KEEPING IT REAL

More than 900 Pieces of Hateful Evidence

"No one is born hating another person because of the color of his skin, or his background, or his religion. People must learn to hate, and if they can learn to hate, they can be taught to love, for love comes more naturally to the human heart than its opposite."

- Nelson Mandela

The same week FBI data showed hate crimes individuals/organizations. nationally reached a sixteen year high in Examples of his 2018, Americans received proof positive what most had suspected all along-that White House advisor and Trump's lizard-brain, Steven Miller, is a White nationalist and his extreme hatred is shaping the racist policies of this nation.

Whether separating immigrant children from their parents and caging them; holding asylum seekers in and placing them in cages; housing asylum seekers in overcrowded, unsanitary conditions; blocking all immigration from specific, predominantly Muslim countries; denving Temporary Protection Status (TPS) to primarily Blacks seeking safe-haven from hurricane ravaged island nations, etc.many Americans remain unconvinced of the President's penchant for White nationalism.

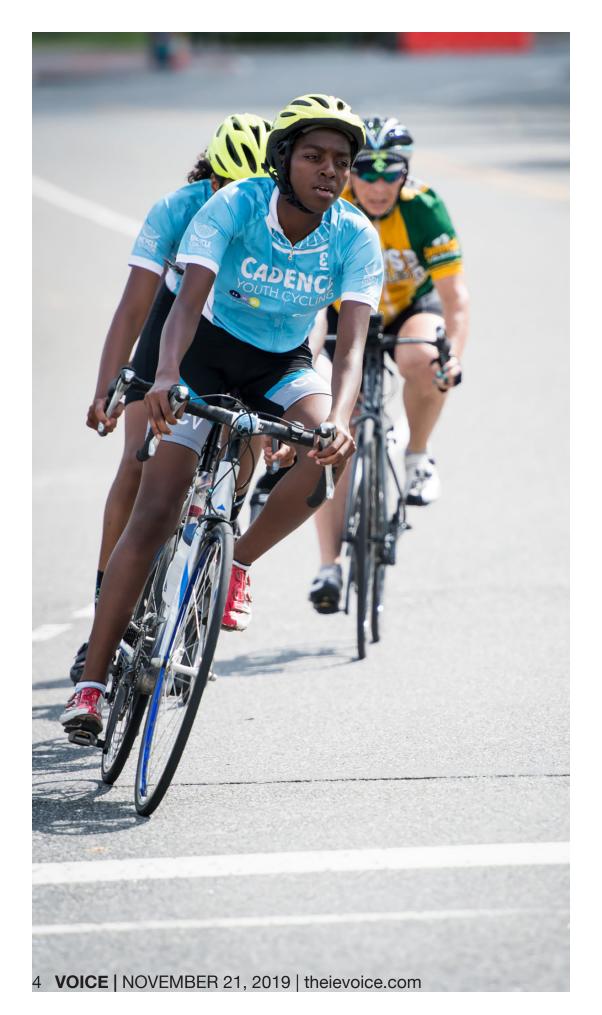

This week, proof of the hate mongering that undergirds too much of his policy came in the form of explicit emails, hundreds of them, obtained by the Southern Poverty Law Center under the Freedom of Information Act. Emails exchanged between one of the president's chief advisors, Steven Miller and other like-minded Examples of his farright propaganda was on full display in email exchanges between himself and the farright publication Breitbart News in 2015 and 2016 and in email exchanges with others.

What Miller promoted and/or gleaned in those exchanges would eventually serve as fodder for policy in the Trump era including such extreme ideas as setting arrest quotas for undocumented immigrants, banning immigration from many majority Muslim countries, and family separations at refugee resettlement centers that have taken on the aura of modern-day concentration camps.

Some reports have identified White nationalist websites; a White-genocide themed French novel titled, "The Camp of the Saints"; xenophobic conspiracy theories; and Hitler's American inspired eugenics-era immigration laws probably served as inspiration for Miller/Trump's own infamous eugenics-era immigration policies. NEWS BRIEF

Youth Cycling Association

San Bernardino, CA – The newly launched Youth Cycling Association (YCA)—rooted in sportsmanship, athleticism, and community—is working to change the narrative of cycling from an exclusive club to an inclusive experience for people of all backgrounds, abilities and cultures.

YCA is leveraging resources at various levels for kids and teens ages 6-18 nationwide to cycle competitively and noncompetitively. In the process it teaches crucial life skills while also intentionally addressing the historic disparities in gender as well as inclusion for those who are lower income, people of color, or people with disabilities.

The strong expertise and experience of the organization's founder Level 1 USA Cycling coach Sean Wilson, Ph.D., allows the organization access to key resources and provides the means to support and implement programs that will aid the growth of youth members of the organization.

To register, visit YCAcycling.com to start a Youth Cycling program in your community, district, or to align your existing club.

Senator Holly Mitchell to Speak at St. Paul AME's Caregiver Recognition Service

n Sunday, November 24, 2019 California Senator Holly Mitchell will be the morning speaker at the Caregiver Recognition Service at St. Paul AME Church, 1355 W. 21st Street in San Bernardino. The presentation will begin at 10:00 a.m.

November is National Caregiver Month and Mitchell, who has been a champion for Older Adults, was responsible for soliciting a $30 million budget request in support of the eleven Caregiver Resource Centers around the state whose budgets were cut during the economic downturn of 2008. In addition, Mitchell successfully authored legislation to increase the monthly allotment for SSI/SSP recipients.

An average of 1,000 people turn 65 every day in California and many of them will need help with the Activities of Daily Living (ADL). Many seniors must rely on family members and friends to assist them. In some instances, a family caregiver may even be forced to quit his/her job to care for a loved one, substantially altering their lives. Family Caregivers are the unsung heroes of this nation and their efforts save the government about $470 billion or more per year.

BOA Names Neighborhood Builders® Award Winners in the Inland Region

wo Inland Empire organizations were recently named as recipients of the 2019 Bank of America Neighborhood Builders® award.

The nonprofits, Habitat for Humanity Riverside and OneFuture Coachella Valley, were selected for their work addressing affordable housing and college and career attainment for low-income households.

Each of the organizations will receive a $200,000 grant, leadership training for the executive director and an emerging leader at the organization, a network of peer organizations across the U.S., and the opportunity to access capital to expand their impact.

Habitat for Humanity Riverside is dedicated to building and preserving housing for lowincome and very low-income families that is not only affordable, but also sustainable.

the college-aged children from Habitat for Humanity Riverside families have gone on to college, and 100 percent of those are the first in their family to attend college. That is a direct impact of a family not having to spend more than 50 percent of their income on housing costs.

Neighborhood Builder funds will go to help manage several building projects over the next few years, including a new "cottage home" (a 400 sq. ft. home) project in collaboration with the City of Riverside, that once completed, is set to give 10-20 currently homeless individuals permanent supportive housing, and a project in collaboration with CalVet that consists of a 26 homes for low-income veterans.

OneFuture Coachella Valley drives a regional collaborative that offers a strategic approach to college access for low-income households by aligning education, workforce and economic Data shows that more than 85 percent of development efforts to help Coachella Valley's

K-12 and college-age students access to careers, internships, college scholarships, and college pathways.

Since 2009, OneFuture Coachella Valley and its regional partners have awarded more than $15 million in scholarships to 2327 students. Funds from the Neighborhood Builder grant will allow OneFuture Coachella Valley to expand its Regional Plan for College and Career Success continued on page 17 ake a moment during the start of your holiday festivities to stop doing and just notice what is happening all around you. Watch your family as an observer; what do you see? When we stop scurrying around in host (or guest) mode, we can absorb our blessings: family, friends, a nice home, good food, our health, a break from work, laughter and more. When you stop to pay attention, we enjoy the holidays more fully and create vivid memories.

Happy Thanksgiving: Take a moment to be Thankful

It goes without saving, something most Americans are NOT thankful for on this Thanksgiving holiday is the state of the country's political discourse, with 86 percent of the public having a negative view of it according to recent national polls. More than half of Americans who say they celebrate Thanksgiving are dreading talking about politics at their Thanksgiving dinner. Here's a tip, pass the sweet potatoes, hold the politics.

During the season of "thanks," when many are focusing on their blessings, it is tough; Thanksgiving is a time for family. It's the one time every year that you get to eat grandma's famous stuffing, see your cousins, the one time when three platefuls of food is actually a reasonable amount.

But many Americans are apprehensive about Thanksgiving. The polarizing politics divides, especially in our friendships and families. It's easy to avoid people who don't share the same political beliefs, except when it's the holiday season, and those people are family members.

NOTICE INVITING BIDS Cultural Brokers/Consultants RFP #MHARC-248

Behavioral Health

Coretta Scott King once said, "The greatness of a community is most accurately measured by compassionate actions of its members." Are you someone who is a leader/advocate that is passionate about mental health and eager to network with stakeholders to delive healthy, cultural, and ethnically tailored services to your community? Then we want you! The County of Riverside Purchasing Department on behalf of Riverside University Health System-Behavioral Health (RUHS-BH) is seeking proposals from ethnic and cultural leaders that represent identified underserved populations within the County to serve as cultural brokers/consultants for RUHS-BH in order to provide linkage to those identified populations.

The County of Riverside Purchasing Department, on behalf of Riverside University Health System- Behavioral Health, (RUHS-BH) is pleased to announce that RFP #MHARC-248 Prevention and Early Intervention (PEI) Cultural Brokers/Consultants has been released and is available for review on the Public Purchase website at: www. publicpurchase.com.

RUHS-BH is seeking proposals from private non-profit and for-profit community organizations, faith based organizations, and culturally based organizations, interested in contracting with RUHS-BH to provide PEI services that are ethnically and culturally focused on the African-American, Asian-American, Native American, Deaf and Hard of Hearing and LGBTQ communities. Services will be implemented countywide in the three major geographical areas; Western, Mid-County and Desert/Eastern Regions DEADLINES:

Nov. 21, 2019, 1:30pm, Pre-Bid Meeting (not mandatory), Rustin Conference

Jan. 16, 2020, no later than 1:30pm, Submission of Proposals

The Cultural Competency Program (CCP) receives funding through PEI in order to provide effective, equitable, understandable, and respectful quality of care and services that are responsive to diverse cultural health beliefs and practices, preferred languages, health literacy, and other communication needs. The primary goals of the broker/consultant will be to: (1) to create a welcoming and transparent partnership with community based organizations and community inform the community about behavioral health services to reduce disparity in access to services for behavioral health challenges, recovery, and wellness. The proposed services must be designed to serve the targeted areas and populations identified

California's Transition to Upgraded WIC Process is Rolling Across the State–I.E. Among Last to Convert Sacramento

The federal Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Supplemental the cards will also encourage more participation from people who need 45 years in changing.

Since the program's inception in 1974, recipients have dealt with a very cumbersome paper voucher that is difficult for them to use and awkward to process for the stores where they redeem them.

California's more than one million WIC recipients are now in the process of being transitioned to a modernized version of the plan that uses cards instead of the old paper voucher system.

California is one of the last states in the nation to transition to the mechanized process. The upgraded program is designed to achieve several objectives. (1) It will make the benefit process more efficient, easier to use and as a result, possibly less costly to administer. (2) It will be less embarrassing for those who rely on the program. (3) It is hoped

Nutrition Program which has helped feed millions of Californians for the help and at the same time encourage more retailers to accept WIC payments.

Switching from paper vouchers to plastic cards should also go a long way toward making the program more efficient. The voucher system currently requires participants to purchase all the items listed on the vouchers in specific amounts during a single shopping trip-even perishable items like milk, eggs, etc. that might expire before used or difficult to store if the family has a small sized refrigerator. With the new process, parents can purchase items as they need them, and the balance remains or the card for use later.

The paper system has other weak spots. For example, recipients cannot carry over balances from previous months, with the new system they can.

Curt Hagman Charged with 3 Violations of SB County's Campaign Finance Ordinance

urt Hagman currently serves as Chair of the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors. He was elected to the Board representing the county's Fourth District in November 2014 and re-elected in 2018.

Hagman, and John Fugatt who served as treasurer of his 2014 and 2018 Campaign Committees from November 17, 2014 to mid-March 2017, were recently investigated by California's Fair Political Practices Commission (FPPC).

As a result, the FPPC under its authority as civil prosecutor for violations of San Bernardino's County's campaign ordinance, has filed a complaint against Hagman and Fugatt for violating the county's Campaign Finance Ordinance.

The San Bernardino Campaign Finance Ordinance prohibits committees, candidates, and treasurers from post-election fundraising when the committee's cash balance exceeds its net debts.

The Act requires candidate-controlled committees, candidates, and treasurers to make expenditures only from a bank account designed for the campaign. The Act also requires committees, and candidates, to maintain appropriate campaign records.

According to FPPC Chief of Enforcement Galena West, "The 2014 Committee, Hagman, and Fugatt violated the San Bernardino Ordinance by raising post-election campaign funds in excess of their outstanding debts."

The Act is designed to promote transparency by ensuring that receipts and expenditures in election campaigns are "fully and truthfully disclosed" so that voters are fully informed and improper practices are constrained and as a result, the Act includes a comprehensive campaign reporting system.

The FPPC detailed that on an amended semiannual campaign statement filed by Hagman for the period ending December 31, 2014, he and Fugatt disclosed $591,684 in contributions received, and $585,741 in expenditures made during the 2014 calendar year.

The total unpaid bills were reported as $52,200 and the Campaign Committee's ending cash balance was reported as $61,193. In other words, the available cash balance was sufficient to resolve the Committee's outstanding debts by the end of December 2014.

Despite this, the 2014 Committee, Hagman, and Fugatt continued to collect contributions after the close of the December 2014 reporting period. According to West, the campaign received 39 contributions totaling $63,700 between January 1, 2015 and March 30, 2015.

Two years later in early December 2016, Hagman (and Fugatt) filed an amendment removing the $63,700 in contributions that it had previously reported as 2014 campaign activity and stating the contributions were in fact for the 2018 Committee. Interestingly, they also removed expenditures totaling $36,209 that were previously disclosed as 2014 Committee activity.

West noted that on the very same day of the above amendment, Hagman (and Fugatt) amended the semi-annual campaign statement for the period ending December 31, 2015 to exclude expenditures totaling approximately $38,759 that had previously been reported as 2014 Committee activity.

According to West, "Hagman, and Fugatt explained that the amendments were filed to exclude 2018 Committee's activity for both the contributions and the expenditures." Included with the amendment was a detailed list of the expenditures the Hagman 2018 Committee made through the 2014 Committee's bank account, which totaled $79,126.

The 2018 Committee, Hagman, and Fugatt failed to maintain invoices and/or receipts for approximately 38 percent of the campaign expenditures made through the 2014 Committee's campaign bank account, which totaled approximately $34,382. The expenditures without adequate documentation consisted of payments for campaign worker's salaries, polling, travel, campaign literature, fundraisers, civic donations, office expenses, and meetings/appearances.

West stated Hagman (and Fugatt) violated three sections of the county's Campaign Finance Ordinance. They include (1) A violation of Post-

San Bernardino Sheriffs Partner with Amazon's Ring Raising Privacy Concerns

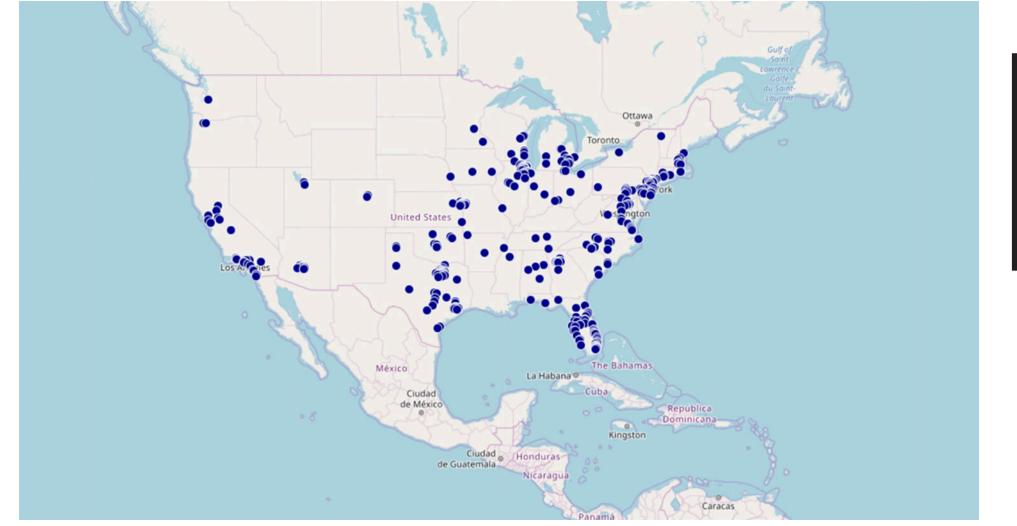

S.E. Williams Contributor

ast week the San Bernardino County Sheriffs Department announced it is partnering with Amazon's Ring and the Neighbors App to share both information and video.

"Detectives and station personnel from across the county are able to receive information and interact with residents through the app. Customers with a Ring camera will be able to share videos with their local Sheriff's station," shared San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert Lovingood.

FEATUR

Map of Amazon Ring partnerships in the U>S.

Of course, residential users of the technology must opt in to allow law enforcement to access their video and still images.

Ring is Amazon's very popular version of a home security system being deployed by people across the county. It's convenient, easy to install and just as easy to use.

A simple explanation of how it works is when someone rings your doorbell, he/she quickly appears on camera allowing those inside the house to see right away who is at their door. Yet, it is so much more than that. A press release about the product states it allows users to monitor neighborhood activity, share crime and safety-related videos, photos and text-based posts. Users can also receive realtime safety alerts from their neighbors, local law enforcement and the Ring team.

"Detectives and station personnel from across the county are able to receive information and interact with residents through the app."

- SB County Supervisor Robert Lovingood

Users who opt to partner with the Sheriff's Department can decide whether they want to share their information, including videos and pictures with law enforcement.

Which sheriff department location you share your information with will depend on your zip code according to Sheriff Department Spokesperson Jodi Miller. During a recent interview with KESQ Miller advised, "The [Ring/Neighbors APP] accounts are not monitored 24/7. So, it is not meant to replace any form of traditional crime reporting. It's just another tool."

Individuals who do not own the Ring product can still download, log into the Neighbors App, and see what is happening near them.

"The Neighbors App connects

"It was terribly dangerous to let your thoughts wander when you were in a public place or within range of a telescreen. The smallest thing could give you away. A nervous tic, an unconscious look of anxiety, a habit of muttering to yourself...anything that carried with it the suggestion of abnormality, of having something to hide. In any case, to wear an improper expression on your face was itself a punishable offense."

communities with the goal of creating safer and stronger neighborhoods and one of the benefits is you do not need to own a Ring device to use the app," Lovingood stressed. Some, however, are not so sure.

Hundreds of police agencies across the country have already formed Ring/Neighbors App partnerships and are using the technology while hundreds of other agencies consider following suit. Many citizens welcome this tool, but others are skeptical.

Police agencies have such a well-documented history of abuse causing many to see this as a chilling proposition because it provides a potential opportunity for the development of a nationwide surveillance network using Ring as a platform. This not only raises alarm bells about privacy, some experts believe it is also conducive to the "blurring of police departments with corporations."

The Electronic Frontier Foundation (EFF), an international nonprofit organization that works to protect civil liberties in the digital world, has called Ring, "a perfect storm of privacy threats."

EFF wrote, "By sending photos and alerts every time the camera detects motion, or someone rings the doorbell, the app can create an illusion of a household under siege. It turns what seems like a perfectly safe neighborhood into a source of anxiety and fear."

A report by EFF's Matthew Guariglia noted, "This raises the question: Do you really need Ring, or have Amazon and the police the Neighbors App visit: https://ring.com or https://shop.ring.com/ misled you into thinking that you do?"

EFF alleges that Ring is partnering with police departments across the country to "hawk" the system further noting in some instances it has gone so far as to draft press statements and social media posts for police to promote Ring cameras.

EFF believes this creates a cycle in which "police promote the adoption of Ring, Ring terrifies people into thinking their homes are in danger, and then Amazon sells more cameras."

Police agencies in places like Los Angeles, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Kansas City and Phoenix have partnered with Amazon and already use the technology. In the inland region, the Desert Hot Springs Police agency adopted Ring in March 2019 and the Indio Police Department is considering implementation.

The use of neighborhood watch technology is on the rise in America despite the fact statistics show crime in the country has been declining for several decades. Yet, people continue to perceive that crime and danger in their communities warrant hyper-vigilance despite what the data shows and vendors create products in response to such fears.

Inland Empire Will Be Home to America's First Hydrogen-Powered Train San Bernarding

ast week the San Bernardino County Transportation Authority (SBCTA) signed a contract with Stadler U.S Inc. and in the process paved the way for America's first hydrogenpowered passenger train to operate in America.

Stadler is an international rail vehicle construction company headquartered in Eastern Switzerland. The agreement is considered a major milestone as it will bring zero-emission passenger rail technology to the United States.

The hydrogen-powered FLIRT H2 vehicle is scheduled to be introduced sometime during 2024 as part of the Redlands Passenger Rail Project—a nine-mile connector between Redlands and San Bernardino's Metrolink station.

The Stadler vehicle will consists of two cars with a power pack in between to hold the fuel cells and hydrogen tanks. The train will have seating to accommodate up to 108 passengers in addition to generous standing room. It is expected to transport passengers at a maximum speed of up to 79 mph. The FLIRT H2 will be delivered in 2023 and as noted above, is expected to enter passenger service sometime in 2024.

Commenting on San Bernardino being home to the nation's first hydrogen-powered passenger train SBCTA President Darcy McNaboe said, "Implementing innovative solutions like this first-of-its-kind passenger train is an excellent example of how we are demonstrating our commitment to the next generation in San Bernardino County. The hydrogen FLIRT will help us address the commuting needs of today while preserving our environment for a better tomorrow."

The CEO of Stadler US Inc. Martin Ritter talked about his organization's commitment to designing and building green technology for the transportation industry. "We are delighted that SBCTA shares our enthusiasm for this goal. We have an excellent relationship with SBCTA, and it is a great honor to partner with them to bring the first hydrogen-powered train to the United States."

SBCTA began its partnership with Stadler in 2017 when it ordered three diesel-electric multiple unit (DMU) FLIRT for the future Arrow Passenger Rail Service that will eventually run between Redlands and San Bernardino which will connect the entire Metrolink system at the San Bernardino Transit Center.

Nothing to Brag About

Riverside

A lmost half (47 percent) of all unsheltered homeless people in the country are found here in California—about four times as high as the state's share of the overall U.S. population according to the recently released, "State of Homelessness in America" (SHA) report published by the Council of Economic Advisers to the Executive Office of the President of the United States.

Also, according to the report, among the five cities in the nation with the highest rates of unsheltered homelessness, four are in California. They include San Francisco, Los Angeles, Santa Rosa, and San Jose.

Researchers acknowledged more tolerable conditions for sleeping on the streets such as warmer weather increases homelessness. "We show that warmer places are more likely to have higher rates of unsheltered homelessness," they noted and continued. "[B]ut, rates are nonetheless low in some warm places. For example, Florida and Arizona have unsheltered homeless populations lower than what would be expected given the temperatures, home prices and poverty rates in their communities."

The unsheltered homeless population is over twice as large as expected given the temperatures, home prices and poverty rates in states like California, Hawaii, Nevada, Oregon, and Washington State. The report speculated policies such as the extent of policing of street activities may play a role in these differences.

The report however also acknowledged that despite the current number of unsheltered people in California, the state has experienced large declines in unsheltered family homelessness between the years 2010 and 2018—unsheltered family homelessness fell by 48 percent or 3,773 people during this period.

California declared a homeless state of emergency during this period, however the number of unsheltered homeless individuals in the state increased by 32 percent. "It is unclear what factors would have driven such large reductions in counts of unsheltered family homelessness without also removing substantial numbers of individuals from the street," the report noted.

According to the SHA, when housing prices rise, economic theory predicts that more people will have difficulty paying rent, and in some cases, end up homeless. A large body of academic literature confirms that higher home prices are indeed associated with higher rates of homelessness.

A CNBC Markets report rated California number two (behind Hawaii) among America's ten most expensive states to live.

2.0, with an emphasis on college readiness, financial aid literacy and employer engagement to reach more students.

Each of these organizations in their own way are making essential contributions to the community. Despite today's strong economy, more people are getting priced out of housing in the Inland Empire and the poverty rate has increased. In the Coachella Valley for example, 22 percent of residents earn less than poverty level – far exceeding the state average of 13 percent – and the average salary is at least $30,000 less without a college degree.

A recent study by the Brookings Institute stressed the need for greater job diversification that pays higher wages in the Inland Empire. The study found no less than 54 percent of the region's jobs are "neither good nor promising, meaning they provide insufficient pay or benefits and no viable career pathway to good jobs."

Al Arguello, market president for the Inland Empire, Bank of America seemed to echo the Brookings Institute study's findings. "While the region has seen tremendous economic progress, the affordability gap and education gap have resulted in more people struggling to get out of poverty, even when many of them have jobs," he stated and continued. "But, through strategic philanthropic investments like Neighborhood Builders, high impact nonprofit organizations like Habitat for Humanity Riverside and OneFuture Coachella Valley have the power to lift more people out of poverty and onto a path of financial sustainability,"

Bank of America Neighborhood Builders® is the largest corporate philanthropic investment in nonprofit leadership in the country.

Over the past 15 years, it has invested $240 million in 49 communities through Neighborhood Builders, partnering with more than 1,000 nonprofits and helping more than 2,000 nonprofit leaders strengthen their leadership skills. The invitation-only program is highly competitive, with winners selected by local community leaders.

nearly 900 Miller associated emails were either related to or on threads related to the subjects of race and/or immigration.

In the meantime, as Trump sycophants struggle to shield him from impeachment and another of his "clown car" loyalists, Roger Stone, is found guilty of seven felonies in federal court, hate fueled incidents have continued to increase across the nation.

People are being insulted, threatened, brutalized and in some instances, murdered because of their race, religion, ethnicity, national origin or sexual preference. It is getting harder to deny many of those who perpetrate such violence are not being influenced and emboldened by the ideology of the American president as clearly evidenced in his policies.

The hate crimes report released Tuesday November 12, 2019 showed that while crimes against property were down, among the 7,120 incidents nationally classified as hate-inspired, 61 percent of those reports involved assaults against people. As disturbing as this is, it is important to keep in mind that experts believe nearly half of all hate crime victims never file a report—so in reality, these numbers are much higher.

Once again in 2018, among hate crimes fueled by racism, Blacks continue to be the most frequently targeted group. Although hate crimes against Latinos rose 13 percent over 2017, they have increased a total of 48 percent over the last five years.

Among religious groups, anti-Muslim incidents accounted for 15 percent of religious

All Caregivers in the community are invited to attend this year's Caregiver Recognition Service to, "worship, thank God and enjoy the recognition."

St. Paul AME's pastor, Rev. Steven Shepard invites the community to come out for an entire weekend of celebration beginning with annual Share N' Care and Open House Festival on Saturday, November 23, 2019 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be free food, medical supplies and other give aways as well as Flu shots, glucose testing, HIV testing, blood pressure and information from Borrego Health Clinics.

motivated acts and anti-Sikh attacks tripled over the previous year. In the meantime, anti-Semitism homicides in this country reached their highest level ever as a result of the massacre at the Tree of Life massacre near San Diego.

Even with the lack of consistency regarding how various states track this important data, it is alarming and hard to ignore the nexus between the attitude and policies of the current administration and the threat under which many people of color, religious minorities and members of the LGBTQ communities face on a daily basis in this country.

As Trump is more and more threatened by the prospect of impeachment, as the walls begin to fall around him, as he begins to throw his partners in crime under the bus, and others around him scramble to save their own hides the need for extreme vigilance is warranted. He will not give up power gracefully. Nor, will he go quietly into that good night.

For those who continue to give him the benefit of the doubt, I quote the words of a King... "Truth crushed to earth will rise again." "No lie can live forever." And, "The moral arc of the universe is long...but it bends toward justice."

As the impeachment inquiry moves forward, I believe it is more important than ever for all Americans, regardless of their political affiliation, to be supportive of this quest for truth.

Of course, this is just my opinion. I'm keeping it real.

If paper vouchers are lost or stolen, they cannot be replaced. The plastic cards are pin protected so if a card is lost it can be replaced.

Another challenge with the paper voucher system is that a parent/guardian receives a separate set of vouchers for each child. So, if a mom has two to three children it makes going through the check-out line at the store a lengthy, cumbersome and at times, embarrassing. Under the new process each family will receive one WIC Card for all their family's food benefits.

California launched a pilot of the new card on June 3, 2019 in Solano and Napa Counties. In September, the state began rolling out the new WIC card in 10 waves. Each wave is scheduled to launch three weeks following the launch of the previous wave.

San Bernardino WIC recipients are scheduled to transition in Wave 8 that will not go live until February 18, 2020. While Riverside County will be last in the state to make the transition in Wave 10 that will not go live until March 30, 2020.

It's been nearly ten years since congress, under the Obama administration, mandated mechanization of the WIC program. California is getting in just under the wire as the deadline for implementation is 2020.

Eligibility for WIC is determined based on pretax annual income. For example, a family of two with a pretax annual income of $31,284 a year is eligible, as is a family of five with a pretax annual income of $55,815 or less. Citizenship or immigration status is not assessed during the application process.

Those who qualify under WIC are also qualified under the separately administered Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP).

Visit https://www.cdph.ca.gov/Programs/ CFH/DWICSN/Pages/WICCard.aspx to learn more about California's transition to the new WIC card or the WIC program in general including whether you qualify and/or how to apply for the program.

Election Fundraising Restrictions by receiving 39 contributions totaling $63,700 during the post-election period beginning on or around January 1, 2015 and ending on or around March 15, 2015; (2) One Bank Account Violation by making a total of $79,126 in expenditures from a bank account other than the one designated for 2018 campaign activity beginning in January of 2015 and ending in December of 2015; (3) Failure to Maintain Campaign Records by failing to maintain complete campaign records for expenditures totaling $34,382.39 beginning in January of 2015 and ending in December of 2015. The FPPC has recommended a total fine for these violations of $10,000.

In an email statement to the SCNG, Hagman appeared to place all blame for the violations on Fugatt. His spokesperson Katherine Kolcheva wrote, "Our former treasurer made some unintentional technical mistakes and the campaign committee, upon realizing those errors moved to correct them," adding, "Hagman will pay the fine."

The FPPC is expected to consider a settlement with Hagman and Fugatt on Thursday, November 21, 2019.

What if you don't want to talk politics with Uncle Bill? What if you're worried about the opposing views of Aunt Judy and Grandpa Mike? How do you avoid turning a family atmosphere into a hostile one?

Work out a 'keep the peace' game plan. After all, these aren't strangers. They're family. You know who might bring up the election, or whose political views you don't agree with. So prepare. It also wouldn't hurt to have another debate topic, like a new baby, pending wedding, or graduation.

If talking about politics always leads to a screaming match or hurt feelings, then avoid it. Don't talk about it. Set some ground rules. If talking about the election is unavoidable, then set a time and place. The backyard is fair game. So is the living room, but not the dinner table? Take a moment to be thankful.
