Evans Art Collection On Display

Asian ceramics from the collection donated to Cal State, San Bernardino by President and Mrs. Anthony H. Evans will be on display in the Art Gallery beginning Wednesday, Feb. 24.

A reception from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and informal comments by the president at 6:30 p.m. will open the exhibit.

The 56 pieces on display reflect work from the major ceramic centers in East Asia, China and Korea from 300 B.C. through the 19th century. Many of the 213 pieces in the collection were acquired by the Evanses during his service in the Peace Corps.

Highlights of the collection are found in the Korean and Thai pieces, said Dr. Julius Kaplan (Art). Many of the pieces in the collection were made for export to other countries.

On exhibit will be water pitchers, burial urns, plates, jars, dishes, bowls, vases and an architectural ornament once used on the roofs of Buddhist buildings.

A traveling exhibit--to be made available to schools, libraries, galleries --also will be developed from the Evans collection.

John Nava, gallery director, said the university seeks to be a major cultural resource in the community by offering access to works of art which otherwise could not be seen.

Two noon-hour talks, open to the public in VA 110, will focus on aspects of the show.

Dr. Robert Fisher, professor of art at the University of Redlands, will discuss Asian ceramics at noon, Wednesday, March 2. Dr. Fisher, an art historian, is the guest curator and wrote the catalog for the exhibition.

Dr. Robert Brown, assistant professor of art at UCLA, will discuss the social and cultural connections of Thai and Cambodian ceramics at noon, March 16.

Gallery hours for this show will be 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday-Friday and 6-9 p.m., Monday and Tuesday. The exhibit closes March 24.

Fellows Applications Due Soon

Faculty or staff interested in participating in the CSU administrative fellows program should file their applications by March 14 with the Academic Personnel Office, reminds Dr. J. C. Robinson.

The program, funded by the Chancellor's Office, is directed toward individuals, especially women and minorities, who have had administrative experience or have demonstrated potential for administration through various leadership activities.

The fellows spend an academic year at another campus, or in some instances their own, working under a mentor administrator.

A campus selection committee reviews applications and submits recommendations to the president, who sends his report to the chancellor. A CSU selection committee conducts the final interviews and recommends to the chancellor.

Offers of appointment will be made in May. Appointments will be contingent upon funding received in the 1988-89 budget.

Memorial Lecture On Religion Honors McCombs

The first lecture in the Morrow-McCombs Memorial Lecture Series, designed to strengthen interfaith understanding, will be given Wednesday, Feb. 24.

Dr. Ellis Rivkin, professor of Jewish history at Hebrew Union College, will present the first lecture funded by the endowment honoring the late Ray McCombs, former mayor of Rialto, and Lillian Taylor Morrow, a retired federal employee.

A prominent real estate developer, McCombs initiated the master plan for the city of Rialto during his tenure as mayor. Mrs. Morrow, who had studied at the Sorbonne and taught in China, was in military intelligence in the Pentagon after World War II. She worked at Norton Air Force Base prior to her retirement.

The two good friends enjoyed discussions on many topics, including religion. Mrs. Morrow bequeathed money to McCombs to start a program to enhance relations between Christians and Jews. The project was carried out by Mrs. McCombs following her husband's death in 1983.

The free, public lecture by Dr. Rivkin, to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the SUMP, is titled "A Hidden Revolution: Who Were the Pharisees?"

Adult Comedy Opens March 3

"Come Back to the 5 and Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean," the winter quarter production by the Theatre Arts Department, will open Thursday, March 3 for a two week-end run.

Described as a comedy-drama for adults, the play focuses on the 20th anniversary reunion of "the Disciples of James Dean" in McCarthy, Texas.

Dr. Amanda Sue Rudisill is the director.

The production continues Friday-Saturday, March 4-5 and Wednesday-Saturday, March 9-12. Tickets, available at the Theatre Arts Office, are $5 for general admission and $2.50 for students and senior citizens.

Renaissance Dinner Set in Venice

"A Night in Venice" is the theme for the annual Renaissance dinner, the traditional dinner-theatre production by the Concert Choir, which will be March 3-4-5.

The musicians, directed by Dr. Loren Filbeck, stage the elaborate production, serving and entertaining their guests in a 16th century setting. The musical entertainment will be Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers."

The dinner begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Upper Commons. Early reservations are urged as the seating is limited. The cost is $30 per person. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Concert Choir's 1988 European tour fund.
