'KILLER DIPS' SHOW OPENS NEXT FRIDAY

Bob Hope Zoell and Gary Panter, two of the most lively--and at times outrageous--contemporary artists on the Los Angeles scene, will exhibit paintings in a show titled "Killer Dips," which opens Friday, Sept. 30 in the Art Gallery. A free public reception for the artists will begin at 7:30 that evening.

Humor, bright colors and a taste for absurdity will be part of this flashy display, which also will show how each artist, in his way, brings to his unconventional works the influence of illustration and design. Zoell, a neo-Dada artist, is best known for his commercial art, media graphics, cartoons and magazine illustrations, and is now gaining recognition also as a painter. He is currently exhibiting at the Los Angeles Contemporary Editions (LACE) Gallery and has been featured in "In" magazine.

Works by Panter, an expressionistic artist, have been featured on posters, new wave catalogs, magazines and T-shirts. Among the works he will exhibit are a series of sketch books in which he has worked daily for several years. He also will show a painting he recently completed before an audience in Japan, where he is gaining notice. The artistic process was videotaped, and this tape will be shown at various times during the exhibit.

Admission to the show, which closes Oct. 26, is free. Gallery hours will be 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Information on possible evening and weekend hours is available by calling the Art Department, Ext. 7459.

HIGH SCHOOL MATH PROJECT FUNDED FOR SECOND YEAR

The second year of a special project for high school mathematics teachers has been funded by a $23,130 grant from the Chancellor's Office.

Twenty-two teachers from Riverside and San Bernardino counties are participating in "Academic Excellence in High School Mathematics" this year. The program of workshops is designed to introduce them to new and fun avenues for using and teaching math, as well as to help them prepare for administrative roles in education.

The teachers will attend workshops led by Dr. Robert Stein (Mathematics), the project director, and by Dr. Pamela Clute, an education and math instructor and supervisor of teacher education at UCR.

Helping to retain high school math teachers is a major objective of the project. Re-kindling the teachers' enthusiasm for math may help deter them from joining others who have left the classroom for higher paying jobs in industry, Dr. Stein said. Also, because retention is a problem, the teachers who do stay in the schools will be the source of expertise in making major curricular decisions in the future.

TRUSTEES AUTHORIZE PAY, HEALTH BENEFITS

Actions taken by the CSU Board of Trustees at its Sept. 14 meeting included approval of pay increases and health benefit contributions, raising of the application fee and approving capital outlays.

- * Approved a general salary increase of approximately 6 percent for all management, supervisory, confidential and other employees excluded from collective bargaining, effective Jan. 1, 1984. Remaining employees are covered by negotiated contracts which include 6 percent salary increases (5.8 percent plus enhanced dental benefits for faculty) beginning Jan. 1, 1984.
- * Authorized the following levels of employer's health benefits contributions for employee basic and related major medical plans for 1983-84, retroactive to July 1, 1983: $76 for employee alone; $148 for self and one family member; $185 for self and two or more family members--or a lesser amount if that is what is needed to pay the cost of the plan.
- * Increased the application fee for students from $30 to $35 beginning with the 1984 summer session or quarter, to partially compensate for budget reductions made by the governor in 1983-84.
- * Updated Trustee internal regulations governing employee travel expenses and allowances for housing and lodging, based on adjustments for inflation and provisions negotiated in collective bargaining agreements.
- * Adopted policies and procedures for review of presidents and vice chancellors, as amended.
- * Approved a 1984-85 state-funded Capital Outlay Program request totaling $30.3 million for the system, and recommended to the governor and Legislature that funds requested to provide energy conservation and better energy utilization be funded from the State Energy and Resources Fund.
- * Approved a 1984-85 non-state-funded Capital Outlay Program totaling $11.8 million for the system.
- * Conferred "Emeritus" on Harry Harmon, former executive vice chancellor; Alex C. Sherriffs, former vice chancellor, academic affairs; and Peter Diamandopoulos, former president of Sonoma State University.

COMMUNITY COUNSELING CENTER BEGINS ANOTHER YEAR OF SERVICE

meet with the center's counselors, who have dealt with a variety of problems, including stress, feelings of depression, difficulties in relationships and a need for new directions in their lives.

The counselors are graduate students in the master's degree program in counseling psychology. They are supervised by one of six clinical psychologists on the college faculty. Counseling is one-on-one and confidential. Because the clinic is not equipped to help people with certain problems--such as psychosis, alcoholism and drug addiction--these people will be referred to sources better able to meet their needs.

Each prospective client will meet with Dr. Teyber to determine if the counseling available here is appropriate. If so, Dr. Teyber will assign the counselor best able to work with the individual. Clients will meet with their counselors for one hour once a week. Daytime and evening hours are available. The number of sessions is determined by the nature of the problem. An appointment with Dr. Teyber can be scheduled by calling him at Ext. 7272.
