NEH AWARDS $52,892 FOR SUMMER WORKSHOP

The National Endowment for the Humanities has awarded a grant of $52,892 to the college for a summer 1984 institute for high school teachers on the topic of "Rhetoric, Communication and Freedom."

Project director will be Dr. Eugene Garver (Philosophy), author of the grant proposal. Fifteen participants will be accepted for the six-week institute. They will read an ancient work, Aristotle's Rhetoric, and a modern book, Kenneth Burke's Grammar of Motives. An intensive study of these two works, Dr. Garver said, "forces us to rethink our comfortable distinctions between honest and dishonest presentations, between rational and emotional appeals, and between reason and authority." The seminar should be of greatest interest to high school English and social studies teachers but is not restricted to these two disciplines.

Dr. Garver, who is chair of the Philosophy Department, has written several articles using rhetorical theory to enrich contemporary political debate. He received an NEH Fellowship for college teachers to study "Rhetoric, Contemporary Inquiries into Language and the Teaching of Writing" during 1981-82, a summer seminar grant in 1977 and a travel grant in January 1977. He also was co-author and co-director of the NEH grant received by the college for its "Writing Reinforcement Program" in 1978-82.

DR. GANNON TO RETURN TO FULL-TIME TEACHING

Dr. Catherine C. Gannon, who has been associate dean of academic planning since 1976, has resigned her administrative position to return to full-time teaching.

In addition to her responsibilities as an associate dean and professor of English, she has been coordinator for the Evening Office. She was a co-author and co-director of the NEH Writing Enforcement Program. "She will be greatly missed," said Dr. Jerrold Pritchard, associate vice president for academic programs.

Dr. Pritchard said the search for a temporary, part-time replacement continues. The position has been redefined as associate dean, undergraduate programs beginning this fall. Dr. Gannon will continue to assist in pulling together parts of the WASC accreditation report. She will return to the classroom in winter quarter.

Dr. Gannon came to Cal State from the Claremont Colleges where she had spent a year under a Carnegie Foundation fellowship for women faculty members interested in entering academic administration. After earning her Ph.D. at UCLA, she taught for five years at Purdue University.

DORMS OVERFLOW

As of Wednesday, Serrano Village was home to a record-setting 414 residents. This is the first time the rated capacity of 406 students has been exceeded. Study rooms were converted to bedrooms.

DR. HENDERSON HAS NEW RESPONSIBILITIES

Dr. Craig Henderson, director of housing here since 1977, has assumed the duties of student affairs administrator in the Dean of Students Office. Associate Dean of Students Doyle Stansel will serve as acting housing director until a replacement is selected.

Dr. Henderson will be responsible for handling a number of major staff assignments within the Dean of Students Office, including preparation of the Student Services master plan and the Student Services portion of the WASC accreditation report.

"I am very pleased to have Craig accept this reassignment of responsibilities. His professional expertise and knowledge of the campus will be invaluable to me," said Dean of Students Peter Wilson.

The student affairs administrator position previously was filled by Richard Bennecke, who was reassigned Sept. 1 to the Executive Dean's Office to assist in developing the Alumni Affairs Office.

EVENING OFFICE NOW OPEN TO ASSIST STUDENTS, FACULTY

The Evening Office is now open in the Pfau Library to assist faculty and students who are on campus after 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The office is supervised by Steve Prouty, associate dean of academic programs.

The Evening Office is situated in the Services to Students with Disabilities Office, PL 107. Hours are 5:45 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

The office will sell class schedules, catalogs and parking decals; and accept payment for graduation checks and transcripts. Admissions counseling and assistance with various petitions to make changes in academic programs are among the services which Dean Prouty will provide. Evening faculty who have last-minute information for their classes may also contact him. Dean Prouty's phone number, Ext. 7520, will ring during the day in his office in the Administration Building, AD 184, and after 5:30 p.m. in the Evening Office.

EVENING CHILD CARE SPACES AVAILABLE

The Children's Center still can accept applications for its evening child care program which is available Mondays through Thursdays from 6 to 10 p.m. More spaces are available for Tuesday and Thursday evenings than for Mondays and Wednesdays. The evening program is open to children ages 2-14 years of students, faculty or staff. Fees are $1.50 per hour for one child and $1 per hour for each additional child from the same family. Information is available from Pam Dortch, director, or Richard Laab, assistant director, evening program.

The California State College, San Bernardino BULLETIN is published Fridays by the Public Affairs Office, AD 117, extension 7558. Items for publication should be received in writing by noon Tuesday.

DR. JAMES SAVAGE HEADS STUDENT HEALTH SERVICES

Dr. James Savage will become the medical director of the Student Health Services effective Oct. 1

Prior to joining the staff of the Health Center five years ago, he was in private practice as a general surgeon with the San Bernardino Medical Group. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of the San Bernardino County and California State Medical Associations and the Tri-County Surgical Society.

Medicine is a family tradition as his father, the late Dr. Philip Savage, Sr., and his brother, Dr. Philip Savage, Jr., also were physicians in San Bernardino. The new director did his undergraduate work and received his M.D. degree from Stanford University. He was a flight surgeon in the Air Force and spent 3½ years of duty in England.

Dr. Savage succeeds Dr. Ross Ballard, who was medical director from 1976 until his retirement this summer. Interviews currently are underway for the second physician who will fill Dr. Savage's former position.

Dr. Savage hopes to continue to improve the services offered to students as budgets will allow. He has started a question and answer column in the student newspaper in an effort to respond to inquiries and concerns of students.

The Student Health Center provides all of the services normally administered in a physician's office including minor surgery, dermatology, basic emergency care, family planning and gynecological care. A pharmacy and physical therapy equipment are part of the facilities.

COMPUTER CLUB SETS ORGANIZATION MEETING

Anyone interested in computing, particularly in a serious way, is invited to the organizational meeting of the On-Line Computer Club at 2 p.m., Monday, Oct. 3 in Room A of the Student Union, according to Dr. Richard Botting, club advisor. Plans will be made for the coming year. The club hopes to schedule lecturers, arrange for computer-topic films and plan other programs which will help prepare students for better jobs after graduation. Scott Stockdale is club president.

AUTOMATIC DOORS BEING INSTALLED

Installation of automatic doors in two buildings, Student Services and Physical Sciences, is being delayed by late delivery of the automatic units. Completion is expected next week.

A single door is being constructed on the front of the Student Services Building to provide access to the main lobby. It is situated next to the office built this summer for the future labor relations coordinator. The outer set of double doors on the west end of the Physical Sciences Building also is being automated. The inner doors still must be opened manually.

The primary contractor for the project is Hour Glass Co. The cost for the doors at the two buildings is $10,200. Automated doors of the same type were installed earlier for the Services to Students with Disabilities Office and on the front entrance to the Biological Sciences Building. The Commons, the Student Union and the side entrance to the Health Center also have automated doors, but of different configurations.

IN SYMPATHY

The college extends sympathy to Jack Duncan (Heating and Airconditioning) on the death of his wife, Matsue Wofford, Sept. 16. Services were Sept. 20 at El Camino Memorial Park in San Diego.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are extended by the college community to Dr. and Mrs. Tapie Rohm (Marketing and Management) on the birth of their first daughter and sixth child, Kirsti Grace, Sept. 25. Dr. Rohm assisted in the delivery of the 8-pound baby at 3:19 a.m. on 1-10 a few miles from Kaiser Permanente Hospital.

PUBLICATIONS

M. R. Burgess (Library) has sold 20 anthologies of criticism on various literary topics to Arno Press of New York. The books will be published in 1984. He also sold two anthologies, Yesterday or Tomorrow? and Zephyr and Boreas, to Starmont House of Seattle as the first two volumes of an open-end series, Starmont Studies in Literary Criticism. Forthcoming in 1983 are two books from the Borgo Press, Lords Temporal and Lords Spiritual, a chronological checklist of Eastern Orthodox Church Leaders; and A Guide to Science Fiction and Fantasy in the Library of Congress Classification Scheme.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Dr. Frances Berdan (Anthropology) has an article, "The Reconstruction of Ancient Economies: Perspectives from Archeology and Ethnohistory," published in Economic Anthropology: Topics and Theories, Monographs in Economic Anthropology, No. 1: 83-95.

Dr. Irving H. Buchen (Humanities) will be one of three speakers on innovations in arts performances at the annual meeting of the International Council of Fine Arts Deans Oct. 20-23 in Dallas. He will discuss the Family Performance Series held last year on campus.

Dr. Tom Meisenhelder (Sociology) has a paper, "An Essay on Time and the Phenomenology of Imprisonment," accepted for publication in the journal Deviant Behavior.

Dr. Bradford Wilson (Political Science) served on a panel on "Constitutional Rights and Judicial Remedies" at the 1983 meeting of the American Political Science Assn. Sept. 1-4 in Chicago.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Dr. Frances Coles (Criminal Justice) spoke on "Sexual Harrassment in the Work Place" Sept. 24 at a League of Women Voters-sponsored meeting in Palm Springs.

Dr. Amer El-Ahraf (Health Science and Human Ecology) served on a panel to interview candidates for the position of senior public health engineer for the Riverside County Health Department.
