Faculty Development Grant Proposals Due Monday, May 13

Approximately $45,000 will be available for Faculty Professional Development Grants in the coming academic year. The total, to be finalized when the budget is determined, will be an increase over the current year. Proposals for the 1985-86 year are due in the Academic Personnel Office, AD 109, Monday, May 13. Awards will be announced about June 1.

The Cal State Faculty Professional Development Grant program was created to contribute to the intellectual development of faculty members through assistance for the improvement of their research, writing, and creative activities, provision of resources for advanced training, and support to enhance teaching effectiveness, said Dr. J. C. Robinson (Academic Personnel). The grants are in the form of assigned time, travel, equipment, operating costs, and clerical and/or student assistance. Proposals may not duplicate projects already fully funded from other sources during the same academic year. All full-time, tenure-track faculty members are eligible for the grant.

Proposals must clearly demonstrate clarity, objectives, methods of feasibility, the contribution to the professional development of the faculty member, and the relevance in terms of the mission and programmatic needs of the university, said Dr. Robinson.

Copies of the completed proposal will be forwarded to the appropriate department chair and school dean who will decide the quality, importance and relevancy of the proposal. All proposals will be reviewed by the Faculty Affairs Committee and their recommendations will be submitted to the vice president for academic affairs for formal approval and award. Awardees will be required to provide a report describing the use of the award and accomplishments by Oct. 1.

Saltzman Receives Grant For Transit Terminal Study

As a supplement to a grant received last December by the Institute for Social and Public Policy Research, Dr. Arthur Saltzman (Marketing) has been awarded a $17,317 research grant from the San Bernardino Associated Governments to conduct a transit terminal study.

A member of the Cal State faculty since last fall, Dr. Saltzman and a study team will assess the attitude of transit passengers toward transferring between buses in downtown San Bernardino. Information from the project will be used in planning a transit terminal which has been proposed for San Bernardino.

"We are pleased to be able to assist local county government agencies and at the same time provide opportunities for our students to be involved in an evaluation project which should lead to the development of a transit transfer facility," said Dr. Saltzman.

Dr. Saltzman will be assisted by Karen Alexson and Gary Herdlicka, both students. He is seeking students interested in conducting interviews on the buses. He plans to conduct two sets of interviews--one in May and one later in the summer.

Fall Admissions Figures Show Rise In Applications

Cal State is following a CSU system-wide upward swing in admissions applications for fall 1985.

Overall, the university is up 21% in admissions applications and 33% for first-time freshmen, said Cheryl Weese (Admissions). Transfer applications are up 12% and graduate applications are up 7%. Fall applications will be accepted through fall registration in September.

The 19-campus system has received a 10.8% increase overall and a 17.1% increase for first-time freshmen. The 134,720 applications received from prospective new students as of April 1, compare with 121,545 for the same period in 1984.

Most CSU campuses are continuing to accept fall applications in all categories. Exceptions include Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, closed to all except graduate applicants, and San Diego State, which can no longer accept applications from beginning freshmen because of overloaded facilities. In addition, impacted programs, primarily in engineering and business fields, at certain campuses were closed to further applications early in the admissions period. All programs are still available at this campus.

Volunteers Sought In Unifest Planning

Planning has begun for Unifest '85, the university's annual open house, to be held early in the fall quarter.

Jeanne Hogenson (Activities), will chair the Unifest Planning Committee which includes: Richard Bennecke (Alumni Affairs), Dr. James Crum (Natural Sciences), Dr. Keith Dolan (Education), Beverly Dyer (Cal State Associates), Helga Lingren (Student Union), Carolyn Martin (Physical Education), Dr. Walt Oliver (Spanish), Penni Overstreet (student), Dr. Thomas Pierce (Social and Behavioral Sciences), Joanna Roche (Special Events), Carolyn Rodriguez (Financial Aid), Edna Steinman (Public Affairs), Dennis Stover (Plant Operations) and Dr. Michael Weiss (Psychology).

"Everyone should lend Jeanne and the committee their full support and cooperation in order to insure that Unifest '85 is the most successful open house in our history," said Dr. Peter Wilson (Dean of Students).

Twelve Walkers Raise Over $1,300

A group of 12 Cal State walkers earned over $1,300 in pledges for the March of Dimes WalkAmerica Sunday, April 28.

A group of 11 students, including Lani Scines who was pushed in a wheelchair along part of the 32-kilometer course, and Clare Sharafinski (Activities), were among 1,100 walkers who earned $93,000 in pledges. "I was told that to raise $1,300 is phenomenal for a brand new team," said Sharafinski. Students participating represented the cheerleading squad and the dorms.
