JACK H. BROWN HALL CONSTRUCTION AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Four major development projects on campus are progressing despite this summer's heat and humidity.

Estimated completion time for Jack H. Brown Hall (business and information science building) is November of next year, which will be six months ahead of the original 24 months the project was scheduled to take.

"The major milestone will be reached the week of August 24," says Bill Shum (Physical Planning and Development), "when we begin to install the concrete exterior wall panels. This process will go on until the second week of October."

Twenty percent of the wall construction on the Student Union addition has been completed, Shum says. In a month-and-a-half work will begin on the second floor of the Student Union. Construction on the building is ahead by two to three months.

While work on the major structural members of the new library addition continues, landscaping of the mall area south of the Pfau Library should be completed by the beginning of the fall quarter. Right now, says Shum, the university is working with contractors to decide what kinds of shrubbery to plant in this first of a two-phase project.

A minor capital outlay project the university hopes also to complete by fall is the renovation of the chemistry lab (PS 324), where casework and cabinetry were built originally some 20 years ago.

"The signed contract has been forwarded to the (California State University system) Chancellor's Office for approval," says Shum, "and we are working diligently with the contractors to see if the project can be completed by the beginning of the new school year." The renovation will enable the university to keep up with enrollment growth as more class sections will be assigned into the lab, adds Shum.

Low bids for two other jobs—the Central Plant and Thermal Energy Storage expansion project and the Central Plant asbestos abatement project—are now being studied by the Chancellor's Office.

The installation of automatic doors in the Creative Arts Building and University Hall, as well as the re-roofing of the library, are scheduled for completion in early October. Also, the P.E. gym floor is tentatively scheduled for resurfacing in December.

ATHLETICS, P.E. STAFF TEAM UP, NAB THIEF

Thrown together by circumstances and moved by holy irk, five loosely assembled Athletics and Physical Education department staff formed the veritable junior A-Team that helped campus police arrest a burglar in the act.

With a tennis racket in hand, Heitham Fakhouri, a 20-year-old non-student, was cornered without a scuffle by Dr. Cliff Singh (Physical Education) in his office the afternoon of Aug. 6. Singh then phoned two other P.E. professors, Dr. Terry Rizzo and

Dr. Chris Grenfell, to assist in detaining Fakhouri until campus police arrived.

Fakhouri, who has been released from jail on his own recognizance and is awaiting arraignment, was spotted by Carolyn Smits (Athletics) only minutes before his capture. She had been on the phone when she spotted Fakhouri in the corner of her eye.

"I saw someone leave from the SID (Sports Information Director) Office, which is catty-corner from me," says Smits.

By the time she hung up the phone, seconds later, the man was gone, making off with a FAX machine. The stolen property was discovered in the trunk of Fakhouri's car after his arrest.

After calling campus police, an angry Smits, along with Nancy Simpson (Athletics), identified Fakhouri, which was not difficult. The suspect had talked with Simpson for 15 minutes earlier in the day. He was wearing a dark, jade-colored shirt, a flowery tie and white shorts. His hair was black and slicked back.

Three thefts had occurred around the physical education and athletics areas the week prior to Fakhouri's arrest. And he had been seen wandering around, says Smits. Campus police recently had alerted employees there to watch for any suspicious-looking characters.

"But a guy 22-years-old or so walking around with a briefcase isn't exactly suspicious," adds Smits, who thought Fakhouri looked like the typical student.

When campus police took Fakhouri into custody, "Nancy and I jumped around like kids. It feels good to beat these bad guys once."

Police have no evidence that Fakhouri was responsible for the three thefts earlier this month, but, says Ed Harrison, director (Public Safety), "The M.O. appears to be the same."

"They (the five athletics and P.E. employees) are the real heroes in this situation. Without their alert actions this man could still be committing thefts down in the P.E. and modular trailer areas."

A FEW MORE THOUGHTS ON WORKING THE 4/40

In the last issue of The Friday Bulletin there appeared comments on working 10 hour days from three university employees. Here are three more thoughts to ponder. The series will conclude with a final trio in the Sept. 3 issue.

PAT RODGERS-GORDON
Career Development Center

On Staying Awake Holistically

"You feel like you've had a holiday having Friday off... You get real creative trying to rejuvenate yourself about four o'clock. ... I brought some weights and about three or four o'clock I'll do some deep-breathing kinds of things. I eat some fruit about that time, too."

NORM SLOSTED
Housing

On Time, Fun and Economics

"I think the best part is Friday, when you've had a day off, and you realize you still have a weekend left. ... I can take three-day camping trips to the beach—if the State of California gives me the funds to do it."

PAT DIAZ
Counseling Center

On Working Four Days, Not Five

"Oh, it's fine with me. Anytime I don't have to be here I'm thrilled. It's one more day I don't have to get up and put on my girdle." (Professional stunt double used for photo.)

CAMPUS BENEFITS FROM A DECADE OF PHILANTHROPY—CSU Chancellor Barry Munitz (far left) acknowledges the contributions of more than $200,000 in Western Association of Food Chains scholarships to Cal State students during the past 10 years. Honoring WAFC executive director, Robert E. Richards (second from right), for his role in facilitating the scholarships, Chancellor Munitz also recognizes the efforts of Stater Bros.' chief executive, Jack Brown (far right), a WAFC past president who has been influential in securing $53,000 for students in the School of Business and Public Administration here. CSUSB President Anthony Evans and Vice President Judith Rymer (center) also extend their appreciation on behalf of the campus.

ON A PERSONNEL NOTE

HEALTH PLAN CONTRIBUTIONS AND LECTURER BENEFIT ELIGIBILITY

Please note the following changes to health plan contributions and eligibility: CSU CONTRIBUTIONS TO HEALTH . . . The State Controller implemented the following CSU health contributions effective with the July 31 payroll.

	Faculty	All Others
One Party	$170.50	$184.00
Two Party	316.50	341.00
Three or More	401.00	435.00

The CSU contributions for faculty are the result of a negotiated agreement for the CSU to pay 50 percent of the difference between health plan funding levels (expected to be $157, $292 and $367) and government code formula levels ($184, $341 and $435). When the state budget is finalized, these faculty rates will be adjusted if actual funding levels differ from expected levels.

Please note that counselors and academic-related student services professionals are represented by the California Faculty Association but are not covered under the faculty collective bargaining agreement. Therefore, they will receive the higher, non-faculty contributions until further notice.

Lecturer Health Plan Eligibility . . . PERS has rescinded the special eligibility guidelines for academic year lecturers who are appointed to teach at least six weighted teaching units. Part-time lecturers and coaches who are currently enrolled under the special eligibility rules will be allowed to keep their benefits, but PERS will not accept enrollment documents for new part-time lecturers beginning with the Fall 1992 term.

The CSU currently is appealing PERS' decision, but we must abide by their instructions in the meantime. Other lecturer benefits including dental, FlexCash, vision, life, accidental death and dismemberment and long term disability insurance, parallels health plan eligibility. Therefore, part-time lecturers and coaches who already are enrolled in these benefits will keep these benefits.

New appointees must be appointed with a timebase of .5 or greater and with an appointment duration equal to more than six months (at least six months and one day).

If you have any questions, please call the benefits officer, Marjorie Callaghan at Ext. 5138.

FALL SPORTS SEASON HOLDS PROMISE

Returning CCAA champions, the Coyotes' men's soccer team, will defend the title it earned last season—Cal State's first year in Division II competition. Although the team has lost seven lettermen, Coach Carlos Juarez is encouraged by four promising freshmen recruits and the return of CCAA Player-of-the-Year, Rolando Uribe, a junior, and senior Frank Felix.

"We have a very difficult year ahead but we'll take it head on," commented the coach, explaining that five of the seven teams in the conference are capable of capturing the title. "We'll have a good combination of experience and youth, which can make for an outstanding team."

Women's volleyball coach, Kim Holder, also has an optimistic outlook, with one year's experience at the Division II level behind her.

"We had practically a brand new team last year—no one was used to each other and we had a lot of young kids playing for their first time at the college level," she recalls. Now that these players have been "seasoned," she expects her returnees to do a great job this year.

Her toughest opponent continues to be regional rival UC Riverside, which has won three national titles in volleyball, Holder explains. With two coaching changes in the league and Chapman College stepping down to the Division III level, Holder thinks the league record is "up for grabs."

Eight returning women's soccer players plus some talented recruits give Coach Dave Widor hopes for a season that will display "a much better brand of soccer" than the last. He admits to "high expectations" for freshmen recruits Roseanne Dominguez from Redlands, Candice Aldana from Chino, and Samantha Jones from Ramona High School.

SERRANO VILLAGE ROOMS STILL AVAILABLE

Vacancies remain at Serrano Village, most of whose dorm rooms are reserved for the fall quarter by this time of year, says Norm Stlosed (Housing).

Staff and faculty are being asked to "talk up" housing opportunities with prospective students.

"We're concerned," says Stlosed, "that most staff believe that housing is full by this time of year and may let an opportunity slip by" to encourage students to apply for housing for the fall. "We do anticipate accepting applications for residence until almost move-in day."

Currently, applications for housing are running about 10-15 percent below previous years, Stlosed explains. Because housing applications for admission to the university were closed at the end of July, freshmen applications may wane because "we get a fair amount of people in August and September."

The phenomenon isn't peculiar to our campus, he adds. "A number of schools (in the CSU system) are struggling with the same issue."

IN MEMORIAM

The campus community expresses sincere sympathy to family, friends and colleagues of Dr. Kathy O'Brien (Advanced Studies in Education) who died of cancer on Aug. 15. A service will be held this Friday, Aug. 21, 11 a.m. at First Presbyterian Church, 1900 N. "D" Street in San Bernardino.

OFFICE CHANGES

The Academic Scheduling Office now has two telephone numbers. Vicki Romero, Alan Faustino and Lupe Sanchez can be reached at Ext. 5057. This number may be used for questions regarding the Class Schedule. For calls about curriculum changes or the University Catalog, dial Ext. 5059. Dawn Ford and Barbara Holtzman may be reached at this number.

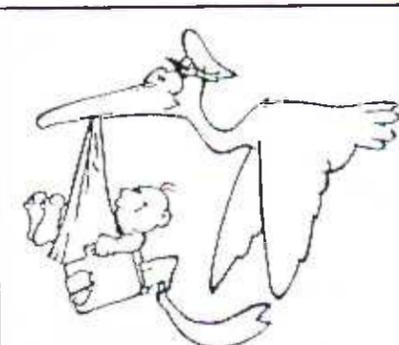

What was once simply known as the Credentials Office recently moved from the fifth floor of the library to the second. Renamed the CASE (Center to Assist Students in Education) Office, the new location now houses student teaching, formerly a department of its own.

The key advantage of the merger, says Irene Guillen (CASE Office), a credential analyst, is that information is more accessible to students. The move also will help school counselors give students more consistent advice, Guillen adds.

WEDDING BELLS

The campus community extends best wishes to Linda Baltazar (Parking Services) and Sam Durham, who were married on Aug. 1 at the Los Angeles Temple. The Durhams will reside in Phelan with their five children.

Best wishes also go to Kamille Foster (Public Safety) and Alex Tortes, married on Aug. 8 at Fairmont Park in Riverside. The Tortes' will also live in Riverside.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

The campus community extends congratulations to Rayanne Furnish (Parking Services), who gave birth to a son, Taylor Jordan, on June 8. The baby was born at Fontana Kaiser. Taylor weighed 8 pounds, 5 1/2 ounces and measured 21 inches.

Congratulations also go to Manuel (Public Safety) and Mona Castro whose baby girl was born on July 30. Elisenda Consuelo, also born at Fontana Kaiser, weighed 7 pounds, 14 ounces and measured 21 inches.

And congratulations to Ellen (Parking Services) and Dave Mistal on the birth of their son, Anthony James. Born Aug. 10 at Redlands Community, Anthony weighed 8 pounds, 1 ounce and measured 20 1/2 inches.
