Selection Advisory Committee

President Pfau to Retire this Summer

A Presidential Selection Advisory Committee has been formed to advise the Board of Trustees on the selection of a successor to President John M. Pfau, who announced Jan. 11 that he will retire at the end of this academic year.

Representing the Alumni Association on the committee is John Kirwan of Diamond Bar, a 1971 graduate with a B.A. in political science. A.S. president Pauline Barbour of San Bernardino is representing the students.

The faculty selected Dr. Judith Rymer, professor of education; Dr. Alfred Egge, professor of biology; and Larry L. Kramer, professor of English. Janice Lemmond, support services officer, is the administrative and support staff designee.

Luella M. Cohen of San Bernardino is representing the Campus Advisory Board. Dr. Hugh La Bounty, president of Cal Poly, Pomona is on the committee, along with Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke and John F. O'Connell, chair of the Board of Trustees.

Trustee Lynn Myers of Beverly Hills chairs the committee. Other trustees are John F. Crowley of San Francisco and George M. Marcus of Palo Alto.

Dr. Pfau was appointed by the Board of Trustees in January 1962 to establish a new college in the San Bernardino and Riverside area.

He had the rare experience not only of founding one college, but also of being involved in the creation of two other institutions. He was on the original planning staff for Sonoma State University, and earlier was sent out from Chicago Teachers College to establish a branch which today is Northeastern Illinois State University.

Dr. Pfau currently is the senior president in terms of tenure among 19 presidents in The California State University system. Fifty-eight college and university presidents have been appointed in the system since he assumed the helm of the San Bernardino campus.

Awards Brunch to Honor Alumni, President Pfau

Distinguished graduates of Cal State, San Bernardino and College President John M. Pfau will be honored at the Alumni Awards Brunch Sunday, April 25.

The outstanding alumni, including one designated as the alumnus of the year, will be revealed at the third annual brunch, to begin at 11:30 a.m. in the Commons.

Dr. Pfau, founding president of the college, will retire at the close of the current academic year.

"This will be a great opportunity for alums to say thank you to the man who has contributed so much to so many," said Lawrence Daniel, president of the Alumni Association.

Part of the festivities also will include the presentation of the charter to the alumni chapter from the School of Education. This chapter is the first organized for graduates from a particular school.

The brunch is open to members of the Alumni Association, other graduates, faculty, and friends, said Daniel. Reservations should be made by April 19 by calling the Alumni Office (Dean of Students Office) at 887-7524. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The Open House, originally scheduled to be part of the day's activities, has been cancelled because of the budget cuts and spending freezes imposed by the state.

Alumni attending the brunch are invited, however, to take part in the Southern California Health Fair Expo, to be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Student Services Building. The massive health screening project, free with the exception of an optional blood chemistry, provides a range of health screenings plus exhibits and demonstrations. The services this year also will be available to children, with parental consent.

Nominations Sought For Alumni Officers

Nomination forms for officers and representatives on the Alumni Association Board of Directors are now available from the Alumni Affairs Office.

All alumni are encouraged to nominate CSCSB graduates for two-year positions as president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and three representative-at-large positions.

Official ballots will be mailed in May, and the new board members will take office in June.

"The enthusiasm and participation of alums in the Association since its inception in 1968 has developed an organization that has become a vital resource to the college and an important communication link among alumni," said Richard Bennecke, alumni relations coordinator.

More information can be obtained by calling Bennecke at 887-7524.
President Pfau Retires

"President Pfau's pending retirement will be viewed with regret throughout The California State University system," said Chancellor Dumke. "Not only is Dr. Pfau the president with the greatest longevity on our 19 campuses, but his wise counsel over the years has helped to shape decisions in my office for the betterment of all higher education.

"As founding president of CSC, San Bernardino, Dr. Pfau exercised an opportunity that comes only to a few in higher education and has followed it through to an important legacy. Starting with no staff, no faculty, no students and not even land for a campus, he has overseen the birth and development of an institution with inestimable worth in the southern California Inland Empire," the chancellor continued.

When he assumed the presidency of the future San Bernardino college Jan. 16, 1962, Dr. Pfau began the process of selecting a planning staff and securing a site. From a cadre of about a dozen planners in a temporary office in downtown San Bernardino came the educational philosophy and the concept of the physical plant needed to carry it out.

Classes began in September 1965 with 270 students and 33 faculty, administrators and librarians in three buildings in the foothills of the San Bernardino Mountains. Reflecting a steady growth pattern, the college today serves just under 5000 students. For the last three years, Cal State, San Bernardino was among the top three in the system in terms of percentage of growth.

The college which exists today is, in great part, a reflection of the educational philosophy of its founding president. His concern for maintaining close contact between faculty and students led to the design of classrooms which would limit the size of the classes, thereby creating a seminar-type learning environment.

Students thus could become more active participants in the learning process; they have increased opportunities to write and their work could be more carefully evaluated by the faculty. Independent study became an important part of the curricular options.

President Pfau's deep belief in the value of a general education program has been demonstrated by the curriculum of the college and was reinforced during the past year by many dates from the CSU Board of Trustees concerning graduation requirements for all students.

Concerned with having a breadth of academic ideas for the new college, Dr. Pfau recruited his initial faculty from throughout the country. "We have had a forward-looking, smooth-working, administrative group and an excellent faculty with many creative individuals," he said.

The college's athletic policy, also unique in the system, calls for intramural sports and no varsity or intercollegiate athletics. Dr. Pfau, a football fan and still a supporter of the Chicago Bears from his former home town, commented, "We think it is right for this institution to put all of its emphasis on student participation rather than on spectator sports."

The college thus has stressed the types of activities which an individual can use throughout his or her lifetime. The intramural program, now a vital part of the physical education department, brings students and faculty, men and women, together in lively on-campus competition.

Dr. Pfau, born in Yugoslavia, spent his childhood in Chicago. He received his education at the University of Chicago, earning his A.B. in 1947, his A.M. in 1948 and his Ph.D. in 1951. His academic field is history.

While pursuing his doctorate, he was an instructor in American history at North Central College in Illinois. During his tenure at the Chicago Teachers College (now Northeastern Illinois State University), he served as associate professor of history, administrative assistant to the dean and assistant dean in charge of the Foreman Branch.

He came to California in 1959 as professor of history and chairman of the Division of Social Studies at California State University, Chico. He then served a similar position of the founding faculty of Sonoma State University, before coming to San Bernardino in 1962.

Dr. Pfau and his wife, Antreen, also a graduate of the University of Chicago, have two daughters, Madelaine is employed by a consulting firm in Dallas, Texas, and Ellen is an audiologist in Upland.

Dr. Pfau has been active in professional organizations and in the community.

Dr. Pfau, who will be 64 years old April 28, and Mrs. Pfau will continue to make their home in San Bernardino. His plans for the future include teaching an occasional course at the college.

J. K. Thomas
To Retire

Dr. Joseph K. Thomas, a member of the Cal State, San Bernardino administration since shortly before the college opened in 1965, will retire from his position as vice president for administration at the end of the academic year.

Dr. Thomas has been involved in planning the San Bernardino campus from conception to a plant with a current value of more than $40 million. He began the preparation for the physical facilities when he was the physical planner in the Chancellor's Office assigned to the new San Bernardino college.

He then came to the college as executive dean a few months before classes began. In 1971 he was named vice president and assumed additional duties.

"Vice President Thomas has played a major role in the development of the San Bernardino campus. He has done an excellent job of working with state agencies, architects, contractors and our physical plant staff in seeing that we have a beautiful campus and efficient buildings in which to work and study," said President John M. Pfau.

Areas under Dr. Thomas' vice presidency included planning and development, capital outlay programs, space and facilities data, liaison between college and off-campus agencies, physical plant operation, coordination of academic facilities and equipment, federally assisted projects, college publications and public relations. He organized the President's Club, a community support group for the college.

Prior to his position in the Chancellor's Office, Dr. Thomas was associate professor of industrial education at Long Beach State College for five years and a teacher and chairman of industrial education at Leuzinger High School for eight years.

Recently Dr. Thomas was chairman of the CSU Task Force on Planned/Programmed Maintenance which was charged with setting up a preventive maintenance program for the system. Presently he is on a CSU Technical Advisory Board in the collective bargaining process.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas will continue to make their home in Redlands. Interested in the cultural arts, Dr. Thomas hopes to devote more time to the Cultural Arts Foundation and the Redlands Community Music Assn. He also anticipates having time for his favorite sport, golf, and for travel.

Mrs. Thomas (Verla) is a graduate of Cal State, San Bernardino, having earned her B.A. in psychology with honors.
Alumni Fund Drive Raises $450 to Date

Contributions are coming in for the Alumni Association’s first fund drive, which has a goal of raising $5,000 for Cal State, San Bernardino.

Approximately 1,400 letters were mailed to past and present Alumni Association members, faculty and friends of the college. To date, the Association has received $450, with the average donation being $35.

The Association has designated three fund categories: silver, $25; gold, $50; and platinum, $100 or more. Contributors will receive two tickets to the third annual Alumni Awards Brunch on April 25 and a certificate suitable for framing. In addition, their names will appear in the annual fund drive brochure.

To facilitate donating, contribution envelopes have been enclosed in this issue of the Panorama. All contributions are tax deductible.

Avant-Garde Art In Gallery Now

About 25 works by important avant-garde artists of the 1920s and 1930s will be on display in the Art Gallery April 10-May 14.

The works are among the many masterpieces collected by Kate Steinitz, a German artist of the early 1900s. The free exhibit will include works by Klee, Kandinsky, Pechstein, Barlach and Feininger, as well as paintings and drawings by Steinitz herself.

Also on display at Cal State will be a Smithsonian Institution photographic exhibit titled “America’s Architectural Heritage” April 17-May 16 in the Library.

Blind Pianist to Give Concert and Workshops

Janne Irvine, a blind pianist who has developed a new system of teaching music that aids both the blind and sighted student, will present workshops and a concert April 20-23 at the college.

Dr. Irvine will give a concert on the fortepiano, an ancestor of the piano, at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, April 22. Admission is $1 for students and senior citizens, $2 general.

Dr. Irvine, who holds a master of music degree from Yale and a doctor of musical arts degree from the University of Arizona, will demonstrate her methods of teaching music during a workshop for students at 10 a.m., Tuesday, April 20, and one for teachers at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 21. Also, she will work with children during a 9 a.m. workshop, Friday, April 23.

Frederick Newton Named Outstanding Professor

Dr. Frederick A. Newton, associate professor of psychology, has been selected as the college’s outstanding professor for 1982.

A member of the faculty since 1975, Dr. Newton will represent the campus in the Board of Trustees’ Outstanding Professor Awards program. Each year, the CSU honors two distinguished faculty members. This is the second year the San Bernardino campus has participated.

Nominations for outstanding professor were received by the selection committee from staff, faculty, students and administrators.

Dr. Newton was selected because of his superlative teaching, both inside and outside of the classroom, and for his contributions to psychology and to the campus and community, according to Dr. Stuart Ellins, associate professor of psychology, who chaired the selection committee.

“His contributions to the field of psychology in the areas of biofeedback and brain laterality have been widely recognized,” Ellins said. Newton also has conducted research projects dealing with effective classroom teaching. He has served as a consultant and writer for television programs that are geared for introduction to psychology classes and that have aired on public service television broadcasting throughout the United States.

He has served on numerous campus committees, including the Open House Committee, Student Union Board of Directors, the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences Curriculum Committee, Student Development Committee and the Committee on Use of Drugs on Human Subjects. He has been very active on the Career Day Committee and on various committees within his department.

Survey Results Are Announced

Results of a survey conducted through the January issue of the Panorama regarding social events that would be of interest to alumni have been tabulated.

Thirty-four percent of the respondents said they would be interested in a bus trip to a play in Los Angeles; 28 percent, a bus or train trip to Las Vegas; 21 percent, wine and cheese social; and 17 percent, bus trip to a concert in Los Angeles.

Dr. Newton received his bachelor of science degree from St. Peter's College in New Jersey, his master of science degree from Villanova University in Pennsylvania and his doctorate from the University of Houston.
