UNIVERSITY RECEIVES $1 MILLION GIFT

DIRECTOR OF MAJOR GIFTS APPOINTED

Jack H. Brown: Began his career in the supermarket business as a box boy at Berk's Market Spot in his native San Bernardino.

The largest personal gift in the university's history was announced by President Anthony Evans at a campus press conference last week. Recognizing a $1 million pledge from Jack H. Brown, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Stater Bros. Markets, Evans announced CSU Board of Trustees approval to name the new Business and Information Science Building Jack H. Brown Hall.

The future home of the School of Business and Public Administration and the departments of computer science and mathematics, Jack H. Brown Hall is only the second campus facility to bear the name of a university donor.

"The university is delighted with Mr. Brown's generosity and deeply honored that the School of Business and Information Science Building will carry his name," says Evans. "We're very pleased as well that so many enhancements can be made to the building because of his gift. Jack H. Brown Hall will stand for decades as a tribute to one of the most influential business leaders of our region, and the thousands of students who pass through its doors will have a superb role model in Jack Brown."

A long-time supporter of higher education, Brown's association with the university can be traced to the institution's early years. Brown is one of the founding members of the School of Business and Public Administration's Board of Councilors and has made many contributions to the university.

In the late 1960s, Brown participated in several tree planting ceremonies on campus, and since 1983 has arranged for Cal State to receive more than $53,000 in scholarship funds from the Western Association of Food Chains. Two years ago, Brown was the inaugural recipient of the Arrowhead Chief Executive Officer Lecture Series Award bestowed annually by the university's School of Business and Public Administration.

"For several years, I have been looking for an appropriate way to make a lasting gift that would benefit the Stater Bros. 'Family' of employees, their children, their grandchildren, my hometown of San Bernardino, and the citizens of the Inland Empire," says Brown. "I believe there can never be equality of opportunity in life until there is equality of educational opportunities for all.

"California State University, San Bernardino provides those educational opportunities here in the Inland Empire," Brown adds. "My gift is intended to give everyone who has a dream in life the opportunity to obtain the necessary education to reach their goals in life."

Stephen D. Christensen

Stephen D. Christensen, former vice president and senior fund raising consultant for Robert B. Sharp Company, Inc., recently was appointed director of major gifts at CSUSB.

In this newly created position, Christensen's major responsibilities include planning and implementing a campus-wide major gifts program in conjunction with the university's Partnership 2000 effort and establishing a prospect research system. Christensen says his initial efforts will focus on developing a number of capital campaigns for the schools, centering on the solicitation of major contributions and multi-year pledges, endowments and estate planning gifts.

"As a fund raiser, it's my role to help people realize their goals through philanthropy at CSUSB," says Christensen. "This campus and our Partnership 2000 efforts offer countless opportunities for contributors who want to invest in this campus and play a significant role in ensuring academic excellence as we educate and train the leaders of tomorrow."

A seasoned fund raising executive, Christensen brings extensive professional experience to his new position. He is the former campaign director for Cal State University, Fullerton and also served as the director of major gifts at the University of California, Irvine. While a vice president with the Robert B. Sharp Company, he raised $5.4 million to build the campus's Irvine Barclay Theatre. His experience also includes two years as the development director for special projects at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City and four years with the development program for the Boy Scouts of America's Greater New York Councils.

A resident of Corona, Christensen earned a B.A. degree in political science from Cal State, Fullerton and holds a Certified Fund Raising Executive (CRFE) certificate from the National Society of Fund Raising Executives (NSFRE). He maintains professional affiliations with the American Management Association, Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) and The Inland Community Chapter of NSFRE. In 1987, he received national recognition from CASE for a new fund raising program known as The Chief Executive Roundtable.

Christensen and his wife, Michelle, have three daughters and a fourth baby girl due in September.

MUSIC SERIES ROLLS ALONG WITH ACOUSTIC, JAZZ SHOWS

The Acousticats, featuring the twin fiddles of Phil Salazar and Charl Ann Gastineau, and jazz vocalist Angela Carole Brown are the guest artists for the next two concerts in the university's Eighth Annual Summer Entertainment Series. Both shows begin at 7 p.m. on the Lower Commons Plaza.

Performing on July 29, The Acousticats will play the music that has become their trademark—seamless and progressive acoustic music. The five-member band was formed two years ago, and Salazar and Gastineau have played together for almost 10 years. The Acousticats' style is rooted in the folk tradition.

Members of the group have performed with some of the best in the business, including Emmy Lou Harris, Doc Watson, John McCutcheon and Hot Rize. While with other bands, Acousticats members also have recorded albums on the Flying Fish label.

On Aug. 5, The Angela Carole Brown Band will take the stage. Brown has appeared at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas with Freda Payne, and has been a singer on The Tonight Show. A fixture in the Los Angeles nightclub jazz scene, Brown has appeared in many L.A. theatre and opera productions, as well. Her debut album, "Angela," is recorded on Teichiku Records.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY, MAKE TRACKS TO...

Long ago, when the word "groundbreaking" still referred to breakthrough academic research, and everyone on campus thought that a topping-off ceremony was a kind of formal dessert, there was a spot south of the Health Center little appreciated, perhaps, but very important. It was the campus's official "evacuation point," and when there was a major emergency, say, an earthquake, campus employees were supposed to herd there.

The emergency evacuation point is still in that general area, only now it is larger, east of the library and north of the Health Center—where Commencement takes place, and away from the BIS building construction, because that's a place people would prefer to evacuate from rather than to. Indicated here (by the large arrow) is the new evacuation site recently designated by the university's Emergency Operations Committee.

SPRING FACULTY/STAFF SOFTBALL CONCLUDES, SUMMER LEAGUE IN FULL SWING

The championship of the spring Faculty/Staff Softball League went down to the wire with three teams vying for the lead during the last week of play. In the end, bragging rights went to the Coyotes (Mgr. Bernie Moyeda, Physical Plant) as they edged both the Blazers (Mgr. Juan Delgado, English) and the Spirit (Mgr. Ted Krug, Financial Aid).

The Second Wind (Mgr. Sue Strain, Athletics) finished their season with a come-from-behind, extra-innings victory over the Spirit, while the Road Runners (Mgr. Hank Kutak, Financial Aid) beat EZ Money (Mgr. Avelina Espinosa, Purchasing). The Road Runners played the role of spoiler during the season by knocking the Spirit out of first place twice in head-to-head competition.

The summer league began on June 24 with 100 players assigned to six teams. Games are played every Wednesday evening at 6 p.m. Anyone interested in playing should contact Ted Krug at Ext. 5221.
