October 16th 2006

CSUSB
Impasse declared in CFA contract $88 negotiations
Shane Olguin
Staff Writer

A stalemate in contract negotiations between the California Faculty Association (CFA) and the CSU Board of Trustees has led the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB) to declare a state of impasse in the negotiations.

Contract negotiations between the CFA and CSU have been going on for over 18 months. The current state of impasse was declared on Sept. 29, 2006.

According to Tom Melksham, president of the CFA/CSUSB chapter, the main issues in the contract negotiations deal primarily with the compensation and selection of CSU faculty.

"What we think is an adequate measure would also help to increase the amount of funds allocated to the education system by the state government," said Carolyn Killgore, an instructor at CSUSB.

The new measure would be another major step toward helping to improve the education system in the Central Valley and fund flood safe facilities.

Killgore was the center of attention for the Killgore Staff Scholarship, a scholarship that has been established in memory of former secretary Elizabeth Suedow.

Killgore was the center of attention for the Killgore Staff Scholarship, a scholarship that has been established in memory of former secretary Elizabeth Suedow.

Killgore was the center of attention for the Killgore Staff Scholarship, a scholarship that has been established in memory of former secretary Elizabeth Suedow.

Killgore was the center of attention for the Killgore Staff Scholarship, a scholarship that has been established in memory of former secretary Elizabeth Suedow.
Continued: Teacher contract impasse again

On,” Meisenhelder said.

According to a CFA facial summary, salary and compensation increases for administration per the CSU system-wide average of 3.5 percent in 2005, as opposed to a 3.5 percent increase for faculty.

The CFA has requested general wage increases of 3.5 percent through fiscal year 2005. In addition to a 1.5 percent service salary increase for personnel who meet certain eligibility requirements and other compensations.

Eventually this service salary increase would be extended to all faculty members after this fiscal year.

Meisenhelder is holding off on the CFA for faculty members on Oct. 12, 2006. CFA officials said the CSU system has approximately $160 million in new money from the state legislature that can be used.

"We feel the money the legislature made available to the CSU, a CUSB English Department who is a CSU's bargaining team member. The CFA would offer a lower general salary increase in order to avoid a strike. Faculty members hope that to Meisenhelder.

According to the CFA, the reduced salary increase was requested by the CSU to fund our requests," said Paul Vicknair, a senior faculty member after this fiscal year.

"We're going into an area where we have never been before," said Vicknair. "We've never really seen that in the CSU. It doesn't happen too often in higher education."

The closest the CSU faculty has come to a strike was after the last round of contract bargaining in 2001. The CFA was given strike sanctions by its members but a resolution to the contract dispute was reached prior to strike, according to Meisenhelder.

The CFA represents all functional staff, librarians, counselors, and coaches.

Approximately 70 percent of full-time staff at CSUSB are members of the CFA.

Continued: Measurers on the election ballot

not officially registered for this fiscal year.

Proposition 98 would allow the state government to sell $5.4 billion in bonds for safer drinking water, park improvements, environmental protection and flood control.

Proposition 89 would change the California Constitution to require doctors to notify a patient or guardian 48 hours before performing an abortion on a minor.

Proposition 87 would add a statewide tobacco tax of $2.70 per pack of cigarettes. The new tax money could be used for health programs and hospitals.

Proposition 86 would extend a state tobacco tax of $2.70 per pack of cigarettes.

Proposition 85 would create a $54 billion program to promote clean energy, funded by a new tax on oil.

Proposition 84 would allow the state government to sell $5.1 billion in bonds for safer drinking water, park improvements, environmental protection and flood control.

Proposition 83 would create a state of $4 billion program to promote health programs and hospitals.

The program would promote vehicles that use less gasoline and more efficient ways to use energy.

Proposition 82 would create a new state tax of $50 on every property owner in the state.

Elderly and disabled homeowners would be excluded from the tax.

Proposition 80 would provide public funding for political campaigns.

Funding would result from raising the state income tax on corporations by 0.2 percent which would raise over $200 million each year.

Property rights are addressed in proposition 96. If passed, Prop 96 would change the California Constitution so that state and local government cannot force the sale of private property for private use. Property owners could also be paid for any major economic losses that reduce the property’s value.

"They don't understand that our vote could change what someone gets passed or gets elected into office,” Jones said.

On November 23, 2006 in the dual

We have a New Email Policy Beginning January 2007

To ensure that you receive information in a timely and secure manner, the university will expand its communication services by utilizing CSUSB EMAIL.

Information such as registration access and polls, admission information and status, financial aid, campus wide deadlines and events, will now be forwarded to the CSUSB EMAIL.

Information regarding the new policy will be mailed to you.

If you do not already have a C.S.U.S.B account one will be issued.

For questions please call (909) 537-5290 or send an email to WebReg@csusb.edu
Howl heard ‘round Student Union
Students had a night of food, fun and a good time at CSUSB’s ‘Karaoke Night’

Alexandra Galos
Staff Writer

Food, beverages and live entertainment is what you can expect at CSUSB’s Karaoke Night. Associated Students Inc. (ASI) put on the event every other Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Santos Manuel Student Pub.

“It is a great way for students to gather together and create unity on campus,” said Vice President of University Affairs Teddie Rodriguez.

During the gala affair Teddy displayed her talents for the mod­ ed crowd who sang along.

“I will keep singing all night long if you guys don’t join in,” Rodriguez threatened.

ASI President Anthony Calley attended the event and joined Rodriguez on stage singing, “I believe I can Fly” by R-Kelly.

The crowd enjoyed the playful performance and clipped while enjoying beverages and food from Taco Bell.

First timer at the event went unexpectedly.

“It is my first time but it is very entertaining,” said sophomore Stephanie McMillen. “I think I will come back next time in a costume and sing a song by Whitney Houston.”

The evening started off very upbeat and mellowed down as the night went on.

“The evening started out very upbeat and mellowed down as the night went on,” said Vice President of Student Affairs Megan Jager.

Students enjoy a night of karaoke at CSUSB Student Union.

Many hot topics for women’s forum
Brenda Hernandez
Staff Writer

Are you a B.I.T.C.H. or would you like to be one?

If so, come and join the B.I.T.C.H. discussion forum sponsored by the Women’s Resource Center.

Bring Interesting Topics

Conversations: A Happenings (B.I.T.C.H.) is a discussion group for women of all ages.

Here, women can come together to discuss issues such as body image, domestic violence and any other current events that interests its participants.

“Come check it out,” said Dolores Montoya. “I want people to know that we don’t bitch about men. It is more of a discussion group and we discuss current issues.”

According to the Women’s Resource Center, it is good for women to unite and express their feelings.

Anyone, including men, can express feelings on topics not only about women, but also about issues concerning world wide events like the massacre in Pennsylvania, to the acceptance of the body image in society.

An upcoming B.I.T.C.H. forum will show “Beyond Killing Us Softly,” a discussion based on the concerning negative depiction in advertisements.

“This movie is educational because death is a serious matter and trying to meet society standard of body image is killing yourselves softly,” said Sandy Naranjo, an assistant at the Women’s Resource Center.

“Do you really think it is worth it to kill yourself to meet societal canter’s demands?” asked Naranjo.

The Women’s Resource Center is an on-campus facility that supports women and provides services to develop self-confidence within the community.

The Women’s Resource Center not only offers B.I.T.C.H., but it also offers movie nights, books reviews, music reviews, and movie reviews.

They also provide free scan­ tens, pencils and random to those who visit their office.

The discussion groups meet every Wednesday from 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. in Santos Manuel Student Union room 112.

For more information on the B.I.T.C.H. program contact Dolores Montoya at the Women’s Resource Center 909-537-5940 or 909 537-5940.

Brenda Hernandez/Chronicle

Dolores Montoya works at the Women’s Resource Center.

Brenda Hernandez/Chronicle

Free Wi-Fi Access

Students enjoy a night of karaoke at CSUSB Student Union.

Grounds for Enjoyment

that’s my GFE

5244 University Pkwy San Bernardino, CA 92407 1 7199 Boulder Ave, Highland, CA 92346

(cs the home of green leaf tea)

www.sitdown.com

www.sitdown.com

Grounds for Enjoyment

that’s my GFE

Special Coupon

Buy One	Coffee or Iced Tea, Get One FREE!

Get a half-off 16 oz. Coffee!
Credit card companies target students

Brett Prior
Staff Writer

According to a report released by the Government Accountability Office last Wednesday, credit card debts for payments have skyrocketed from an average of $13 in 1995, to an astounding $34.

In accordance with these rising numbers, the report revealed that card issuers have not done a good job of informing the consumer of their fees and penalties.

The report investigated the facts, interest rates and disclosure policies of 26 major credit card companies. Results concluded that company’s disclosures were often written in confusing and misleading language with pertinent information buried within the text, or written in small typefaces.

"We also according to the report, saw such as $15 to $15 charge to get credit card bills over the phone or often undisclosed, and consumers may be charged with as many as three different interest rates for different transactions," the GAO interviewed 12 consumers and results indicated many failed to understand key aspects of their cards, including when they would be charged for late payments or what actions could cause issuers to raise rates.

According to Bill Hulet, CEO of LowCards.com, a consumer credit card information Web site, as college students we are heavily targeted. We are potentially lifiting customers who will spend, spend, spend.

He's right, according to a study published by the student loan outfit Nellie Mae. The study states that the average freshmen carries over $1,500 worth of credit card debt, and nearly double that amount by graduation.

What can we do to protect ourselves from this epidemic of economic warfare? According to David Ellis, who writes in CNNMoney.com's Credit Card Tips for College Kids, there is a few key things.

First find a card with a good rate as you can get. Keep an eye on the annual percentage rate being mindful of the fact that you may not be able to pay off the balance in full every month. Avoid annual fees. If you're able to find a company that is willing to give you a low interest rate while avoiding an annual fee, why pay extra money?

Keep it to one card. More than one card leaves room for more debt.

Take care with rewards cards. Points are earned based on the amount of money spent; therefore it is enticing to spend more money. Spend for emergencies, not expenses and pay at once.

Just say no to cash advances. This is a common trap for students to fall into; although the idea is inviting, the rates around these offers are astounding.

If things go really bad, try to talk to your credit card company; they won't forgive your debt, but they might lower your minimum payment and drop the interest rate a point or two.

Another great solution as students to the threat of credit card bondage is using a debit card instead which typically allows for more realistic budgeting.

Tips for College Kids

Tips for College Kids, therefore, a counseling center, invites you to come in and talk to a counselor about handling your money. Pam Lefebvre, one of the center’s counselors, says that “the main goal of the counseling is to help people to become more realistic with their expenses and able to manage them without the help of a credit card.”

Pam Lefebvre is a well-known counselor who has been working with college students for years. She has a degree in psychology and has worked in various roles in the counseling field. She is known for her ability to help students develop healthy money management skills.

The Center provides a variety of services to students, including individual counseling sessions, workshops, and seminars on topics such as budgeting, credit management, and money stress. Pam Lefebvre's expertise in these areas makes her a valuable resource for students looking to improve their financial situation.

The Cal State Community Counseling Center offers confidential one-on-one counseling serving individuals on campus or the community for personal or emotional problems. For more information, please contact the Community Counseling Center at (909) 537-5569.
Fans Carey’d away

All the right tools

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF “BADMEN BEGINS” AND “MENTO:

HUGH JACKMAN
CRISTAN BALE
SCARLETT JOHANSSON
MICHAEL CAINE

Dane Cook, Jessica Simpson and Das Shephard star in the funny comedy “Employee of the Month.”

Ready for a good laugh? “Employee of the Month,” starring Dane Cook, will provide just that.

In the film by the producers of “Wedding Crashers,” Cook plays a video store manager who one night feels so fed up with his job that it is just not worth it to him. His boss fires him. As he packs up his things, he sees a video of himself laughing, and that is what he did. He is funny in this film, but it was not as over-the-top as I thought it would be.

Cook did well in carrying the movie and his acting was well executed, but not what I had expected in his humor. This was much softer.

For some reason I was expecting a comedy. I thought that it was not what I had expected in his humor. This was much softer.

Classifieds

Room For Rent

Christian atmosphere. Near UCI. bedroom home. all beds, beautiful home. has one bed room on site student-Mgr. all utilities including cable & internet in all rooms. 950.00 per month and just 500.00 security deposit. Drive by 629 Garden West Berkeley. Call Maris at 909-777-5253. Email vest@cox.net

The Condo for Rent

Large Edgelong Village Condo in Orange County. 2 bedrooms, 1 bath, new carpet and fenced patio. Washer/dryer included, garbage, pools, spa and fenced common area. Drive by 505-777-5253. Security deposit. Drive by 1500 Edgeland Drive San Bernardino, Call Maris at 909-777-5253. Email vest@cox.net

Same script, different cast

Dane Cook, Jessica Simpson and Das Shephard star in the funny comedy “Employee of the Month.”

Of course we all know Dane Cook from his role as a raucous “Napoleon Dynamite.”

Dane Cook plays Zack Bradley, but boy at Super Club, is the one that I was waiting for. I had a hard time confining on his role as the one who is stealing the show. Throughout the film, Dane Cook plays Zack Bradley, but I did not really catch on to his work. I think that it is just a movie.

To see more about “Employee of the Month,” please check out their movie page at www.mypace.com/protostarr or their official website located at protostarr.com.

O’Toole’s main focus is to keep having his fans out and making more music with his great group.

Michelle Graham/Chronicle

O’Toole is ready to rock out as the lead player for Protostarr. O’Toole is also the senior producer for the radio station KCVR, and an owner for the CSSB Chronicle.

One of O’Toole’s aspirations is to sell 200,000 copies of his album. If you would like to find out more about Protostarr’s upcoming events, music or performances then check out their myspace page at www.myspace.com/protostarr or their official website located at protostarr.com.

Michelle Graham/Chronicle

O’Toole is ready to rock out as the lead player for Protostarr. O’Toole is also the senior producer for the radio station KCVR, and an owner for the CSSB Chronicle.

One of O’Toole’s aspirations is to sell 200,000 copies of his album. If you would like to find out more about Protostarr’s upcoming events, music or performances then check out their myspace page at www.myspace.com/protostarr or their official website located at protostarr.com.
Teach in Mexico at ITEC

Bilingual Cross-Cultural language and Academic Development credential program new way to learn

Mayra Baldas

Graduate students can earn credit toward their degree and teaching credential while studying in Queretaro, Mexico.

The Bilingual Cross-Cultural language and Academic Development (BCLAD) credential program is offered to graduate students.

Those who would like the experience and an understanding of a contemporary multicultural classroom which includes not only coursework given by a professor, should consider the program.

Students in the program will also have an opportunity to participate and observe private schools in Queretaro, Mexico.

Upon completion of the program in Mexico, students are awarded recommendations to the students' campus for the BCLAD credential by the International Teacher Education Council (ITEC).

Basic components that BCLAD consists of are linguistic developments in Spanish, which includes at least one intermediate Spanish course; methodology and practice in classrooms; and a capstone in the Mexican culture.

Not only is the program set in Mexico, but students also will take courses in San Diego as well.

The year long program goes as follows: during the summer session, students will be in San Diego participating in an orientation, along with an introduction to the course.

In the fall semester, students will be in Queretaro, with coursework from the Spanish language and understandings of the Latin American culture.

During this session, students will have a chance to work with schools in Queretaro.

In the spring semester, students continue their coursework and then get assigned to schools for student teaching, not only in private schools, but in indigenous communities as well.

The final session is held in San Diego, where students will obtain specific coursework until the end of the school year.

Barbara Flores, the bilingual program coordinator and professor, said that the program is a great opportunity for students to have a different point of view on how a culture is educated and taught, and how students can identify with their own experiences.

"This is a very intense program, and students have to work hard. But at the same time, the experience that graduate students should really consider and apply for," she said.

In order to apply to the Mexican credential program, students must be admitted to an ITEC-affiliated campus, which include CSU Bakersfield, CSU Fresno, CSU Fullerton, CSU Hayward, CSU Long Beach, CSU Sacramento, CSU San Bernardino, San Diego State University, San Jose State University, Sonoma State University, and CSU San Marcos.

The program is open to all majors and not only directed to Education majors. Anyone is permitted to apply.

Any BA will do but you must have passed the CSET/ CEST for multiple subjects & have passed Spanish 415 or equivalent course.

The application deadline for the program is March 1, 2007.

If you qualify for financial aid at CSUSB, then it can be applied to the year ahead with the international program.

You can also apply for a number of grants, loans and scholarships.

For more information, contact Dr. Nora Tovar of the Elementary and Bilingual education at 909-537-722 or Barbara Flores at 909-537-2622.

Help stop domestic violence

Jennifer Yost

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month. Domestic violence is defined by the American Psychological Association as "the use of repeated and coercive acts by one partner, in a relationship, dating or marriage relationship, against the other in order to forcefully gain power and control."

Mary Jardine of Yucaipa Outreach will discuss the characteristics of an abuser, explain how people may end up in violent relationships and describe the impact domestic violence has on children.

Jardine will talk about what domestic violence is. Yucaipa Outreach is the domestic violence division of San Bernardino Sexual Assault Services.

"This discussion will take place at a Domestic Violence Awareness Workshop on October 25, which will be hosted by the Women's Resource Center.

Office Helen Delgado of the University Police Department will speak more from a law enforcement perspective on domestic violence.

Delgado will provide information as to who to report to, how law enforcement officers respond to domestic violence and the resources that are available to victims and witnesses.

Domestic Violence Awareness Month was first observed in 1987. As a result, the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence, the intent is to connect women's advocates across the nation.

Members of the Women's Resource Center will wear purple ribbons throughout the month.

"The purpose of the event is to raise awareness and educate the campus community about the issue of domestic violence and also to provide resources or support to anyone who is currently in, or has been, in a violent relationship," said Cheryl Stabbing of the resource center.

"Hopefully some people attending the event will be inspired to get involved and volunteer to work with domestic violence victims."

Women ages 19 to 29 report the highest rates of intimate violence, according to the Bureau of Justice Statistics Special Report; Violence against Women: Estimates from the Redesigned Survey, 1995.

The WRC has put the past hound-related events dealing with the issue of domestic violence. Some of these events include the Plasticine Project and a fundraising walk-a-thon for Option House, a local domestic shelter and self-defense classes for beginners and intermediates.

Events for the month of October include National Young Women's Week of Action Love Your Body Day.

More events will take place this year during the spring quarter. Spring quarter has traditionally been the quarter that the Women's Resource Center focuses on domestic violence awareness.

The Domestic Violence Workshop will be held in the Santos Manuel Student Union in Event Center room A1 from 12 to 2 p.m. Contact the Women's Resource Center at 909-557-2701. The office is located on the first floor of the student union.

Cash in on a big opportunity.

During November and December, score great pay at FedEx Home Delivery. Part-time Package Handlers take on an active role in keeping packages moving and our business running. Get into the holidays with an industry leader.

P/T Seasonal Package Handlers

Specifications

- Must be at least 18 years of age
- Ability to lift, load, sort, package
- Must have valid driver's license

Apply in person: TUE- SAT 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

PMHUB

16202 Chestnut St., Industry, CA 91746

151 Sibley Ave, Ontario, CA 91761

To apply visit our nearest case

FedEx Home Delivery is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer. EOE/M/F/D/V, committed to diversifying the workplace.

For a detailed description of your opportunities at a position at FedEx Home Delivery, please visit our website.
We are less then a month away before voting starts in the United States, which makes me wonder, when do we ever have to have a woman for president? Do we believe that women cannot control, stabilize, or run the United States?

Hillary Clinton might have a really good chance in the next presidential election in 2008. In fact, as of October 2, 2006, 59 percent of those polled say Clinton will be president and 31 percent say “no way,” according to Rasmussen Reports.

This site states that 43 percent of Americans view the former first lady as politically liberal. Another 30 percent say she’s a moderate and 10 percent say she’s conservative.

Another candidate could be Condoleezza Rice, who is Secretary of State, and the former assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, commonly referred to as the National Security Advisor, where she served since January, 2001.

Rice is the first African American, second woman, African American (after Powell), and second woman (after Nellie Tayloe Ross) to serve in Secretary of State. Rice is a very educated lady and has earned many degrees. She earned her Ph.D. in political science from the University of Michigan, her master’s from the University of Notre Dame, and her Ph.D from the graduate school of International Studies at the University of Denver in 1981. She is outgoing, educated, and a driven young lady that I believe would be a strong leader of our country.

I think a woman can be a successful president because, for example, “stay at home moms” could, for an entire family, clean, take care of children, and more. They open their school or going back to get a B.A. or Masters degree. Men do the same, so what’s the difference?

Our Constitution guarantees that all mankind is created equal. Women show just as much capability in the classroom as men, and have shown to be just as competent in the workplace.

Women are fun, can cooperate with the government, make good choices and compose effective speeches. Many people say, “Well what about their kids?” Think about it. Men have just as much responsibility for their children as women do.

Women have made major scientific discoveries. Rosalind Franklin, for example, discovered the basic structure of the cell itself.

Women serve as CEOs for major companies. Janet L. Robinson is CEO of The New York Times and Meg Whitman climbed the corporate ladder at eBay.

Women also serve as president at Universities such as Susan Hockfield at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

So, why can’t women serve as President of U.S.? It is time for our country to stand behind our potential women leaders?

---

Edulators and parents alike help administrators in districts where school uniforms are standard:

Anne Dietz Staff Writer

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.

One reason why uniforms were supported was because it was a way to decrease the idea of freedom and equality.

With the outbreak of violence and school shootings that have enveloped across the country, I think it’s time to take another look at school uniforms.

Those who oppose implementing uniforms said that it went against our First Amendment right. What can we do and cannot wear when we live in a country that’s greater the idea of freedom and equality.

There also was the thought that enforcing uniforms left little room for children to express their creativity and unique interests. This opposed to the idea said children would have more freedom and would not be able to use their own creativity and unique interests.
Coconut Locker Room

Cherish Wong
Staff Writer

The CSUSB women's volleyball team scored a double victory Wednesday night when they not only beat Cal Poly Pomona 3-1, but also broke their own record of 17 wins in a row, set back in 2002. This year's team is well-established as a top contender, not only for regionals but for nationals as well.

"We build our season in terms of realistic changes, we've got a good field, and the wide open space," said Head Coach Kim Cheung.

The team itself is confident about their position as well.

"This is the year of the Coyotes," added Lisa Dogonyaro, senior outside hitter. "We're just stayed focused on one goal at a time, kept progressing and working our way up." The team's success, Cherish Wong says, comes from a combination of heart and skills.

"We have strong senior leadership in the back row and outside hitter," said Cherish. "Tori, we're just really good on one side of the court. We have a great group and we're just pushing to our limits as a team.

"The Coyotes forw ards and backs are really solid and clear s my mind for those days when I'm too tired and confused," said Cherish. "The Tritons are in the conference, we're in the top five, we're really good, we've built this team up to keep the good and we're just getting better. This team knows their priorities."