was chosen to replace her mentor, Tim Starzyk, who resigned after coaching the team for the past seven seasons.

Like her predecessors, Lehman, who teaches physical education full-time at Kiser Middle School, started it as a part-time coach at CSUSB.

I am thrilled that Heather has accepted this position. She has been an integral part of our tennis program for the past five years as a student-athlete and as an assistant coach,” said Marty Simpson, director of athletics.

It is fitting for her to continue to be involved and able to share her energies on taking the program to the next level. ”

Heather Lehman helped the tennis program around when she began to play as a freshman in 2000-01, after being a success in multiple sports at nearby Cajon High School. She was a first team all conference in 2000, 2001 and 2002.

She inherits a team that has

Academy

The legs of the CSUSB cross-country team are just getting started, as senior All-American, Tanya Zeferjahn, leads the team. After a strong showing at the GRRC, Coyote’s have competed in four meets this season and Zeferjahn finished in second-place.

The legs of the CSUSB cross-country team are just getting started, as senior All-American, Tanya Zeferjahn, leads the Coyotes. After a strong showing at the GRRC, Coyote’s have competed in four meets this season and Zeferjahn finished in second-place.

The legs of the CSUSB cross-country team are just getting started, as senior All-American, Tanya Zeferjahn, leads the Coyotes. After a strong showing at the GRRC, Coyote’s have competed in four meets this season and Zeferjahn finished in second-place.

The legs of the CSUSB cross-country team are just getting started, as senior All-American, Tanya Zeferjahn, leads the Coyotes. After a strong showing at the GRRC, Coyote’s have competed in four meets this season and Zeferjahn finished in second-place.

The legs of the CSUSB cross-country team are just getting started, as senior All-American, Tanya Zeferjahn, leads the Coyotes. After a strong showing at the GRRC, Coyote’s have competed in four meets this season and Zeferjahn finished in second-place. 