Student Union board members voted Oct. 1, to stop serving alcoholic beverages in the Pub after 8 p.m. on Friday nights when campus dances are in progress. "The main reason for the new policy is that last year we (SU and PFM) almost lost our liquor license because of incidents in the Pub which resulted in fighting," stated AS president Sheryl Hammer.

Crystal Kollross, associate food service director, informed board members that Friday nights have drawn little business. Ms. Kollross suggested, "Since 75% of dance attendees are under the drinking age, more revenue would be made if the Pub were open to all students and only non-alcoholic beverages are served." The SU receives a percentage of the profits from the Pub.

"Campus police have asked individuals attending the dance to leave because they have brought cans and bottles of alcohol on campus, and though they obtained these off campus we are still liable," asserted Lt. Pam Stewart of CSUSB police. If the Pub does not serve alcoholic beverages on these evenings and an alcohol related incident occurs, "We could show proper diligence, which is the key," added Doyle Stansel, Associate Dean of Students.

An evaluation of the new policy will be presented at the December board meeting. SU director, Helga Lingren is in charge of designing the evaluation system.

Associated Students movies previously shown in the Student Union lounge will be shown in the Pub during Friday dances. "This will free the lounge area for students attending the dance to get together," suggested Ms. Hammer.

Board members approved a write-off of $31.90 for a debt incurred in December of '83. Ms. Lingren stated that a dance sponsored by an on-campus and an off-campus group hired three night managers who were all paid in cash, according to the organizers and some witnesses. The night managers, who have worked part time for the Student Union in the past, informed the coordinator they had not been paid. When they discovered dance organizers were claiming that the night personnel were paid in cash, they told the former coordinator that it is the Union policy not to accept cash payment, and that they claimed the hours worked on their time sheets.

"Because there remains no way to determine what occurred on that evening," stated the director, "I feel the board should authorize writing off the debt as uncollectable." Board members unanimously approved the write off.

"Procedures have now been tightened and cash payments are not allowed," added Dean Stansel.

Other Agenda Items

The remaining agenda items included: Re-keying the Student Union building; committee appointments; health plan resolution; a pay increase for SU employees which will be researched by a committee still to be appointed by the SU chairman; discussion of a change in SU board members was tabled; price changes for Pub and snack bar, installation of new equipment, air conditioning repair, typewriter purchase, versateller installation at SU building, resignation of Patty Mendoza, SU clerical assistant; SU scheduling policy, and service agreements bidding policy were all tabled until the next meeting because of time constraints.

Student Union board meetings are open to students and are generally held on a monthly basis. "I urge all students to check the agendas and attend the meetings, it is there to serve you," stated Ms. Hammer.
Computerized Registration

by Greg Timpany
Registration is over for another quarter, but the memories of the heat, confusion, and endless lines still remain. The current system of registration, which so many students have grown accustomed to, will be a part of history soon. For the past several months the Task Force for Early Registration has been working with the problems associated with creating a new registration system.

The committee, under the direction of Cal State's Registrar Ms. Anne Van Wald, has been studying the computer assisted registration (CAR) systems of other CSU campuses. Members of the committee, which included an under graduate and graduate student, have been divided into subcommittees in order to work on the various intricacies of the new system. The committee hopes to have the system in place for use in the Fall 1985 registration process.

According to Admissions and Records Director Ms. Cheryl Weese, "the system will be ready to begin operation in late April." A major sub-factor in the new registration system will be the Priority System. According to Ms. Weese, "the priority selection system is not yet complete, but students can now play an important role in the priority process.

The system will give the school dean a greater knowledge as to what classes need to be dropped, added, or changed in some other way. The school deans will receive the schedule information within approximately one to two weeks after the advisement period. This will allow the deans greater flexibility in the scheduling of classes.

At this moment many of the components of the CAR system are not yet complete, or are pending final review. According to Ms. Weese, "the tentative calendar calls for students to be notified, by mail, about their fall class schedules around the third week of August." At this time students will be required to pay the remaining balance of their fees, and if necessary make changes in their schedules. Ms. Weese also assures that "more information will be passed along to students, faculty, parents and other concerned parties on a continual basis."

Seminar On Mental Health
Northrop University School of Law is sponsoring a free series of presentations for the public on various aspects of law. Topics will range from "Why Bankruptcy?" and "Winning in Small Claims Court" to "Tax Planning for Close Held Businesses." There are 13 more presentations scheduled between now and April 27, 1985.

The series is presented every other Saturday, at 10 a.m. with each seminar lasting about 1-1/2 hours. Presentations will be held in the Northrop University School of Law, Moot Court, Room 213, located at 5800 West Arbor Vitae Street, Los Angeles. Admission is free.

"Tea Concerts"
October 14 marks the opening afternoon of a bright new season of "Tea Concerts," given free to the public at 3 p.m. at the San Bernardino County Museum.

The Inland Master Chorale, who was the recipient of the Chorale's Vocal Scholarship in 1983, in this the first concert of the year.

Kevin is a vocal student at the University of Redlands and has been a soloist with the Chorale and in the Inland Empire. Art songs, arias and show tunes will present this young artist an opportunity to exhibit his voice in many moods.

Sharing the afternoon at the grand piano will be John Redford. John, also a student at the University of Redlands, will play selections by Chopin, Poulenc, Shumann and List.

The next concert is Nov. 13. Featuring soprano, Susan Comstock and clarinetist, John Gates, accompanied by Elvin Rodriguez.

The Riverside Symphony
The Riverside Symphony Orchestra is beginning its second quarter concert. The next event on the Symphony's calendar is the Concert for Kids. This will take place on October 13 at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. at the Mission Inn in Riverside. Tickets are FREE, and can be picked up at Alan Dale's Baby News store, Harvey Company, Jurupa Unified School District, Riverside School District, and Redwine and Sherill Attorneys at Law. National 4-H Week
Acting County Director Van Dam, Agricultural Cooperative Extension, congratulates the 4-H leaders of San Bernardino County. "We are proud of the 4-H program in Extension services. The hours yet to reach by our 4-H youth are constant and ever-expanding with each year of increasing technology," said Van Dam. "4-H will continue to grow with our youth, and our youth will continue to grow through us." Parents and leaders have not changed much. They have changed in that in having their youth develop into responsible adults for a long time. In 1902, in the Midwest, a boys' and girls' agricultural club was organized which was the beginning of 4-H. Over the last eight decades, 4-H has developed into not only a national organization, but internationally as well with 85 different countries participating in the 4-H program. 4-H started with activities for rural America; growing corn, planting a garden, testing water for swimming clubs, raising livestock, and still continues in these projects.

Today, 4-H remains a program for theagrarian, and electricity, nutrition, an photography projects have also become a part of 4-H. In San Bernardino County, there are several 4-H computer science projects. Two of the most active are Apple Valley 4-H Club which is the largest group and is led by Art Richardson, and the Redlands 4-H computer science group led by Sherri Salzer.

4-H lets everybody build on experience. Call the Extension Office at 887-3874 and learn, how you can support a 4-H, volunteer leader, or through your business. 4-H for youth...for America.

On Tuesday, September 25, Cal State hosted a meeting of the Inland Empire chapter of the World Affairs council which featured a panel of editors and journalists from Newsweek magazine. The panel received questions from the audience covering a broad spectrum of national and international issues, ranging from the national debt to the recent terrorist attack on the American embassy in Beirut. The program began at 6 p.m. with a no-host reception, during which guests were free to get acquainted. Dinner was served in the Commons when the panel assembled to field questions. The panel consisted of Maynard Parker, Editor; Nicholas M. Horrock, National Security correspondent; Gerald Lube­now, San Francisco Bureau Chief; Susan Denterz, General Business Editor; and Thomas DeFrank, White House correspondent. The questions put forward by the audience elicited several interesting comments and predictions by the panelists.

When asked about the upcoming Presidential election, the panel agreed that Reagan was less likely to win the November elections, but would rise again after the first of the year. Like most other economists, she also saw the massive federal deficits as the major cloud on the nation's economic horizon. The only way to decrease the deficit, as she saw it, was to revamp the tax system to increase revenues. Of President for relative tranquility and prosperity that the nation is now experiencing, combined the growing conservative political climate, was cited as the main reasons Reagan was expected to win re-election in November.

Ms. Denterz, as Business editor, was confronted with several questions pertaining to the economy. When asked about the interest rates, she predicted that they would take a slight dip after the November elections, but would rise again after the first of the year. Like most other economists, she also saw the massive federal deficits as the major cloud on the nation's economic horizon. The only way to decrease the deficit, as she saw it, was to revamp the tax system to increase revenues.

On the International scene, the big topic was Soviet-American relations. The panel saw Reagan's recent warm attitude towards the Soviets as an election necessity, and were critical of the President for relative tranquility and prosperity that the nation is now experiencing, combined the growing conservative political climate, was cited as the main reasons Reagan was expected to win re-election in November. The relative tranquility and prosperity that the nation is now experiencing, combined the growing conservative political climate, was cited as the main reasons Reagan was expected to win re-election in November.

The panel brought some interesting facts to light concerning the Korean jetliner that was shot down by the Soviets last year. They felt that the American government was not being totally candid with the American people when the details of the incident were announced. Mr. Hornick pointed out that the U.S. had time to warn the jetliner that it had strayed into Soviet airspace, due to the reconnaissance planes in the area. It also believed that more information would become public in the near future.

The World Affairs council hosts speakers at several colleges and universities in the area, including the University of Redlands and UCR. The purpose of the council is to offer an opportunity for residents of the area to broaden and enrich their view of the world by hosting prominent speakers. Past speakers include General Alexander Haig, Alexander Ginzburg, and Arthur A. Hartman, the United States Ambassador to the Soviet Union. The membership cost for joining the World Affairs council is $30, but students may join for only $10. For more information, call them at 787-5744.

Dr. Stella Clark New Acting Dean Of Humanities

For the second time in its 20 years, Cal State, San Bernardino will have a woman serving as acting dean of a school. Dr. Stella Clark, professor of Spanish, becomes acting dean of the School of Humanities, Dec. 1. She will succeed Dr. Irving Buchen, who leaves Nov. 30 for a position as vice chancellor of academic affairs at the University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point. A national search will be conducted for a permanent replacement.

Dr. Clark joined the Cal State faculty in 1971 after completing her Ph.D. at the University of Kansas. The following year, 1972-73, she served as associate dean of academic instruction. She has been on the College Evaluation Committee serving last year as chair; was acting chair of the Department of Foreign Languages in spring 1980; and was the scheduling coordinator for the School of Humanities for six years.

In announcing her appointment, Acting Vice President for Academic Affairs Ward McAfee expressed confidence in Dr. Clark's abilities. "An acting position is a difficult one for which Stella has the proven personal tact and business-like efficiency to meet this challenge."

"The support I have received from people all over the campus is overwhelming," Dr. Clark commented. "I very much look forward to representing the School of Humanities faculty and staff for whom I have a great deal of respect. I can only promise them my best efforts to bring the job the energy and enthusiasm Dean Buchen demonstrated."
Health Drive
by Greg Timpany
Serious illness and injury are not very pleasant topics. None the less they occur everyday to all types of people, even our friends and relatives. One of the best ways to prevent unneeded complications from these afflictions is to donate blood. Fresh blood is needed on a continual basis, to replenish supplies used by hospitals and clinics.

Using a worst case scenario; a friend, relative, or even yourself may be in serious need of blood due to an injury or illness. What happens if the blood that is desperately needed, cannot be found? This possibility is remote, but still very real. How can you lessen the possibility of this scenario occurring? You can donate blood!

The Cal State Health Center will be sponsoring its Fall Blood Drive on October 16. The blood donated at the Health Center will be set aside, in a special reserve, for Cal State students, faculty, staff, and their dependents. The blood will be kept in the reserve for a year, after which it will be released for general use. All donated blood is used and none is ever wasted.

You are eligible to donate blood if you are between 18-65 years old, and weigh at least 110 pounds. Anyone who has ever had syphilis, hepatitis, or jaundice is permanently ineligible from donating blood. People with significant diseases of the heart, kidneys, lungs, and liver are also permanently ineligible to donate blood. If you are suffering from a cold, the flu, or an active allergy you may be temporarily deferred from giving blood. If you are currently on medication, it is wise to consult your physician or the Health Center before donating blood.

The process of giving blood is not as terrible as many may think. If you are afraid of needles, do not look! Bring along a friend who has donated before. When coming to donate blood set aside approximately one hour for the entire process. This will allow time for preliminary screening, and a rest period where juice and cookies will be available. It is recommended that you EAT a light meal 2-4 hours before donating blood.

Remember, donating blood is serious, but not solemn. It is serious because lives, your's, a friend's, or maybe a relative's, may depend upon the donation. For that reason, giving blood is a satisfying, rewarding, and enjoyable experience. If you would like more information about the facts surrounding the donation of blood, then contact Dorinda in the Health Center at 887-7641.

Get Involved and Join the Club!

By Elrond Lawrence

Are you running out of things to do except study? Do you have a hobby or interest that you want to pursue but no one else wants? Or, do you simply want to get involved? Then consider joining a club.

CSUSB has over 50 clubs, and one of them might be just what you're looking for. And with the addition of six new clubs on campus this year, the variety of clubs continues to grow.

With the birth of intercollegiate sports came the addition of clubs on campus this year, and students are excited about what they have to offer.

Business Management

by Greg Timpany

The purpose of the Business Management Club (BMC) is threefold: It's important to the student, the university, and society. The first is to give students a better understanding of management and how the student can better work in the management field. Secondly, the BMC provides an opportunity for students to hear speakers from management fields and gain a better understanding of real-world management practices. Thirdly, and possibly most important to the student, it provides a social and professional environment which works to augment the student's life at school, as well as providing an avenue in which the student can meet contacts that lead to possible employment when the student completes higher academic goals.

With the change from college to university status, many students hope to change and grow along with it. A proposed name change to Management Association of Cal State is to be put to vote as a primary goal. The club will also be actively involved in all campus events, so as to heighten its own awareness as well as to stimulate members involvement in the campus community.

Club membership is open to all members of the campus and the fees are minimal to promote student involvement. Fees run $5 per quarter and $10 per year. Interested persons may contact Jack Vaughan (President) at 852-6843, or Tom Hemphill in SS 128 (Faculty Advisors).

Meetings are tentatively scheduled for every other Tuesday at 11 a.m. as well as 5 p.m. the same day starting October 9.

Workshop For Clubs

by Elrond Lawrence

The Activities Department, together with the Committee for Clubs, will sponsor a workshop on how to organize and produce the events.

The guest speaker will be Dave Livingston, General Director of the YMCA in San Bernardino. He has previously spoken at CSUSB for the Business Management Club, and has considerable experience raising large funds for organizations.

All clubs are urged to attend, for this is a good opportunity for all clubs to learn to be more self-sufficient when it comes to finances.

Finance Association

by Greg Timpany

Once again in accordance with school tradition of high standards of excellence, the Cal State Finance Association is proud to announce an opportunity to obtain membership and reap the benefits of professional enhancement through contacts with business leaders. Engagements with area financial intermediaries augmented with guest lecturers will again be on this year’s Finance Association agenda.

Over the summer months Dr. Raul Khan, Chairman of the Finance and Accounting Department, and your club advisor, Dr. Khan brings professional and academic expertise that can only stimulate a higher level of awareness of the Association’s objectives.

Recent Alumnus of the Finance Association that are now employed in the financial sector of the economy cite the Association as a pivotal stepping stone in their quests for locating and obtaining their current positions.

Not to be outdone, the Finance Association is constantly involved in campus-wide activities. Acting as a cohesive unit many events rely on our steadfast support, so make sure you hold of your careers now!

The club will meet October 11, 4 p.m., Room A of the Student Union. If you feel like you’re in a pool of academic, professional or social stagnation come to the meeting or call John Higgins (President) at 883-9330. Thf don’t miss out on any of these activities, and be sure to join some of CSUSB’s fine clubs. You won’t regret it and you just might have some fun too!

Serrano Village Council

by David T. Bristow

In sharp contrast to the apathetic attitude that surrounded Serrano Village Council in past years, 120 people jammed themselves into Arrowhead’s livingroom on Wednesday, October 3rd, to vote for the new executive board of Serrano Village council. Dan Schaefer, Resident Assistant of Shardin dorm, noted the change: “If you’re here, you have something to say.”

As a result of this year’s plans to involve CSUSB better serve its citizens. Another major appeal that is being used by the CSUSB administration, other students, and the community. CSUSB has already gotten off to a good start with their “Confucius Day” which boasted a large turnout from the Chinese community.

There are two clubs- sponsored activities that will look forward to also. Mecha and Associated Students will be co-sponsoring the annual Halloween Dance on Friday, October 26, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the SUMP. The competition is encouraged to dress up as your favorite hero (or villain). The Gay and Lesbian Union will also hold their annual Halloween Dance on Saturday, October 27, in the SUMP from 8-1. The cost will be $5 per person.

President Evans Speaks to Alpha Kappa Psi

by Greg Timpany

Alpha Kappa Psi held its first major event of the quarter on October 1 in the Classroom Building. President Evans discussed the excitement of being involved in a new faculty office building. The building when completed will house the Schools of Education and Social and Behavioral Sciences.

As a result of this year’s projects, the campus has added 39 new faculty members. Currently President Evans is lobbying for a new faculty office building.

President Evans wants to see the campus work more closely with local school districts to correct the problems. President Evans also sees an expanded role for student unions, associations, and fraternities in attracting and retaining students to Cal State. The President closed his discussion by emphasizing that it will take the cooperation of all campus elements to keep the school growing.

Warning: This album should not be listened to by those who have heart problems.

The good thing about the music industry today is its diversity. On an average day a listener can find just about anything they can imagine. Now more than ever, FM radio fun is within reach.

Records of time, FM radio fun, how else could they have gotten married and become a family. They each have their story and their names are too independent for each other to be friends. Each parent has been married to their careers and it was not until they reached maturity, but also great maturity, that they could take a serious subject, such as divorce and place it into a comedy format. It was not set out to point fingers at anyone or to find a weak link in the bond. It was just to bring a bit of humor and wit to the story.

This is a definitely one of the best films of the season. On our movie G.P.A. rating scale, I give "Irreconcilable Differences" a 3.5.

Irreconcilable Differences

by Dexter Wash

With full five stars and a school back in session, we will see the increase of films that are trying to beat the deadline for their story and these films will be premiering during the next few weeks. Irreconcilable Differences is such a film.

The film, written by Nancy Meyers and Charles Shyer, tells the story of the divorce case of Brodsky vs. Brodsky and Brodsky. What makes this case so special is that ten year old Casey Brodsky is suing her parents for divorce under what is known as the Emancipation of Minors Act in California. This act states that a minor may legally sue parents for divorce if the separation can be proven to be in the minor’s best interests.

Ryan O’Neil, Shelly Long and Drew Barrymore star as Albert, Lucy and Casey Brodsky. As the film develops and each Brodsky has their turn at the witness stand, we hear their story and through a series of flashbacks, we see how Albert and Lucy meet, get married and become a very successful motion picture writing and directing team. All is not roses however, as they become consumed by fame and fortune.

The story takes us further into the lives of the Brodsky family as we see their ups and downs, and watch as Albert and Lucy are married to their careers, lose themselves and one another in the lights of Hollywood. They each have their low points when everything comes crashing down around them, and they use their daughter, Casey, to get the best of one another, making her feel “like a pet or doormat that you never notice until you step on it.”

The family housekeeper becomes the only person to whom Casey can turn to for love and support.

Irreconcilable Differences is blessed with a fine cast. For Ryan O’Neil this is a good role. A far cry from his latest roles (last one being in the movie “Partners”), it brings us back to the quality of acting we saw from him in movies like “Love Story.” He approaches his character with humor and wit and yet with a little bit of compassion as we see a man who becomes too involved in his career to notice how he is treating the people around him, and especially his family.

Shelly Long at first reminded me of the character that she portrays in “Cheers.” As the film progressed and her character developed these feelings left me. Lucy became a woman, who though she fought not to, allowed herself to be overcome by the circumstances surrounding her. We saw Lucy come from a sweet everyday woman to the Hollywood celebrity she had determined not to become.

Drew Barrymore at 10 years of age, delivered the best performance of her career. As Casey, a role that could allow any other actress her age to be overshadowed by the characters, she showed not only charm and maturity, but also great feeling, tugging at the audience emotions at just the right time and not letting us lose track of the past and present. My main complaint with the film, and (my only one), is that we did not see enough of the present to know where the characters are today, aside from in court. I wanted to know what each one was doing now in their careers and I wanted to know how the trial had affected their lives. We are given bits and pieces of this but not enough to complete a proper picture of where they are. Yet we are left with a good feeling for each of them, and the ending though somewhat predictable, is enlightening as well as emotional. Shyer and Meyers showed that they could take a serious subject, such as divorce and place it into a comic format. It was enjoyable and funny, as well as believable and emotional. This is a definitely one of the better films of the season. On our movie G.P.A. rating scale, I give “Irreconcilable Differences” a 3.5.

Shelly Long at first reminded me of the character that she portrays in “Cheers.” As the film progressed and her character developed these feelings left me. Lucy became a woman, who though she fought not to, allowed herself to be overcome by the circumstances surrounding her. We saw Lucy come from a sweet everyday woman to the Hollywood celebrity she had determined not to become.

Drew Barrymore at 10 years of age, delivered the best performance of her career. As Casey, a role that could allow any other actress her age to be overshadowed by the characters, she showed not only charm and maturity, but also great feeling, tugging at the audience emotions at just the right time and not letting us lose track of the past and present. My main complaint with the film, and (my only one), is that we did not see enough of the present to know where the characters are today, aside from in court. I wanted to know what each one was doing now in their careers and I wanted to know how the trial had affected their lives. We are given bits and pieces of this but not enough to complete a proper picture of where they are. Yet we are left with a good feeling for each of them, and the ending though somewhat predictable, is enlightening as well as emotional. Shyer and Meyers showed that they could take a serious subject, such as divorce and place it into a comic format. It was enjoyable and funny, as well as believable and emotional. This is a definitely one of the better films of the season. On our movie G.P.A. rating scale, I give “Irreconcilable Differences” a 3.5.

Irreconcilable Differences

by Dexter Wash

With full five stars and a school back in session, we will see the increase of films that are trying to beat the deadline for their story and these films will be premiering during the next few weeks. Irreconcilable Differences is such a film.

The film, written by Nancy Meyers and Charles Shyer, tells the story of the divorce case of Brodsky vs. Brodsky and Brodsky. What makes this case so special is that ten year old Casey Brodsky is suing her parents for divorce under what is known as the Emancipation of Minors Act in California. This act states that a minor may legally sue parents for divorce if the separation can be proven to be in the minor’s best interests.

Ryan O’Neil, Shelly Long and Drew Barrymore star as Albert, Lucy and Casey Brodsky. As the film develops and each Brodsky has their turn at the witness stand, we hear their story and through a series of flashbacks, we see how Albert and Lucy meet, get married and become a very successful motion picture writing and directing team. All is not roses however, as they become consumed by fame and fortune.

The story takes us further into the lives of the Brodsky family as we see their ups and downs, and watch as Albert and Lucy are married to their careers, lose themselves and one another in the lights of Hollywood. They each have their low points when everything comes crashing down around them, and they use their daughter, Casey, to get the best of one another, making her feel “like a pet or doormat that you never notice until you step on it.”

The family housekeeper becomes the only person to whom Casey can turn to for love and support.

Irreconcilable Differences is blessed with a fine cast. For Ryan O’Neil this is a good role. A far cry from his latest roles (last one being in the movie “Partners”), it brings us back to the quality of acting we saw from him in movies like “Love Story.” He approaches his character with humor and wit and yet with a little bit of compassion as we see a man who becomes too involved in his career to notice how he is treating the people around him, and especially his family.

Music Review: Captured Live

By Sue Wagner

He was once called the "Prince of Reggae"--heir to Bob Marley's Jamaican throne. Since Mr. Marley's untimely death, Peter Tosh has truly become the king. His latest album, "Peter Tosh Captured Live" is a collection of the music that put him up there.

All selections were recorded at Los Angeles' Greek Theatre.

The opening song "Coming in Hot" is probably the least exciting song on the LP. The following tunes, however, are true to Tosh's live performance--full of life, energy, and inspiration. "Bush Doctor" taken from the album of the same name, is a strong voice for the legalization of marijuana (the weed is sacred to the Rastafari religion, which is synonymous to reggae music).

The last two tracks on side one are taken from the 1977 album entitled "Equal Rights." This version of "African" features a tasty steel drum solo. "Get Up, Stand Up" a tune Tosh co-wrote with Marley before their estrangement, sounds less rebellious this time around. It is more thoughtful, soulful than past renditions.

Tosh's interpretation of Chuck Berry's classic, Johnny B. Goode" sets the second side off with intensity. The song, through Tosh, is fast becoming an anthem for reggae audiences as it has been for generations of rock and rollers. The political side of the artist reveals itself once again through a medley featuring "Equal Rights/Downpressor Man." The bridge between the two songs, a sweet keyboard piece, is unusual for Tosh.

This goes to show the man's versatility and brings an element of class to the medley. The final song to adorn this slab of vinyl is entitled "Rastafari is" which features the best guitar work on the album. The solo, which is played by Tosh,testifies that the artist is ever improving as a musician.

The entire album is produced with a clarity of sound that is often lacking from live efforts. Thanks to producer Michael C. Collins for an excellent job. Fine production linked with extraordinary talent of the artist make this album a rarity.

Proposition 36 Impacts CSU System

Trustees of the California State University today voted overwhelmingly in favor of Proposition 36, the Jarvis tax initiative on the November 6 general election ballot.

"Proposal 36, though largely billed as a property tax measure, has a strong potential to wreak havoc with the university's complex financial structures on the 19 CSU campuses," Chair Wallace Albertson of Los Angeles said.

"Many provisions of Prop. 36 are ambiguous and their subsequent interpretation could lead to even further harmful restrictions for the CSU. But assuredly they limit the ability to set student fees which cover the actual cost of providing services," CSU, viewed as a state agency under Prop. 36, would face issues in such areas as the use of funds. Student Services Fee, parking fees and auxiliary organization fees.

If any of these fees were to produce amounts in excess of the direct costs of services provided, or benefits conferred, that excess amount would be turned into an income tax which would have to be returned to individuals who paid it.

"Never in the past, and never in the future, will the California State University intentionally overcharge for its services," Chancellor W. Ann Reynolds said. "Our budget officers, who work year-round, are paying off many months in advance and, of necessity, are based on our best estimates of the number of students we expect to enroll, as well as other users of CSU facilities.

"Our choices, under Proposition 36, would be to underestimate constantly the income produced by our various fees and to risk denying services to many individuals, or to continue relying on our best estimates and to court the continuous possibility of being penalized for doing our best.

Reynolds also pointed out that if Proposition 36 passes new legislation or our interpretations would be required in order to sell revenue bonds to finance parking and residence hall construction. For this reason, Standard and Poor's has put the bonds of The California State University, as well as other California public entities, on its "credit watch" for possible downgrading.

Speed Reading

A course in speed reading for teens will be offered by the Office of Extended Education at Cal State in October.

"Speed Reading and Skill Development for Junior and Senior High Students" will be offered 9 a.m. to noon, Saturdays, Oct. 13 through Nov. 10. Emphasis will be placed on increased speed and comprehension to improve reading skills and retention. The fee is $45 for this noncredit course.

Adult College Opportunity Program

The Adult College Opportunity Program is designed to ease the entry of older students to the Cal State University community through block scheduling of classes, counseling, and a series of seminars designed to meet the special interests of the older student.

The seminars are a wonderful opportunity to meet other students and to build a group of friends with similar interests and concerns.

The seminars are as follows:
- Oct. 11: Life Planning: How do you figure out where you want to go and how to get there?
- Oct. 18: Stress Management: Relaxation techniques to help you deal with school stress.
- Oct. 25: Myers-Briggs Type Inventory: Learn about your personality type.
- Nov. 1: Strong-Campbell Interest Inventory: Where can your interests take you?
- Nov. 8: Assertiveness in the Academic World: How to take control of your education.
- Nov. 15: Patterns of Adult Development: How people change.
- Nov. 22: Getting Ready for Final Exams: You don't have to pull your hair out! Examination techniques are from 2:00-3:00 p.m., and meet in PL-241.
- If you have any questions concerning the seminars or the Adult College Opportunity Program, please call Dr. Martha Razo, 887-8605.

Letters To The Editor

In Conclusion

Dear Editor,

Not only did you miss the point of Professor Wilson R. Turner's letter, you completely ignored mine. I disagree with Wilson R. Turner's letter; he is clearly out of touch with the times. In fact, the King James Bible of 1611 was translated as "temple person," which has thus recently been misconstrued as "homosexual." The word chosen in the condemnation of homosexuality is not the word "homosexual," or "effeminate person," or "immoral person," which has thus been misused until now.

I disagree with Wilson R. Turner's letter, which has thus recently been misconstrued as "homosexual." I don't deny the right to use the Bible as a tool against certain groups of people-namely homosexuals. Ms. Lang accused her in editorial, but was simply stating the fact that practicing homosexuals will never enter the Kingdom of God. In my letters which you apparently conveniently overlooked, there was not any quoting from the Bible. It was simply an appeal for homosexuals and their sympathizers to stop reminding the Civil Rights Movement, which is an entirely different ball of wax, and stop imposing themselves on the rest of the public in the manner they did in the June 6 issue of the Chronicle.

In the future, Ms. Lang, you should read respondent's letters more carefully before responding with such false accusations and I saw in your Oct. 8 issue.

Sincerely,

Chris Ellis

Remember The Worms

Dear fellow body members,

I disagree with Wilson R. Turner's letter, which is often easily overlooked and is bypassed even more so in this year of electoral issues of urgency! It is important to remember the worms. They move stuff around so that more plants can grow for us to eat and sniff and look at. Also, they are very good dancers, if you watch them long enough with your hand above them. I think it would be downright neighborly if one of us human-types picked him and/or her up and deposited them back on the grass. I am sure if we were in their shoes (or casings) we would appreciate the same. They may not have a lot of funny stories to tell but they really are good dancers and they never shot anybody.

Just a reminder from a friend of the dolphins,

S.R. Stelle
