Garamendi Sounds the Alarm

"We Must Conserve Water"

The Black Voice News ONTARIO

By Cheryl Brown

Without water a community cannot grow, houses cannot be built, jobs cannot expand and the economic future of San Bernardino depends on growth. If there is no water there is no growth and the economy will be badly damaged as a result. This was the premise of the Second Annual San Bernardino Water Conference held last week at the Ontario Convention Center.

"We have a problem!" declared Lt. Governor John Garamendi the keynote speaker. He was addressing the day long event that brought together key stakeholders to make clear exactly how difficult the water situation is in the region and why it is unlikely to get better. One key is industry the other key are the residents, the end users.

According to Supervisor Paul Biane, "Water drives our economy and we cannot continue to rely on imported water," while Supervisor Gary Ovitt told the audience, "today we are going to craft a water policy action plan."

Garamendi called the water situation of a predicted earthquake with less snow will raise the Pacific Ocean and compromise the Delta and fresh water sources. He said that people will have to conserve, lawns will have to be replaced with natural vegetation, we will have to recycle the water that we use, the contaminated water must be cleaned up and we must reduce our carbon footprint. Mark Dowling, Director of the Economic Development Agency further sounded the alarm. "We take water for granted. Each person uses about 120 gal-

Sites like Twitter deliver updates via text message, putting the campaign in real time near constant contact with potential voters. Obama's announcement could be the first high profile step in an otherwise guarded process. Both Obama and likely Republican nominee John McCain have been tightlipped about who they're considering and how the selection process is going.

Meanwhile Denver known as the "Queen of the Plain States" is applying makeup and getting ready to host the Democratic National Convention. The convention starts August 25. There are signs everywhere that's it about to begin, like the "Denver 2008" banners and last-minute cleanup projects around the Pepsi sports arena downtown.

Michelle Obama and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi will be the featured first night speakers at the convention, which will also include a videotaped message from Massachusetts Sen. Edward Kennedy.

Michelle Obama will be introduced by her brother, Craig Robinson, a former basketball star at Princeton and now a coach at Oregon State, on the first night on Aug. 25. Barack Obama's half sister, Maya Soetoro-Ng, also will have a role in the convention.

The opening night theme is "One Nation". The Aug 26 theme is "Renewing America's Promise" with a speech from Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton. On Aug 27, the theme is "Securing America's Future" with an acceptance speech by Obama's still-unannounced vice presidential candidate.

The theme for Aug 28, the night Obama officially accepts the nomination at the Denver Bronco's football stadium, is "Change You Can Believe In." Colorado Gov. Bill Ritter is set to head the list of speakers.

State Public Health. Fines Hospitals For Medical Mistakes

Kaiser Riverside, Loma Linda, Among 18 Slapped with $25,000 Fine

The Black Voice News SACRAMENTO

The California Department of Health says medical errors are one of the major causes of death and injuries of thousands of patients every year, contributing to soaring healthcare costs.

By Chris Levister

Insisting Californians are entitled to quality patient care, 'California's Department of Public Health fined 18 hospitals in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside Counties for medical mistakes. Each violation carries a $25,000 fine.

The list state regulators released Monday reads like a 'who's who' in hospitals.

In San Bernardino County Loma Linda University Medical Center doctors failed to ensure the health and safety of a patient when a potentially fatal overdose of a medication was administered.

Doctors at Kaiser's Riverside Hospital failed to prescribe, administer and monitor medication in accordance with the manufacturer's specification on safe use. A patient at Newport Beach Hoag Presbyterian had to undergo a second surgery to remove a surgical instrument left after surgery.

U.S. Minority Population Spreading Beyond Gateway Cities

Blacks Returning to the "New South"

The Black Voice News

By Chris Levister

U.S. cities coast to coast are getting blacker and browner as minorities, especially Hispanics have more babies and Blacks fed up with a lack of jobs, underperforming schools and escalating police brutality migrate from north to south.

U.S. Census Bureau figures released this week show whites are now in the minority in one in 10 U.S. counties and that Hispanics continue to spread in large numbers beyond traditional gateway cities like Los Angeles and New York into other cities, suburbs and rural areas such as St. Joseph, Mo., about an hour north of Kansas City. The Hispanic population in St. Joseph increased 21 percent from July 2006 to July 2007, the largest percentage increase in the country. Bosie, Idaho, Scranton, Pa., and Madison, Wis. also attracted a mix of Hispanic immigrants as well as domestic immigrants who have left gateway cities.

The boom in Hispanic population, the majority of which comes from births rather than immigration, continues to be the driving force in U.S. demographics. The Hispanic population grew in 95% of the nation's counties with an overall population greater than 10.000.

Inland Empire cities such as Rialto, Fontana, Riverside and San Bernardino remain as destinations for Hispanics leaving Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

According to Census figures San Bernardino and Riverside counties saw significant population spikes in 2006-07 and the majority of those moving in are Hispanics. From July 2006 to July 2007 the city of San Bernardino had an increase of 16%

"We're seeing explosive growth among new minorities particularly Hispanics across the country," says William Frey, a demographer at the Brookings Institution, a Washington think tank. "At the same time, the white population is getting older and become more constrained," he said.

Whites are projected to fall below 50% of the total U.S. population by 2050. Several states including Texas, Hawaii, New Mexico and California have already reached that milestone.

Southern cities such as Birmingham, Atlanta and Charlotte, N.C. saw the nation's largest growth in Black population as many African-Americans migrate away from 'job hungry' northern cities.

The largest numerical gain of African-Americans was in Atlanta, whose Black population rose by about 65,000 from July 2006 to July 2007. Trends show Black upper middle income families and single professionals abandoning metropolitan cities such as Los Angeles, Detroit, and New York.

"Southern charm is in again, says Daniel Gullette, an Atlanta career consultant. Blacks earning over $75,000 are finding the pastures greener in the south when it comes to fair housing, jobs, education and career opportunities.

"A lack of job creation, draconian prison policies and attitudes that pit Blacks against Hispanic immigrants in traditional urban enclaves have worn thin," said Gullette. "Educated higher income Blacks in California and New York in particular fed up with 'justified' police brutality, underperforming segregated schools and straining race relations are saying, 'Slavery is over - we're free to move about the cabin', that means taking our consumer spending with us as well." Secret Service Singles Out Sole Black; McCain Campaign Apologizes

The Black Voice News TALLAHASSEE, FL

Reporter Stephen Price assigned to cover a John McCain rally was singled out by Secret Service and told to leave a backstage area.

By BVN Staff

The Tallahassee Democrat newspaper. is asking Sen. John McCain's presidential campaign why a Black reporter assigned to cover a rally was singled out by the Secret Service and told to leave a backstage area.

Reporter Stephen Price was among four Florida capital press corps reporters behind the scenes at a Panama City rally recently when a Secret Service agent approached and asked if he was part of the national media traveling with the Arizona senator. Mr. Price said no, and the agent told him he had to leave. Mr. Price said he then pointed out that there were other state reporters in the same area, but was still told to leave. The other reporters were White.

A Panama City police officer quickly approached with his hand on his holster and asked what the problem was, Mr. Price said. At the same time, Palm Beach Post reporter Dara Kam came to Mr. Price's defense and was told she also had to leave, Mr. Price said.

The other two reporters, Alex Leary of the St. Petersburg Times and Marc Caputo of the Miami Herald, weren't removed.

Mr. Caputo, however, said that initially he also was told he had to leave the area.

The McCain campaign said it asked Secret Service to look into the event.

"The campaign looked into this, and found that no one from the campaign was involved," said McCain spokesman

Norton Space and Aeronautics Academy to Open Monday

Thursday, Aug. 28 Dorothy Inghram will be honored

The Black Voice News SAN BERNARDINO

By Cheryl Brown

In 1942 when Ms. Dorothy Inghram arrived at the County Schools' operated Mill School, the principal and the teacher there were shocked. She was the first Black teacher they had seen. The road to her becoming the first Black principal and the California's first Black superintendent was filled with challenges but in spite of it all, she prevailed and some of her students are the most productive adults in the community.

Principal Robert Barksdale

Mill School closed in 1968 years after it became a part of the San Bernardino Unified School District. It closed because it fell within nearby Norton Air Force Base's flight path that was deemed a danger to the students and too noisy for them to learn.

It is so appropriate that the school be re opened by Principal Robert Barksdale, who said it is his desire to remember the work of Ms. Inghram, to honor it and to make the new Norton Space and Aeronautics Academy (NSAA) the best school in the area. It, is a free public charter school open to any San Bernardino County resident.

This will be the first school chartered by San Bernardino Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Herb Fischer, and came about when San Bernardino Mayor Patrick Morris requested the school when he saw what was happening at AAE School in Hesperia, NSAA's sister school. The waiting list for AAE is at 3,000.

is to create global citizens. To that effort, the students will be bilingual, bi-literate, and bicultural. "They will be able to speak, read and write and have a sense of multi-culturalism," he said. "They will learn how to gather data, what that data means, and how to analyze and record it using a computer software program. They will learn to work in teams on problem solving skills," said Barksdale.

Barksdale said his school's vision

There will be an emphasis on technology and on math and science. The school will begin with the lower grades adding three classrooms, and one grade a year. This year will be a full day kindergarten, first and second grades. By the time the students are entering the 5th grade, Mandarin

The Black Voice News ISSUES & OPINIONS

Thanks Joe Baca for the Resolution on PLS

Back in February, Joe Baca introduced Assembly Bill H.R 896 into Congress to bring public awareness to the neuromuscular disease known as Primary Lateral Sclerosis (PLS) and the people stricken with it like myself. Well, congress passed it with a unanimous vote and now February will also be named Primary Lateral Sclerosis Awareness Month in addition to recognizing me in my fight with the disease.

- Like most people, I had never heard of PLS but was aware of ALS which is better known as Lou Gehrig's disease, an aggressive killer with a life expectancy of 2 to 5 years after diagnosis. PLS on the other hand is a rare neuromuscular disease characterized by progressive muscle weakness in the voluntary muscles but does not carry with it the short life span.

The first doctor who said I had ALS had not heard of PLS nor did he believe it to be a disease. My second doctor, Dr. Ronald Bailey, a neurologist in Riverside concluded after conducting several test on me that I had PLS and several years later Dr. Perry Shieh of UCLA rendered the same opinion. Thanks to the internet, I have been able to research both diseases and have found out that many of the things I have done have brought much comfort to me as I live with this condition.

I am one of the few who has never given up hope nor wavered in my faith of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I recall the story of faith by Abraham as told in the book of Hebrews chapter 11:8-19. He has done that for me by giving me the diagnosis of PLS. It is a conformation of what I believe. Abraham believed in something he had never seen or heard of but believed it would still happen any way.

So I want to thank Joe on behalf of my family, friends and the people who are mis-diagnosed with other related diseases like ALS causing many to give up hope and succumb to fear and high anxiety. The passage of this bill will generate awareness and attract researching funds toward finding a cure. Let me also say that when you have a supportive family, friends, community and so many people of various faiths praying for you it is hard not to find the strength to carry on. Even yesterday a pastor from Zimbabwe, Lemmy Sikena stopped by the office to pray with and for me. My friend, Jack Brown, CEO of Stater Bros. Market came out on a cold day in February just to wish me well. I can not begin to count the number of blessings I have received from the silent prayers you have prayed every day for me. So I want to thank all of you for your support and to Joe Baca for his thoughtfulness in doing this act of kindness.

What Every Black Christian Should Know

By Rev. Barbara Reynolds NNPA Religion Columnist

Imagine cruising along the centuries old Nile river shaded by lush date palm trees, stopping to check out a Nubian elementary school, then later trotting along on camels among the Giza pyramids and stopping to gaze at the memorial to Hatshepsut, the first and only female Pharoah. Along the way, travelers from many parts of the world hailed our all African-American touring group with the greeting, "Obama."

Then after leaving Egypt, our tour group headed to the Holy Land. First stop was with the Black Hebrews, African-Americans who have built an oasis in the Negev Desert. We were baptized in the River Jordan, the site where John the Baptist baptized Jesus, prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane, visited Bethlehem, the birthplace of Jesus.

Ironically it is under Arab control and we were ordered not to bring Bibles nor Christian symbols inside. Then we walked along the Via Dolorosa, which winds along narrow streets of Jerusalem's Old City to the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, the site of Jesus' burial and Resurrection.

That is what I did this summer. My experience, along with hundreds of others over a span of two decades, came about through the heroic efforts of Dr. Cain Hope Felder, professor of New Testament and Literature and editor of the Journal of Religious Thought at the Howard University School of Divinity in Washington DC.

Here is a man who has distinguished himself as a stellar scholar. Among his extensive post graduate degrees is a PH.D. and a Master of Philosophy degree in Biblical languages from Columbia University in New York.

His books are many. Troubling Biblical Waters has been translated into more than 20 different languages and his True to Our Native Land is the first African-American commentary on the New Testament.

My favorite is his scholarly contributions compiled in the Original African Heritage Bible. That was earth-shaking. With scholarship and depth, Felder helped shatter the myths and destroy the lies that White missionaries saved the heathen Blacks. Until I studied under Felder, I had mistakenly thought the Bible was all about Whites, an impression that soon dramatically changed.

Felder's work showed how the Bible is a drama of the history of salvation where the Black presence is monumental: the creation of the first Adam from the dirt of the ground in the Garden of Eden, located in Africa, to the resettling of the world after the flood through Noah's three Black sons, to the incarnation of Jesus of Nazareth, who by any stretch of the imagination was not blond-haired nor blueeyed.

His work opened our eyes to how Blacks contributed greatly to the spread of Christianity. Blacks were prominent in the Upper Room in Jerusalem where Christianity was inaugurated through the Holy Spirit; one of the first Christian converts was a Black man from Ethiopia. Blacks were early martyrs during the Roman Empire and Black men like St. Augustine, the Father of Theology, wrote foundational works upon which Christianity was built.

It was Felder's research that helped stop the nonsense that the Roman Catholic Church would name the first Black church after the death of Pope John Paul II, when in fact there had been three Black popes before the fifth cen-

Felder could have stopped at being a scholar, but he went so much further. He has organized scores of tours to Africa where in places like Egypt, we saw how many of the facial features of the Pharaohs have been defaced to obscure the fact that their broad noses and lips show without a doubt they were Black and so much unlike the portrait Hollywood has presented. This was among the many incidents that underscored the depth that Europeans have stooped to obscure the rich cultural history of Blacks.

Thursday, August 21, 2008

Many people like myself are no longer as culturally blinded by European propaganda because of the efforts of Felder, who leads an international movement of discovery through the Biblical Institute of Social Change (BISC). With the sudden passing of Bernie Mac and Issac Hayes, I thought maybe time should not go by without calling attention to how much the 65-year-old pastoral professor gives of himself. He has been battling prostate cancer. On this tour, he was not feeling well and soon after we returned to Washington he was back in Howard University Hospital, where he is reportedly recuperating nicely

During his hospitalization, he worried about mounting bills that threaten his beloved institu-

Felder has inaugurated a national treasure that has re-written history, connected Blacks to their culture and spiritual past. He should not have to worry.

Taking a Second Look at Bi-racial 'Black' Leaders

By George E Curry NNPA Columnist

> If you had a choice of color Which one would you choose my brothers If there was no day or night Which would you prefer to be right. -Curtis Mayfield, "Choice of Colors'

While Barack Obma was pondering whether to seek his party's nomination for president, there was another development already taking place in the Black community. More than any time in memory, there has been a growth in the number of people of biracial parentage assuming leadership roles in largely Black cities and organizations. They include Newark Mayor Cory A. Booker, Washington, D.C. Mayor Adrian Fenty and NAACP President/CEO Benjamin Jealous. The lieutenant governor of Maryland, Anthony G. Brown, is also bi-racial.

As with so many things in the African-American community, the issue of color is a complicated one. From the days slave masters forced themselves on Black women, there have been bi-racial children, some taking on the color of their mother and others looking as white as any White man. Even today, more than nearly 400 years later, some Blacks can still pass for White.

Complicating matters within the community, however, is the mixed signals Blacks have historically sent on color. In many social gatherings, a premium was placed on what was then called lightbright-and-damned-near-White. Some social clubs ured potential members to pass the paper has test - if you were darker than a paper bag, you couldn't join.

But all of that changed - or, at least was challenged - during the Black Power Movement of the late 1960s. Black was in, White was out. No more White dolls, no more European beauty standards, no more self-hate. We were taught to love ourselves. Of course, the Black Pride Movement never took full hold in our community - after trying an Afro, James Brown even went back to his scarry curl - but it represented a significant step in the right direction.

Now some of us would rather cuss and make a fuss

Than to bring about a little trust

If you'll only listen to what I have to say.

With remnants of the live-and-let live spirit of the 1960s still in place, color isn't any less complicated today. Clarence Thomas, a dark-skinned man, is more hostile to civil rights than any of the White conservatives on the U.S. Supreme Court. Yet, Walter White - who, by all appearances, looked White - was an ardent civil rights activist with the NAACP, serving as executive secretary from 1931-1955.

Derrick Bell, a law professor at New York University, reads nothing special into the inceasing number of bi-racial leaders.

"It shows that interracial unions are on the rise," he explained. "Obviously a number of young Whites, male and female, are looking beyond race in choosing whom they wish to marry.

Until the U.S. Supreme Court struck down antimiscegenation laws in 1967 (Loving v. Virginia), interracial marriages were illegal in 16 states. According to the Census Bureau, the number of interracial marriages increased from less than 1 percent in 1970 to slightly more than 5 percent in 2000.

And not all products of these unions accept others' definition of them. Consider this exchange between Michelle Martin, host of NPR's "Tell Me More," and Ben Jealous

MARTIN: One other interesting thing about you is that you are also biracial as is Barack Obama, as is the lieutenant governor of Maryland, as is the mayor of Washington.

JEALOUS: Can I, can I make a small correction

JEALOUS: I'm Black, you know the only thing that we have, you know, the only definition that's out there on the books if you will, are state laws, and my family is from Virginia. When I was born ... the law said . . . if you were at least 1/32nd of African descent, you were Black, end of story. White was an exclusive definition; Black was an inclusive defini-

The real issue, says Luke Harris, a professor at Vassar College, is not what people call Jealous whose father is White and mother is Black + but how those in that group relate to the Black community

"Biracial folk have always played significant leadership roles in the Black community. We need only think of Frederick Douglass," Harris said: "Whether their increased participation in these roles signals something good or bad depends on the ways in which they relate to the Black community. Do they see themselves as full-fledged members of our community? Do they offer a politics that genuinely reflect the interests of our community? These are the sorts of questions that will have to be asked."

I said now people must prove to the people A better day is coming for you and for me With just a little bit more education And love for our nation Would make a better society.

US: We Must Change Direction

I cannot understand for the life of me why we, as the public, are not in an uproar over the way the Bush Administration has manipulated this false gas crisis to benefit the stock holders and his oil producing friends. They deliberately drove the prices high only to now reduce them to acceptable levels but still higher than before. It was also done to get the public to agree to give the oil companies greater access to off shore drilling without environmental restrictions. This old trick of getting the public is as old as man. The government got the public involved to kill Jesus. They got the public involved to have Moses agree to give people divorces. They got the public involved to petition God to give them a king to rule over them. Karl Rove and the conservative Christians got the public together to give us King George Bush. In all those instances the people later regretted what they did.

Let us come together in November to elect a leader that will govern for the people and not a select group of people. Over the past eight years, the rich have gotten richer while the poor have gotten poorer and the middle class has gotten into food lines, lost homes, lost healthcare, lost businesses, paid higher education bills, been poisoned by eating food not inspected from other countries, given their children toys that go un-inspected for safety, and received no help when natural disasters have happened in our community.

Yes this November let "we the people" elect someone who vill look out for all the people. We must not get sidetracked in our thinking that a president will prevent people from having ex out of wedlock, getting pregnant, having abortions, or felling people who to marry. While all of these things are good for us to try and rid our society of it will not put one good loaf of bread on your table. It will not educate one child. It will not provide security for your family. It will not provide healthcare or you or your loved ones. It will not prevent greedy oil companies from gouging the public by a non-caring publicly electd president. It will not create one job. It will not put one more nember in your church nor convert a non-believer to believe in hrist. It will not conclude a war that we should not have startd in the first place.

To continue traveling down the same road we have traveled pr the past eight years will only continue to give us the same esults.

But we shall overcome our beliefs someday

MARTIN: Of course.

African-Americans and HIV: Are We Still Paying Attention?

By Marc H. Morial NNPA Columnist

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently released a report showing that new HIV infections are 40 percent higher than previously estimated, with the majority of new infections occurring among African- Americans.

African-Americans make up only 13 percent of the population, yet account for 45 percent of all new HIV infections. The CDC report begs the question: As the face of AIDS in America has turned increasingly Black, have our federal government and many of our fellow citizens simply stopped paying attention?

About 600,000 African-Americans are now HIV positive and as many as 30,000 are infected each year. According to an analysis by the Black Aids Institute, despite extraordinary improvements in HIV treatment, AIDS remains the leading cause of death among Black women aged 25-34, and the second leading cause of death among Black men aged 35-44. Blacks make up 70 percent of new HIV cases among teenagers and 65 percent of HIV-infected newborns.

At a time when the actions of our federal government and others are resulting in fewer deaths and greater access to affordable antiretroviral drugs in places like Namibia and Cambodia, more Black Americans are living with AIDS than the infected populations in Botswana, Ethiopia, Guyana, Haiti, Namibia, Rwanda or Vietnam.

In fact, according to the Black AIDS Institute, if Black America were a country, it would rank 16th in the world in the number of people living with HIV.

The Bush Administration should be applauded for its allocation of $50 billion in new emergency AIDS funding for the global fight against the disease, but I agree with NBLCA president and CEO C. Virginia Fields' contention that the president's focus on combating HIV/AIDS overseas has not been matched with a commitment to fighting the epidemic here at home. We need better and more targeted prevention efforts.

We must also do more to promote needle exchange programs, improve testing in prisons and deal with issues like poverty, homelessness and drug abuse which are known incubators for the disease. But government can't do this job alone. We also however, must do more in our own communities to change behaviors and end the stigma and homophobia that keep us from reaching out to those in greatest need.

The CDC report should be a wakeup call to Washington and to every American. We can and we must reduce this trend.

The National Black Leadership Commission on AIDS (NBLCA) has called for an emergency Congressional hearing on the implications of the CDC report. The group has also called on the presidential candidates to develop a national AIDS strategy and to make fighting the epidemic in Black America. a high priority. The National Urban League stands with groups like the Black AIDS Institute and the Congressional Black Caucus, in issuing a national call to action. We must do more to protect our communities from this national epidemic.

Competitive Benefits to Employees Green Lighted

The Black Voice News

Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger recently signed into law a measure that will give counties the authority to offer a more competitive benefit to employees that manage monies on behalf of retirement plan members, said Assembly Member Wilmer Amina Carter (D-Rialto), who carried the bill with bipartisan support through the legislative process.

Assembly Bill 1963 will enable investment staff to defer a portion of incentive compensation until retirement, said Timothy B. Barrett, CFA, Executive Director/Chief Investment Officer of San Bernardino Employees' Retirement Association. "The ability to attract and retain qualified staff is paramount to any organization's success,"

Currently, counties that operate under The County Employees Law of 1936, have the authority to disburse performance-based bonuses only in the year they are earned, which may subject investment employees to substantial tax penalties.

The new doctoral program will be the third of its kind in the United State

The Black Voice News RIVERSIDE

UC Riverside will become only the third university in the nation to offer a Ph.D. in ethnic studies when the doctoral program launches in fall 2009. The Department of Ethnic Studies will begin accepting applications for the Ph.D. program on Sept. 1.

The program will allow students to focus on one or more of three distinct areas of specialization: theories of race and power, cultural politics and production, and the state, law and social transformation.

"Given the increased diversity of the state population there in a growing need and demand in both the private and public sector for researchers and policy experts who can address pressing social problems and contemporary issues surrounding race, ethnicity, and democracy not only in the Inland region but in California and the nation at large," said Alfredo Mirandé, chair of the Department of Ethnic Studies.

UCR to Offer Ph.D. in Ethnic Studies

The comprehensive Ph.D. program will prepare students to work for public agencies and educational institutions or the private sector as applied researchers and policy experts, or to pursue careers in academia as researchers and university professors, he said.

The Department of Ethnic Studies has 12 permanent faculty and is conducting a national search for an additional senior tenure professor in the area of critical race studies and theory. Faculty areas of research and teaching cover a range of topics, including Native American, African American, Asian American, and Chicana/Latina literature and culure; black culture and performance; Chicano/a politics and social movements; Native American history and culture; history of black education; education, law and policy; law, race, class, and culture; Asian Americans and culture; Chicano history, music and popular culture; immigration history, law and policy; African American history; anthropology; Chicana feminism; and critical prison studies and critical race studies.

statewide to share strategies and showcase best practices in the fight to insure student success. That fight has particular importance to students of color, according to Dr. David Leon, Chair of the Ethnic Studies Department.

"Research shows that many students of color have a higher attrition rate, but it appears that students involved in an intensive first year program are more likely to be successful in their second year," said Dr. Leon. "Ethnic Studies is participating to share our success with our freshman seminar course (Ethnic Studies 21) and to learn from experts around the state."

Indeed Sacramento State is the first campus to host a learning community conference in Northern California, a conference built upon the work of the California Learning Communities Consortium (CLCC). In addition to statewide faculty, staff and department directors, renowned speaker Dr. Betsy Barefoot, the Co-

Our Bodies EVISTER, JR. F.A.C.P. F.A.C.P.M.

AIRBORNE LIED

Most of us have at some point tried Airborne, the "wonderous" supplement boasting 17 herbs invented by a California school teacher after she got tired of catching her students colds and sniffles. For years we were lead to believe the lemony tasting effervescent tablets prevent us from getting "sick" or "cures colds."

Turns out Airborne, was sued for false advertising and settled for $23 million last week. The complaint argued, among other things, that Airborne purposely deceived a whole class of honest hard working people into believing that taking the medicine at the first sign of sniffles would stop the common cold bacteria dead in its tracks.

Airborne agreed to refund customers the full price of all Airborne products with proof of purchase. If you don't have a receipt, which is most of us, you can still get a refund on up to six boxes.

The judge in the case ruled that Airborne is basically an overpriced, run of the mill vitamin pill (vitamin C and Echinacea) cleverly packaged and marketed.

You can claim your refund by filling form out a http://www.aorbornehealthsettlement.c om/docs/claim%20form.pdf

You can find more facts at www.airbornehealthsettlement.com

So what is Airborne's fate? Polls suggest people still believe in the power of a placebo. Which implies Airborne's false advertising will probably be ignored or quickly forgotten, the school teacher will go back to teaching runny nose kids in the California schools and we'll keep guzzling the good tasting fake cold remedy.

Putting a chaotic subject in order begins an understanding of interrelationships within that subject. The meanings inside the word "Black" are in great chaos. For example, the statement that "All Blacks look alike" generates meanings to Whites that are quite different from those of Blacks; or, the phrase: "The Black Experience" is guite different for different classes of Blacks. The purpose of the following discussion is to show an approach for dealing with such chaos. If one gathers many of the almost infinite number of words pertaining to the word "black," then it will be clear that such wide spread applications of the meanings of the word "black" makes it an Umbrella Term (i.e. various meanings are under one term's canopy) and each meaning can be classified variously. General categories related to 'black' include the Spiritual Realm; the Neutral Realm; the Negative Realm; and the Destructive Realm. Inside the Negative and Destructive Realms are several subcategories. One subcategory reflects the ideas, character and behaviors Europeans have as part of their tradition. For example, European ideas of death and mourning are symbolized by black. In figurative use 'black' has traditionally implied foreboding, evil, or melancholy. In addition, several Oriental nations use "black" as a badge of servitude, slavery, and low birth. A second subcategory reflects the ideas, character and behaviors Europeans possess as part of their tradition but have, for the most part, been projected on to Black people. A third is the derogatory meanings designed specifically for Black people. A fourth is the subcategory where demeaning terms are used by certain Black people on themselves as a result of their brainwashing by Europeans.

Two useful approaches to specifically classifying "Black" (or any complex subject) are called "Lumpers" (to simply get the gist of the topic so as to move out of confusion) and "Splitters" (which is about Precision Thinking). To elaborate, let us use the Thinker's Scale (a Positive and Negative Scale separated by a Zero). On the Positive scale are meanings related to things of Worth and of the Spiritual. At the Zero position are meanings simply descriptive of what something is. On the negative scale are varied meanings that start with 'mild' negatives and progress toward 'extreme' destructive meanings--and with increasing degrees of putrid atmospheres associated with them. The Splitter Approach deals with "Black" by denotation or connotation or both; by good, bad, and neutral (e.g. as a color) denotations and connotations; and by placing on all planes of existence the meanings of Black on the metaphorical ladder extending from the earth world to the heavens.

By contrast, the Lumper Approach is a "rule of thumb" process for those desiring a general idea about a subject and that will allow them to use easy to understand information. A fun example is illustrated by dividing the gathered meanings of "Black" into the "Shirt and Tie" (or formal) words (usually good meanings) and the "T-Shirt" (informal and usually rude meanings) words. Just as the masses prefer informal to finished high school. The reason for this logic is because dating is a precursor to premarital sex at most and the flirtation with.

temptation at the least. The purpose of going to high school is to become educated.

Dating is a distraction from your educational objective. When many teenager daughters become interested in dating, they did so with group dating. That is to say a group of friends went out together. These type dates are safer and not focused on personal intimate relationships. When girls become obsessed with personal dating they spend as much or more time in the mirror and worries over hair and make-up as they do formal dress, so it is that informal speech is predominant-and this is how "Black" is used by Whites who are insensitive to what is significant to Black People or who do not care or who deliberately try to cause harm. Of course, in between the "Shirt and Tie" and the "T-Shirt" categories is a tremendously big third category of Misfits. Whereas Lumpers simply disregard Misfits, Splitters find them to be of great significance because any one item inside the Misfit category might be the beginning of a new category or the link that ties a process together. Misfit examples are meanings of Black that symbolize such things as the unknown, the shadow of something, the mysteries of your subconscious mind, or esoteric realms of deep planes.

tor setting up for a garden wedding over the Pacific looking Ocean. As my mother and I sat there watching everything they were doing, she leaned over to me and said "I have a problem with formal events being held out on the grass." 'As I pondered her comments, I asked her why? She said because for a formal affair women wear expensive high heel shoes that will get messed up from the grass (and by the way it totally destroys the grass too!).

Our conversation made me think about several events coming up that are held outside on "the grass." Yes, it's true that women often mess up their fancy or pretty shoes when walking on the grass, but sometimes there's not a better venue than a rose garden or a view over looking the ocean and feeling the sunshine on your body and the wind in your face. At the end of the day living in beautiful sunny California, it's hard not to take an event whether it's a wedding, or a garden soiree white linen affair outdoors! I recommend if you know you're going to be outside and you don't want to mess up your shoes...take a pair of flats that you can change into. I would love to hear from you and learn what you think about formal verses casual events held on their academics. This is a major distraction.

The only boys that were allowed to visit my younger three girls through the week were for academic study groups. I insisted on seeing the boys report cards and/or weekly progress report to make sure that he was a good student academically and could benefit my daughter by working with the study group. Sometimes I would quiz the boys on certain subjects to test their intelligence and seriousness regarding school. When academic impostors were detected they were asked to leave my house.

2008 Teen Choice Awards at Gibson Amphitheater

By Lea Michelle Cash

Nearly ten years ago, FOX television developed a way to reach out to teens across America using the entertainment industry. The ultimate beach party where nominees are selected in movie, music, sport, and television arenas by teenagers was an immediate success. The move presented a special television evening for the teen market, and the celebrities that are honored are awarded real surfboards sporting the Teen Choice Award logo. Instead of walking down a red carpet, the celebrities walk down a carpet that's blue.

Recently on Sunday August 4, the 2008 Teen Choice Awards at the Gibson Amphitheater in Los Angeles, was taped, and aired the following Monday. The show was hosted by Disney's mega sensation, 15- year old Miley Cyrus-A.K.A. Hannah Montana. Since the Gibson Amphitheater is located at the Universal Studios empire, there were trams rolling by full of teenagers hoping to gain a glimpse of their favorite celebrities.

Most times, the excited teens saw no one, and then again, at an unexpected moment, sometimes they did. One of those moments occurred for the screaming fans when the Jonas

Brothers were trying to cross the street. The popular brothers were whisked away right in front of their tram. The incident produced screams, screams and more screams until they finally disappeared. Then there were sightings of Chris Brown, LL Cool J, Hayden Panettiere, David Archuleta, Cheetah Girls, Fergie; Jo Jo, Selena Gomez, Jordin Sparks, and high school musical teen heartthrob, Zac Efron.

This year's hottest achievement winners included Will Smith. His movie "Hancock" won Choice Summer Movie: Action/Adventure. He also won Choice Movie: for Horror/Thriller for "I Am Legend". Both American Idol winners David Archuleta and David Cook won the coveted surfboard trophies. Cook for Choice Male Reality/Variety Star and Archuleta for Choice Most Fanatic Fans. Chris Brown won for Choice Music Artist, R&B, David Beckham won for Choice Male Athlete and Adam Sandler won for Choice Comedian along with a host of other winners.

The highlight of the evening was Mariah Carey performing her new single and a dance battle between Miley Cyrus and her best friend Mandy Jiroux's M & M Troupe and ACDC, the dance crew featuring Jon M. Chu and Adam Sevani of Step Up 2: The Streets. LL Cool J performed also and rocked the house.

Jones Success Excites Black Swimmers Across America

BEIJING, CHINA

By Leland Stein, III

I received an email from Diane Perkins, an acknowledged swim mom, a couple days ago singing the praises of USA swimmer, Cullen Jones.

She said she and about 11 other friends sat glued to the television in anticipation of the men's 4 X 100-meter freestyle relay race.

It was an extremely close and competitive race at Beijing's spectacular Water Cube National Aquatics Center. I had no fingernails left sitting at poolside during the historic swim.

It took a gut-it-out world record performance by the United States men's team to claim the gold medal.

It was an amazing team effort, led by anchor-leg Jason Lezak. He overtook France's Alain Bernard winning by the slimmest of margins - 0.08 seconds. Lezak's leg would have shattered the world record for the 100m freestyle, which Bernard set at 47.50 in March. The U.S. team's time of 3:08.24 pared 3.99 seconds off the world standard.

Olympic superstar Michael Phelps led off the relay, Garrett Weber-Gale and Cullen Jones rounded out the American quartet. France took the silver medal with a 3:08.32, while Australia won the bronze with a 3:09.91. No doubt it was a great victory for record-setting Phelps and USA Swimming, but for the minority swimming communities throughout America Jones' leg was the highlight. "It was so refreshing to see Cullen standing on the swim block · representing African-American swimmers and the USA," Perkins said. "While winning is always welcomed, just seeing him doing his 100 freestyle at the Olympics was awesome. The could hear it in Beijing. It was like a Super Bowl party in Detroit.

"I hope all the Black swim clubs around our urban communities saw that and maybe it will motivate them to work even harder to expose our kids to the opportunities out there, especially in swimming."

Jones, who became the third African-American swimmer from the U.S. to medal at an Olympic Games, is only the second gold medalist ever. Anthony Irvin became the first African American gold medalist back in the 2000 Olympics when he tied Gary Hall, Jr. in the 50m freestyle event. Maritza Correia won a silver medal in Athens (2004) in the 4x100m freestyle relay to become the first African American female to win a medal for the U.S.

"I hope this effort helps bring more attention to swimming in the Black community," Jones said. "I know there have been very few people like me that have achieved in the sport on a world-wide stage. That's why I'm committed to doing clinics and helping to get the youth to try other sports."

In fact, he has been a very involved part of the USA Swimming's initiative to bring diversity to the sport. "Since 2003, the USA Swimming Athletes Committee has hosted a diversity clinic in the city where our convention (Aquatic Sports) is taking place." Jones recalled. "We were in Detroit a couple years ago (2006) to raise awareness about swimming within the local community. We had over 100 kids and the clinic was well received. There are people in Detroit that are committed to the sport."

Cullen Jones

Jones and Correia co-hosted the clinic at Adams/Butzel Recreation Complex in Detroit - one among the many they have hosted throughout the United States.

During the session, Jones and Correia spent part of their time in the water working with the kids to teach them about water safety and awareness. They shared their experiences as minorities in the sport of swimming during a special keynote speech.

The 6-foot-5, Jones, a Bronx native, in a preliminary heat at the United States Olympic trials, established an American record in the 50 freestyle.

He was timed in 21.59, eclipsing Gary Hall Jr.'s eight-year-old record by .17 seconds.

However in both the 50 and 100 freestyle finals Jones, 24, finished third, thus missing an opportunity to swim individual events. Instead of sulking, he put his energy into the relay.

Jones, who started swimming when he was 8-years-old, says he is committed to dispelling the notion that African-Americans cannot excel at swimming. He knows another four years seems like an eternity right now, but he has dedicated himself to the sport and the effort required to compete at the highest level. In his training regiment he swims 8,000 meters/yards per day, 5-6 hours a day, and 6 days a week.

Since he burst onto the international scene with a 10th-place world ranking in the 50 freestyle in 2005, Jones has promoted water safety in cities to minority youth.

Jones would rather teach minorities to swim than preach about what it takes to make an Olympic team. "I'm not trying to get the next Michael Phelps," he noted. "I'm not trying to get someone to fill my shoes."

He pledged to keep coming to urban cities and sharing his knowledge.

In a sport where African-American are few and far between, Jones says he knows he stands out.

Jones says he studies Tiger Woods for clues on how to be a positive influence. I'd like to try to model how he speaks, how he carries himself," he said. "He's such an ambassador to the African-American community." The North Carolina State English major is excited about his gold medal and he's dedicated to getting more. Former Black Voice News

Pastor Julio A. and Patricia Anduj

Greetings in the name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

On Sunday, August 24th through Wednesday, August 27, 2008, approximately 300 delegates of the 9th Episcopal District's Annual Conference for the Southern California Region will assemble in Downtown Riverside.

Amos Temple CME Church of Riverside will serve as the host church. Pastor Julio A. Andujo and the congregation will welcome the presiding prelate, Bishop Henry M. Williamson, Sr., other church dignitaries and delegates to this historic event. The guests will be Bishop Ronald E. Cunningham of the 8th District, Bishop E. Lynn Brown of the 2nd District and Rev. Raymond Williams, Pastor of Holsey Temple, Philadelphia, PA.

The 4-day conference will convene at the Riverside Convention Center. This is the 23rd session of the Annual Conference and the second time it has convened in Riverside. Its theme is, "From Good to Great – The Jesus Challenge: Building leaders for Today and Tomorrow."

The 9th Episcopal District encompasses the Western United States and it includes the states of: Alaska, Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. During the annual conference, elected delegates meet to deliberate and vote on resolutions and matters affecting the church and to receive the pastoral and ministerial appointments made by Bishop Williamson, Sr. to their respective churches.

Host Pastor, Rev. Andujo of Amos Temple CME Church, Riverside is proud to welcome the delegates to Riverside, many of whom have never been here before. He notes that it is a historical event for both Riverside and the local church, and he states that he invited the delegates here, because he was confident that during their stay their experience in Riverside would be lasting and a memorable one.

Don't Let Your Teen's Future Go Up In Smoke

It's simple, marijuana and teens are not a good mix-especially when it comes to learning and academic success. We know that all young people face challenges as they grow and mature and that the dangers and temptations of drugs are all around. We also know that as a parent or some one who cares about young people, you want the very best for them; you want them to do even better than you did and lead productive lives.

While overall drug use among teens is down in recent years, there are still too many brilliant young people whose potential is ruined. Don't let drugs destroy their chance of going to college or landing a good job.

MARIJUANA CAN LIMIT YOUR TEEN'S ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

- A teenage marijuana user's odds of dropping out are more than twice that of a non-user.¹
- The short-term effects of marijuana can include impaired memory and ability to learn.²

Parents and family are still the most important influence in young peoples' lives so keep the lines of communication open, set a clear, "no marijuana" rule, stay involved, and continue to discuss the dangers and consequences of drug use. You make the difference. Knowing that education is the key to a better tomorrow, you have the power to protect their potential and help lead them on the road to success.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: DOROTHY M. ENGSTROM Case Number RIP 093912 To all heirs, beneficiaries, credi tors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate of: DOTTIE or both. ENGSTROM. A Petition Probate has been filed by: ERIC V. ENGSTROM in the Superior Court of California, County of: RIVERSIDE. The Petition for Probate requests that: ERIC V ENGSTROM be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils if any, be admitted to probate The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The peti tion requires authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority wil allow the personal representa tive to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows Date: August 26, 2008 Time 9:00 Dept.: 10NP, 4050 Main Street, Riverside, CA 92501. It you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for petitioner: ERIC V. Moving In A New Direction

The Black Voice News POMONA

New Direction Community Church, the headquarters for the California Southern Third Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of the Church of God in Christ, is set to move to a 45,000 completely renovated square foot facility; nearly four times larger than its previous facility.

The first service is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 7. Services are now being conducted through Aug. 31 at the Shilo Hilltop Suites, Pomona, California at 3101 W. Temple Avenue, with Sunday School at 8:15 a.m. and the Worship Service at 10 a.m.

The Church of God in Christ is America's largest Pentecostal group with membership estimates exceeding six million. In 2006 Bishop Raymond E. Watts was inducted into the College of Bishops, and consecrated as the Jurisdictional Prelate of California Southern Third Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction. As the prelate, Bishop Watts leads this personal growth empowering church family, whose motto is "We care about our community...and we care about you."

In 1966 the Pomona church, then known as New Gethsemane, was founded with the motto "Ready to serve." In 1980 Pastor Watts, a lifelong member of the Church of God in Christ was installed as its leader, now having served nearly 30 years.

In 2006, New Gethsemane changed its name to New Direction Community

Church, with now Bishop Watts continuing as its Senior Pastor. Bishop Watts is CEO of Pomona Ministry of Economics Inc., a nonprofit corporation involved in a myriad of community service endeavors having ranged from job training programs to most recently working with the City of Pomona Housing Department in fulfilling its Lead Education Awareness and Control project in association with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Over time, the church grew and flourished, and its 14,000 square foot facility seemed ready to burst at the seams. Said Church Administrator Elder Amos Young Sr., "Our sanctuary will have seating for nearly one-thousand guests. "We'll even house a child care center available 5 days a week."

"Beginning in September 2008, Inland Empire Bible College will open its doors with more than 25 land classrooms and over 260 online classes to aid in developing the Body of Christ for the end time move of God," said Dr. Clara Burrell, co-director of the soon coming campus." The programs will be offered at an accelerated pace and will include more than 20 certificate programs and all degree programs in Biblical Studies and Theology.

Tuition will be more than reasonable." Church leaders feel this expansion is a major step for New Direction, providing even greater opportunities to serve not only its growing membership but the community as a whole.
