At 12:30 p.m., Oct. 24th, Jane Fonda spoke in the large gym on the Vietnam war and the remaining political problems of the world. At a time of confusion and amazement for people. We wonder what our government is doing and who is winning, and even who the government will be tomorrow. The speaker explained that the war in Vietnam was Watergate all over again. "We sit in front of our televisions and watch Watergate, wondering if this is another example of high level corruption and who will go to jail," she said. The anti-war movement, she said, that during the 1960's the anti-war movement was such proportions in this country that millions of people were changed, including soldiers, and Vietnamese veterans. "After the Tet offensive," she said, "people began saying they didn't want to die or see their buddies die from a war that seemed to have no meaning. They couldn't help but wonder why we really were in Vietnam when there was no one we could go home to at it to home. This refusal by the troops themselves forced Nixon to withdraw from the most obvious arm of the war. It changed Daniel Ellsberg who authorized the Pentagon papers and exposed that the Psychic's media clearance than even the Johnson administration. Nixon changed people like myself until I was about thirty, had no idea what I was in for. It was an education. I was a dropout; I was Barabara; floating in space. This is one of the things we know of the anti-war movement. It was seeing people demonstrate in the streets. It was seeing women marching on the Pentagon. It was seeing people willing to be beaten. These kind of actions forced me to say wait a minute. There is something going on here that millions of people in my country are aware of. I have to find out. Eventually the anti-war movement began to make itself felt with millions of people demanding the resignation of President Johnson who was unable to end the war. This led to the election of the Democratic candidate in 1968, remember the "Secret Plan of Peace". But then what happened was that these are the courses that Nixon was in office a memorandum was laid on his desk called The Nation's Security Study Memorandum No. 1, in which Nixon was told that it would be impossible to defeat the resistance forces, or what we call the Viet Cong, and that it would be suicidal to go after these people would be defeated. Right then, Nixon knew that even if he had been unable to end the war, he would not be able to end the war. His top advisors including Daniel Ellsberg were in a predicament with various options that were open to them. Withdrawing was never even considered an option. The options were bombing Cambodia illegally and secretly which was done in 1969, or the use of frogmen in the harbors of N. Vietnam as a warning to the N. Vietnamese. These were to be used to undermine the ports and harbors if they didn't surrender and the development of a strategy of putting revolutions in Russia or China against each other trying to cut them off from Vietnam. This was the path Nixon chose. A man who was elected to end the war, who was long as the American government is willing to maintain dictatorship in another part of the world against the wishes of the people of that country, it will be necessary to undermine the democratic rights of people in this country, and watergates will continue to happen. The lesson of Watergate is that you can't have democracy in America if you have an empire abroad. We feel that it's very important for people to understand this. It is important because it helps us to understand that what we have done, that everyone who participated in any kind of social activity who were told that they were going to stop the gas machine, has been responsible for changing foreign policy and for shaping the environment to show its true colors. If this is true, "If Watergates has been caused by the war, brought about by the need to suppress the anti-war movement in this country, then how we should be dealing with Watergate is to end the war, to use this opportunity to transcend the watergates in this country. Unless we do this, it will only be a matter of how many watergates there are, or how many law suits are brought against Nixon, the same kind of things are going to go on. We must deal with the war. But the question really is, hasn't the nation that he has carried out these acts of illegal aggression in Laos, Cambodia and N. Vietnam. "But what happened in this country as he began to betray his promises to the American people, to do the very same thing we would not permit him to do, he had to bring home the need to lend money in Vietnam for so long, tactics of harrassment and illegal charges. It is not surprising that many opposing organizations in this country were picked off, one by one, on, conspiracy charges. There were trials of almost all the large organizations against the war, the Pacifists, Vietnam Veterans Against the War, Students for a Democratic Society, and on and on. These kind of illegal tactics, as you now know, were even carried out against the Democratic Party. As benignation that international they each have 60,000 political prisoners. But who are these? They are young Catholics, Buddhists, students like yourselves. The entire student body of the old imperial city of Hue in prison in tiger cages! They are pregnant women; the men who ran against Thieu in the 1967 election, a Rotarian and a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Nixon, who was 52 years in prison. Madame No Balan, a lawyer who went to Columbia Law School. "Vietnamization," replacing the government with its own army and its own territory. There are two armies of 500,000 plus third force, the neutralists who though they oppose Thieu and the war, these three groups are supposed to be called the National Council of Reconciliation and to organize and hold elections, according to the Peace Agreement. This council has never been formed. It may never be formed because the entire third force is in prison, is being wiped out. And the U.S., who is not supposed to be meddling in the affairs of Vietnam, has built the prison. A very dramatic example is that in 1971 a Texas based construction company called R.M.K.B.R.J.built384 tiger cages. I have been told that the January Peace Agreement will give them in S. Vietnam, the police could know your entire life in minutes your entire family. The police have computers that Thieu has compiled a database of the Vietnamese population. They are going to have to eventually distribute these people. The government knows that they are being bomb and killed while the people are being the court and the people are being imprisoned, their democratic rights taken away. How much longer can they sit and not fight? They are going to have to eventually fight back, they've "had it." And what will our papers say? We are going to be told that it's a "humanitarian program" to evacuate the Vietnamese from N. Vietnam (Ed. note: see San Francisco Chronicle, April 25, 1975). They will it the U.S. to understand that we are being told this, what will we be told in 1967? The same lies that were used to justify the invasion of S. Vietnam are being used to save them from Communism". It is a lie that people would understand if the government were honest, or if they read the January Peace Agreement. And we must begin to understand that we are potentially responsible for the conflict in Vietnam. It is the U.S. as the, the Pentagon and State Dept., have known all along. Until the January Peace Agreement are implemented, until the American people can force the government to honor the Peace treaty it signed, there are no elections, no freedom of press or assembly. You won't hear the voices of these people being neutral; to be neutral is illegal. It is vital for us to remember that this is the peace agreement that was created and completely supported by the U.S. government. Thieu would not have come into power if the January Peace Agreement were implemented. He could not exist without the U.S. government's support. His top advisors including Daniel Ellsberg were in a predicament with various options. The only options that were open to them were bombing Cambodia illegally and secretly which was done in 1969, or the use of frogmen in the harbors of N. Vietnam as a warning to the N. Vietnamese. "THE DEGREE OF CIVILIZATION IN A SOCIETY CAN BE JUDGED BY ENTERING ITS PRISONS."

--- Dostoevski

Last night I stayed up thinking about what I have to do. I think I have come to terms with myself. I have come to terms with my education, Dostoevski could very well have said, "The degree of civilization in a society can be judged by entering its universities." The methods used in Vietnam, I go to the logic of our initiative, only to implement those parts which are in our interest and throw the rest out of our window. We must live up to our word as a nation. Are we people who only care about our P.O.W.'s? Are we people who can suffer for American pilots and then totally ignore the existence of hundreds of thousands of S. Vietnamese prisoners who are kept in prison by our taxes? We have a responsibility and a reason for caring what goes on in S. Vietnam unless we are turning into a nation of robots and brainwashed racists. I hope this isn't true, and in fact it has been my experience it isn't, but while we have travelled around 14 states talking about the political prisoner situation in Vietnam, I am not aware of what American

Civilisation Judged by its Universities

This means to centralize our struggles on campus making student initiated committees and departmental committees essential, and confrontation with the faculty and administrators inevitable. Our drive must be aimed squarely at a focus, the classroom. We must be in the classroom because we take our efforts seriously. We must come to understand the classroom discipline "to work through and move beyond it, until we see what it is and why it exists. To take these struggles seriously, it is essential that we and these times will mean to create new persons for the world of study, new teachers, new students, and new relations within and between them." (Disorientation Guide, Berkeley '69)

To learn is to transform ourselves. To do this is ultimately to affect the society in which we are shaped and sustained. It is in this sense that we understand Marx: "The philosophers have only interpreted the world in various ways; the point is to change it."

Go easy with that ball, Dick

(ZNS) President Nixon, who is already feeling the pressure of possible impeachment, may suffer the most embarrassing blow yet. The Baseball Writers Association of America may drum him out of the conclave.

Nixon was presented with a lifetime membership in the Baseball Association, after he revealed, back in 1969, that he would rather be a sprocket than a President.

The Baseball Writers Association President Joe Helling of the Houston Post reports that there is now a movement afoot to force Nixon to return his membership card.

A Heavy (Last) Year at Cal State

Dear Ms. Weiser:

As the PAWPRINT Editor last year and concerned with student rights, I have been able to open a few more doors and have pushed the disciplinary procedures of this administration. Many students attended this year's first meeting of the Campus Rights Administration that calls the Campus Police to solve every student problem

Granted, this campus received more news coverage last year from both the Sun Telegram, Valley News, the PAWPRINT, regarding active political rights movements than did Berkley or Kent State combined (1972-1973). The women's groups forming conducted by Alissisters, the "resignations" of five black professors, and Van C. Andrews' resignation in the midst of the turmoil have made CSCSB a hot radical news item.

It is important that we consider what "actions" took place on this campus, Cal Straight, in the year 1972-1973, to discover that there must be a terrifying fear of the "radical left" by this administration. It has been my conclusion that no college administration anywhere in the United States could have performed the following actions, without the intervention of at least a healthy student burning of the campus President.

This following list is included to refresh the memory and enlighten others to the injustices of this administration, and further continue to fight against the administration, but has encouraged others to the injustices of this administration, but has encouraged

The following list is included to refresh the memory and enlighten others to the injustices of this administration. This was the most irrational and unwise action that has ever been taken by this administration.

1. The "resignations" of five (5) black professors on this campus (among them LeVeige, Johnson, Vernon, and others the administration could not cope with). NBC, CBS, and other major news stations attracted national attention, to the incident.

2. The resulting voluntary resignation of former A.S.B. President, Mrs. Weiser, a black campus revolutionary who sympathized with the arguments of the students, and that she could not continue in her administrative student office after they had been copied.

Mr. Andrews was later called to disciplinary hearings, then sent to S.B. court trials, and finally convicted of trespassing on student grounds at CSCSB following his conviction of trespassing on student grounds.

As for trying to turn people heads in the ivy, raiding panties and cramming goldfish into phone booths, merely because Time, Newsweek, or I have already expressed their opinions about the American government, or women's rights. We must express our own.

Pawprint Attacked

Dear Editor:

As a student who has had some journalistic experience, I am concerned with the blatant lack of interest in providing we the students, with a useful meaningful newspaper.

Last weeks' PAWPRINT started with a front page that told me nothing and was worse than that. Even the sports reporting was off. Of the three people you mentioned on the Serrano Village Football Team none of them play on the team and one doesn't even go to school here.

I think that the Alissisters section of the paper was not totally disproportionate to the needs and desires of the student body. No organization receives as much space and it's grossly unfair. In the course of my Senatorial campaign I have been told by ten students as possible and that is what they are telling me. These are the names of meand women, not just men.

As for trying to turn people heads in the ivy, raiding panties and cramming goldfish into phone booths, merely because Time, Newsweek, or I have already expressed their opinions on the American government, or women's rights. We must express our own.

Sincerely yours,

Kevin R. Gallagher

Pawprint Defended

Dear Kevin:

As the prophet, Houdoddy, once said, "Remove ye first the beam out of thine own eye, before thou aim at the neighbor for the dust mote in his." Canone who writes such a letter as mine, one replete with nothing that it creates the same old pigeon droppings. If one of the purposes of education is to foster an open mind by the presentation of ideas diametrically opposed to the established (e.g., comfort zone) ones, cannot a campus newspaper attempt to do the same? A campus newspaper can be an instrument in the educational process as any bunser or turner test.

You state that when you want "general opinions," you turn to "Time, Newsweek, Ms. or any one of a thousand sources." That is in well and good...for you. However, I (and I think that here at least, I speak for the entire PAWPRINT staff) would appreciate being allowed the liberties to express my own "general opinions." I would be even more grateful if permitted to express my own specific opinions. There is an entire world within and around us. Kevin, we cannot no longer bury our heads in the ivy, raising panties and cramming goldfish into phone booths, merely because Time, Newsweek, or I have already expressed our opinions about the American government, or women's rights. We must express our own.

Sincerely yours,

Peggy O'Malley
Deans Perry or Monroe would like to answer you seriously. I shall take it upon myself to attempt the words you penned with such a response.

Mr. Andrews was later called to disciplinary hearings, then sent to S.B. court trials, and finally convicted of trespassing on student grounds at CSCSB following his conviction of trespassing on student grounds.

As a newspaper supposedly designed to serve the students the Pawprint is sorely lacking. There are very few articles that tell me anything at all, I can get better information on the whole world within and around us, cramming goldfish into phone booths, merely because Time, Newsweek, Ms. or anyone else with albums in sixpaks of newspapers than did Berkley or Kent State combined (1972-1973). The women's groups forming conducted by Alissisters, the "resignations" of five black professors, and Van C. Andrews' resignation in the midst of the turmoil have made CSCSB a hot radical news item.

Hossie Rights

Dear Ms. Editor:

I am behind the newspaper 100 percent and I want you to know it. I am a proud to be an American (especially at this point in time when the greatest trial of our free system of government is at hand) and I am proud to be a student at C.S.C.S.B.

So keep up the good work! Yours very sincerely

Hossie

Re-Name

The Pawprint Staff has decided that the name of this school is antiquated, outdated and just plain yucky. So in order to liven this place up, we are sponsoring a contest, with albums and sixpaks of your favorite beverage (under $2.00 per pack) for prizes.

Get busy and send in your favorite ideas. It will be cautiously considered and unconsidered and we will choose the P.M. for student responses.

So write already!

Dymally campaigns at Cal State

California has selective killing

Mr. Dymally opposes Proposition I because, he said, if it is dangerous to freeze into the state constitution limitations on the power of the legislature, there is a certain level. If it passes, Senator Dymally said, "we will be in court for the next ten to fifteen years trying to legislate the differences between the tax-ridden government's and the state's responsibility to supply adequate funds to the school districts."

Senator Dymally also opposes Proposition I on the ground that it amounts to "a vote by the people" to make it more difficult to take tax dollars to improve education. "This is the most organized group of people who do not use it."

"We need stricter smog controls," said Mr. Dymally, "but mostly, we should get away from the dependence on cars. Rapid transit systems cannot be reintroduced until 1975, unless the rules are suspended. Such a suspension is possible, Mr. Dymally said, "if the governor assured us that he would sign such a bill.""

Another approach to the problem, said Mr. Dymally, is stricter smog controls: but mostly, we should get away from the dependence on cars. Rapid transit systems cannot be reintroduced until 1975, unless the rules are suspended. Such a suspension is possible, Mr. Dymally said, "if the governor assured us that he would sign such a bill.""

We need stricter smog controls

Senator Dymally feels that the lotteries would be a regressive tax, that is, that they would help the poor people, who are taxed away. Under the Senator's bill, the local school districts would have to declare the lotteries "victimless." He does not believe that the state lotteries would be back into education, with special emphasis on undereducated education. Hayes has developed "the rap," a vocal prelude-accompaniment to select songs, as few artists have. Where some (e.g., Jimmy Castro) only communicate via sarcasm or sarcasmic cliches, Hayes relates to his audience with sincere, believable situations. The only trace of sarcasm (and sexism) melodrama appears in the rap that accompanies "I Love You That's All," in his JOY album, in which the female that Hayes is sipping champagne with appears as a sensuously giggling non-entity. Where ISAAC HAYES, LIVE AT SAHARA TAHOE is, to my ears at least, that he has done, Hayes is a master of moods and TAHOE runs their gamut, from the abrupt and relentless "Theme from Shaft," through the heavy rocking beats in "Do You Think?" to the climactic extended sax solo in " Ain't No Sunshine." The breadth of experience he has and his backup group. "The Movement," can be a tune to more than aptly demonstrated in his version of "Light My Fire," one so unique it hardly seems to be the same song that the Doors', Jose Feliciano and others recorded earlier.

A Sorry Lot

Grab your spanner and dust your lucky nuckles, 'cause Thur 15 is the day of the World's Twentieth annual World Sorry Championship. Sorry game fanatics will be gathering in Cal State San Bernardino's cafeteria to wage their battles in the North American Semi-finalist meet. Expected to show up in full battle array for the meet are Tom "Mucus" Weathers, chosen "Rockie of the Year" by the Sorry Club; and Eddie "Vultures" Base, nominated for the "Swatch Stop Award" by the WSCC; John "Preserv Mantis" Woodhouse, nominated for a "Special Merit Award" by the WSCC for his lightning draw; and Bruce "Frog" Scott, nominated for the "Einstein Award" for his unusual method of counting the number of spaces he moves; and, of course,...
CSCSB-ers really missed out for any of the several bulletin boards archeologists could find no posters that were found during diggings. In to the Sound Current that night.

The music was loud, and the Pawprint, and paper, the Pawprint, and consciousness, been grossly unleaned towards the latter answer. Someone's total lack of musicl musicians? Did CSCSB people received enthusiastically. Yet concert became a cherished, holy tradition. No wedding or concert went out into the world and played Nadaswarum. And these students went out into the world and played for the people. The people loved it.

The sounds from the Nadaswarum put them into states of divine ecstasy. The techniques of playing the Nadaswarum were passed down through the ages from teacher to student, and the Nadaswarum, concert became a cherished, holy tradition. No wedding or celebration would be complete without the joyous strains of the long, deep brown, double-reeded Nadaswarum.

And so it came to pass, towards the end of the Kali Yug, the great machine age of darkness in the 17th through 20th centuries, before Aquarius had become fully dominant, that a small group of individuals gathered at the Nadaswarum and played music. The people loved it.

Memoranda

November 13, 1973

The Variety Show, an exhibit of the 1973 New School Picture Shows, is on display until November 27th in the library.

Steps on the New School Calendar:

1. A display case in the lobby contains a portion of the Faculty's collection of stamps. Some people collect stamps. Some, even collect curios related to San Bernardino.

2. On the walls of the library, there are descriptive brochures, costs (the assistant director, the property warden, and the library staff), and a list of the things for you!

3. The International Programs has just been announced in Heidelberg (Germany), Taipei (Taiwan), Uppsala (Sweden), Tokyo, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem (Israel), Leicester, Oxford (graduate students only), Lampeter, and Sheffield (all United Kingdom). Applications are now available and the deadline is until Feb. 15, 1974, except for the United Kingdom where it is January 15th, 1974, to allow ample time for processing. However, I would suggest that if you're interested you should make immediate application if not sooner to the office of the Director of I.P., Professor Ruddle (LC 23B) to apply since there is a bit of paperwork depending on the school you choose, requirements, etc.

4. Professors Rydell and Roberts will be on campus many close to the end of the semester. It is possible in the near future to deliver information and answer questions.

5. Your cooperation is necessary to make this program a success. To have your property engraved just call 887-6311 Ext. 505, it's a 24-hour phone.

This service is FREE and the only prerequisite is that your property has a hard surface (metal, wood or plastic) where the I.D. number can be engraved.

We are eager to provide professional law enforcement and couriers personal services to members of the campus community. To do this we need your assistance. Call the State College Police Department regarding any of the above circumstances or any other when we can provide service to you.

Sincerely,

Tired of San Bernardino?

Longing to see faraway places, to study, travel or on some day, abroad? Whether you're an undergraduate or a graduate student, never unclad, an art, biology, language, poli. sci., or any other major, the U.C.L.A. International Programs has just the thing for you!

Professors located in Mexico City, Aix-en-Provence (France), Florence (Italy), Madrid, Stockholm (Sweden), Taipei (Taiwan), Uppsala (Sweden), Tokyo, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem (Israel), Leicester, Oxford (graduate students only), Lampeter, and Sheffield (all United Kingdom).

Sincerely,
In the light of the PAWPRINT'S new policy of trying to maintain credibility by being objective and presenting both sides of the issue, PAWPRINT reporter, Tony Weathers asked for an interview in order to get his side of the "Administration Charged With Mismanagement" story (last week's PAWPRINT). However, Dean Prouty had "No Comment" to say. We tried.
