A record number of students turned out to vote for A.S. officers last week, causing a run off election to be called between the two top vote getters, Raul Ceja and Kevin Gallagher.

In the only other contested race, Pat Eggerer received the most votes for the Vice-President position.

Patricia Motz will be the new A.S. Secretary and Steve Sparks received the most votes for the A.S. Treasurer slot.

Marline Butler and Mike Miller will also face each other in the run off ballot as neither of the two write in candidates for the A.S. Judicial Representative received a clear majority of the vote.

The amendment to the A.S. Constitution which will give students limited discipline powers was passed by a large percentage of the students.

Kevin Gallagher received the most votes for A.S. President, 276, or 48 per cent of the total votes cast.

Raul Ceja received 333 votes or 6 per cent of the total number of votes.

Because neither candidate received at least 50 per cent of the total vote, a run off election is necessary under the A.S. voting regulations.

Richard Bennecke, Director of Activities, attributed the large voter turnout to the personal campaign conducted by both of the candidates. "They all devoted a lot of time and energy to their campaigns. They were all out there campaigning from morning till night, something that has never been done before on this campus."

Bennecke said that 771 students cast ballots in last week's election, a figure that represents 22 per cent of the total student body.

Bennecke also added that the turn out of voters was the largest in the last 5 years and it was larger than the combined votes of students who voted in the I.R.A. referendum last quarter.

Raul Ceja feels that it was generally a good race. "The enthusiasm of the candidates was high and this is the reason for the large student turnout."

Ceja also believes his "meet the people campaign" increased the number of voters. "When I asked students to vote, I didn't particularly ask those students to vote for me, I just asked them to vote in order to get a good representation of the student body."

The top A.S. Presidential vote getter, Kevin Gallagher, does not mind the run off election. "It will give the voters a better opportunity to closely examine both candidates."

Gallagher attributes the large number of voters to the energy of the candidates. "When there are 2 campaign staffs working so many hours, then a large turn out has to be expected."

Ceja is not planning any special strategies for the run off election, he just wants to let the students know what his views are, and what he plans for next year. "I want to tell the students just what my position is, and what I hope to initiate if elected."

Gallagher feels that his campaign was geared for a large number of voters and he expects a large turnout for the runoff election. "I will be campaigning twice as hard for the run off election as I want the students to compare the candidates and then vote for the person who has the most experience for the job."

The special run off election will be held on Thursday May 8. The voting booths will be open all day.

Asian Conference Will Include Native Dances

All phases of Asian life, culture and politics will be discussed at the Asian Conference of Southern California, Wednesday and Thursday, May 14 and 15 at Cal State San Bernardino.

An Asian dinner, classical dances of India and Tibet and other cultural events including films also are part of the two day even against the public.

Discussion panels will be conducted by Asian specialists from colleges and universities throughout California. Also represented are Northern Arizona University, Parma and the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. E. K. Khare, Cal State associated professor and chairman of the political science department, is chairman of the conference.

Chairman of the event and one of the panel leaders is Dr. Laurence Thompson of the University of Southern California's department of East Asian language and cultures.

A world-renowned demographer, Dr. S. Chandrasekhar, will head another of the panels. Dr. Chandrasekhar, an author and professor at the University of California, San Diego, formerly was minister of health for the Indian government.

Activities on Wednesday, May 14, begin at 12 noon with registration, followed by a film, "Deli Way," at 1:15 and a discussion from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Lower Commons.

The dances of India and Tibet will be performed from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Lower Commons.

On Thursday, May 15, the conference will begin at 9 a.m. in the gymnasium. The husband and wife team has toured the world twice, appearing on major concert stages. The admission fee for the dance is $8 per person, unless the individual is registered for the entire conference.

Registration on Thursday, May 15, will begin at 8 a.m. on the 2nd floor of the Library building, which is also the setting for the panel discussions from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 3 to 5 p.m.

Morning session panels are "Taiwan: Present Conditions and Prospects," chaired by Dr. Thomas; "Revolution, Repression and Reform," chaired by Dr. Steinrey Scheinberg, from Cal State, Fullerton, and "Art, Literature and Society," led by Dr. S. S. B. A. of California, Riverside.

A student discussion on Economic Development and Anti-Poverty will be led by Dr. Sidney Klein of Cal State, Fullerton.

Dr. Brij Khare, Cal State, San Bernardino student panelists are John Currie of Riverside; Mario Linares, Rodland, James Nenimith, Sunnymead; and James Offield of San Bernardino.

The afternoon panels and the professors who chair them are: "Population, Prosperity and Economy," Dr. Chandrasekhar; "Oil, National Security and Foreign Policy," Dr. R. R. M. R. of Ray; Cal State, Northridge.

"Ideology and Social Change in China," Dr. George M. Heneghan, Cal State, Dominguez Hills; and "Rise and Decline of Anti-Asian Prejudice in California," Dr. Elliott Barkan, Cal State, San Bernardino.

Films, each depicting an aspect of life in Asia, will be shown from 1:00 to 2:45 p.m. in Serrano Village, the residence halls where out-of-town visitors will stay during the conference.

In an informal session in Serrano Village from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m., other films will be shown and discussed.

David Lawrence of the San Bernardino Valley College faculty will lead a discussion following the showing of "Iching, the Chinese Oracle of Change."

The Asian dinner starts at 7:30 p.m. also on Thursday. The community is invited to take part in the conference. Registration for the entire conference is $10, including the dinner. Individual also may attend specific events.

Cinco de Mayo Activities Continue

A pinata for children from day care centers at Casa Ramona and Guadalupe Church will open the May 6 festivities at 10:30 a.m. Any other pre-school age children also are invited to attend. Free snow cones will be provided for the tiny participants, in addition to the contents of the pinata.

The Cal State Folklorico, dancers from a physical education class, will perform on stage at 11:30 a.m., May 6. They will be followed by a speaker, Emilio Benavides from Cal State, Los Angeles at 12 noon, another theatrical group at 12:45 and a Farm Workers speaker at 12:30. Mariachi will conclude the day's programming.

All proceeds will go to the United Farm Workers in San Bernardino, according to the sponsors.
A.S.B. Leadership Requires Experience

by Sal Bellia

Being ASB Vice President isn’t a glamorous job in which awesome achievements and rewards are abundant. Kevin Gallagher, however, has found it to be an indubitable experience. In fact, he has tried his hand at managing the student body of the university. The responsibility of overseeing the activities of the student body is a challenging one, and it requires a great deal of dedication and hard work.

Kevin Gallagher has been one of the leaders in the ASB, and he has been instrumental in making important decisions that affect the lives of the students. He has been involved in various projects aimed at improving the quality of life for the students, and he has been a driving force behind many initiatives aimed at promoting a sense of community and belonging within the university.

Kevin Gallagher has been a consistent member of the student body, and he has been active in various clubs and organizations. He has been a strong advocate for the rights of the students, and he has been a vocal defender of their interests. Kevin Gallagher has been a role model for his peers, and he has been a source of inspiration to many students who aspire to make a difference in their community.

Road Block to Bankruptcy

(CPS) — A move to block the growing number of recent graduates who have claimed that the availability of bankruptcy on student loan debts is underway in Congress. Declaring bankruptcy — where financial liabilities exceed assets — is not small but growing part of the national student debt problem and is seen as a major threat to the nation's future, according to student loan specialists. Some of these specialists claim increasing use of bankruptcy procedures could eventually destroy the student loan programs.

"While it is true that, so far, only a small proportion of graduates have declared bankruptcy defaults are attributable to bankruptcy procedures," warned United Student Advocacy President Carlies Meears, "this proportion is growing rapidly as more and more student loan borrowers become aware of the need for the availability of the bankruptcy route." Meears, along with representatives from five national higher education groups, has been asked to leave CUSSC since the student loan program is not a major concern to administrators here, in fact, they are not even programmed into the computer.

Polish Crafts

An exhibition entitled "The Persistent Crafts of Poland" will open on the first floor of the college library May 7 and remain on display through June 1. The exhibit is the loan from the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. and was originally organized in observance of the Centennial Year, 1973, to display the very substantial heritage of Polish culture.

Photo and text panels explain and illustrate the types of handicrafts which are actually exhibited from fragile painted eggs, hand-carved figures and woven baskets to delicately embroidered costumes.

Financial Aid Applications Available

It's never too early to start applying for financial aid. Each year students throughout the state begin filing financial aid applications in January in order to qualify for scholarships, loans, grants and jobs for the following school year.

Early applications are the simplest and most efficient way of avoiding last minute moments of panic. Students who apply new for the 1975-76 school year are virtually assured of receiving a commitment of financial aid in June or July, if they meet current eligibility requirements.

In addition to the various federal programs of student aid the college has several scholarships available to those students with at least a 3.0 grade average and financial need. All application materials and more detailed information is available in the Financial Aid Office Student Services building Room 120.

Yoga Workshops Held Weekly

Yoga workshops for both advanced and beginning Yoga students are held every Wednesday at noon and Fridays at 11:00 a.m. The Wednesday class is open to the beginning student and more advanced students are requested to attend the Friday sessions. The Yoga workshops are open to all interested persons and are held in the small gym.

Counseling Center Offers Counseling

At the Counseling Center you may discuss and explore in confidence any problems or feelings that are important to you. Anything causing you to be nervous or uncomfortable may affect you academically as well as personally. The goal of counseling is to help you develop a greater self-understanding so that you can better deal with both the immediate and future decisions in your life. At such, counseling may be viewed as a special kind of personal learning experience. A wide variety of situations may be discussed with a psychologist at the Center — educational, vocational, personal, marital, etc. Vocational testing also may be useful to a student's career planning. All counseling is confidential. No information is released without your written consent.

Free Bus Ride To The Renaissance Faire

One bus transportation will be provided on May 17 through the 1975 Renaissance Pleasure Faire to be held at the Paramount Ranch in Agoura.

The Cal State activities committee has arranged a free bus ride on Sat. May 17 at 10 a.m. to be available to all students and faculty. A reduced admission rate of $2.75 and $1.25 for students under 12 is offered to a group of 20 or more. The non group rate is $3.00 for adults and $1.75 for children.

The Renaissance Pleasure Faire is a blending of fantasy and history, recreating the festivals, faires and marketplaces of rural England during the reign of Elizabeth I. Almost anything that existed in 16th century England can be found at the Faire, including some 200 craftsmen demonstrating their wares in Renaissance fashion and over three dozen food vendors serving the foods that once graced the tables of lords and peasants alike.

The Faire starts at 10 a.m. and continues until 6 p.m. If you would like to take the ride for 40 years to another time, put on a renaissance costume and call Sol Irving at Ext. 7409 to reserve a seat on the magic bus.

San Andreas Field Trip

The San Andreas Geographical Association will hold their Annual Spring Field Trip Saturday and Sunday, May 17 and 18 in Barton Flats. For further information contact the Department of Geography.

Women in Management Seminar Planned

On Tuesday, May 13th, Dr. Katherine Lovell will be speaking at a seminar called “Women in Management.” Dr. Lovell has been involved in political campaigns as a lobbyist in Sacramento, was the manager of KPFF in Los Angeles and has worked for the federal government. She earned her BA at U.C. Berkeley, her Ph.D. at USC and is presently teaching management courses at UC R.

The goal of the seminar is to deal with problems men and women may encounter when working with each other, so interested men are welcome as well as women. Also discussed will be resume writing, interviewing techniques, sticky situations that may arise and any questions the audience may have. Business people from the area have been invited to attend as well as faculty, staff and students. The hour-long talk is sponsored by Rho Zeta Chi, the cost is $1.00, if held in the Lower Commons at 12:00 on the 13th.

The Renaissance is a partly on campus interested in the working world for women. The membership is small since this is their first year on campus, but the times and dates of meetings are in the Pawprint and new members are always welcome.

Writing Conference Planned

Various fields of writing will be explored in a conference for high school students. The 12th annual event will be held Wednesday, May 7 at Cal State, San Bernardino. Newspaper reporter-editors will join Cal State, San Bernardino faculty members as discussion leaders.

Approximately 200 students from high schools in San Bernardino and Riverside counties will attend the program, held from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on the fifth floor of the Cal State Library building.

"Discussion sessions and the panels will be," says “The Necessity for Writing Skill,” Pat Sherran, San-Telegram reporter; Dr. Edward White, English department chairman; and Dr. Hal Hovland, dean of the School of Administration.

"Writing to Improve Reading and Reading to Improve Writing," Dr. Helen Koon, assistant professor of English; Dr. Richard Suyett, dean of the School of Humanities and Phyllis Koppes, lecturer in English; and "Writing for Self-Expression," Dr. Bruce Golden, associate professor of English; Dr. Mitzi Myers, lecturer in English; and Cal State students.

Different writing fields will be covered in group meetings, with Ed Maule, San-Telegram copy editor, leading a discussion on newspaper writing; Larry Kramer, associate professor English, Poetry, and Dr. Peter Schroeder, the short story.

William Greenburg Will Speak

Smog: A thick hazy substance that dulls bright sunny days; forcing children from their playgrounds; causing mountain ranges to disappear before our very eyes.

This menacing intruder that seeps into our way into the Inland Empire every summer will be the topic of a lecture by William Greenburg tomorrow (May 7) at the Cal State Library.

Greenburg, a prolific writer for the Sun-Telegram, did a 13 part series last year on smog and the effects of the smog on the very lifestyle of everyone in Southern California. He claims that the subject has not passed the nuisance stage; smog now involves politics, it involves jobs, it involves money.

The reporter noted in one of his articles that "besides the broad political, economic, and social implications the most important implication which underlies all these issues is health." He cited a California Medical Association (CMA) paper which stated that air pollution is dangerous to man and "must be controlled as quickly as possible."

Greenburg, who has been with the Sun-Telegram, since 1973, has been interested in writing about the impact air pollution has on the environment since 1969. His work on air pollution mining merit his nomination for the Pulitzer Prize. The articulate writer got his B.A. from Columbia University in 1969, and was awarded a professional journalism fellowship to Stanford University in 1972.

After a hitchhiking trip around the world in 1970 and a later hitch in the army, Greenburg began a reporting career that has taken him from New York to Tennessee to San Bernardino.

Besides his smog investigations, the writer has covered the Apple space program including the first moon landing of the moon. He also reported about the hunger and malnutrition, especially in only two states, Mississippi and Appalachia, but in the city of Nashville as well.

The lecture tomorrow, which is sponsored by the ASB and Economics Department, will focus on the ever growing problem of air pollution. As the CMA paper concludes, "We are living in a state of chronic and increasing emergency, the ability to breathe pure air is a right and not a luxury.”
