A Cruel and Unusual President

"It's been a long, long time coming, but I know a change is gonna come . . . "

n May 2018 The IE Voice reported on Hunger in the Inland Region and not much has changed in this regard since that time.

The nonprofit organization Feeding America reported in August 2019, more than 400,000 people in the Inland Empire struggle with hunger and may not know where they'll find their next meal. Sadly, that number includes one in five local children who may only get meals through the free or reduced lunch programs at their schools.

Last week we learned the Trump administration had finalized a long-threatened rule to cut food stamps to more than 680,000 American adults by forcing states to adhere to federally established work requirements.

According to the administration, the rule which becomes effective in April 2020, is expected to save approximately $5.5 billion dollars over five years.

Under current law able-bodied adults without dependents who work less than 80 hours a month or who participate in certain training or volunteering activities qualify for three months of food stamps every three years. However, states/counties are currently able to wave those limits based on certain factors including high unemployment. Such waivers are in place today in six Northern California counties through August 2020.

The administration's new rule will make it difficult to implement the waiver as it sets a minimum unemployment rate of six percent and would also require approval of the governor.

The California Association of Food Banks estimates more than 700,000 Californian's than 700,000 Californian's will be impacted by the new rule and this is only the beginning. Although this rule only impacts adults without children, the administration has two other rule changes waiting in the wings. When implemented they are expected to add to the food insecurity of approximately 3.7 million Americans.

In the meantime, as the president works to starve needy Americans, he has personally squandered millions of tax-payer dollars self-dealing by steering government business to his personal properties to enrich himself and his progeny, while his rogue cast of administrative enablers have facilitated more taxpayer fraud than can fill a bookkeeper's ledger.

Sadly, the president's rules regarding food support is not surprising. His cruelty seems boundless whether it's locking children in cages, continued on page 18

Moving Beyond Global Warming: It's Getting Hotter... and Hotter and Hotter

Riverside, CA – The world not only just lived through the hottest five-year period in recorded history—2015 through 2019; and the hottest decade on record—2010 through 2019 according to information provided by the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) on Tuesday, December 3, 2019. The perilous evolution of the earth's warming temperatures was further emphasized when the agency stated, "Since the 1980s, each successive decade has been warmer than the last."

This year most parts of the world temperatures were hotter than average even in the Artic. In building its report the agency considered data from a variety of sources including national weather agencies, research organizations, and also highlighted the impacts of climate change including declining sea ice and rising sea levels. The greenhouse gases—largely responsible for global warming—resulting from concentrations of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere, reached a record high in 2018 and continues to rise.

New City Councilmembers to Reconsider Tax Breaks for Millionaire Owners of the Mission Inn

Riverside

A cross the country cash-strapped municipalities continue committing hard-earned taxpayer dollars to support the business enterprises of millionaires and billionaires; and inland area municipalities are no exception to this practice.

Consider the millions of dollars in tax breaks given to companies like Amazon and others in order to attract low-waged warehouse jobs to the area, and more recently, the $12 million over 20 years pledged to the millionaire owners of the Mission Inn Hotel and Spa in Riverside to support the annual Festival of Lights.

The pending long-term commitment to the Mission Inn was authorized by the city council with four of the seven members serving as lame ducks. The council appears to have based its decision on a report which pointed to approximately $130 million in revenue generated by the Festival during the 2017-18 holiday season which the report said benefited Riverside area businesses.

In the meantime, there are reports of growing concerns over the city's ability to remain solvent in the coming years without cutting expenses. At the same time, homelessness, high rental rates, proposed federal cuts to food assistance programs should press the city's representatives to uul Labs Inc., voluntarily stopped the sale of mint-flavored e-cigarettes refill pods citing data on the flavors' popularity among teens.

Vaping Bans Ignore Health Effects of Menthol Cigarettes in Black Communities

Earlier, Donald Trump resurrected a complicated, years-old debate over tobacco regulation, racial equity and health when he proposed a ban on flavored e-cigarettes excluding mint and menthol flavored options.

Menthol cigarettes are hugely popular among African Americans, 47,000 of whom die every year of smoking-related causes. But unlike the alarm over underage use of e-cigarettes — fueled in large part by the popularity of Juul among white, middle-class teenagers — The U.S. refuses to treat the devastating health effects of menthol cigarettes on the Black community as a crisis.

Menthol cigarettes, which were invented in the 1920's, were promoted as healthier than regular cigarettes, despite being more dangerous, health experts say.

If it seems like most smokers in Black communities smoke menthol cigarettes, it's not a coincidence. For decades, the tobacco industry peddled menthol cigarettes to Black consumers through billboards, TV ads and magazines like Jet and Ebony, with African Americans smoking under slogans such as, "Alive with pleasure!"

Tobacco companies also bought good will by sponsoring high-profile athletic and cultural events and contributing to Black politicians and organizations, including members of the Congressional Black Caucus and the group's foundation — contributions that critics say made Black lawmakers more likely to support industry positions.

Their marketing has worked. In the U.S., nearly nine out of 10 Black smokers aged 12 years and older prefer menthol cigarettes. In fact, African-American cigarette smokers are nearly 11 times more likely to use menthol cigarettes than white smokers.

According to the U.S. Centers for Disease and Control and Prevention (CDC), Menthol makes cigarette smoking easier to start and harder to quit. Menthol flavoring allows the lungs to expand further, and allows more of the toxic and cancer-causing chemicals in cigarette smoke to be absorbed into the body, which can lead to addiction, disease and death.

In October, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors unanimously voted to adopt an ordinance banning flavored tobacco products, including menthol, and to call on California Gov. Gavin Newsom to pass a statewide ban on vaping, amid growing concerns over vaping-related

Education and Job Recruitment Forum for Census 2020 Held in Perris

Marla Matime Contributor

On Saturday, November 23rd, The City of Perris partnered with the Office of Senator Richard D. Roth, the Office of Assemblymember Jose Medina, NALEO Education Fund, and Family Service Association, to provide education, resources and tools about the 2020 Census.

Recruiters for the 2020 Census were also in attendance to take applications of potential candidates on the spot. Some of the questions raised by participants were related to the hiring process and how long it would take for them to hear something once their applications were submitted. The average time for a call back has been about three to five months; however, since things are now moving at a faster pace and workers are needed on the ground sooner, call backs are now taking place a bit faster.

The program opened with a performance by the TODEC Legal Center Ballet Folkorico group. Attendees visited booths from Sigma Zeta XI, Youth and Family Services, TODEC Legal Center, and NALEO's Hagase Contar, just to name a few.

The forum provided an opportunity for individuals who were, continued on page 17

California Republican Duncan Hunter Pleads Guilty

S.E. Williams Contributor

n the running list of political scandals that continue to plague the nation at the federal, state and local levels, one California Republican politician has finally pled guilty to charges stemming from his misuse of campaign funds to cover expenses for himself, his family and his lovers.

Last week U.S. House Representative Duncan Hunter who represents California's 50th congressional district which includes part of Riverside County, admitted his guilt.

Hunter, a six-term Republican spent a year wasting tax- payer dollars fighting charges even though he knew he was guilty. He persevered in his position even after his own wife admitted her guilt in the scheme and pledged to testify against him.

According to federal prosecutors, Hunter and his wife Margaret spent more than a quarter of a million dollars in campaign funds for golf excursions, family vacations to places like Italy and Hawaii; miscellaneous items including airline tickets for their pet rabbit; and D. Hunter also used some of the money to pay for excursions with his lovers. Prosecutors allege included among them were lobbyists and congressional aides.

During an interview following his court hearing Hunter said he is willing to go to jail. It's a good thing because it is almost certain, he will. As with most white-collar criminals, however, his sentence will probably be light despite the fact he faces a possible five-year prison sentence and a $250,000 fine. He will be sentenced March 17, 2020.

Hunter along with New York representative Chris Collins were President Trump's earliest supporters in the U.S. House of Representatives. In early October Collins pled guilty to insidertrading charges.

Hunter had planned to seek another term especially since he was reelected by a comfortable margin in 2018 despite being under indictment however, he resigned Friday, November 6. This brought an end to a Republican family dynasty. When Hunter was first elected in 2008, he filled a seat on the heels of his father who had held it for 28 years.

Although California Governor Gavin Newsom has yet to set a date for a special election, several candidates have already expressed interest in vying for the seat including three Republicans and one Democrat.

With all Hunters' years of experience in the political arena, the best explanation he could offer for his actions following his guilty plea was, "I failed to monitor and account for my campaign spending," he said. "I made mistakes and that's what today was all about." He offered no public apology to the campaign donors who unknowingly funded his folly.

DOJ Files Suit Against City of Hesperia and San Bernardino County Sheriffs for Housing Discrimination

ast week U.S. Attorney General Williams Barr mouthed a veiled threat to communities of color who dared to raise their voices against the historic and unrelenting injustice across the country by rogue police and those who believe they are somehow above the law.

"I think today," he began, "American people have to focus on something else which is the sacrifice and the service that is given by our law enforcement officers. And, they have to start showing more than they do, [in relation to] the respect and support that law enforcement deserves. And, if communities don't give that support and respect, they might find themselves without the police protection they need."

Black and Brown residents in the City of Hesperia may wish to take issue with Barr's threat and instead challenge him regarding the purported failure of "sacrifice and service" on behalf of officers in their community when they were repeatedly and systematically denied the protections they are entitled to by the officers sworn to protect them.

Afterall, it was Barr's own Justice Department on December 2, 2019 who filed suit against the City of Hesperia, the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department and the County of San Bernardino for allegedly failing to enforce the Fair Housing provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1968.

The suit claimed, "[These entities] separately and collectively have engaged in a pattern or practice of discrimination against residents and prospective residents of Hesperia because of race and national origin." The lawsuit raised real concerns about a municipality being complicit with the sheriff's department to leverage their power and authority to intimidate and stress minority members of the community who are already historically subjected to disparate treatment by police.

The actions were planned and systematic. Although Hesperia's Assistant City Manager Rachel Molina told The IE Voice/Black Voice News, "The information in the DOJ press release is factually incorrect and grossly misleading," consider the following as detailed by the DOJ.

On November17, 2015 Hesperia-with substantial support from the San Bernardino County Sheriffs' Department, which is contracted to provide the city's police services, enacted Ordinance 2015-12, entitled "An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Hesperia, California, Requiring the Registration and Regulation of Housing Rental Businesses for Crime Free Rental Housing." The ordinance went into effect on January 1, 2016 and remained in effect until about July 18, 2017.

The ordinance mandated rental property owners evict their tenants if the Sheriffs' Department (Department) notified them, the tenant(s) had engaged in any purported criminal activity on or near the property. The ordinance further mandated criminal background checks, Department screenings for tenant applicants, and annual inspections of rental properties by the Department.

Although the city has claimed it implemented the ordinance to reduce crime, its true purpose according to the DOJ, was to address a so-called "demographical problem" by driving African American and Hispanic or Latino (Latino) renters from their homes, from Hesperia, and to deter other African Americans and Latinos from moving to the city.

The Sheriff's Department, tasked with enforcing the ordinance, exercised what the DOJ referred to as, "Its substantial discretion to target African American and Latino renters, as well as renters who lived in majority-minority areas of Hesperia." The Department purportedly demanded the evictions of entire families for conduct involving one tenant or even guests or estranged family members. It demanded evictions of victims of domestic violence and they called for eviction even when they lacked concrete evidence of criminal activity.

Their eviction efforts, however, did not stop there. The DOJ claimed officials also threatened and took action against housing providers that failed to evict tenants in alignment with the ordinance by leveraging fines, etc.

Although Molina has claimed, "At no time did the City's crime-free ordinance discriminate against residents of any ethnicity." The DOJ insists, the city and sheriffs enacted and enforced the ordinance with the intent and effect of disproportionately impacting African American and Latino renters.

The African American and Latino populations of Hesperia grew in recent decades. In 1990 Hesperia's non-Hispanic white residents were 76.8 percent of the city's population; by 2000 their percent of the city's population had dropped to 62.4 percent; and by 2010 their percent of population had dropped to 41.1 percent.

When the City of Hesperia with the support of the Sheriff's Department considered and adopted the rental property ordinance in 2015 it justified its implementation based on a purported connection between rental properties and increased illegal activity, coupled with law enforcement (911) calls for service.

Molina offered a similar rationale in justifying the program to The IE Voice/Black Voice News. "There are crime free programs across the United States aimed at providing residents with safer communities," she opined noting, "In the recent past, HUD supported such programs." She continued, "One of the best things about Hesperia is its diversity. The City loves and embraces its diverse community."

However, statements made by city and sheriff department officials leading up to the enactment of the ordinance belie the city's rationale for its implementation as well as Molina's profession of the city's agape love of diversity. Here are some statements made by officials at the time:

Mayor Pro Tem Bill Holland (former)

"We are surgically going after those elements that create an inordinate amount of problems in every single neighborhood." He continued, "You are trying to eliminate them, you are trying to pluck them out and make them go somewhere else." He also stated that the ordinance's purpose was to get each landlord "to rid his rental... of that blight," similar to "call[ing] an exterminator out to kill roaches, same difference."

City Councilmember Mike Leonard

"[W]e've had a lot of people from over the hill move up here that are not very friendly people," and "we need to work on getting them out of here." He also stated "[W]e need to get [the ordinance] going because we are falling further and further behind on our ability to cut down some of our problem areas." According to DOJ, Leonard claimed the ordinance would straighten out Hesperia's issues with a lot of Section 8 housing. He told other councilmembers, "You just pay more taxes to support these people that are sucking up the Section 8 housing, we need to get them out."

Captain Nils Bentsen of the San Bernardino Sheriff's "[Y]OU are trying Department Hesperia City Manager)

Hesperia's include an overrepresentation purpose of the ord of African Americans Latinos in comparison to their each landlord "to share of homeowners—were of that blight," sin described by Bentsen and an exterminator of members of the Hesperia City Council as dangerous because same difference. they considered them anti-social and claimed they victimized homeowners. Thev further disparaged Hesperia's Section 8 Voucher holders, three-quarters of whom were African American or Latino. Bentsen compared the ordinance to his previous efforts evicting people in a Section 8 house claiming it took them years to, "Find some criminal charges [and] arrest the people."

Former Hesperia City Manager Mike Podegracz

has claimed Bentsen was the driving force behind the ordinance noting Bentsen testified in uniform before the Hesperia City Council at least six months before to eliminate them. luck them out and inance was to get rid his rental. . . nilar to "call[ing] ıt to kill roaches.

the ordinance was enacted, to supposedly see if the Council was willing to establish a mandatory, crime free rental program.

According to Podegracz, Bentsen cited data he claimed showed a nexus between rental properties and increased crime. However, DOJ found the data he cited was misleading and incomplete. It further concluded Bentsen provided no evidence that any of the data points were appropriate measures of crime rates.

addition, the Sheriff's Department began planning for an internal unit to enforce the ordinance before it was approved/enacted. This included the purchase of Crime Free tracking software that allowed them to quickly determine if a prospective tenant has been in violation of the Crime Free program anywhere in San Bernardino County.

Bentsen even advised members newhere else." The of the council that, under Crime Free, individuals did not have to be convicted of a crime to be evicted, and that misdemeanor that mostly crimes unprosecuted, like disturbances, could be enough to warrant eviction. Bentsen further advised councilmembers the ordinance was designed to be "lighter on rmer Hesperia Mayor the requirements and more-Pro Tem Bill Holland heavy on the enforcement."

When the city implemented Ordinance 2015-12 it did so over the objections of some property management organizations; and, despite a letter from a fair housing organization which declared in part, "[The ordinance] undermines law enforcement efforts, imposes unfair burdens on owners, conflicts with the City's fair housing obligations, and creates devastating effects on Hesperia residents who are most in need of law enforcement services."

In response, Councilmember Russ Blewett (later Mayor now deceased) said he didn't care what fair housing said about the people the ordinance targeted. And, Councilmember Paul Russ responded by saying maybe the council should go down to the Fair Housing organization's office and start poking their noses into its business.

Several other housing agencies expressed concerns to the city over the legality of the ordinance, but the City of Hesperia pressed ahead regardless. Officials made the Sheriff's Department the only entity with discretion to decide whether a situation required an eviction and the department exercised its discretion in all aspects of the ordinance's enforcement which explicitly gave "discretion" to the chief of police (San Bernardino County Sheriff) to determine whether and what evidence and documents would be sent to housing providers as notification for them to evict a tenant.

The Department appeared to apply the ordinance on a case by case basis handling each situation differently. As noted by DOJ applying more of a "spirit of the law determination than a fixed set of rules." As a result, sheriffs routinely determined that tenants should be evicted despite the absence of any conviction or court judgment. In some instances, citations for minor incidents like complaints of loud noise or music on more than one occasion was considered reason enough to trigger an eviction.

The DOJ said even conduct that was legal under California state law could justify an eviction. As sheriff department staff explained to one housing provider, even if their tenant has a medical marijuana card, "They will be in violation of the Crime Free Program [even though as] police, we can't arrest someone for smoking marijuana who has a card."

The sheriff's department went so far as to provide legal advice to property owners in order to assist them with their convictions. Also, according to the DOJ, "The Sheriff's Department also encouraged owners to use extra-judicial tactics to eject tenants from their homes." Encouraging them to use whatever method fit the situation to evict tenants, provided the tenants left.

The Sheriff's Department is alleged to have encouraged owners to evict entire households when one member of the tenants engaged in purported criminal activity. One owner was told by the Sheriff's Department even if he/she was not sure which one of their tenants was arrested, "Under the new city ordinance any arrest on the premises means the whole house is subject to eviction anyway."

Landlords were also encouraged to begin evictions of victims of domestic violence even though the ordinance contained language suggesting they be protected. In one egregious example cited by DOJ, a woman and her three children were evicted from a majority-minority census block after she called 911 to report that her husband was beating her with a television cable.

In another instance, sheriffs told the landlord of an African American domestic violence victim that the she was "allowing the problem to continue." Sheriffs gave the landlord permission to warn the domestic violence victim that if she allowed her husband back into the home and the problem persisted, "she would be subject to eviction."

residents reported to the Hesperia department of Housing and Urban Development that they were scared to call the police due to the fear of eviction.

Using 911 calls as a lever to evict residents appeared to undermine the city's assertion that the principal purpose of Ordinance 2015-12 was to reduce crime and make neighborhoods safer. This purported purpose was further undermined by allegations the sheriffs threatened owners with fines if they failed to evict tenants as directed.

Although the ordinance did not specifically require owners to deny housing to applicants flagged by the Sheriff's Department during the screening process, the department instead warned landlords about renting to such tenants. For example, the department purportedly described such tenants as "potential future violators" and in another instance warned the owner, "[Y]ou just have to keep the consequences

Kamala Harris Withdraws from 2020 Race Undaunted

Washington D.C.

California Senator Kamala Harris surprised everyone last week when she announced she was suspending her 2020 bid for president of the United States.

Harris, an important voice among the Democratic Party's slate of candidates, was direct in her explanation to supporter regarding why she withdrew from the competition.

"My campaign for president simply doesn't have the financial resources we need to continue," she stated and continued. "I'm not a billionaire. I can't fund my own campaign. And as the campaign has gone on, it's become harder and harder to raise the money we need to compete."

In her message she expressed a combination of regret for the circumstances of her departure from the campaign trail and an appreciation for the commitment of her supporters.

Harris launched her campaign to high praise and further garnered the nation's attention during her first debate performance. Since then however despite some peaks along the way she was only able to maintain a competitive ranking among the second tier of democratic presidential candidates.

Though Harris had already met the Democratic National Committee's requirements to make the stage for the next scheduled debate, her difficulty raising the kind of funds needed to remain competitive persisted as did her inability to rally support among older Black voters still clinging to Joe Biden.

Certainly, most acknowledge there were weaknesses in her campaign; but all the candidates have stumbled. Harris also confronted the persistent apprehensive about completing the Census to be educated about the process and learn what is allowed by law regarding it. Attendees also had an opportunity to ask questions for clarity and to help facilitate their understanding.

The education panel consisted of Adan Chavez, Deputy Director of NALEO; Claudia Nicolosi, U.S. Census Bureau Recruitment Department; in addition to Ahlam Jadallah, and Karla Lopez Del Rio, Partnership Specialists for the U.S. Census Bureau, Los Angeles Regional Census Center. The panelists discussed the importance of being counted. Ahlam Jadallah emphasized why children between the ages of o and 5 years old are often missed in the census count. This is mostly to issues relating to housing insecurity and/or complex living arrangements.

"According to the U.S. Census Bureau over 40 percent of U.S. citizens simply do not understand how important the Census is," Lopez-del Rio noted. She further stressed how there is an urgency for people to be counted and explained why it is important for them to encourage their neighbors and friends to be counted as well.

Lopez-del Rio also shared a very touching story about being a single parent and once needing to take advantage of the services that were afforded to her through programs such as WIC, SNAP, and other Human Services support systems. Federal funding for such programs is allocated to communities based in large part on the population as counted during the census—each person not counted reduces the amount of funding states receive to support such programs.

Leaders of the Inland Empire are working diligently to provide education and resources to empower, inform, and engage its residents to complete the 2020 Census so that the region is completely counted. For more information visit www.censusie.org, www.census.ca.gov and www.census.gov.

reconsider priorities regarding how it plans to spend citizen tax dollars today and in the coming years.

Still others are concerned about making a 20-year commitment to give tax breaks to a millionaire when some economists warn the nation is overdue for an economic adjustment.

Last week the City of Riverside sworn in four new councilmembers who are expected to reassess this tentative commitment to the Mission Inn.

The Southern California News Group reported lame duck city council members also supported the Mission Inn owners' Mills Act application.

California established the Mills Act in 1972 to provide property tax relief to owners of historic properties for the purpose of assisting in the expense of restoration and maintenance. Under the program, when a property is designated on a national, state, county, or city register, the owners receive a significant reduction in local property taxes—between 50 and 80 percent on average—in exchange for their promise to actively participate in restoring, rehabilitating, repairing and preserving their properties.

As a Mill Act participant, the Mission Inn owners would enter into a perpetual 10-year contract with the City of Riverside that under the law, cannot be cancelled. Riverside's newly installed councilmembers will also have an opportunity to reconsider this application as well.

and unique challenges faced by candidates of color and women and the persistent stereotypes ascribed to both.

Harris returns full-time to her role and responsibilities as a U.S. Senator in time to devote her full attention to the impeachment hearings as they make their way to the Senate.

When the president learned Harris had withdrawn her candidacy for the democratic nomination, he taunted her with a tweet which read, 'We will miss you Kamala!'

Though no longer a presidential candidate Harris remains confident and undaunted by his twitter trolling. She quickly retorted with a tweet of her own, "I'll see you at trial!"

renting to a previously bothersome tenant."

In summary the DOJ determined the ordinance resulted in particularly harsh consequences for African American and Latino renters and renters in majority-minority areas. As a result, African American and Latino renters were significantly more likely than Whites to lose their homes because of the ordinance.

Molina claimed, "Like the DOJ, Hesperia supports the rights of all ethnic groups to reside where they choose." And declared, "The City will defend against the false allegations in this lawsuit."

Although the County of San Bernardino is also named in the DOJ lawsuit spokesperson David Wert said, "This lawsuit really doesn't have anything to do with the county. The focus in mind along with the knowledge that you're is on a City of Hesperia ordinance, which the Sheriff's Department enforced in its role as the City of Hesperia's contract police department. The county has no such ordinance. As such, the City of Hesperia is handling all lawsuit defense matters." Wert said. When pressed further on this point Wert responded, "The consensus seems to be that the County was named in error."

> The IE Voice/Black Voice News reached out to the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department for comment but as of press time they had not responded.
