JUST WHO IS READY FOR A CAMPUS QUAKE?

Recent functions such as “Earthquake Preparedness Week” have increased public interest in campus earthquake procedures. There are apparently none according to a source in the physical plant. Employees who might be responsible for such tasks as turning off gas, water, and power have, as of yet, been given no official emergency instructions. “If there are any,” says the source, “they have not been relayed to any employees.”

According to Arthur M. Butter, the Environmental Health and Safety Officer and Director of Public Safety, “We have a number of different procedures in case of an earthquake. Duties of staff members can vary according to the severity of the earthquake, and although some general maintenance personnel may not have specific predetermined emergency duties, we maintain a call-back list of key plant operations personnel and send trades around as needed.” In addition, “…we rely on specific tradesmen, such as the gas company’s disaster reaction team to monitor any problems that may arise.”

With this, it becomes quite apparent that, although some employees may fell uninformed, the big picture is that public safety is well prepared for a natural disaster.

In addition to the employee participation in earthquake preparedness, the campus itself is designed to minimize damage. According to Bob Lohnes of operations, “Structures on campus are built to withstand a magnitude of 6 or more, although nothing will withstand an 8. Lohnes also added that “The library is built on a movement bed, which is standard for a building of that size to help absorb shock.”

Little can be done to prepare for an earthquake of 8 or more, but all necessary precautions have been taken to assure maximum safety during lower magnitudes which we are more likely to incur.

While nothing can be done to prevent an earthquake, CSUSB is quite prepared to cope with the worst.

Assembly Bill To Expand Campus Child Care

A bill to provide $5 million in expanded funding for child care programs on campuses of the California State University, University of California and California Community Colleges cleared its first legislative hurdle on April 16th.

Assembly Bill 55, authored by Assembly Speaker Willie L. Brown, Jr. (D-San Francisco) and co-sponsored by the California State Student Association (CSSA) passed the Assembly Human Services Committee on a 6-0-2 vote. “This was the first step in a long process of getting this bill through the Legislature and signed by the Governor,” commented Paul Knepprath, legislative advocate for the CSSA. “The passage of AB 55 would make available to CSU Children’s centers critical funding to help meet the growing child care needs of our students,” Knepprath stated. “We have campus programs with up to 250 students waiting—sometimes up to two years—for a slot in the child care center.”

Currently, the State Department of Education allocates approximately $9.4 million for subsidized campus child care programs, on campuses of the University of California, California State University, California Community Colleges and private, nonprofit postsecondary education, institutions. Of this amount, approximately $1.2 million has been allocated to 14 of the 19 programs in the California State University. Assembly Bill 55 would nearly double the available dollars in subsidized child care for campus programs. For further information contact Ken Whitson at Association Office, 887-7494.

Pacific Review Positions Available

Editorial staff positions for next year's Pacific Review are available, and interested students are invited to apply. We are especially looking for students who have experience in typesetting, layout, and paste-up. For further information, contact Prof. Pete Fairchild, PL 541, 887-769.

Constitution Exhibit

A rare collection of forty original, handwritten, and line-duo manuscripts bearing the signatures of each signer of the U.S. Constitution is currently on display at Cal State, San Bernardino.

Pre-Health Professionals Program, San Bernardino Association of Pre-Health Professionals, and Career Planning and Placement Office.

A.S. Positions Available

As I am sure you are aware, the Associated Students has recently conducted its student body elections. Thus, we find ourselves, once again, in need of talented people to fill key positions. Very important among these, in my opinion, is Legislative Director, a position requiring a myriad of well-developed and diverse skills. An effective Legislative Director, therefore, must be not only personable, politically-minded, a self-motivated, but also capable of dealing with situations requiring a high degree of tact and diplomacy. We are looking for someone who can function at the highest level of the Student Senate. Dr. Julius Kaplan, an accomplished finance professor, and Dr. Julia Kaplan, professor of art and past chair of the Associated Students. The others are: Dr. Karen C. Adner, a finance professor; Mr. Alazar, a career planning officer; and Dr. Wallace S. Watson, acting dean of the College of Social Sciences at St. Cloud State University in Minnesota.

Final Five Named For Humanities Dean

Two or three out-of-state candidates are the five finalists for dean of the School of Humanities, the selection committee chair, Dr. J.C. Robinson, announced Wednesday, May 5, 1985 at noon in BI 129; and 2 p.m. (Call Biology, Dept. for Location). Gordon is visiting the campus Wednesday, May 1. Faculty may reserve their commencement caps and gowns from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Student Union Bookstore, Wednesday, May 1.

Search for U.S. Miss Charm

A search is on for a new "America's Miss Charm." Over $100,000 in scholarships, trips, and awards will be presented at the National Finals, July 30-August 3 in Washington, D.C. Five Finalists Named For Humanities Dean.

The Cal State committee for Location, Recommending the selection of the top 10 positions for Location, the award of the best student council, and the award of the Academic Excellence Award, will be held at 5 p.m. on the day of the event.

Frequent flights are available from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on the day of the event.

Domestic Violence Prevention Project.

The Southern California Coalition on Battered Women is being held on May 4, 1985 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Church in Ocean Park, located at 235 Hill Street in Santa Monica.

Mungeon and the Unknown Band will be the host of Reggae Beat at KCRW/FM described the group as "one of the most enjoyable groups" he has seen in recent years. If you enjoy Reggae music with plenty of muscle (fire), you will find this a truly exciting experience. At the same time, you will be contributing to a highly worthwhile cause.

Jawge and the Unknown Band is one of the hottest groups in L.A. After hearing some of their sounds, media Reggae specialist Roger Mungan, host of Reggae Beat at KCRW/FM described the group as "one of the most enjoyable groups" he has seen in recent years. If you enjoy Reggae music with plenty of muscle (fire), you will find this a truly exciting experience. At the same time, you will be contributing to a highly worthwhile cause.

The Southern California Coalition on Battered Women works to eliminate violence in the lives of women in California. A major part of the money raised from this function will go toward funding our Domestic Violence Prevention Project. SC/CBW has developed a curriculum, Skills for Violence-Free Relationships, a guidebook for school educators and community advocates to utilize as a tool in providing prevention training to young people ages 13 to 18. Their prevention activities are being implemented in schools throughout the Southern California.

Tickets are $8 in advance and $10 at the door. The benefit will be held at A Different Light Bookstore, 4014 Santa Monica Blvd., in L.A., sister book to the Westwood Blvd. in L.A., and Page One Books, 966 N. Lake in Pasadena.

Delt Sigma Phi To Sponsor Softball Game

By Carl Morgan

The Olympus sky is illuminated yellow and gold with the trail of Heidos. The Bronze faces around the mortal athletes glister in the sun as beads of sweat spot their sublime visages. The ball is lofted into the air as the eyes of onlookers follow with anxious anticipation. A forward step is taken and a swing is put into motion. The power of the swing creates a roar of thunder and a bolt of lightning stems from the sky as ball and bat connect. Not even the winged chariots can catch the ball as it is comet out of the Olympus sky and onto earth for the mortals to find and wonder. It is in this manner that the Greek gods handed down to mankind the game of the immortals: softball.

A band of faithful Greeks are gathering together Sunday, May 5, to carry on this Greek tradition. Delta Sigma Phi, the newest social fraternity on campus, is sponsoring a softball game at the P.E. playing fields. This offers the opportunity for all Delta Sigma Phi pledgers, all those interested in pledging, and those simply interested in participating, to become acquainted. The fraternity is searching for more noble men to become stable pillars of Delta Sigma Phi. The fraternity has currently been meeting on Sunday evenings at 8 p.m. for all those interested. While this highly respected National fraternity is just getting under way at CSUSB, it is well on its way to accomplishing great things. Look for Delta Sigma Phi on campus. Remember, the day of the Delta Sigma Phi softball game is Sunday, May 5, at 1 p.m., at the P.E. playing fields. Refreshments will be available, as well as answers to all your questions. For further information, contact Paul Feller at 887-7422, Waterman 131, or Bill Gropp at 887-7419, Joshua 222. Delta Sigma Phi promises a fullfilled afternoon for all, please attend.

Committees Need Student Reps

There are a number of committees on our campus that have various names and responsibilities. Student consultation and participation in the governance of CSUSB must happen through these committees. These committees implement CSU system-wide policy, and make it relevant to the CSUSB community. As a student, you are the constituency they serve.

You should inform yourself of the opportunities to effect policy change and implementation on your campus. You may learn as much here from your experiences outside the classroom as in it.

Now is the time to investigate these educational opportunities for the 1985/86 school year. See "REPS" pg.4

Applications Now Being Accepted For Scholarships

by Greg Timpany

The Rotary Foundation of Rotary International is now accepting applications for its international scholarship program. Both men and women can apply for one of five scholarships. The purpose of the scholarship program is to further international understanding and friendly relations among peoples of different countries.

The scholarship allows for completion of one academic year of study or training in a country where Rotary clubs are located. The applicant is allowed to list his or her school and country preferences. The scholarships can be used for almost any field of study. There are scholarships for undergraduate, graduate, and vocational students. There are also scholarships for those who teach handicapped students, and for those who have been employed in journalism for at least two years.

Rotary scholars are required to be ambassadors of good will towards the people of the host country. Formal and informal appearances before Rotary Clubs, school and civic organizations, and other forums are required. After the period of study, the scholar will be required to share his experiences with members of his own country and the sponsoring Rotarians.

The Rotary Foundation scholarship will cover round-trip transportation, all required academic expenses, some necessary educational supplies, room and board, and other limited expenses. Expenses above and beyond those provided by the scholarship are the responsibility of the scholar.

The deadline for applications is October 1, 1985. For further information contact Dr. Terrel Manyak, from AD 165 ext. 7358, or Dr. Ron Pendleton, room PL 4 ext 7576.

Transferring Credit

by Erlgard Lawrence

If you've come to Cal State from another place of learning, then you've probably disregarded the phrase, "You can't take it with you" at least when it comes to transferring credit. However, you may not be all that sure exactly what you have transferred. If so, then read on, as we probe into the mysteries of the infamous transfer credit summary.

Basically, the transfer credit summary is a nice little sheet of paper that tells you what credits for which classes you've been able to carry from your last college to here. It's divided into three categories: general education, major, and electives.

In each category, there is a list of subject requirements that you need for graduation. To the right of each listing is the number of credits the class represents. If the number of credits has a slash through it, then you've filled the requirements, and you don't need to take the class over again. If the number is circled, you haven't been able to transfer the credit, and you have to take the class over again here.

The Transfer Credit Summary doesn't end here. It also tells you if you need to take the ELM or EPT, and if you've passed the U.S. History or Upper Division Writing requirements. Basically, it tells you what you need to graduate.

Now of course with a paper like this, you'll occasionally find things that don't exactly read the way you'd like them to. When you find something you disagree with, the first thing you should do is discuss the problem with your advisor. If you're still not satisfied, make an appointment with your evaluator, and set things straight.

When you do these things, keep in mind that classes from various other colleges (community colleges for example) might not be worth the same amount of credit as at CSUSB. Also, if you don't get your summary right away, don't panic, evaluators are currently backed up right now with a large amount of papers. Wait about six weeks then go hunting for them.

O.K., and if you're wondering: If you've started as a freshman, you don't even have to worry about this stuff. In fact, you didn't even have to read this column. Sometimes things are just too easy, huh?

Gain experience working closely with people who have different value systems. Practice leadership skills needed in the working world, which have different value systems. Who is a member of the Rotary Club? The person who would grow accustomed to different people and different ways of life. Appointments to various committees are available on the committee appointment sheet.

Applications are accepted at all locations:

Faculty Senate Committees: Faculty Senate Office, BI 21, Student Union front desk; A.S. Office, Student Union; Activities Office, SS 122

Campus-Wide Committees: Student Union front desk; A.S. Office, Student Union; Activities Office, SS 122

Associated Students Committees: A.S. Office only

General information about all committees can be obtained by contacting Clare Shariat, Activities Advisor, in SS 122, or call 887-7407.
Concert Review: Joan Jett And The Blackhearts

by Greg Timpany

The Magic Mountain concert series kicked into high gear on Saturday, April 20 with an appearance by Joan Jett and The Blackhearts. The group is touring in support of their latest MCA release Glorious Results of a Misspent Youth. This was Joan's first appearance in the Los Angeles area since last summer's performance for the Olympic athletes. The Blackhearts spent most of 1984 off the road. They spent most of their time recouping from previous marathon tours and working on their latest album. Some groups would lose their edge if they spent that much time off the road. However, Joan and Company showed no sign of the lack in their performance. Joan opened the show with her trademark "Bad Reputation." A fiery song that immediately brought the crowd to its feet. Joan maintained the upbeat tempo throughout the entire set as she paced the band through a collection of old and new songs. The set highlighted several songs from the new album. "I Need Someone" begins with a slow yet building vocal harmony which leads into an exciting and intense climax. Other songs off the new album included "Frustration," which was propelled by the strong backbeat of drummer Lee Crystal, and the rock standard "New Orleans." The set also included the crowd favorites "I Love Rock-n-Roll," "Do You Wanna Touch Me," and "The French Song." The highlight of the evening came during the encore. Joan lead the band through an energized version of "Crimson and Clover," which featured a guest guitar solo by Steve Stevens, of Billy Idol fame. The Blackhearts have remained true to their traditional style of Rock-n-Roll. The music is simple, but fun, and provides a good change of pace from today's "complex is better" style of music.

Special Olympics Looking For Special Volunteers To Volunteer at Event

by Greg Timpany

Preparations are continuing for the eighth annual San Bernardino and Redlands area Special Olympics. The Olympics are designed to give mentally retarded and orthopedically handicapped individuals a chance to compete in different athletic events. The participants are currently being screened for physical fitness, sports training, and recreational programs designed to prepare them for the Olympics. Volunteers are needed to assist Olympic organizers on the day of the event. This year's track and field events will be taking place at San Bernardino Valley College on May 11. The event will last from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. All volunteers are required to attend a special volunteer orientation meeting on Thursday, May 4. The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Center for Individuals with Disabilities. The Center is located at 8068 Palm Lane, in San Bernardino. (one block east of Waterman Ave., off 4th Street). The athletes will range from 4 years old to 65 years old, and will be competing with athletes of similar age and ability levels. On May 11 the athletes will be competing in various track and field events, as well as wheelchair races and frisbee toss. All volunteers will receive a volunteer t-shirt and a free lunch at the end of the day. This event is an excellent opportunity for campus organizations to get involved with the community. It also gives volunteers a chance to help someone who cannot help themselves.

The Magic Mountain's Show-case Theater is a good alternative to the Los Angeles club scene. The outdoor amphitheater provides the ambiance that is missing in a Forum concert, and the fresh air that is lacking at many of the local clubs. Both the sound and lighting systems are state-of-the-art.

The concert series continues with Oingo Bongo on Saturday, May 5, the Lords of the New Church on Sunday, May 6, Jack Wagner on Saturday, May 11, and Chuck Berry on Saturday, May 25. General Admission, which includes unlimited use of the park, is $13.95. Season passes are available for $39.95, and include unlimited use of the park through December 31, 1985.

Conference Report

Jae Lang, Intramurals
Director

"NIRSA & Columbus: A Winning Combination", was the title of the 36th annual conference of the National Intramural Recreational Sports Assoc. (NIRSA), hosted by Ohio State University April 12-17.

There was a record 985 professional members present, along with 350 students. Dr. Mary Daniels was elected President of NIRSA, the first woman to hold this position.

Keynote speakers were the infamous Woody Hayes, Kathryn Switzer (the first woman to run the Boston Marathon), and Dr. Stephen Douglas, who gave a dynamite presentation on stress management.

Four pre-conference workshops and nearly 100 professional presentations were offered on such topics as computers in recreational sports, officiating, outdoor recreation, and special populations. An extensive exhibit area displayed the latest in recreational equipment and apparel.

Conference socials were another opportunity for learning and the exchange of ideas. There was non-stop interaction among professionals, students, and presenters.

The information and ideas presented at the conference, along with the excitement of being with one's professional peers, are certain to have a lasting effect on everyone there.

Four of the five judges for the competition were cheerleader advisors from the surrounding area. Completing the panel was Bobbie Zeno, a judge from the United States Spirit Association in Orange County.

Ellen Kowalski, cheerleader advisor, is excited about next year's spirit squad. "I think we've got an excellent group of girls with a tremendous amount of energy. Already they have started functioning as a cohesive group. Leticia Ortiz will be the Head Cheerleader with Brenda Weddington serving as her assistant," commented Kowalski.

Three sophomores and two freshman women were selected by a panel of five judges to be the CSU, San Bernardino spirit squad for the 1985-86 school year.

Sophomores Leticia Ortiz, Lisa Frazier and Brenda Weddington head the list of new cheerleaders. Ortiz, a Corona resident, is the lone returnee from the 84-85 cheerleading squad. Besides her experience this past year, she was a cheerleader in high school. Frazier and Weddington, both San Bernardino residents, have extensive background in dance. Weddington is also well-versed in gymnastics stunts.

Gracie Bodadilla and Rebecca Curtin, the two freshman selected for the squad, both have considerable spirit squad experience. Bodadilla has been a cheerleader for five years before being selected for the Coyote squad. She is from Rialto. Curtin, an Upland resident, was on the dance-drill team at Upland High School for three years. Both girls have gymnastics experience that will enhance the performance of the spirit squad.

The Counseling Program of the Psychology Department appreciates the opportunity to respond to this letter signed by "a former student." The person who wrote the letter obviously based his or her concern on third or fourth hand misinformation and I will respond to the points raised in order to allay any real concerns.

We administered the Comprehensive Exam to students in the M.S. Counseling program on Wednesday, April 3. Subsequently, one of the students who took the exam went to the department chair and alleged that another student had the questions prior to taking the exam. Obviously, any allegations such as these are taken seriously and we undertook an investigation. Upon questioning the students, we found absolutely no evidence of cheating. What we did find was that two students had talked extensively to a student who took the Comprehensive Exam in October. Asking someone about a test to gain information is improper. This may have been generous of them to protect the lack of integrity of these dishonest students. How excruciatingly unfair to all the other students who ever took those comps, who studied for hundreds of hours without the privilege of prior knowledge regarding the kinds of questions to be asked, sweating it out with their very degree hanging in the balance.

The messages are loud and clear. To all upcoming students, personal integrity is not required; the faculty will cover for your lack of it.

To the community, a graduate from this University may not have come by their degree honestly, so beware.

I am disappointed and ashamed of the Psychology Department and the University Administration. They have allowed their hard-earned reputation to be tarnished.

Sincerely,
A Former Student

Cheating On Comps?

Response below

Dear Editor,

I think it is a very sad commentary on the legitimacy and integrity of this University that cheating is handled so casually. Two students obtained the questions for the Departmental Comprehensive Exam, an examination which is designed to assess the student's competency in all aspects of psychology pertaining to provision of psychotherapy to distressed and disturbed individuals. How distressed and disturbed were these individuals to have hidden their indiscretion from the faculty and five of the other candidates taking the exam (they shared the test questions with two other students, so there were four cheaters). As it was not enough, after the exam the faculty found out and I understand that they decided that nothing would be done about it; no expulsion, no suspension, no retesting using different questions, not even an official reprimand in their records. The faculty claims that "it was their fault for not changing the questions from the last exam." How generous of them to protect the lack of integrity of these dishonest students. How excruciatingly unfair to all the other students who ever took those comps, who studied for hundreds of hours completed exams nor do we provide students copies of the questions from previous exams. Obviously, any allegations such as these are taken seriously and we undertook an investigation. Upon questioning the students, we found absolutely no evidence of cheating. What we did find was that two students had talked extensively to a student who took the Comprehensive Exam in October. Asking someone about a test to gain information is improper. This may have resulted from the fact that we do not return the questions to the prior exam. The messages are loud and clear. To all upcoming students, personal integrity is not required; the faculty will cover for your lack of it.
