The Dog Days of Summer

"When you have a voice, you also have a moral obligation to use that voice for good."

- Leandra Medine

In July 2015, an article appeared in National Geographic titled, Why Do We Call Them the 'Dog Days' of Summer?

The report noted, "To the Greeks and Romans, the 'dog days' occurred around the day when Sirius appeared to rise just before the sun, in late July. They referred to these days as the hottest time of the year, a period that could bring fever, or even catastrophe."

More and more lately I'm beginning to wonder whether America has a fever and/or possibly headed toward catastrophe.

Consider today's reality in California, where wildfires have raged from one end of the state to the other while record-breaking heat has carved a path of death and destruction. Then consider the bizarre and shamelessly dispassionate Tweet offered by the president on August 6th that read, "California wildfires are being magnified & made so much worse by the bad environmental laws which aren't allowing massive amounts of readily available water to be properly utilized. It is being diverted into the Pacific Ocean. Must also tree clear to stop fire from spreading!"

By the time the president thumbed this Tweet, California's conflagrations were well into their second week, had resulted in at least nine deaths, destroyed 11,000 structures, 14,000 firefighters were battling blazes up and down the state--at two of them were already killed in the process (another firefighter died Monday) and Northern California was in the grips of the largest wildfire in the state's recorded history.

In the meantime, although the president's Tweets (he's posted others) regarding California's wildfires were nonsensical, his brazen attacks against the FBI to undermine the integrity of the Special Counsel's investigation into Russian meddling in the 2016 election moved forward with the full compliance and complicity of Republican members of congress.

The role of congress has played in enabling the shameful antics of this president has stooped to unprecedented depths as have the actions of members of his cabinet.

Included among the president and his supporters' most obvious and egregious efforts to obstruct and kill the investigation has to be the "thousand cuts" to those who formerly led the FBI. The agency's former Director, James Comey, told Congress under oath more than a year ago about what he alleged, was the reason Trump fired him—an action that triggered the appointment of the Special Counsel. During his testimony, Comey said he not only kept contemporaneous notes of his meeting and

Warning About PlaySkool Brand Crayons

Riverside – The U.S. Public Interest Research Group tested the safety of a number of popular school items. The test results were recently made public and contained some very concerning information. Among some of the most concerning results was Playskool brand crayons sold at Dollar Tree, Amazon, ebay and www.DollarDays.com allegedly contained traces of asbestos. It is legal for crayons to contain the carcinogen in the United States. Also, three-ring binders sold at Dollar Tree purportedly contained high levels of phthalates, and dry-erase markers were found to contain benzene, which is considered a potential carcinogen.

The U.S. Public Interest Research Group conducts such tests every year. Over the last thirty years, its efforts have led to more than 150 recalls and regulatory actions.

Firefighters Gain Upper Hand on Holy Fire

Riverside

By early Monday afternoon fire officials announced they had achieved 52 percent containment of the massive Holy Fire.

Despite the progress, thousands of homes in Riverside and Orange Counties remained threatened by the massive inferno that had already burned for over nearly a week. Officials confirmed Monday that at least 22,714 acres had burned and no less than twelve structures were destroyed in the Cleveland National Forest.

More than 1,500 firefighters continued to battle the blaze with the assistance of helicopters and airplanes that dropped fire retardant to suppress flames in areas where firefighters can not gain access due to the terrain.

The National Forest Service lifted evacuation orders for some communities impacted by the fire including Horsethief Canyon in Corona, and the McVicker and Rice Canyons in Lake Elsinore, while the Cleveland National Forest officials lifted evacuation orders for other areas. In the meantime, however nearly 2,700 properties continued to be threatened by the blaze, and another 7,000 remained under a mandatory evacuation order.

Before any of the evacuation orders were lifted more than 21,400 people were under mandatory evacuation orders due to the Holy Fire. This fire event also delayed the opening of schools in the Corona-Norco Unified School District.

Last Thursday, August 9, Governor Brown issued an emergency proclamation for Orange and Riverside Counties because of the Holy Fire which continued to threaten critical infrastructure, thousands of homes and other structures and has caused the evacuation of residents.

A Chance to Recognize Those Who Serve Our Youth

San Bernardino

Every day across the county of San Bernardino County men and women are making a difference in the lives of local youth.

Each year the county's Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Commission (JJJPC) solicits nominations for its Annual Recognition of Service to Youth Awards program. The event honors individuals, service organizations, non-profit agencies, public agencies and corporations throughout San Bernardino County, who have made exceptional and outstanding contributions in strengthening and advocating youth programs and services.

The Commission's goal in this effort is to recognize individuals and agencies who go above and beyond their required job descriptions.

The JJJPC is now accepting nominations for this year's awards. If you know of an individual and/or organization that you believe should be considered for this honor, additional information and forms for submitting your candidate may be requested via e-mail at jjdpc@prob.sbcounty.gov.

A statement of reason for your nomination must accompany the nomination form. The statement should explain why you believe this person, organization, or agency is deserving. A brief resume of the nominee describing his/her/their community involvement and accomplishments is also required. Two

NEWS IN BRIEF

Back Fees and Tax Waivers Available for Mobilehome Owners

Sacramento – Some types of mobilehome and manufactured homes may need to be registered, yet many owners of such homes may be unaware of this requirement. This can create problems if they ever plan to sell the title, leave it to a loved one, apply for fire insurance, obtain permits to upgrade or need to prove ownership to a landlord or park manager.

The good news is that the State of California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) is currently offering a fee and tax waiver program for owners who are not registered and own back fees and taxes.

Experts are available at HCD to help walk owners through the process. You can go to www.RegisterYourMobilehomeCA.org or call (800) 952-8356.

Living With Lupus

Lupus (its full medical name is Systemic lupus erythematosus) (SLE) is a mysterious illness. Although various aspects of it were described as far back as the 1840s and it was recognized as a systemic disease well over a century ago, the cause is still unknown and a cure still elusive.

Like AIDS, lupus involves the immune system. There the similarity ends. Lupus is not transmissible from one individual to another; in no case has contagion even been suspected. In the majority of patients it does not prove fatal and the illness is essentially the opposite of AIDS.

Lupus is a chronic autoimmune disease, which causes inflammation of various parts of the body, especially the skin, joints and kidneys. It may also affect the blood. The immune system normally protects the body against viruses, bacteria and other foreign invaders. In an autoimmune disease like lupus, the immune system loses its ability to tell the difference between foreign substances and its own cells and tissues. The immune system then makes antibodies directed against the body itself.

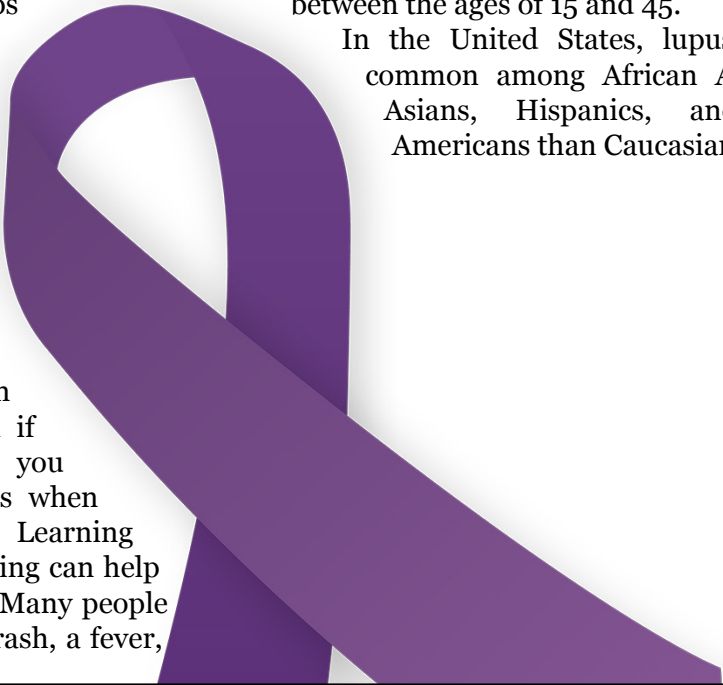

When lupus first sets in, symptoms such as fatigue and pain are often non-specific. They can be signs of so many other health problems, which can make diagnosis hard. The most common complaint people have is fatigue that is so severe it stops them from being able to function normally. This fatigue is often related to fibromyalgia. Fever, muscle and joint pain are also quite common.

Sometimes people with lupus experience a “flare.” This occurs when some symptoms appear or get worse for short periods then disappear or get better. Even if you take medicine for lupus, you may find that there are times when the symptoms become worse. Learning to recognize that a flare is coming can help you take steps to cope with it. Many people feel very tired or have pain, a rash, a fever, stomach discomfort, headache, or dizziness just before a flare.

It’s estimated that more than 16,000 Americans develop lupus each year. More than 90 percent of people with lupus are women between the ages of 15 and 45.

In the United States, lupus is more common among African Americans, Asians, Hispanics, and Native Americans than Caucasians.

San Bernardino Expands Access to Behavioral Health Crisis Centers

San Bernardino

Beginning last month and continuing through August 14, the San Bernardino County Department of Behavioral Health celebrated a series of grand openings for Behavioral Health Crisis Centers.

Five new Crisis Residential Treatment centers (CRTs) and Crisis Stabilization Unit centers (CRUs) will provide effective, less-restrictive alternatives to inpatient hospitalizations or incarcerations for those facing mental health crises. The centers were opened in the communities of Fontana, San Bernardino, Joshua Tree, and Victorville. A sixth facility, a CRT located in San Bernardino, opened last September. The locations offer behavioral health services in a home-like environment.

CRTs are voluntary, 16-bed centers that will provide short-term, recovery-based treatment options, services and interventions in a home-like setting for up to 90 days. The CSUs will provide immediate voluntary, outpatient crisis stabilization services for up to 23 hours to individuals as an alternative to placement in a hospital.

Each CSU has 20 beds, 16 for adults and four for adolescents. Services such as medication support, individual and group therapy, case management, referrals and community resources will provide continued support. The facilities will operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week to create additional access for individuals and families to receive intervention and stabilization services following a psychiatric crisis.

The new centers include Windsor Crisis Stabilization Unit (CSU), 1481 North Windsor Ave., San Bernardino; Merrill Crisis Stabilization Unit (CSU), 14677 Merrill Ave., Fontana; Morongo Oasis Crisis Residential Treatment (CRT), 60805 29 Palms Highway, Joshua Tree; Desert Hill Crisis Residential Treatment (CRT), 16552 Sunhill Dr., Victorville; Wellsprings Crisis Residential Treatment (CRT), 15217 San Bernardino Ave., Fontana.

Veronica Kelley, Director of San Bernardino County Department of Behavioral Health said, "We look forward to partnering with the community to ensure residents are aware of these locations that will provide valuable, life-saving services."

Residents Warned of Fire Ash Dangers

Riverside

Residents are urged to take precautions when cleaning ash from their cars, homes and driveways because of the Holy Fire.

Riverside County's Public Health Officer Dr. Cameron Kaiser warned, "Just because it's burned up doesn't make it safe. Ash can be toxic even in small quantities depending on where it came from."

Officials stressed the importance of not beginning clean-up efforts while ash is still falling, and the situation continues to be unpredictable—wait until conditions improve.

According to Kaiser it is also imperative for residents to avoid skin contact with ash. This is important because the ash from burned homes and other items will likely contain materials such as metals, chemicals, and potentially asbestos that can be toxic if breathed in or touched with wet skin.

Officials also cautioned that if you do get potentially toxic ash on your skin, wash it off immediately and thoroughly because in some instances, wet ash can cause chemical burns.

Inhaling ash may be irritating to the nose, throat and lungs. So, to help avoid possible health problems, Kaiser provided a series of recommendations as follows: Do not allow children to play in ash, or be in an area where ash-covered materials are being disturbed; wash ash off toys before children play with them; Clean ash off pets; Clean-up of larger quantities of ash should never be done by people who have lung or heart conditions.

The recommendations continued: avoid sweeping up dry ash into the air--sweep gently with a push broom; use water and wet cloth or mop to clean items and surfaces and then hose lightly with water. Ash can be bagged and put into trash cans.

A shop vacuum equipped with a high-efficiency particulate filter (HEPA) and a disposable filter bag can also be used to pull up

Water District Board Needs to be More TRANSPARENT

Hardy Brown, Sr.
Contributor

"Democracy must be built through open societies that share information. When there is information, there is enlightenment. When there is debate, there are solutions. When there is no sharing of power, no rule of law, no accountability, there is abuse, corruption, subjugation and indignation."

- Atifete Jahjaga

We have citizens seeking more information on law enforcement officers because of police abuse. They are seeking more transparency from our technology businesses like Facebook and Twitter because of bullying and hate speech on the internet; more information from our banks because of fraudulent fees being charged to customers; more information from the American president because of private meetings with dictators; and more information from local governments who make private deals with developers.

The thirst of local citizens for transparency however, does not end there. Citizens want and are entitled to more information from our own water district for hiring employees without posting the jobs, giving out bids to friends and for charging alcoholic beverages on their expense reports.

If that was not enough, the West Valley Water District Board of Directors (WVWD BOD) also changes meeting times frequently. They delay the preparation and publication of meeting minutes or record no minutes at all of committee meetings. They give out reports of agenda items only at the meetings with little or no discussion of business during the meetings, that tend to last an average of about twenty minutes.

In addition, the WVWD BOD gave a verbal report on only half the information related to board compensation, but nothing related to retirement benefits for health care and Long-Term Care for board members which many believe amounts to a gift of public funds to the board and its family members after serving only 12 years as an elected official.

Members of the public have been berated when they speak. Once, a board went so far as to claim a member of the public had entered his neighborhood and started a fire.

The board appears to make up rules as it goes along. For example, there was a move to take five million dollars to cover the costs of employee insurance when it was not on the public agenda. This was a clear violation of the Brown Act.

The BOD has even called the police and claimed those in attendance at a meeting were behaving "unruly." This was an obvious attempt to intimidate and bully the public.

In addition, employees appear to be fired for unjust reasons only to have their cases against the WVWD settled for thousands of dollars plus attorney fees. These costs, in addition to the fees accrued by the BOD'S outside legal counsel are all paid at the expense of the ratepayers. To avoid transparency, the names of individuals involved in these cases

Fear, Hate and the Power to Destroy

Part 1 of 2

S.E. Williams
Contributor

Tensions were high across the country last weekend as the nation reflected on the horrors witnessed in Charlottesville, Virginia, one year ago. It was an event many Americans found unconscionable--the spectacle of several hundred white nationalists and white supremacists marching, torches in hand on a Southern town, spouting hate and dressed for battle.

“Fear is the most debilitating emotion in the world, and it can keep you from overlooked or underestimated. Fear breeds hatred, and hatred has the power

By the time the weekend of terror ended, one young woman was dead, and a nation came face to face with a white supremacy they could no longer deny and that has existed in this country since its birth. Both collectively and individually, white nationalists and white supremacists involved represented a form of hate born of a fear of others, that has refused to die.

In addition, many Americans came to realize this country had elected a president, who following the event finally, put his own racist mentality on full display for the world to see. He did this by boldly and brazenly attempting to convince those appalled by what happened in Charlottesville, not to believe what they saw. He claimed there was a moral equivalency between the hateful and racist actors that weekend and those who opposed them.

The hate displayed in Charlottesville is the same hate that has haunted ethnic minorities, the LGBTQ community and those with disabilities across this country for generations; and continues to foster tensions today. The individuals who perpetrate hate crimes dwell among us and at times, go unnoticed.

For example, the Riverside County Sheriff Department’s Regional Gang Task Force was not looking for “hate” when they served a search warrant at a residence in the 5000 block of Ensenada Way in the City of Riverside on August 31, 2017, however upon entering the property, officers found hate slogans and anti-Semitic symbols indicative of neo-Nazi and White supremacist ideology.

In addition, they found a loaded AR-15 assault rifle and hundreds of rounds of assault weapon ammunition along with heroin and methamphetamine.

The officers arrested two brothers, Jonathan Pazderski and Nathaniel Henderson. The men were charged with possession of an illegal assault weapon, possession of heroin and methamphetamine while armed. Other charges included being an ex-felon in possession of a fire arm and ammunition, possession of a high capacity magazine, and for being under the influence of a controlled substance while armed.

Earlier last year, in June, Riverside County deputies responded to two incidents of vandalism in the City of San Jacinto. The incidents occurred near the 800 block of Horizon Court where responding officers found cars spray-painted with swastikas and racial epithets.

Three months earlier in March 2017, 55-year-old Aubrey Clawson was arrested on suspicion of committing a hate crime, arson, fire-bombing and resisting arrest. Clawson was charged by the Riverside Police Department with a hate crime after he set a fire and shouted derogatory comments about the race and nationality of the alleged victim.

This is just a small sampling of the 27 hate-related events reported in Riverside County in 2017. There were even more incidents in San Bernardino County last year—there was a total of 38 hate-related incidents reported.

The FBI defines an event as a “hate crime” when it is motivated in whole or in part by an offender’s bias when it comes to “race, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender, ethnicity or gender identity.”

Across California, there were a total of 1,093 reported hate crimes in 2017. This represented a 17.4 percent increase over 2016, according to the Hate Crimes Report released by the state attorney general’s office in July.

Since 2014, hate crimes have increased dramatically year over year. The state saw a 20 percent increase between 2014 and 2016, and a nearly 44 percent increase in the three-year

In May, the California State Auditor released a report that caused some to question not only the validity of the downturn in hate crimes during those years, but hate crime data in general.

The auditors noted California is ever truly knowing yourself and others—its adverse effects can no longer be to destroy everything in its path.”

undercounting hate crimes because outdated policies have led law enforcement agencies to misidentify or fail to report incidents. In addition, over the past decade, “hate crimes in California have been successfully prosecuted at just half the rate of felonies overall.

Although neither Riverside or San Bernardino

County were involved in the audit, its results reverberated around the state. Auditors found 97 instances of hate crimes that the agencies failed to report to DOJ, or roughly 14 percent of all hate crimes identified by the four law enforcement agencies that were reviewed which included Los Angeles, Orange County and two others. The auditors noted, “Correct reporting to DOJ is essential to raising awareness about the occurrence of bias-motivated offenses nationwide, and to understanding the nature and magnitude of hate crimes in the State.”

Last year, just as recorded in years past, most hate crimes reported last year were rooted in racial bias with the lion's share, 27 percent, targeting African Americans. Across the board, crimes against victims due to their race, sexual orientation and religion rose dramatically in 2017.

Before the recent upsurge in activity, however, hate crimes trended downward in California between 2011 and 2014.

This year's Hate Crime Report is the first annual assessment since Donald Trump assumed the presidency in January 2017. There is little doubt his overt race baiting tweets and presidential directives against Hispanics, Muslims, immigrants from what he called “shxt- hole countries” is having an impact and there are growing concerns they will continue to encourage more painful attacks.

This report will continue next week with insights from the Riverside County Sheriff's Department and an in-depth interview with and Brian Levin, Director of the Center for the Study of Hate and Extremism at Cal State San Bernardino.

Riverside Welcomes New Human Resource Director

The former Chief Human Resource (HR) Officer for Orange County, Brenda Diederichs, has accepted a new role as Riverside County's HR director. In her new role, Diederichs also holds the title of Assistant County Executive Officer.

Diederichs has more than 20 years' experience in the public sector involving learning management systems, labor-relations negotiations and policy/contract development. In addition to her time with Orange County, she was HR Director for the City of Riverside for two years and the Executive Officer for Labor/Employee Relations and Human resources for seven years with the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transportation Authority. Diederichs is described as an active member of the state bar and boasts 19 years as a practicing labor and employment law attorney.

When County Executive Officer George Johnson announced Diederichs' appointment he wrote, "Brenda will be invaluable as we work to implement an automated human-resources system and complete the HR transformation that is under way."

Johnson added, "She also brings experience in health-and-wellness initiatives, including a national award-winning wellness program." The award bestowed by the National Association of Counties was for Orange County's Healthy Steps

Wellness.

Diederichs, who assumed her new role as the county's HR Director earlier this month, replaced Michael T. Stock, who retired in February after serving in that capacity for about five years.

Secretary of State Responds to Concerns about SB County Voter Registration Vendor

San Bernardino - Late last month, The Voice reported on the sudden departure of San Bernardino County's Registrar of Voters Michael Scarpello and how it had raised cyber security concerns among some voters. When news of his departure became public, Scarpello appeared to affirm he was forced out of his job. He also raised several issues he claimed warranted possible action by the county. They included cyber security, the county's aged voting system and the possible resignation of the county's voter registration vendor.

California Secretary of State Alex Padilla has since clarified the vendor issue. He announced to county registrars that he had spoken with the voter registration vendor, ESSVR, and ESSVR said it has "no plans nor have they made any decisions to leave California." Padilla confirmed that although the vendor said it is evaluating their options, any change to their business plans would not happen prior to the end of 2018. "They committed to supporting their California customers through the November election," Padilla stated adding, "ESSVR has also apparently sent an email to its customers confirming that."

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. SB County Officials Vote to Raise Fire Protection Fee

By a three to two vote, the Board of Supervisors approved moving forward with the process to expand boundaries of the FP-5 tax to raise revenue for fire services. Board Chairman and First District Supervisor Robert Lovingood joined Second District Supervisor Janice Rutherford and opposed the change.

Expanding the boundaries of FP-5 will provide additional revenue for the San Bernardino County Fire Protection District (SBCFPD) as the current assessment is set at $157.26 per year and can increase up to 3 percent each year.

The San Bernardino County Fire Protection District (SBCFPD) is currently operating with a $29 million budget shortfall. SBCFPD provides fire and emergency medical services (EMS) to residents throughout the entire County. It covers 19,278 square miles and serves more than 60 communities/cities. The only exceptions within the county are cities that have their own fire departments, cities that contract with other fire departments and areas receiving these services through special districts. The parcel tax only applies to areas serviced by County Fire. The proposed increase will be applicable to both improved and vacant parcels.

Under the proposal, FP-5 would be expanded to include all territories within the jurisdictions of SBCFPD not currently included in Service Zone FP-5. Today, FP-5 includes the areas of Helendale and the cities of San Bernardino, Needles, Twenty-nine Palms, Upland, and San Antonio Heights. FP-5 would be expanded to include all unincorporated areas of the county except those already receiving fire and EMS through other districts and except unincorporated areas within the sphere of influence of the City of Montclair. It will also include the cities of Grand Terrace, Upland, and the Town of Yucca Valley.

The extension of the boundaries of FP-5 will result in needed revenues to maintain current fire protection and emergency services within the Districts territories.

Residents will now have an opportunity to make their voices heard and protest the proposed increase. There is a 30-day protest period along with a scheduled public hearing set for October 16. The hearing will allow the public to express their opinions regarding the expansion

Atif Elkadi Named Deputy Executive Director, Ontario International Airport

Ontario

On Monday, the Ontario International Airport Authority (OIAA) announced the promotion of Atif Elkadi to the newly created position of Deputy Executive Director.

In his new position, Elkadi is expected to play an expanded role in the airport's operation and administration.

Elkadi who has served as the Ontario International Airport's (ONT) chief commercial officer since November 2017, is a seasoned professional with extensive senior-level experience in strategic marketing, brand management and customer service communications. His broad portfolio of communication activities includes community engagement, social media, marketing, advertising and public relations. He will maintain responsibility for most of these responsibilities in his role.

"Atif envisioned and implemented an effective strategic communications program which established a clear voice and strong brand identity for Ontario," said Mark Thorpe, OIAA's chief executive officer. "From the moment he started at ONT it was clear that his airport experience stretched beyond communications with his intricate understanding of building a culture, stakeholder management and understanding what is needed to build a world class gateway airport."

Atif responded to the added confidence entrusted in him by the OIAA as he takes on this new role he said, "I have dedicated my life to communications and aviation and have had the privilege to work in fast-paced airport environments around the world," Elkadi said. "I am humbled by the faith shown in me by the discussions with the president, he also listed those in the FBI hierarchy he told about those conversations shortly after they occurred.

Since that time, the president and his cronies have done everything in their almost unlimited powers to destroy the credibility of Comey's corroborators and end their careers as follows: FBI Deputy Director Andrew McCabe—Fired; FBI Chief of Staff Jim Ribicki—Reassigned and Quit Under Fire; FBI General Counsel, James Baker—Reassigned and Quit Under Fire; FBI Deputy Director Chief Counsel, Lisa Page—Reassigned and Quit Under Fire; FBI Executive Director of National Security, Carl Bhattas—Announced plans to leave the FBI; and finally, FBI Associate Deputy Director, David Bowdich—is the only one still on the job.

On Monday, Bowdich issued the order to fire FBI agent Peter Strzok over the controversial and disparaging text message he authored about Trump. Now, most have concurred the messages were unprofessional, but what is frequently lost in the argument is that they did not violate FBI policy and he also exchanged similar messages with his girlfriend about Hillary Clinton and other politicians of both parties as well. In addition, the Inspector General's investigation found zero evidence that Strzok's personal opinions impacted his investigative decisions.

additional endorsements must be included on the nomination form.

Although the JJDPC is state mandated, it is a volunteer organization whose members reside within San Bernardino County. The members devote their time and energy to participating and coordinating activities designed to prevent juvenile delinquency.

Every year, state law mandates that the JJDPC commissioners conduct annual inspections of facilities or areas where minors are temporarily detained. Commissioners also inspect the Juvenile Detention and Assessment Centers of the County.

JJDPC has requested that all nominations for the Annual Recognition of Service to Youth Awards be submitted by 5:00 p.m. on Friday, August 17.

There appears to be no limit to the president's abuse of power.

OIAA leadership and I believe in their vision for our airport. I am gratified to be part of an outstanding team of professionals who are devoted to building a first-rate aviation gateway in Southern California. The sky is the limit at ONT."

Before his tenure with ONT, Atif served as senior corporate communications manager at Dallas Fort Worth International Airport where he developed the airport's communications strategy and implemented its strategic communications initiatives. He also managed internal communications, customer service communications and social media for Dubai International Airport.

The governor's action triggered a state law which bans price gouging. It also suspended the one-week waiting period normally required for unemployment insurance applicants. The declaration also suspended fees associated with request for copies of certificates of birth, death, marriage, etc. by individuals who lost such records because of the Holy Fire.

During the protest period, if at least 25 percent of property owners impacted by the increase submit protest letters to the county, it will trigger an election where the proposed increase would be scheduled for a vote. If, on the other hand, at least 50 percent of impacted property owners submit protest letters to the county, the expansion effort will be terminated.

The WVWD has done all these things and more in the past seven months and yet, it still wants the public to trust it. This kind of behavior from our public officials, makes trusting hard to do.

moistened ash. Never use a leaf blower because it can stir up ash and break large particles into smaller, more hazardous particles.

Kaiser further cautioned, if you must clean up a larger quantity of ash, wear a tight-fitting respirator mask (such as an N95 or P100 mask found at hardware stores), gloves, long-sleeved shirts and long pants. The mask should cover your mouth and nose and seal properly.

It is important to understand, larger ash particles can cause irritation to the eyes, nose and throat. Over time, ash particles break down into smaller, more harmful particles that can lodge deep into our lungs, causing serious health effects, including aggravated asthma, bronchitis, and lung damage. The particles are also small enough to get into our bloodstream and have other toxic effects.

If you experience symptoms you believe may be the result of exposure to smoke or soot, consult your doctor. Such symptoms include repeated coughing, shortness of breath or difficulty breathing, wheezing, chest tightness or pain, palpitations, headaches and nausea or unusual fatigue or lightheadedness.
