We are recommending Jerry Eaves be re-elected to his seat as Supervisor of the San Bernardino County Board of Education. Eaves has served his district very well and cannot be afforded a different type of leadership. Eaves has had to fit into some of these type of statements when I served on the School Board and they are not easily understood. Eaves has used his office to promote the dollars to the area that otherwise would not have come. Eaves has allowed his staff to be a resource to any one in the community who needs assistance. His appointment of Cheryl Brown to the planning Commission has served the citizens of San Bernardino well. She is currently the Vice Chair to the California State Planners Association. He has appointed many African American elected officials in our area Black or White. He is compassionate, caring, and a man that truly believes in equality in every way possible.

We are recommending the 60th Assembly District seat. Quintero has proven herself as a Naval Officer. He has been a community activist and seen an array of support to be there for the community. She can be counted on to report when needed. Vote Quintero for Assembly 60th District.

We are recommending the re-election of Cristobal Baca to his seat in the 44th Congressional District. Baca is being more inclusive in the community. He is a leader that listens to the constituents that he represents. He continues to support the bills that build a foundation for the future and the only way that people of color will be a resource to any one in the community. He can be counted on to report when needed. Vote Baca for the 44th Congressional District.

We are recommending the re-election of Bernadette Burks to the Moreno Valley City Unified School District. Burks has served the parents and children of this district as well as represented throughout the state. Burks has taken hard stances for taxpayers and parents. She has been defeatist with making educational and involving the community in her education mission. As the assistant superintendent Ana Ruiz once said, she is a fabulous and conscientious leader who believes her education is the road to higher education is the way the future and the only way.

We are recommending the 43rd Assembly District seat. Rod Pacheco continues to support legislation that builds the growing community. Pacheco has had trouble with the African American community in making statements that divide Blacks and Latinos, something we can afford because it will take all to erase the problems from our society. Even though he has tried to make amends only time and actions will heal the wounds. Vote Pacheco for Assembly 43rd District. "I'm raising my bloody hands!"

You've seen the ghastly picture that flashed around the world last Friday by now, haven't you?

Is that the young Palestinian, standing there in the window of the wrecked police station in Ramallah on the West Bank, screaming to the mob below as he holds up his blood-stained hands?

Apparently, he has just helped kill two Israeli reserve soldiers in the room behind him, and he's proud of it.

While many of us around the world look at the youthful face and the blood of a killer and reel in shock.

We are immediately stunned at what seems to be the incomprehensible barbarity of it.

And then we realize that we've seen this young man, this pose, and this picture before.

No, of course, it wasn't the same young man, not in the same place and in the same pose.

But—amid the worldwide economic boom of the just-finished decade, amid all the fascination that the combined force of the Internet and the market dynamics of globalization are bringing the peoples of the world closer together, amid all the affluence we in the United States enjoy—we've seen this picture many times throughout the 1990s.

We've seen it in Indonesia and other parts of the Asian continent. We've seen it in Rwanda and other parts of Black Africa. We've seen it in Mexico and Colombia and other parts of South and Central America. We've seen it in Bosnia and Croatia and Serbia, where the killing fields were littered with bodies. We've seen it among the neo-Nazis in Germany. We've seen it in Northern Ireland. And we've seen it in the United States, too, in the faces of those who bombed the Federal building in Oklahoma City, and in the faces of those who bombed the World Trade Center in New York.

The world is again at a fury, as it was in the 1990s. And the hand of a killer and the hand of a victim stand behind it—what so recently can drive us to despair at the tragedy it brings.

With every act itself and the traditions of conflict — of the twelve-year-old boys and soldiers only a few years older who will no longer be sacrificed to the war, that should be clear to every American. So, every American eligible to vote should vote this November. Vote for the candidates of your choice. Vote to show the world that the very return to violence and the hand of a killer and the hand of a victim stand behind it—is what stands between a fractious, unhealthy, civil debate and chaos.

In this moment when the cordon of violence in the Middle East is again at a fury, that should be clear to every American.

We're now in the midst of one of the American nation's great civil exercises: the presidential election. For those given to a fashionable cynicism that the vote has no meaning, that there is no real choice to be made, that it's all just a lot of sound and fury signifying nothing. I say look at what has happened in Serbia and what has happened in Israel and the West Bank this month.

Our right to vote—both the very act itself and the traditions that stand behind it—is what stands between a fractious, unhealthy, civil debate and chaos. In this moment when the cordon of violence in the Middle East is again at a fury, that should be clear to every American.

So, every American eligible to vote should vote this November. Vote for the candidates of your choice. Vote to show the world that there is a civil way to resolve seemingly intractable differences. Vote so that twelve-year-old boys and soldiers only a few years older will no longer be sacrificed to the war. Vote because to vote is the only way to stand for a future of peace. Vote because your life and the lives of everyone on earth depend on it.

Vote No on Measure M.

We feel that if they are displaced they promise to replace incumbent George Aguilar with a person who feels people are lake that San Bernardino sits on. However, experts have said the location of the lakes, but Aguilar and others do. We feel that if they are displaced by the lake, the incumbents should be replaced by folks who feel people are lake the incumbents.

We recall Matthew K Owens to replace incumbent George Aguilar. We have always supported George Aguilar has decided to displace an entire family.

We feel the City Attorney should be accountable to the people. We feel that if they are displaced they promise to replace incumbent George Aguilar with a person who feels people are lake that San Bernardino sits on. However, experts have said the location of the lakes, but Aguilar and others do. We feel that if they are displaced by the lake, the incumbents should be replaced by folks who feel people are lake the incumbents.

We recommend Matthew K. Owens for City Clerk of Rich's. McGee is running unopposed for this position because of the conflict — of the twelve-year-old boys and soldiers only a few years older who will no longer be sacrificed to the war, that should be clear to every American.

Our right to vote—both the very act itself and the traditions that stand behind it—is what stands between a fractious, unhealthy, civil debate and chaos. In this moment when the cordon of violence in the Middle East is again at a fury, that should be clear to every American.

Racial Folkways During Desegregation

Desegregation Legislation (1965) to present

Racial segregation (the social and physical separation of the races) was legal up to the 1960's. It was a deeply entrenched and powerful institution in the United States, affecting nearly every aspect of life. The Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibited discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin in employment, public accommodations, and other areas, was a significant step toward desegregation. The Voting Rights Act of 1965, which prohibited voting practices that disenfranchiseed minority voters, was another important development. The Civil Rights Movement, led by figures such as Martin Luther King Jr. and Malcolm X, played a critical role in challenging and ultimately dismantling segregation. However, the legacy of segregation continues to shape American society today.

Touch-Screen Voting Basics

Q: What is touch-screen voting?
A: Touch-screen voting is the most common type of electronic voting system used in the United States.

Q: What are some concerns with touch-screen voting?
A: Some concerns include the risk of voter fraud, the potential for equipment malfunctions, and the difficulty of verifying the accuracy of votes.

Q: What is the future of touch-screen voting?
A: The future of touch-screen voting is uncertain, as some states and localities are exploring alternative methods of voting.

Politics in the making is the way a lot of things happen in this country," said Eddie Williams, president of the Black Economic Development and Community Council (BAMPAC), a conservative group located in Washington, D.C. "The issues are not decided by the people in the governance of our society. It is not the people who run our society, but those who represent us and, in effect, tell those people what we want. And we don't always have a choice of who those people are.

In addition to using their voices and their votes, African Americans must also pay their money where their mouth is. We have a lot of money to allocate, an estimated one-third of the country's income is African American, according to the Congressional Research Service. If we are going to be a part of the decision-making process, we must use our dollars to our advantage.

"Unfortunately, whatever national politics or policies affect us are not being represented by African Americans with the same zeal as their white counterparts. It is time for us to take a stand and use our political power to make a difference," said Williams.

The state of the country's public welfare system is also critical to the health and well-being of African Americans. With an increasingly global economy, everyone must be prepared to compete with people from all over the world. Hidden Beach Records Launches Internship Program

Cabazon Band Announces $200 Million Expansion of Fantasy Springs Resort

By David Burch

The Cabazon Band of Mission Indians has announced plans for a $200 million expansion of its Fantasy Springs Resort near Indio, CA.

In keeping with its commitment to being both a prosperous enterprise and as a successful, innovative entertainment outlet, Hidden Beach Records (HBR) home to standout newcomer Jill Scott and accomplished performer Brenda Russell, officially announces its National College Tour Program, USA 2000. According to Steve McKeever, HBR's president and CEO, the program is dedicated to organizing and promoting a 13-city tour in all major U.S. markets

The next development phase will include the following: A 324-room, four-star hotel comprised of two seven-story towers totaling 252,554 square feet. This hotel project is estimated at $60 million; an 18-boutichampionship golf course, estimated at $15 million; A 4,200-seat concert arena and entertainment areas with unusual slope sweeping. This two-level complex comprised of 654,466 square feet will be host to concerts, special events and conventions. This center is estimated at $75 million. A Phase 2 expansion of the existing 24-lane Fantasy Lanes Family Bowling Center. An additional 15,734 square feet will bring the capacity up to a championship level of 40 lanes. This is a $3 million project. A 1,200-seat multi-purpose conference center to be constructed between the proposed hotel and existing facility. This is a $1.3 million project. A six-level garage with covered parking to accommodate 975 automobiles for most guests. This is an $11 million project; A 35,000-square-foot freestanding sons gaming pavilion with more than 200,000 square feet of resort landscape area to include tropical water features and lagoon. This is a $6.4 million project. Expansion of Fantasy Springs Parkway and upgrading of road infrastructure to accommodate increased traffic. This is estimated at $10 million.

BNV Readers Speak Out: What's On Your Mind?

In a couple of years, when I'm old enough to vote, my political identity will definitely be the parties of Lincoln.

Thap, because the Democratic agenda is really just New Job stuff. For real, the Democratic Party was founded by clairvoyants (Franklin, Jefferson, and Jackson). When clairvoyants rise to the top of the party, they believe in the m新型 collective leadership leading up to the 1860 civil war and the presidency. I'm a Democrat, the controlled southern states, and we wanted to keep the North; also, when the Civil War, the Ku Klux Klan was founded by, and nearly all of its members, were Democrats. When President Franklin was dead of the miltary; the most famous candidate came from his fellow Democrat, and when Congress was drafting the Civil Rights Act of 1866 there was a combined effort by Democrats - to turn it into a Paper Tiger. When Clinton got caught lying under oath doing his deposition for a CIVIL RIGHTS trial; (and the Black Leadership) said that it was so stupid because Clinton's lies were just about sex. But when Keith Lockhart got into jail for 15 years in July, the local leadership said he got the shaft because these girls lost work doing his trial. The argument was about whether their irresponsible conduct was by choice; or the girls lied about it after Monsey and Poppy were totally harmless because they were doing it with a Black dude. If those girls did what was done, it had to be OK because; just like Clinton, the girls were 'just about sex' and our self-proclaimed leadership can't be both ways.

Democrats tell the African-American community that standardized tests in the schools are biased in favor of other students. But here's what they're really saying. African-Americans are intellectually - and generally - inferior to everybody else; you know. the classic statement of the 18th and 19th centuries: Negroes, Siamese.

Lies. Look is done. If we're in the same classroom as other kids, we taught from the same lesson plan as everyone else in the class (and did) the same homework assignments in the rest of the class; and take the same tests as everyone else, how can the tests be biased against us?

For most, some Black kids don't do so well on tests, but a huge factor in the problem is that they (and maybe their parents) think that education ends with high school or college; it's not important to study and do homework; the goal is to get through school and get on to what maybe someone's going to call you names because you can't care about what's going on in your life, you know. the Upset-Neat-Minded.

In reality, our brain as Americans - or, as individuals - will be determined by choices WE make.
