5 Finalists Named for Graduate Dean

The first of five candidates for dean of graduate studies position will be on campus Friday, May 12.

One finalist is from the campus, Dr. Julius Kaplan, professor of art and currently half-time dean of graduate studies.

The selection committee, chaired by Dr. Amer El-Ahraf (Academic Resources), will bring the candidates to campus by early June.

Dr. John B. Turner, associate dean of the graduate school and assistant provost at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will be the first. The open forum, at which the entire campus community can meet him, will be from 11:15 to noon in PL 241.

Dr. Maude Southwell Wahlman, associate professor and chair of the Art Department at the University of Central Florida, will be on campus June 1.

Dr. Phillip G. Sokolove, professor of biological science and associate dean of arts and sciences at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, will be interviewed June 8.

The fifth finalist, whose date is to be confirmed, will be Dr.

William H. Taft, dean of graduate studies and research at Worcester Polytechnic Institute in Massachusetts.

Times for their open forums have not yet been set. Dr. Kaplan's interviews will be set after the schedules are determined for those coming from a distance.

The position to be filled is the first full-time graduate dean for the university. Dr. Kaplan and his predecessors served half-time in the administrative post.

Pat Brown Here May 9

Former Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, Sr., who held the state's highest office when the university was founded, will speak on campus at 8 p.m., Tuesday, May 9.

His talk, "California: The Year 2000," will be in the Upper Commons. The public is invited to the free lecture.

Brown, 84, was governor from 1959-1967. Cal State was created by Legislative action in 1960 and opened for classes in 1965.

Music of Americas Festival Debuts

The music of Latin America will be featured in the first Music of the Americas Festival May 17-20.

An outdoor fiesta of Latin American music, dance and food on Saturday, May 20 will conclude the festival, which is open to the campus and the community, said Dr. Edward Bostley (Music).

Among the performers will be UCLATINO, a jazz group from UCLA; the Mixcoacalli Folk Dance Ensemble; Los Peldanos Trio; University Jazz Ensemble; the INCA Folk Ensemble and Poncho Sanchez and his Latin Jazz Ensemble. Student organizations are expected to sponsor booths with goods, crafts and comedy acts. The fiesta will run from noon to 6 p.m. in the Commons Plaza.

Three evenings of concerts, open to the public, will highlight each day. The Chamber Orchestra, directed by Dr. Bostley, and the Symphonic Band, directed by Dr. Carolyn Neff, will present the concert Wednesday, May 17.

Featured on the program will be a composition by Dr. Hector Campos Parsi, dean of Puerto Rican composers and visiting professor on campus this quarter.

The Thursday, May 18 concert will be by the Concert Choir and the Chamber Singers, directed by Dr. Loren Filbeck.

Guest performers at the Friday, May 19 concert include the Ecuadorian soprano Maria Niles and the Palo Verde Trio from Cal State, Fullerton. The Faculty Woodwind Quintet also will be on the program.

The evening concerts begin at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall. Admission is $5 general and $3 for students and senior citizens.

Morning and afternoon programming, directed more toward student audiences, will begin Wednesday, May 17 with a lecture-clinic at 11 a.m. and a faculty-student recital by chamber ensembles at 2 p.m.

A choral festival for high school ensembles will be held Thursday, May 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. Participants will present a selection of Latin American music.

At 11 a.m. Friday, May 19 two ethnomusicologists from UCLA, Stephen Loza and Danilo Lozano, will lecture and demonstrate "Latin American Pop Music."

The Friday afternoon lecture-concert, on "Concert Music in Latin America," will feature Dr. Raymond Torres-Santos as moderator, Dr. Campos Parsi and Aurileo de la Vega, whose work also will be performed during the festival.

The morning and afternoon programs, which are free, will also be in the Recital Hall.

Dr. Bostley, who is coordinating the festival, hopes to feature music from other countries or regions in the Americas in the future.

Chamber to Honor Koon, Jandt

Dr. Helene Koon (English) and Dr. Fred Jandt (Communication) will be honored Friday, May 12 at the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce's annual College Professors Honors Breakfast.

The event, which will be held at 7:30 a.m. at San Bernardino Valley College, also recognizes faculty from SBVC, Crafton Hills College and the University of Redlands. One business leader will be cited for support of education.

"Colleagues and others from the campus are invited to attend the event to help recognize our distinguished faculty and the honorees from the other campuses," said Cynthia Pringle (Public Information), who serves on the Chamber Board of Directors.

Reservations, at $10 per person, are to be made with the Chamber of Commerce office, 885-7515.

Dr. Koon, who has been with the university since 1970, is the campus' outstanding professor this year. Dr. Jandt came to Cal State in 1983 to establish the Department of Communication.

The business honoree, Edward Jacobsen, is a former member of the Board of Councillors, an advisory group for the School of Business and Public Administration and is active in the Chamber's Higher Education Committee.

J. A. Ralph Named Associate Librarian

Johnnie Ann Ralph, who served as acting library director from September until January, has been appointed associate university librarian.

Dr. William Aguilar, who arrived Jan. 1 to become university librarian, announced the appointment.

Ms. Ralph, a member of the library staff since 1971, assumes responsibilities for Materials Services, Patron Services and Access Services.

Dr. Detweiler Finalist for Presidency

Dr. Robert Detweiler, vice president for academic affairs, is one of five finalists for the presidency of Cal State, Dominguez Hills, the Chancellor's Office has announced.

The appointment of the president will be made by the CSU Board of Trustees at their meeting May 16.

The search drew the largest number of candidates for a presidency in recent years, said Caesar Naples, CSU vice chancellor for faculty and staff relations.

Dr. Detweiler came to the San Bernardino campus in 1985 as professor of history and vice president for academic affairs. He had been Dean of the School of Arts and Letters at San Diego State University.

Fulbright Received

Dr. Howard Frederick, assistant professor of communication here since last September, has received a Fulbright Fellowship to teach at the University of Salzburg in Austria next year.

He also will research regional broadcasting issues associated with Radio Free Europe in Munich, Germany.

Frederick had studied in Austria in 1965

as an exchange student from Indio High School.

In addition to teaching on campus and at Coachella Valley Center, Dr. Frederick is completing a textbook on International Communication in the Twenty-first Century.

Leadership Skills to be Explored

Training in leadership skills for college students will be the focus of the annual conference sponsored by the Student Life Office and the Associated Students, Inc., May 20.

Invitations have been extended to students from neighboring colleges. The program begins at 8 a.m. in the Student Union and concludes at 1:30 p.m. following lunch.

The conference is ideal for new club officers as well as seniors about to venture into the job market, said David Pavao (Student Life). Topics will include dealing with problem co-workers, leadership values and ethnics, negotiating skills, personal/group goal setting, practical public speaking and women in leadership roles.

Keynote speaker will be John Lightburn, Cal State alumnus and recent candidate for mayor, discussing the importance of developing leadership skills in college.

Students should register with the Student Life Office, SS 122, by May 17. The fee is $5.

Spring Enrollment

This quarter there are 9142 students on campus, according to census day figures from Registrar JoAnn Von Wald.

The figure represents a 14 percent increase over spring quarter a year ago and a drop of only 5.7 percent over the fall quarter high of 9694 students.

The full-time equivalent for spring quarter, 6840.5 FTE, is 15.4 percent greater than last spring.

Como se dice . . .

The Department of Foreign Languages will sponsor its fourth annual Spanish Pronunciation Contest Saturday, May 20.

More than 200 students from several area high schools will compete from 9 a.m. to noon in PS 10. Faculty and staff from the campus and high school Spanish teachers will judge the students at four levels (first, second, third, fourth and native-speaker categories).

Additional information is available from Dr. Daniel Whitaker (Foreign Languages) at Ext. 5855.

Family Recreation

Every Tuesday evening, from 6 to 8 o'clock, is Family Recreation Night in the gymnasium.

The Recreational Sports Department is sponsoring the open use of Physical Education Department facilities for the families of students, faculty and staff, says Joe Long (Recreational Sports).

Available facilities included the gym, weight room, swimming pool and tennis and racquetball courts. A certified life guard will be on duty at the pool and a member of the Rec Sports office will supervise the gym.

The Recreational Sports Department also is sponsoring open swimming at the gym pool from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m., Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; from noon to 5 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursday; and from noon to 4 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays.

A full schedule of other activities including intramural tennis, softball and volleyball is available from Long at Ext. 5235.

Student Cap and Gown Orders

Students may begin signing up for commencement caps and gowns Monday, May 15.

Instructions on the procedures to be followed in getting the appropriate regalia will be mailed to fall and winter quarter graduates next week by the Alumni Office. Candidates for degrees in spring and summer will receive their letters in mid-May.

Basically students come to the Alumni Affairs Office (a special table will be set up in the Administration Building lobby) to get the cards which authorize them to rent their gowns from the Bookstore.

Leading Futurist

The future in business and education will be predicted by a leading futurist, Dr. Willis Harman, in a talk at 7:30 p.m., Monday, May 8 in the Upper Commons.

Harman is president of the Institute of Noetic Sciences, which studies the nature and potential of the human mind, and earlier spent 16 years with the Stanford Research Institute as a senior social scientist.

Dr. Harman will share his research findings and discuss the changing relations between business and education, said Dr. Renate Caine, director of Cal State's Center for Applied Research in Integrative Learning, which is cosponsoring the talk.

A campus-wide reception honoring Dr. Harman will be held from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Upper Commons. He also will talk with School of Education faculty and local businessmen before the reception.

Man Ray's Owner to Speak

William Wegman, New York artist known for his whimsical portrayals of his dog, Man Ray, will speak at 8 p.m., Friday, May 12 in PS 10.

Wegman will show slides, paintings and drawings featuring his pet weimaraner and his short video classic, "Dog Baseball," which has been seen on Saturday Night Live.

"In Wegman's photographs and videos, the dogs take on human roles and characteristics and are placed in everyday situations," said Sant Khalsa (Art). Wegman's work is in major art museums.

Admission to the talk is free to Cal State students and employees and $4 for the public.

Cemetery in Gallery

Two artists' proposal for a cemetery "that honors the mystery of existence" is on display in Gallery II in the Visual Arts Building through May 21.

The exhibit of ink drawings, the work of Marc Bailey and Richard Pope, is titled "Memento Mori, Garden of Mystery and Remembrance."

"Each person leaves posterity a small monument after they die. It is usually made of highly polished stone, 2' x 3' in size, mounted flush with the lawn," they write.

"The park-like setting of the modern cemetery was an innovation of the 1840s; the straight suburban rows of uniform flat gravemarkers an innovation of the 1940s. What was originally intended to be a place for spiritual reflection has become a dehumanizing and sterile place. ...

"We propose a burial ground not to honor individual by individual but to honor the mystery of existence," the artists say.

Congratulations

The university extends best wishes to Kathy Edmonds (Physical Plant) and Stuart Tremayne on their marriage April 23 in the Rialto United Methodist Church. They are making their home in Rialto.

Sympathy

The university extends deepest sympathy to Mary Canedy (Psychology) on the death of her father, William Joseph Berger, March 25.
