New student ticket policy at "Hair"—
Nobody leaves empty-handed!

Effective immediately for all regular performances of HAIR at the Aquarius Theatre, any unused ticket can be purchased by students for $3.50 a half-hour before curtain time, subject to availability and upon presentation of I.D. card or proper identification.

In the event of sell-out performances for HAIR, students who have taken the trouble to come down to the Aquarius Theatre to wait in line will not go away empty-handed but will be given a consolation prize souvenir ranging from flower-stickers, autograph photographs of cast members or HAIR record albums. HAIR loves its audiences, even those who merely stand outside and wait!

Research Project to begin second year at CSCSB

A federally funded research project concerning the ability of handicapped children to comprehend numbers and quantities has been transferred to the Foundation of the California State College, San Bernardino from Michigan State University.

The research is the project of Dr. Rosaria Bulgarella, a psychologist, who received the $110,000 grant from the U.S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare. The project, in its second year, was transferred to the CSCSB Foundation because she has moved to San Bernardino.

Dr. Bulgarella is seeking to develop methods and materials which would induce number readiness in handicapped children. Her research is based on the concepts of a prominent Swiss psychologist, Jean Flaget, who has junior English major at CSCSB, research coordinator for the project.

Handicapped individuals, such as the normally retarded, are usually at the lower stages and take much longer to progress through each stage than normal children do.

Dr. Bulgarella is developing methods to assist their transition to higher stages of intellectual development. The first of her studies involves children who have been experimentally trained to achieve greater comprehension of numbers and quantities.

Headquarters for her research project is the Human Learning Center, 3272 North E St., San Bernardino. On her staff are a project coordinator, Edward Furtel, and research assistants in psychology and sociology from CSCSB and UC, Riverside.

Dr. Bulgarella, who holds a Ph.D. from Michigan State University, was research coordinator of the Regional Institutional Center at MSU before coming to San Bernardino. Her husband, Dominic Bulgarella, is an assistant professor of Sociology at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Three students chosen to study overseas

A young man who hopes to work with emerging nations through the agencies of the United Nations is one of three students from California State College, San Bernardino chosen to study overseas next year.

Bound for the University of Ghana is Randolph Thomas, a senior Political Science major from San Bernardino. Because of his interest in developing nations, he chose to study at the African university.

Also accepted for the California State Colleges International Program are Michael McColl, junior Political Science major from Hemet, and Steven Prater of San Bernardino, a sophomore and a Spanish major.

McColl will spend the 1970-71 school year at the National Chengchi University in Taiwan. Prater will study in Spain, either at the University of Granada or the University of Madrid. Both have been in a year of foreign study aidling them in future careers as teachers.

Also unique about Thomas is the fact he will be accompanied by his wife, Kathleen, currently a senior English major at CSCSB. She hopes to find a job, perhaps teaching, in Accra, the capital city of Ghana where the university is situated. (continued on page 4)

New Bay Area College

LOS ANGELES six-member Citizens Liaison Committee today was appointed by the Board of Trustees of The California State Colleges for a future State College in San Mateo County.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dunke, whose recommendations the Trustees adopted, the committee will assist the Chancellor's Office and Trustees in planning for the new Bay Area college.

"I am delighted that individuals of such high caliber and community standing have agreed to provide their talents and insights in helping us prepare for this vitally needed institution," Chancellor Dunke said.

Chancellor Dunke said a new study shows the college would ease enrollment pressures on San Jose and San Francisco State Colleges and would increase enrollment junior college transfer students.

The state has acquired 455 acres in the Edgewood Hills area of San Mateo County as the site of the campus.

John Chavez, Freshman, Anthropology: "Once again Reagan proved his strength in solving a difficult situation: violence. Bringing troops into Sanata Barbara to dissolve all the frustration and heightening anger of the demonstrators is not my idea of quick thinking in an emergency. This action only lends to increased frustration and more intense anger towards the government. The demonstrators had my full sympathy and support. I think the burning of the bank was a peaceful protest. 'Department would have had a better effect for the cause and for the demonstration; provided, of course, that the action would not involve the loss of human lives. (While the cops were trying to put out their own fire, the demonstrators could have been doing it)."

Population Bomb

At our present population growth rate, it would take only 50 years to populate Mercury, Venus, our moon, Mars and the moons of Jupiter and Saturn to the present population density of earth. At the present growth rate, within just 90 years we will have (assuming earth could maintain it) a population of some 60,000,000,000,000,000,000 human beings on the faces of the earth. This is about 100 persons for each square yard of the earth's surface, land and sea.

Interesting, huh? Ref: THE POPULATION BOMB by Ehrlich.

“Fascist gun in the West" shoots again

Ronnie Reagan had an opportunity, once again, to support and maintain his label as the "Fascist gun in the west." The college community of Isla Vista, in Santa Barbara, came under the siege of national guard troops last week following the burning of a branch of the bank of America and several nights' violence. It seems as if the conspiracy trial has brought to a head all the frustrations and oppressions felt by people who are living within a cleverly disguised police state. Reagan enjoys his little show downs, but one of these days it just might erupt into a full-scale war, right on your own street.

Several students were asked, at random, the following question:

PSEUDO-SCIENTIST

To the Editor:

I must confess, it was I, Maxine G. Gossett, the pseudo-scientist to whom Dan Bartholow referred, whose work was to classify the campus vegetation. I must say I was very much amused at the Bartholow's scattershot ideas and his vehement assertions with which I, being a Pawprint, was to deal.

To hear him talk science has done more good than I have found it also amusing that Mr. Bartholow was attempting to grow vegetation from all over the world which is utilized by thousands of people visiting this arboretum which is utilized by thousands of people visiting this arboretum located on the Old Mission Inn Museum in Riverside, California. Upon reading the recent "Pawprint" article about the YR's, he stated, "I can only be peripheral to their statement," but the question period was so non-thinking I read an account of the YR's presentation to the Board of Regents and disapproving my vote to support the board. Therefore, I will stand by my vote against the board.

PART TIME STUDENT VOTE

Re: Student Union Election Voting Rules:

The part-time students (less than 10 units) are excluded from voting in the Student Union Election. However, if a part-time student were to vote affirmatively, we would be assuming a proportioned Student Union which does not represent part-time students should have a proportioned Student Union. Although part-time students are represented on campus, 253 persons rate a proportionate voice in student affairs.

AGE OR CONTENT DEPARTMENT

To the Editor:

Judge Julius Hoffman recently sentenced all eight defendants in Chicago to five to 15 years in prison. If this be justice, these defendants were convicted of a contempt of court charge. As if that weren't enough, they also faced possible defense attorneys to a total of six years in prison. If this be justice, then there is still much work to be done in this country's judicial system toward the improvement of justice.

Yes,Spiro Agnew, Richard Daley, and Julius Hoffman, you may grin for you have won a battle, but the war for justice and the war for freedom is still long remembered by those who care, and the streets of this country will continue to be the battlefields of marching feet.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS
Book collection contest announced

The second annual Book Collection Contest, sponsored by the Library Committee, will be held during National Library Week.

The "Odd Couple" comes to Cal State

"The Odd Couple" consists of Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon. Matthau, a feisty, fanatical housekeeper in an apartmen. The two are forced by circumstances to set up house together in an eight-room apartment in New York. What follows is a hilariously funny domestic battle as the two find their ways incompatible.

The entry rules are: 1) The contest is open to all graduate and undergraduate students enrolled at CASCUB. Previous award winners may submit collections; however, they may be other than their award collections. 2) The collections must consist of not less than 15 titles, nor more than 50. The books must be owned and collected by the student. 3) The book collection must be based on a unified theme. It can be a general library, a collection centered on a subject, or a collection of a single author or group of authors. Paperback collections are eligible. 4) Each contestant will submit (a) a paragraph that describes the motivation, background, and history of the collection; (b) a brief annotated bibliography of the collection. These will not be returned. Entries should be submitted to Jeanette Bernard of the Head of Public Services. 5) April 10th is the deadline for submitting entries. 6) Finally, will be asked to bring their book collections to the Library. Awards will be presented during National Library Week, April 12th - 18th. 7) Judges for the 1970 contest will be the Library Committee (Professors Bruce Golden, Richard E. Goodman, Kent M. Schofield, and George A. Welney).

Overseas

Chester M. Wright, a 36 year old Black professor of history at Chaffey College, spoke to an audience of approximately one hundred people in the free speech area at CASCUB last Wednesday at noon. Professor Wright is seeking the nomination of the Democratic party in the race for the 34th Congressional District seat now held by Republican Jerry Pettis of Loma Linda. His speech lasted approximately one hour.

Wright feels that the vote should be granted to eighteen year-old people. He believes that "the eighteen year-old voter is the most intellectual voter we have now. He is more in tune with the issues and knows more about what's going on around him than the average voter."

On the problem of Viet Nam, Wright calls for complete withdrawal of our troops. He feels that "there's no reason to have American boys stationed there and killed simply to prevent a civil war."

Wright also calls for a change in our attitude toward the drug abuse problem. He feels that it should be treated as a mental health problem. He believes that those who are drug addicts are that way because of some mental problem; such persons should be given psychological treatment rather than a prison sentence.

A proposal of Mr. Wright's, a solution to the welfare problem, would be to enroll children from welfare families in twelve-month programs when they get into the last two years of high school, junior college and possibly at the state college level. Students would spend three months in a job training program, then three months in the classroom studying related subjects. The program could provide instruction at all levels, from auto mechanic to bank clerk. The schools could participate in this by using some of the older students as teacher aides in some of the lower level classes.

To help students meet the challenge of a changing world, Wright proposes that each school and college have a psychiatrist, psychologist, or social worker to assist students in dealing with pressures put on them by changes in ethical values. Wright is from Roxbury, Massachusetts. He received his education at Boston University, the University of Omaha, and Antioch College. He is in the doctoral program at Claremont Graduate School.

Before he came to Chaffey College, Professor Wright had experience in the public schools of Dayton, Ohio, and Los Angeles. He also taught at the University of Dayton and the Central State University.

Wright filed his papers for the Democratic nomination last Tuesday. He is the first Democratic congressional candidate from the West End in over thirty-four years.

carrying a sign. I had come merely to listen, and carried neither sign nor button. Finally, Bruce Carey refers to "a Mexican-American student who stood up and made an ass of himself" by bringing the group under control, something which Carey himself could not do.

Fortunately, for Chuck Grey and Mark Fitzgerald, they treated the affair much more fairly, avoiding name calling and blank denunciation.

John Harmer's self-control was admirable. However, I doubt his motives. He seemed to speak out of both sides of his mouth. In a pamphlet covering his views on the strike, he stated: "I am a revolutionary," trained by a "revolutionist," only with great hesitancy.

Senator Harmer is NOT THE MAN TO serve the state of California as Attorney General. He thinks in purely legal terms, unable to empathize with oppressed and disadvantaged people. Harmer cannot truly understand anyone not his equal in education and cultural background. He is evidently the voluntary pawn of a California status quo unwilling to see the rise of Blacks or Mexican-Americans. It was quite ironic that he told a black student: "I don't care what you think!"

Rather than actively confronting a man so unwilling to share his thinking, we students should simply have walked out after his main speech. Lack of support or concentration is the best weapon we leaders of tomorrow have to fight reactionary politicians of today. Our day is coming, but for now we must consolidate and gain strength.

Bruce Carey and Maxie Gossett are not better than the "closed-minded fools" and "ass" they condemn when they use similar tactics. Intimidation can come from sanctimonious conservatives as well as active liberals.

There is a way to fight recalcitrants like John Harmer, but it isn't as simple as disrupting speeches. Support an opposing candidate! If you can't find a man who suits you in the existing political structure, help reform it.

This is the aim of the Young Democrats: to bring the hope and fear of America's youth to the Democratic Party. We don't feel America needs revolution, but understanding. We invite all imaginative and eager people to join us next Tuesday, March 10, at 10:00, in P.S. 11. You don't have to be a member of the Democratic Party only concerned about the future.

Raging battles take a trip

The Pawprint has recently been the scene of a raging battle over the pros and cons of the drug experience. Both points of view have been expressed at length and with great expense of energy, perhaps if this might improve considerably.

There is, however, one drawback. Although the sex trip does not itself lead to "heavier" stuff, it can become addictive or at least habit-forming. For this reason, it is apparently approached with caution by those not up to it.

By NANCY SAUNDERS

The proposed task was accordingly performed, and the flag remained at half-mast for about a half hour. At that time it was raised to its original full glory position with the loving aid of the campus cops. (Oh well, one more for the REVOLUTION.) The police conveniently hid an armored vehicle in the service entrance to the cafeteria to observe any further subversive activity; and to try and bust anyone who dared lower the flag a second time. A passer-by was informed that such a foul misdemeanor could result in suspension.

Later that afternoon, Frank Moore went to the police headquarters (next door to the Pawprint office) and accused as being the one who had lowered the flag. An appointment was arranged for Monday with Dean Monroe and Frank then explained what had occurred. He was told by Monroe that if the flag was lowered they would merely raise it again; but, if it were burned, the person or persons responsible would be subject to suspension.

I noticed a strange thing as a result of the entire incident. No one seemed to notice that the flag was at half-mast. Would you notice if Reagan's guard made an armed camp out of CSCSB? I bet you would.
