Jubilee Singers: Sacrifice and Glory

On Monday, May 1, 1900 at 9 pm, THE AMERICAN EXPERIENCE presents Jubilee Singers: Sacrifice and Glory, a story of faith, liberation, and the power of song. Produced by Loydell Smith, Jubilee Singers tells the story of a group of former slaves who, bound together by faith and determination, performed in concert halls, churches, and public spaces across the United States and Europe, singing spirituals and traditional songs. The story is based on a true story, and the singers were students of Henry Ward Beecher's Plymouth Church.

The story of the Jubilee Singers begins in 1865, when Fisk University, a historically black institution, was granted the money to open a music school. The first performance of the Jubilee Singers took place in 1866, and they performed in front of President Abraham Lincoln. Over the next few years, the group traveled extensively, singing spirituals and popular songs of the day. They also performed in Europe, where they were received with great fanfare.

The Jubilee Singers were composed of 11 members, including Ella Sheppard, F.J. Loudin, Mabel Lewis, RA Hall, Patti Malone, E. Barrett, Maggie Porter, Jerine Jackson, Ella Sheppard, E.J. Laughlin, Mildred Lewis, and George E. Barrett. Their music was inspired by the life experiences of their ancestors, and they often sang about the challenges they faced as former slaves.

The Jubilee Singers' performances were a powerful statement of the resilience of the human spirit, and they played a significant role in the struggle for civil rights. Their music continued to inspire generations, and their legacy lives on today.

After reading this, you might want to visit the Fisk University Archives at www.fisk.edu/archives, where you can learn more about the history of the Jubilee Singers and other important figures in American history.

Mission Africa 2000 has the Inland Empire buzzing. Mission Africa 2000 is holding a community over-the-counter and first-aid drive on Saturday, April 15, 2000 at Ecclesia Christian Fellowship, 1314 Blake St., San Bernardino at 10:00 a.m. Local pastors, government officials and surprise celebrity guests, including Judge Greg Mathis of the "Judge Mathis Show" and Tommy "Tiny" Lister, better known as "Deebo" from the movie, "Next Friday," are scheduled to attend. Rev. Kaduo Summerry (Africa 2000) and Mr. Kevin Dokes (AmeriGhana) have teamed up to bring life altering experiences to America Christians and much needed attention to the country’s main hospital.

Summerry, a Ghanaian by birth, knows well the problems, the opportunities and the love of his people. "Ghanaians love African Americans. They feel we were deprived when we were taken from the shores of Africa during the 400 year enslavement of Black people," said Dokes. AmeriGhana is his dream. Dokes a veteran Detroit policeman has travelled and performed bodyguard functions for missionaries for years. Bodyguards were needed to keep order when the outdoor clinics are set up. Thousands come for medical care. The event’s inception came into existence when he met in the home of Ghanaian President Jerry Rawlings.

How did Dokes meet President Rawlings? He met him when he was assigned to him as his secret service bodyguard when he was here last year. He met him again when he was assigned to Winnie Mandela in South Africa. He was reacquainted with President Rawlings when he met heads of countries in South Africa. At that time, President Rawlings invited him to his home. When Dokes went to his home, President Rawlings expressed a desire to have him help with the hospital. "Just looking at the condition of the hospital brings tears to your eyes. If you have any kind of heart, you’ll see what you can do. You just can’t walk away," said Dokes.

He’s already sent a shipping container of books. "When I went to a school, I saw four children sharing one book. They didn’t have the supplies we have," he said.

Dokes wants to renovate the hospital’s children’s ward including air conditioning which is most needed. He plans that the road in front of the hospital is dirt and gravel the dust goes inside the hospital even with the windows closed and it is over 100° all the time.

Dokes is collecting books and school supplies for the schools and over-the-counter medicine and first-aid supplies for the hospital and clinics. He also needs money to ship a container of supplies over. Dokes is also a musician playing for various churches. "This is an ongoing effort to improve the quality of health care for these children," he said.
