Educational Equity Grants Allotted

Six faculty members will receive Educational Equity Grants as part of a new facet of the Affirmative Action Faculty Development Program, announced Dr. Janice Loutzenhiser, chair of the Faculty Affairs Committee.

The grants are designed to support research and curriculum development in studies of issues pertaining to the disabled, minorities and women.

Dr. Lanny Fields (History) has been awarded $672 for student assistance, materials and travel associated with writing a textbook An Interpretative Global History, which will examine in detail the contributions of women, minorities, the handicapped and aged in history around the world.

Janice Golojuch (Art) has been allotted $250 for materials and supplies required for her research and documentation of contemporary women photographers in the Los Angeles area, emphasizing their artistic achievements and academic contributions.

Dr. Harold L. Hellenbrand (English) was granted $250 for materials and supplies to help implement his plans to re-design the reading lists for American Literature courses 430 and 432, which cover the period from 1620 to 1855, to include books about women, blacks and native Americans.

Dr. Mildred Henry (Education) has been awarded $250 for materials and supplies necessitated by her research into the early identification of potential dropout students and possible intervention strategies. The study will focus on teacher preparedness for working with culturally and ethnically diverse populations at five selected San Bernardino elementary schools with high minority enrollments.

Dr. Janice Layton (Nursing) has been granted $250 for costs associated with developing course work that addresses battered women and their children. Working in cooperation with the staff of a shelter for battered women and children, the investigation will support research recommendations made by the state's Commission on Child Abuse.

Dr. Susan Meisenhelder (English) has received $1,880 in release time in order to write a book or series of articles on Zora Neale Hurston, a black woman author who wrote a variety of material from the 1930s-50s, such as anthropological studies, collections of folklore and fiction.

Faculty/Students Plunge Into Finals

As fall quarter winds into its last week, the Student Union and Library will have special hours for students studying for final exams. The union will be open from 7 a.m. to 2 a.m., Monday-Wednesday, Dec. 9-11. Free refreshments will be available generally during the evening hours on those days, according to Helga Lingren, director of the Student Union. Thursday, Dec. 12, the Student Union will be open 7 a.m. to midnight and Friday it will resume normal hours from 8 a.m. to midnight. The Library will be open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday-Thursday, Dec. 9-12. Friday and Saturday, the Library will be open during regular business hours.

The Health Center, Bookstore and Commons will retain normal working hours next week, although the Commons will serve its last meal prior to fall quarter break Thursday evening, Dec. 12.

Sociology Seminar Set For Friday

The Sociology Department is hosting colleagues from three community colleges--Mt. San Jacinto, Chaffey and San Bernardino Valley--at a symposium on "Teaching Sociology in the '80s" from 3-5 p.m., Friday, Dec. 13 in the Eucalyptus Room of the Lower Commons. Participants will include Dr. David Decker (Sociology), Professor Del Barnett from Mt. San Jacinto College, Professor Marylee Mason of Chaffey College and Professor Dorothy Gates of San Bernardino Valley College. All faculty interested in the topic are invited to attend.

Chamber's Installation Dinner Set For January

The annual installation dinner of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday, Jan. 23 at the Orange Show Restaurant. The event will begin with cocktails from 6-7:30 p.m. and dinner and the ceremony will follow. Music will be provided by an ensemble of Cal State students. Reservations will be taken until Friday, Jan. 10 by Dr. Judith Rymer, executive dean. The cost is $25 per person and checks should be made out to the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce.

December 23 Deadline For Employee Fee Waiver

The fee waiver program, which substantially reduces the cost to CSU employees who want to take classes at any university in the system, will accept applications until Friday, Dec. 20, said Carlos Marquez, of Personnel. Employees could pay as little as $3 under the fee waiver program to take courses which normally would cost $224, he said.

Employees must have an approved individual development plan on file in order to attend regular university classes under the program. Job-related courses need to be approved by the employee's supervisor.

Employees are encouraged to apply as soon as possible in order to gain admittance to their desired classes, which begin on Jan. 6. First time students will need to apply for admission to the university as well. For further information, contact Marquez at Ext. 7205.

Santa Claus Will Call Employees' Youngsters

Faculty, staff and students can have Santa Claus call their children at home through a special service provided by the Recreational Sports Department, announced Joe Long. The calls will be placed during the week of Dec. 16. Application forms, which are available at the Student Union and Physical Education Department, must be received by 4 p.m., Friday, Dec. 13. More information is available from Long at Ext. 7564.

The California State University, San Bernardino BULLETIN is published by the Public Affairs Office, AD 117, Ext. 7558. Items for publication should be received in writing by noon Tuesday.

Dr. Schultz Receives $75,000 State Grant

The state Department of Consumer Affairs has funded a $75,000 project by Dr. Andrew Schultz (Education) to evaluate the training program for emissions mechanics. Beginning next summer, emissions mechanics currently certified by the Bureau of Automotive Repair will need to begin a recertification program. The current program may be revamped. The study will gather retention and performance data and make recommendations for change.

Chinese Professor To Appear Here

Dr. Kaiyun Li, professor and chair of the Department of Management Science at the East China Technical University of Water Resources, will speak at 1 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 12 in the Eucalyptus Room of the Lower Commons. His presentation will be on the "Principles of Enterprise Management in China." He has been with the East China technical university for 33 years. Faculty, staff and students are invited to attend his lecture, which is sponsored by the Intellectual Life Committee.

Dec. 12 Reception For Fall Graduates

Staff and faculty are invited to join the families of students who are graduating this quarter at a reception honoring the graduates from 7-8:30 p.m., Dec. 12 in the Panorama Room of the Lower Commons. The gathering will hear remarks from President Evans; Dr. Peter Wilson, dean of students; and Mrs. Gloria Macias Harrison, chair of the university advisory board. Persons planning to attend should call the Alumni Affairs Office at Ext. 7811.

Some Openings Left In Faculty Seminar

A few openings remain for the spring quarter faculty development seminar in "Writing Across the Disciplines." The 10-week seminar presented by Dr. Edward White (English) will be held Wednesdays 1:30-3:30 p.m. Faculty interested in participating in the seminar should contact Marina Kyritsis, special projects coordinator, at Ext. 7756 by Dec. 16.

Library Sale Nets $961

The book sale held Nov. 21 at the Library netted a record $961.30, which will be used to purchase new library materials, according to John Tibbals, head of patron services. Since 1983, the Library has earned $4907 from its sales.

Student Star Search Finale Tonight

The finale of the "star search," sponsored by Associated Students will be held from 6:30-8:30 p.m. tonight in the Recital Hall. Individuals will perform in categories of male vocalist, female vocalist, musical group, dance, comedy and drama. Tickets will be sold at the door for a cost of $4 for general admission and $2 for student with identification.

Send Holiday Greetings, Support Scholarships

All members of the Cal State community are invited to exchange their holiday greetings with colleagues through the Cal State Associates scholarship fund.

For a contribution to the scholarship fund in the University Foundation, the donor's name will be listed on a greeting card to be sent to all faculty and staff. The donations will help provide scholarships for Cal State students, explained Debra Sass (Foundation Office), chairman of the holiday greeting card project.

"With one check to the Associates' Scholarship fund, which is tax deductible, you can save the expense of many Christmas cards and postage plus the time of addressing envelopes," she said. Participation in the project is not limited to members of the Associates, she stressed.

The design for the greeting card is the work of an art major, Barbara Unruh, a student in a graphics class taught by Janice Golojuch (Art).

Policy Established For Use Of Labs, Studios, Workshops

The Administrative Council this week adopted a policy stating laboratories, studios and workshops are not normally open to nonstudents.

If it is necessary for a nonstudent to use one of these facilities, approval must be obtained from the department chair and the school dean. The individual must also sign a "hold-harmless" statement releasing the university from responsibility for any accident or injury. Regulations about being in the facilities after hours will apply to nonstudents the same as to enrolled students.

Pacific Review Accepting Material

Faculty, staff and students are invited to submit short stories, poetry, drawings and photography to the Pacific Review, which is published annually by Cal State, San Bernardino with funds from the Instructionally Related Programs. Manuscripts should be typed and double-spaced and all work should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Work may be dropped off at the English Department. Feb. 1 is the deadline for submissions. Pacific Review will be published in spring 1986.
