Reviewing the university’s web page, the number of applicants for admission is over 10,000 on an annual basis. There is a high competition for admissions and acceptance rate is low.

would eventually marry.

In planning for the future, Luis moved to the United States to seek employment, and settled in San Francisco. Raised in a tradition of hard work, he immediately found employment in a variety of jobs, from janitor, cook, and others; no job was too small or big. Luis’ goal was to acquire sufficient funds to eventually marry his long-time love, Elvia.

In January, 1968, Luis and Elvia married in their home town of Magdalena de Kino. The newlyweds settled in San Francisco. As time passed, Elvia felt the loneliness of the big city and, more important, the distance to her close-knit family. She asked Luis if they could move closer to their home town.

The couple moved to Fontana, where Luis’ parents and siblings had recently moved, and the geographical distance to Elvia’s family was closer. They bought a modest, middle class home in the centralized area of

JOB CORPS PROGRAM FACES DRASTIC CUTS

For years the Inland Empire Job Corps Center has been at the forefront of combating the dropout rate epidemic in our community and across the nation. Sadly, our forward progress may come to a screeching halt. The funding setbacks Job Corps has endured over the last few years have placed our centers in a precarious situation. Starting on July, 1, 2008, Job Corps’ basic center operations budget will face a $127 million shortfall. This will equate to a loss of programs, teachers, student services and, quite possibly, center closings.

In California, 154,869 youth (1) are left behind by our education system at a cost of over $40,266,520 (1) to our state economy, we cannot afford to neglect these young adults. The urgency of maintaining Job Corps’ capacity is made greater by an economic downturn that will disproportionately depress the opportunities available to these youth. As we prepare for this economic downturn, we have a responsibility to care for those who are most vulnerable.

As Congress considers a new economic stimulus package to help our community, let us recognize that focusing solely on short-term or quick fixes is not enough. As we prepare for a downturn, we must turn our focus to long-term solutions to the problems that our youth face. Job Corps has strengthened our community’s ability to positively impact the lives of thousands of out-of-school youth and we hope to see that investment protected.

Please contact your legislators to support this viable youth program.

Respectfully,
Adan C. Gomez

BACA MEETS WITH LATINO, AFRICAN AMERICAN, ASIAN AMERICAN LEADERS IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, DC – Congressman Joe Baca (D-Rialto) met with Members of the Congressional Tri-Caucus to discuss issues of importance to minority communities, including funding for necessary job training programs for America's minority youth. The Tri-Caucus is composed of 73 Members of the Congressional Hispanic Caucus (CHC), the Congressional Black Caucus (CBC), and the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus (CAPAC). Congressman Baca serves as Chairman of the CHC in this 110th Congress.

"Adequate funding for job training programs is critical for our nation's youth to move forward in the 21st century economy," said Rep. Baca. "One week's worth of funding in Iraq would pay for training programs for millions of individuals in the United States. It is long past time our leaders re-examine our nation's priorities and put America back on a course of equality for all."

The Tri-Caucus is led by Rep. Baca in his role as Chair of the CHC, Rep. Carolyn Kilpatrick as Chair of the CBC, and Rep. Mike Honda as Chair of the CAPAC. The Tri-Caucus has been actively working in the 110th Congress to promote issues of importance to minority communities everywhere, such as eliminating poverty, protecting civil rights, and ensuring adequate education and healthcare for all Americans. Issues discussed at the meeting included job training programs, health disparities, immigration reform, voter identification laws, and the 2010 Census.

"It is of vital importance that our nation's minority communities work together to bring about the change necessary to move America forward as one people," concluded Rep. Baca. "I am proud to work with my African American, Hispanic, and Asian American colleagues to advance the priorities of our communities. Only by working together will we fulfill our promise of justice and opportunity for every American, regardless of race, religion, or gender."

ASSEMBLY MEMBER WILMER AMINA CARTER WINS RE-ELECTION BID TO STATE ASSEMBLY

District 62 State Assembly Member Wilmer Amina Carter (D-Rialto) defeated opponent Gil Navarro in a reelection bid Tuesday. "I'm excited about returning to the State Legislature next year for a second term and serving my constituents here and in the state of California," said Assembly Member Carter, whose district covers Bloomington, Colton, Muscoy, Rialto and parts of Fontana and San Bernardino.

Carter received the endorsements of many local leaders, elected officials and labor, business and community organizations. She credits her win to her strong record on district voters care about most and to the hard work of her team of dedicated election volunteers and supporters "Our plan was to meet as many of our voters as we could by knocking on doors, by phone and attending community events. I am grateful to the tremendous group of people who were helping me."

"I'm looking forward to continuing my work on getting transportation projects in the Inland Empire built more quickly," said Assembly Member Carter, who also chairs the State Assembly Select Committee on Inland Empire Transportation Issues. "During my first term, we've succeeded in aligning the priorities of local leaders with our state's elected officials."

Carter said she will also continue her legislative work to increase access to higher education and Career Technical Education (CTE) opportunities. One of her bills, which the Governor signed into law in 2007 (Assembly Bill 428), requires schools to notify parents and students in writing of the A through G academic course requirements and how to access Career Technical Education courses. She is also authoring a bill this year to create a statewide master plan for Career Technical Education that will outline multiple tracks for students to get into career programs.

LUIS AND ELVIA BRAVO LIVE OUT THEIR DREAM

Fontana that was non-integrated at that time.

Soon after arriving in Fontana in November, 1968, Elvia gave birth to Luis Jr., the first of three sons. Luis Sr., immediately began working at Snow Rock in South Fontana, later worked at Yeager Construction (now Skanska), and eventually at Pacific Rock Aggregates in 1972.

Elvia gave birth to Carlos in May, 1972. Thereafter, she started selling Avon products door to door, generating revenue for the family. In the process she established a network in the community.

In July, 1976, Elvia and Luis welcomed their third son, Sergio. Pacific Rock Aggregates, where Luis worked, closed its business and Luis started working for Holiday Rock.

Elvia believed very strongly in education, and although she had graduated from high school in Mexico, there was a strong need for her to be educated in the United States, a permanent home for the family. She was employed as a noon aide at Palmetto Elementary School, and later became a bilingual aide.

Elvia went back to school and obtained a GED and continued her education at Cal-State, San Bernardino. In 1998, at age 54, Elvia received a B.A Degree!

She taught at West Randall Elementary School in Fontana and currently teaches at Mt. Vernon Elementary School in San Bernardino.

The Bravo couple is active in their community. Luis, who retired in 2005, is an active member of the Gents Organization (a non-profit youth-oriented group) for 30 years, current sergeant-of-arms, and averages 25 hours a week in volunteer hours.

Elvia is also active in her church, where she teaches conversational English, an advocate in bilingual education issues and improvement of bilingual education.

Their three sons, according to the couple, have grown into mature family men: Luis Jr. is a patrolman for the California Highway Patrol, Carlos is a sales representative for a construction equipment company and active in community activities in Fontana, and Sergio is proprietor of Bravo Auto Glass.

In an interview, Carlos, the second son, stated that his father is the hardest working man he has ever known, thorough in his work skills, and has never complained about how hard he has had to work in his lifetime. His mother, Elvia, he further said, is also hard working and dedicated to the teaching profession.

“My parents are people with integrity and character. They have made an incredible impact in our lives, their sons. We have valued the lessons taught in our upbringing. They are an inspiration and our heroes, and an asset to our community,” Carlos said.

The Bravos reside in their original home in Fontana.

Kudos to Luis Bravo, Hispanic News “Father of the Year” for making his dream comes true of a better life for his family. We commend Luis and Elvia for being role models for their sons and their contribution to the community.

Melina enrolled in the Avid Program in the ninth grade. The Avid Program (Advancement Via Individual Determination) is one of the most successful programs geared for a student to enroll in college preparatory courses through the 12th grade. The outcome is an opportunity to be accepted in major colleges and universities.

Melina took AP classes in the 11th grade and three AP classes in the 12th grade and maintained a GPA 4.3! She was enrolled in the National Honorary Society, drama club, Trouper's Club, Mock Trials, Academic Decathlon and a congressional page.

TWO SAN BERNARDINO HIGH SCHOOLS RECOGNIZED BY NEWSWEEK MAGAZINE

In May, Newsweek magazine ranked Cajon High and San Bernardino High Schools among the top five percent of public high schools in the nation.

Each year, Newsweek ranks the nation's public high schools based primarily on the number of AP (Advanced Placement) or International Baccalaureate (IB) exams students take and the number of graduates. This and other information is used to determine, in Newsweek's opinion, which high schools are best preparing the average student to be successful in college.

Cajon ranked 1,023 and San Bernardino High ranked 1,178 out of 1,387 schools on Newsweek's 2008 list of the Best High Schools. The rankings were based on information from the 2006-2007 school year.

San Bernardino High Principal Sandra Rodriguez was pleased Newsweek recognized the efforts of the entire school staff to challenge students and prepare them for college. Rodriguez is confident the school will continue providing an excellent education for students and further promote college readiness. This school year, more than 500 students took AP exams.

"We had so many students taking AP exams that we bused students to a local church hall to take the tests," Rodriguez said.

Students who pass the College Board's AP exams can earn college credit. Many high schools, including

Board and room will be covered with work study.

Her career goal is brain and cognitive study, a combination of biology and physics.

David Flores said, "I'm very proud of Melina and I'm glad that she is doing a positive step in her life."

Claudia Quen, said, "I'm very happy for Melina. Her accomplishments are a reward for all the hard work and commitment she has put into her studies."

Melina Flores said, "I am ready for new adventure in my future education."

Organizations that provide services to veterans are invited to participate in a Veterans Resource and Information Fair hosted by Senator Gloria Negrete McLeod and San Bernardino Valley College. The Resource Fair is designed to provide resources and information for retired veterans as well as those returning from service in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Veterans often face serious challenges from their experiences in the military and in their re-entry into civilian life, Negrete McLeod said. "When I read that the Veterans Health Administration confirms that an average of 98 veterans per week - about 14 every day - commit suicide, I was shocked," Negrete McLeod said. "The Veterans Resource Fair is an effort to help those who have served our country honorably. You always hear people say: Support the troops,' this is our way of supporting them."

The San Bernardino County Department of Veterans Affairs, VA Hospital, Riverside National Cemetery, Helmets to Hardhats, 211 Information Services and Community Action Partnership agencies who have signed up for the event.

S.B. COUNTY SCHOOLS SHOW IMPROVEMENT ON MEDIAN 2007 API BASE SCORES

SAN BERNARDINO CA - San Bernardino County elementary and high schools have shown continued growth in their median Academic Performance Index (API) Base scores for each of the past nine years, according to data released today by the California Department of Education.

Elementary schools in the county have made the most improvement, increasing median API Base scores by 168 points after nine years of results.

The county API Base median has grown from 580 in 1999 to 748 in 2007, where 309 elementary schools were used to calculate the median figures.

“It's encouraging that county students are showing year-to-year gains, but there's still plenty more work to do in our classrooms so that every student is reaching his or her academic standards,” County Superintendent Herbert Fischer said.

County high schools also have shown large increases in the median API Base, growing 131 points over the past nine years. In 1999, the high school API Base median was 552 in the county. In 2007, the score has grown to 683 for 55 high schools.

At the middle school level, the county median API Base has grown from 587 in 1999 to 693 this year. There were 76 middle schools figured in the calculations for the median.

The API Base sets each school's baseline scores for academic performance and annual growth targets. Additionally, the scores establish similar school rankings, with schools ranked by size and student population served. Schools are ranked academically on a scale of 1 to 10 (10 being the highest) and compared to other schools statewide (statewide rankings) and to schools with similar characteristics (similar schools rankings).

County median figures for subgroups also showed improvement with year-to-year gains for African American, Hispanic, White, Socioeconomically Disadvantaged, English Learners and Students with Disabilities.

In terms of county schools reaching the statewide target of 800 for the API, 26.2 percent of elementary schools or 81 (seven schools) have reached the 800 target. At the high school level, Schools are ranked or exceeded the 800 target.

NOTICE OF EXTENSION OF SCOPING PERIOD AND ADDITIONAL SCOPING MEETING

CALNEV PIPELINE EXPANSION PROJECT
JOINT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENT/ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT

The Bureau of Land Management, together with the County of San Bernardino, announces the extension of the public scoping period and an additional public scoping meeting for the Joint Environmental Impact Statement/Environmental Impact Report (EIS/EIR) on the proposed Calnev Pipeline Expansion Project from Colton, California to Las Vegas, Nevada.

- An additional scoping meeting will be held on June 18, 2008, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m., at the Carter High School, Multipurpose Room, 2630 North Linden Ave, Rialto, CA 92377.

- The public scoping period has been extended to July 1, 2008.

The BLM and the County are preparing the EIS/EIR to evaluate potential impacts associated with the proposed Calnev Pipeline Expansion Project. This project is proposed by Calnev Pipeline, LLC. Calnev is owned by Kinder Morgan Energy Partners, the largest independent owner/operator of product pipelines in the U.S.

As proposed, the project would require a right-of-way grant on lands managed by the BLM, the US Forest Service and the Department of Defense, a franchise agreement and Conditional Use Permit from the County, and appropriate permits from state, federal and local jurisdictions. Depending on the final routing, the project may also require an amendment to the BLM’s California Desert Conservation Area Plan.

The Notice of Intent and Notice of Preparation for the Calnev Expansion Project EIS/EIR were circulated for public review (60 days) from March 17, 2008 to May 17, 2008. The BLM and the County conducted four scoping meetings in Rialto, Victorville, and Las Vegas, Nevada in April 2008. During the public scoping period, BLM and the County received a request from the City of Rialto to extend the public scoping period for an additional 45 days and to host an additional scoping meeting in the Rialto area.

The meeting will be an open house format to allow the public to visit with BLM and County representatives. Written comments may be submitted to the addresses below.
