CSUSB
A letter from the president

Kathy Fortner sets
Goals for alumni

"This year begins a new phase in the history and growth of Cal State, San Bernardino and its Alumni Association. The campus has a new president, Dr. Anthony H. Evans, who will bring new ideas and new modes of leadership to his administration.

During his visit to the campus near the end of the selection process, Dr. Evans discussed his initial reaction to Cal State, San Bernardino. Impressed by the campus, he saw a need to "market" it to increase the surrounding community's awareness and support for the tremendous resources that this college can provide in terms of educational and cultural enrichment.

Dr. Evans also expressed the hope that, if he were appointed, the Alumni Association would assist in the effort to increase community awareness and support.

This move can come at no better time. In the past several years, budget cuts have become larger. Each year, the effects of these cuts have become more substantial. The campus administration has tried to deal with reduced resources without impeding the growth.

Alumni sought to serve
On ad hoc committees

The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association has established three ad hoc committees for fundraising, programs and membership.

"By involving more alumni in the growth and development of the association, we are in a better position of becoming successful in the fulfillment of our goals and objectives," said Kathy Fortner, 1982-83 president of the association.

Alumni interested in serving on a committee are asked to call the Alumni Affairs Office, 887-7524, or the committee chair. Chairs are: John Kirwan, 594-6498, fundraising; Marilyn Glick, 883-9578, programs; and Tom Miller, 875-7070, membership.

New year begins
On a high note

Dr. Evans named
New president

Dr. Anthony H. Evans will assume the presidency of Cal State, San Bernardino Nov. 1, succeeding the founding president, Dr. John M. Pfau, who retired July 31.

A historian like his predecessor, Dr. Evans comes from Eastern Michigan University, where he was provost and vice president for academic affairs. He was appointed by the CSU Board of Trustees Sept. 14 after a nationwide search which drew more than 160 applicants.

Dr. Evans already has spent a week on campus, three days at the time of his appointment and two days in October. In addition to becoming acquainted with the programs and people of the college, Dr. Evans and his wife, Lois, began their search for a home in the San Bernardino community.

"During my first few months at CSCSB, few items will receive as much of my attention as the continued development of a meaningful alumni program," Dr. Evans said. "The cultivation of alumni is crucial to the advancement of the college, because alumni play an invaluable role in providing feedback on their educational experiences at

Trends in photo art Displayed in gallery

Trends in photographic art by new and emerging artists are featured in "New American Photographs," an exhibit in the Art Gallery through Nov. 24.

Shown are works by 27 artists exemplifying new and traditional styles in color and black-and-white photography, photocopy, instant photography and mixed media.

Among the 120 pieces selected is a series by Fiona Hall of Rochester, N.Y., titled "Painting Reconstruction," in which she recreates well-known images by Matisse, van Gogh and other artists using objects of similar color and appearance. The resulting photographs are paired with a photographic copy of works by Matisse, van Gogh and other artists.

Paul Berger, a Seattle artist, employs the conventions of magazine layout to construct complex relationships between still photographs and television, typeset captions and computer text.

Among the more traditional photographs is a documentation by James Barker of Bethel, Alaska, of the coastal Eskimo's stark lifestyle. Lorie Novak of Boston interplays projected images, colored gels and interior spaces to imply stage sets.

Admission to the Gallery is free. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday; 7 to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday; and 1 to 4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

Performance series
For children starts

Puppetry, mime, music and dance are a part of the new Family Performance Series, eight programs especially for children.

Teatro de los Puppets will present a bilingual show about the Olympics on Dec. 3. Other programs will be: black spirituals by The Californians quartet on Friday, Jan. 21; the Disabled Performers in Television and Film, Feb. 18; the CSCSB Imagination Players, March 11; mime Judi Garratt, March 25; "Hansel and Gretel" by the Children's Opera Factory, April 15; and a children's concert with vocal and instrumental groups from the Cal State Music Department, May 20.

Elizabethan holiday feaste
To be held early December

The annual Renaissance Festival, this year an Elizabethan Holiday Feaste, will be held at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 2, 3 and 4 in the upper Commons.

The event will feature the most elaborately designed set ever constructed for this popular affair. Diners will be seated in the cloisters of a Medieval cathedral to enjoy their feast and a program of medieval and renaissance holiday music and dancing performed by the Chamber Singers and a renaissance instrumental consort.

Dr. Loren Filbeck, professor of music and chair of the department, is the director and originator of the festival. Tickets are $16.50 per person and will go on sale mid-November. An announcement with details about tickets will be mailed to members of the Alumni Association. The event sells out quickly each year, so alumni are urged to obtain tickets as soon as possible.

Fund drive Raises $1600

More than $1,600 was raised in the 1982 Alumni Association fund drive. The money will be used for scholarships, special projects and service to Cal State, San Bernardino.

"It is indeed heart-warming to know that there are many alumni and friends of the college who want to see CSCSB maintain its excellency in education," said Lawrence Daniels, 1981-82 president of the Alumni Association. "In this time of economic uncertainty, our constituents responded in an admirable fashion... The call has been sounded and we as alums have generously responded."

"I wish to express my appreciation to those alumni who have contributed to this year's fund drive," said Dr. John M. Pfau, who as the college's founding president helped establish the association and direct its growth until his retirement last summer. "For the past three years, the college's budget has undergone cuts which make alumni contributions all the more critical and appreciated.

"Thanks to all who have helped thus far. I hope you will continue to do so in the future and that many other alumni join you."

In his early meetings with campus groups, Dr. Evans also has expressed a strong commitment to outreach, both in student recruitment and in community contacts.

Dr. and Mrs. Evans have lived in California previously while he was earning his Ph.D. in history and international relations from UC, Berkeley. Mrs. Evans has taught in the junior high schools, primarily math, for 15 years and holds a California credential.

As provost and vice president for academic affairs at EMU, Dr. Evans was the chief academic officer, overseeing some 125 academic programs and support services in the 19,000-student university. He also taught in the history department. He was the university's acting president in 1978-79, executive vice president 1976-79 and assistant to the president in 1975-76.

Dr. Evans went to Michigan after a five-year stint with the Peace Corps. He started there as a program officer with responsibilities for 350 volunteers in Korea and spent his last two years as director of the Peace Corps' planning office in Washington, D.C.

Earlier Dr. Evans was director of special projects at the University of Iowa, assistant program officer for the Agency for International Development in Thailand, state administrator for a federal grants program in Maryland and a teacher at UC Berkeley. Although a U.S. historian, he also is a specialist in U.S. foreign policy and the Far East, focusing his attention on the Arabian peninsula.

Dr. Evans earned his M.A. in history from the University of Hawaii and his B.A. in history and English literature, magna cum laude, from East Texas Baptist College. He is the recipient of several awards including the Distinguished Service Award from the Agency for International Development.

Dr. Alfred S. Egge dies
After brief illness

Dr. Alfred S. Egge, 49, professor of biology and a member of the Cal State, San Bernardino faculty since 1966, died Oct. 17 in Houston, Texas, where he had been receiving experimental treatments for about a month.

A gentle man highly respected by colleagues and students, Dr. Egge had been involved in the life of the college since he arrived in September 1966. His most recent college service was as a member of the Presidential Selection Advisory Committee, which screened candidates for the college's second president.

Dr. Egge was coordinator of biology from 1968 to 1971 and chair of the Biology Department from 1971 to 1973. He served on the college Retention, Promotion and Tenure Committee from 1974 through the present, and was elected to the Faculty Senate and served as vice chair.

He served on the Faculty Affairs Committee of the Faculty Senate three times and was on numerous other committees. Dr. Egge was a member of the 1972 Commission to Review Academic Goals and Programs and other ad hoc committees.

Prior to coming to Cal State, he was an assistant research physiologist at the University of California, San Francisco Medical Center, 1964-66, and assistant professor of biology at Long Beach State College, 1961-64.

Dr. Egge earned his B.A. in biology in 1957 from Long Beach State, his M.A. in zoology in 1959 and his Ph.D. in zoology and biochemistry in 1962, both from the University of Arizona.

Dr. Egge is survived by his widow, Janet; three children and five grandchildren.

A memorial fund has been established to accept contributions for the education of his children and heirs. Alumni wishing to contribute may make checks payable to his widow or to the Al Egge Memorial Fund. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Egge at the family home, 14808 Choco Road, Apple Valley, CA 92307, or to the President's Office, California State College, San Bernardino, 5500 State College Parkway, San Bernardino, CA 92407.

Joan of Lorraine' Opens
1982-83 theatre season

"Joan of Lorraine," Maxwell Anderson's beautiful and thought-provoking interpretation of the story of Joan of Arc, will open the 1982-83 drama season Nov. 11-13 and 16-20. The play, which starred Ingrid Bergman during a successful Broadway run in 1945, is set on a bare stage of a theatre during rehearsal. While the Cal State performers play actors as well as characters in the play, set pieces and costumes are added until, in the final act, the stage illusion is complete.

The story of Joan's rise from peasant surroundings to military leadership, of her victories and her disappointments, and of her ultimate expression of faith parallels the actions of the actress playing Joan.

The actress' disappointment with the concepts of the playwright and director over Joan's compromising her ideals is clarified as she grows to understand it is necessary to give in to minor issues in order to accomplish the major goal. Dr. William Slout, professor of theatre arts, will direct this production.

Later in the season, the Players of the Pear Garden will present "Equus," Peter Shaffer's electrifying journey into the mind of a 17-year old boy. Actor and playwright Harry Caudley, whose play "Next Time for Real" premiered on campus last year, will play the psychiatrist who explores the boy's tortured psyche.

This production, scheduled for Feb. 24-26 and March 1-5, will be directed by Dr. Amanda Sue Rudisill, professor of theatre arts. The play contains nudity and is suitable for mature adult audiences only.

"Amphitryon 38" by Jean Giraudoux will be the final production May 26-28 and May 31-June 4. This delightful comedy is the playwright's version of the historically popular story of Zeus' attempts at seducing Alcmena, a mortal woman intensely loyal to her husband. Dr. Ronald Barnes, professor of theatre arts and chair of the department, will direct.

All performances will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Theatre. Individual performance tickets are $4.25 general, $2 students and senior citizens. Season tickets are $9.50 general, $4.50 students and senior citizens.

Persons who would like to donate to the Theatre Arts Department scholarship fund may become patrons by contributing $35, for which they will receive two season tickets and a tax deduction of $26.

A membership campaign, alumni contributions to student recruitment and upcoming events of the Education Chapter were discussed during the Oct. 6 meeting of the chapter Board of Directors.

To date, 31 paid members comprise this chapter, which began last January. Board members expressed a desire to run an extensive campaign with a goal of 70 additional members.

The possibility of utilizing alumni to bolster enrollment and provide feedback to the institution on future developments was also discussed.

Coming events for the chapter include several speakers; an evening with Dr. W. Ann Reynolds, new chancellor of The California State University; and a trip to Las Vegas.

Information about the chapter is available by calling Al Twine, chapter president, 874-3428, or the Alumni Affairs Office, 887-7524.

New program in P.E. Begins in January

A new program leading to a bachelor of science degree in physical education will begin this winter at Cal State, San Bernardino.

The program is expected to provide qualified personnel for schools and recreational agencies, said Dr. Reginald Price, chair of the Physical Education and Recreation Department.

In addition to drawing students interested in teaching in public and private schools and recreation programs, Dr. Price expects the new major to be of interest to students wishing to combine physical education courses with electives in other fields. For instance, a student looking toward running a sports club or fitness center may major in physical education and take electives in administration to prepare for the job.

or the quality of the excellent programs and physical plant. The support of the community and alumni will be needed to assist the college in preserving its quality and continuing its growth.

In order to work toward these ends, the Alumni Association will increase its efforts in several areas. The first of these areas is fund raising. While the goal for this year has not been set, we are hoping to substantially increase the amount over last year's total. Our aim is to provide money for programs on campus that need support due to the budget cuts, as well as for several alumni projects.

Another area in which all of us should increase our efforts is membership. Currently, only five percent of the alumni of this campus belong to the Alumni Association. Through the chapter development program and more services and activities for association members, this percentage will be increased.

The Board of Directors will be planning social activities, as well as providing dental plans and group bank services for alumni members in the coming months. It is hoped that these benefits will help create more active alumni.

This year will be a very productive one for the campus and its Alumni Association. It is my hope that all of the association members will take an active role in some aspect of the association's activities. The campus and its new president need the support of each one of us.

Kathy Fortner
President, Alumni Association

Also, future teachers will be able to obtain authorization to teach adapted physical education, as that program was approved during the summer.
