SCHOOL OF EDUCATION OFFERS READING CLINIC

A special eight-week clinic designed to help elementary and high school students with reading problems will be offered Saturday mornings beginning Jan. 16. Personalized assistance will be given to each participant by a graduate student working toward an M.A. in education with an option in reading. Participants will receive an hour of tutoring each week.

The clinic will continue for nine weeks, with the exception of Saturday, March 6. Parents of prospective participants are requested to call the School of Education, 887-7571, for initial registration and an interview with Dr. Margaret A. Atwell, who is director of the program. SEARCH COMMITTEE FORMED FOR NEW CSU CHANCELLOR

An eight-member Board of Trustees search committee has been formed to advise in the selection of a new California State University chancellor. Headed by John F. O'Connell, chairman, the committee's recommendations will be presented to the board, which is seeking a successor to Dr. Glenn S. Dumke.

Dr. Dumke announced in July that he plans to retire on his 65th birthday May 5, 1982, but at the board's request, agreed to continue beyond that date, if necessary, until a new chancellor assumes duties.

The search committee includes two past chairs of the Board, Dr. Claudia H. Hampton and Charles Luckman. Other members are trustees Celia Ballesteros, Blanche C. Bersch, Jeremiah F. Hallisey, Michael R. Peevey and Willie J. Stennis.
